THE GUY LIVINGSTON BENEFIT A GOOD SHOW

BESIDES ALL THE FAVORITES IN THE FUN MAKING CLASS THERE IS A FINE CHORUS.

Everything is moving smoothly along toward the Livingston benefit. The show looks now as if it is to develop into one of the best amateur productions ever placed upon the local stage. The songs comprise a collection that is hard to beat and will probably not be equaled for some time to come. But best of all is the spirit with which the boys of the chorus and in the other parts of the show have taken a hold and are working for the good of the production. They are bound to make the show a success and they are not shirking any hard work that will interfere with the success of the undertaking.

All of the old favorites will be in the cast. Bod White, Al Moore, Walter Doyle, William Welch, Hasty Howland and others. With that crowd to make fun for an audience what more would be needed. But there is more and that is the secret of it. There is a highly trained chorus of fifty voices and they have all been trained just to the line of perfection under the watchful eyes of Jimmie Dougherty and E. L. Cutting. For the second half of the show there will be a number of high class features. It will be in the nature of vaudeville. Captain Sam Johnson will delight the crowd with some clever bar work. A quartette will be in a new and clever stunt. There is no doubt but that every minute of the evening will be enjoyed. The show will be given two evenings, August 9 and 11 or next Thursday and Saturday nights. The box office will open Monday at Wall, Nichols & Co.

Where The Earthquake Was The Serevest

"As to the cause of the earthquake which shook California, it is difficult to speak with any certainty. There is no doubt that it was caused by a slip somewhere in the strata of the earth beneath the zone of disturbance. The movement although great to us, was comparatively slight in proportion to the size of the earth, and is probably a result of the cooling of the crust of the earth. There are generally

Kiley Hit Kali With A Bottle

SUCH IS THE BURDEN OF EVIDENCE GIVEN BY THREE WITNESSES FOR THE PROSECUTION.

A Black and White Bottle played quite a prominent role in the district court this morning. But it was an empty bottle and it was only incidental in the present instance. Charles F. Chillingworth, attorney for the defense, introduced the bottle for use in cross examination of a witness for the prosecution in the case against Fred Kiley. The latter was under preliminary examination on a charge of assault with a weapon obviously and imminently dangerous to life, to wit, a bottle, and one D. Kall, a police officer, was the alleged victim of Kiley's power.

The case against Kiley has been hanging fire for some time past, but was at last begun this morning with the defendant charged with a more serious crime than had originally been preferred against him.

Kall, bearing the marks and scars of the beating he had received just outside of Kiley's saloon on the night of July 21, was the first witness. The witness has been in the Queen's Hospital during most of the time since the alleged assault upon him, owing to the wounds inflicted upon his head. Kall testified that he had gone into the saloon on July 21 and had seen the barkeeper, who is charged by other witnesses as being Dink Davis, beating a Portuguese (Norman Fraser). Kall tried to separate them and they went outside of the saloon where Kiley and the Portuguese began fighting. The Portuguese was knocked down and the witness stooped over to pick him up and received a blow over the left eye. He thought it was a bottle for he saw immediately after, a broken bottle in the hand of Kiley, who he thought had hit him. Subsequently the witness had received a blow on the head. The witness denied that he had been intoxicated at the time. He said officers had been made to him while he was in the hospital to drop the prosecution against Kiley; the latter had, through his attorney, offered to pay him for his expenses and trouble.

Dr. West, who had been the resident physician at the Queen's Hospital at the time of the accident, and had attended to the injuries of Kall, testified regarding the nature of the wound. The witness said that the cut in the forehead had probably been caused by some sharp object, while the blow over the eye had more likely been caused by a blow of the fist.

It was on the cross examination of this witness that Chillingworth sent out and got an empty bottle of Black and White to use in illustrating the questions. Frank Andrade, for the prosecution, opposed the use of the bottle, but Chillingworth was permitted to use it. It was empty. The witness expressed the opinion that had the blow over the eye been struck with such a bottle the bone would have been fractured. There were no fractured bones on Kall.

Charles Maschke, a Portuguese, was the next witness, and just about this time a little "scene" occurred. Chillingworth addressed the court to the effect that he had been informed that somebody had been listening in the court room to the testimony and then going outside and informing other witnesses for the prosecution of the nature of the evidence given. Chillingworth was told to produce his informant, who proved to be one Harvey Chase.

The latter claimed that a native man had gone out of the court room after the other witness had testified, and had called Maschke aside and begun to tell him in native about the testi-

Supervisors Get Consul's Complaint

WILL HAVE TO INVESTIGATE BOTH THE KOMORI AND Y. MARN YOUNG CASES.

Governor Carter today is sending the Komori complaint to the Supervisors of Oahu County today, just as it was sent to him by the Japanese consul. This has been found to be all that the executive can do in the matter, and this morning Carter expressed himself as feeling that it exposed something of a defect in our system of government that there should be no means of getting the truth in such a matter.

"It is impossible to get any evidence out of the police department," the governor said. "The supervisors have jurisdiction and it is for them to investigate. If it is true that such things are done at the police station in helpless persons like this Japanese, it may be that some day the work will be bolder, and other persons will be lawfully imprisoned."

"On the other hand the affidavit may be untrue. In any event I do not feel that I can take any steps in the matter."

The consul is therefore referred to the supervisors, and it is presumed that similar action will be taken regarding Y. Marn Young. As to the latter Attorney Lightfoot this morning said that he was willing to present it to the board and would be satisfied to do so, if the board did not appoint a whitewashing committee of Brown's friends to hear it. The case has not yet been sent by the consul to the governor.

many of Kall having been hit with the bottle. Chase was not altogether clear in his statements and admitted that he had heard but few words and did not know much of native language. Still Chase declared he knew enough native to understand what a person was talking about. He knew that the pair had been talking about the assault on Kall for he could see by their motions. Maschke denied that such had been the case and said that the native had been talking with him about driving some government carts.

Andrade expressed the opinion that it was a "little play," this bringing in of Chase into the court room. Chillingworth said he knew nothing about any play and that people talking about "dump carts" might under the circumstances be sufficient to arouse suspicion. Andrade said he did not suspect Chillingworth of being mixed up in any "little play," and Chillingworth expressed an equally high opinion of Andrade, and the court declared its opinion that "Mr. Chase was talking through his hat," and the taking of testimony was resumed.

Maschke testified that he had seen Kiley strike Kall in the forehead with a beer bottle. Alexander Hewitt testified to the same thing. Both men admitted under cross examination, that Kiley had on previous occasions ordered them away from his saloon. S. P. Kamaka corroborated their testimony about the manner of Kall being struck in the forehead with a bottle by Kiley.

The prosecution rested and the defense moved for a discharge on the grounds of insufficient evidence. This motion was denied. W. L. Mills, for the defense, testified that he had seen Kiley strike Kall over the head with a cane, but had not seen Kiley with any bottle. A broken cane was introduced in evidence by the defense. The case was continued until tomorrow morning.

The case of assault and battery against Dink Davis, the barkeeper for Kiley, was also continued until tomorrow.

CENTRAL UNION CHURCH CALLS DR. SYLVESTER

DR. J. WALTER SYLVESTER HAS BEEN CALLED TO THE PASTORATE OF THE CENTRAL UNION CHURCH WHERE HE HAS BEEN THE ACTING PASTOR SINCE THE FIRST OF JULY—HAS NOT ACCEPTED AS YET.

The Rev. Dr. J. Walter Sylvester who has been the acting pastor of the Central Union Church since the first of July is to be asked to accept a call to that church as its regular pastor. It was so decided last evening at a meeting of the church members for that purpose. Dr. Sylvester will probably be notified officially of the call today. Until that time he does not care to state to the public whether he will accept or not as he thinks the church should be notified first. Many of Dr. Sylvester's friends however believe that he will accept.

Dr. Sylvester stated this morning that he had a course of procedure mapped out and that he would follow it if he accepted the call and if it met the views of the standing committee of the church. He was not ready to state what the course was other than to say he was confident that the church could develop in many ways not only in this city but throughout the islands. The following is taken from the 1907 edition of "Who's Who in New York State" in regard to Dr. Sylvester: "The Rev. J. Walter Sylvester was born at Ashland, Maine, September 7, 1848. He was educated at the East Maine Seminary, Bucksport, Maine and at Boston and Demeer Universities. His only settled pastorate has been in the historic Second Presbyterian church at Albany, N. Y., a pulpit made famous by a line of unusually distinguished preachers. Of the Rev. Dr. William P. Sprague who served the church for over forty years, it has been said that beyond the seas he was, with Beecher, viewed as the most celebrated man in the American pulpit in his day. Hardly less distinguished were the other three ministers, Dr. John Chester, Dr. Anson Judd Pison and Dr. James H. Eob, all of whom served four pastorates in the nearly one hundred years of the church's history. Into this line of succession, Mr. Sylvester entered at the age of twenty-eight years, carrying on the large enterprise, and sustaining the best traditions of the pulpit with signal ability and success. Besides doing the regular work of a great church, he was in large demand as college preacher, lecturer and contributor of many sermons and articles to the religious press. He is a preacher of exceptional mental grasp and insight and wields a trenchant pen." The New York Observer the official organ of the Presbyterian church in the United States, contains the following in its issue of January 19, 1905, commenting on the event of Dr. Sylvester's resignation from Albany: "Succeeding Dr. Eob, came the Rev. J. Walter Sylvester, who now has been with the Second church eight years. He is very favorably known to the reading world by his 'Guides to the Higher Life.' The Albany pulpit has no occupant whose intellectuality is superior to his. At the recent meeting of Presbytery, when the pastoral relation was dissolved, deep was the feeling manifested by all, and many were the high words spoken by leading ministers and elders, at the loss about to be sustained by the church, city and Presbytery. His brotherliness, sweet spirit and unusual powers of mind won him friends everywhere."
