Ayer's Hair Vigor

A gentleman residing at Dunedin, N.Z., writes under date Jan. 7, 1907:

"It is with gratitude I write you that I have now a splendid head of hair, both thick and very soft, all owing to my having used your wonderful Hair Vigor. I was almost bald headed before I used the Hair Vigor. I still use it once a day, rubbing it well into the roots of the hair. I used to wear a skull-cap, and I am very grateful to Ayer's Hair Vigor for the improvement it has made in my looks."

Be warned in time. Use Ayer's Hair Vigor and preserve your youth.

WHAT OUR VISITORS DID AND SAW

first jaunt on the program—to Kaula.

At day break Saturday morning, the 11th, the vessel was running along the East coast of the Garden Island, and at 7:30 a. m. a landing had been made at Hanalei, on the north coast where breakfast was served at the country home of A. S. Wilcox, and a delightful two hours spent, before again boarding the boat, and continuing on around the north and west sides of the island, past the magnificent scenery of Na Pali, and the mysterious barking sands to Elele, where the party again landed, and boarding a train of cars on the plantation railroad, of the McBryde plantation crossed some ten miles of beautiful country, to Koloa, where carriages were waiting for the drive of 12 miles further to Lihue. At every stop—Elele, Koloa and other points, the citizens had prepared a great array of refreshments, and displayed elaborate decorations.

At Lihue entertainment was furnished at the home of Mr. W. H. Rice, where the party arrived about 5 o'clock and here later an elaborate luau was served. This was the first experience of any of the visitors with Hawaiian dishes, and a great deal of fun and amusement was had out of the meal. After the dinner, a reception of an hour at the town hall, attended by a large crowd, closed the event of the day, and the party, tired, but in the best of spirits again boarded the Kinau at Hanalei, and a start was made back to Honolulu, which was reached about 8 o'clock Sunday morning, after a smooth run.

Sunday the party was left to their own devices, and the following day, Monday the 13th, they were taken in coaches on a visit of inspection to the various schools in and about Honolulu. At every school visited, the pupils gave some kind of an exhibition, and at noon time, luncheon was served at the Normal School, prepared and served by the domestic science department of the school.

Tuesday morning, the men of the party under the direction of Captain Ottwell of the U. S. A. engineer corps, and other officers in charge of public works here, visited the harbor of Honolulu, and the problem of harbor improvement and channel lights explained to them, and a visit made to the U. S. Quarantine station, where an inspection was made, and the needs and importance of this safeguard to the health of both the Territory and the mainland, were fully recognized by everybody.

The same evening the party started for their ten days visit to Maui and Hawaii. Most of the ladies of the party left at 5 o'clock on the new S. S. Mexican, as guests of the owners, and the rest of the party sailed about 9 o'clock on the Claudine. Both branches of the party arrived at Kahului early Wednesday morning the 15th. Nearly all the automobiles on Maui were put into service for the use of the party. They were then taken in charge by the Walluku Committee, who had arranged for their entertainment during Wednesday. A portion of the party remained at Kahului for breakfast while many came to Walluku, the party being assigned to different members of the committee.

At 10 o'clock on Wednesday the party met at the Walluku mill where they were shown the workings of this new sugar factory which commenced operations only this year. They were then driven in hacks and autos to the public school.

Hack after hack lined up and were quickly driven to Iao Valley, where the sub-committee for Walluku had arranged an excellent lunch to satiate the appetites of the Congressional party. Acting Governor Atkinson was always with the party, and always on the alert making arrangements for transportation, etc., although very material assistance was rendered him at all times by the different committees. After lunch the party explored the beauties of Iao Valley, or in other words, the "Yosemite of the Hawaiian Group."

On Thursday morning the plantations of Central Maui were shown the visitors, this including a visit to Punnene Mill, which is the largest sugar manufacturing factory in the world. The party then proceeded to Pala by train, where they were turned by the Walluku sub-committee to the Makawao sub-committee. A trip to the largest extinct crater in the world was the next on the program. At Pala the party was met with automobiles, vehicles, etc., and after sundry visits, Olanda was reached.

At 2 a. m. Friday morning the party started from Olanda for the crater, furnished with a guide. Nearly everyone in the body took advantage of this occasion to visit Haleakala, and their efforts were well repaid, for it was very clear and beautiful morning, and sunrise was just excellent. The cloud effects were something grand, and the panoramic view beneath inspired the Congressional party with awe. Most of them returned to Walluku and Kahului in the afternoon, some remaining at Makawao.

On Saturday the Congressional party was given a taste of shark fishing in the harbor of Kahului, which was only indifferently successful. At 11 o'clock an elaborate luau was tendered the guests, at which some complimentary speech making was indulged in, and at 2 o'clock, all boarded the Claudine for the trip to Hawaii where most of the following week was spent.

Congressman J. Warren Keifer, Senator Piles and Congressman Lilley, McGavin and Webb, and E. G. Lowrey, representing the New York Evening Post, of the visiting Congressional party arrived at Hilo Sunday by the American-Hawaiian Steamship Mexican, direct from Maui.

The remainder of the party went by the Claudine from Kahului, skirting the eastern end of Maui, past Nahiku and Hana and around the northern and eastern sides of Haleakala, direct to Kona. They spent Sunday in Kona, visiting Captain Cook's monument and the locality where the Missionaries in the brig Thaddeus first landed in 1820, and other historic and interesting spots.

They then re-embarked on the Claudine and arrived at Laupahoehoe early Monday morning. From Laupahoehoe a part of the party went to Hilo overland giving them opportunity to visit characteristic non-irrigated plantations on the windward side of the island.

The others reboarded the boat and went around to Hilo by water.

The Congressmen who are members of the Rivers and Harbors Committee, together with some of the others, with Acting Governor Atkinson and Captain Ottwell of the Engineer Corps of the United States Army, spent nearly the whole of Monday in a launch in the harbor.

The remainder of the party were entertained in various ways, being shown points of interest and given views of the many picturesque places in and about Hilo.

The first Hilo meeting was at Moohau Park Monday evening, where a concert was given, and Congressmen Jones and Davidson made short addresses. The trip to the volcano, with a dinner served within five or six feet of the dizzy edge of Halemanuana, followed on Tuesday and the party nearly all returned to Hilo for a business men's meeting on Wednesday. A number of prominent planters gave figures regarding small holders of land with whom they deal and other local speakers talked for coffee, etc.

An afternoon tea at the residence of John Scott, Waimaku took up Thursday afternoon and on Thursday evening the last and largest meeting lasted until after midnight. It was arranged by a local committee of Hawaiians and the Hawaiians and Portuguese turned out in large numbers to hear the speakers. A dance followed the close of the speeches.

The formal meeting was closed with singing, all standing. There was "Hawaii Ponoi," "My Country 'Tis of Thee," and then "Aloha Oe" and it was noticeable that quite a number of the members of Congress were able to join in the latter.

The party arrived back in Honolulu on Saturday morning the 25th and spent the day in resting up. Sunday most of the party were taken in automobiles to Pukaki hill where a splendid panoramic view of Pearl Harbor was obtained. The same evening several of the members spoke in local churches to large congregations.

On Monday the Pearl Harbor trip, one of the most important of all, was inspected, as well as the sites of fortifications, dry dock, etc., were looked over. Most of the members returned about 4 o'clock to town on the train. The ladies of the party were tendered a reception at the same time at the home of Mrs. J. M. Dowsett, which was an important affair socially.

Monday the congressmen were entertained with a banquet by the Merchants' Association, Chamber of Commerce, and trustees of the Planters Association.

On Tuesday the party were taken to Wailua to visit the pineapple region and the military reservation. Heavy rains however prevented much sight-seeing and the plan to go from Wailua by automobile to Wailua. Instead the party were taken by train to Wailua, and were entertained at Haleiwa. "The House Beautiful," Manager Edgwood coming in for much praise for his splendid entertainment. The party returned to Honolulu Wednesday forenoon. Wednesday evening Delegate to Congress and Princess Kalaniana'ole tendered a reception at their beautiful Walkiki home, the former home of the Dowager Queen Kapiliolani, in honor of the Congressional party. Queen Liliuokalani was in the receiving party. Fully three thousand guests attended to pay their respects to the party and their hosts.

Thursday, May 30 Memorial Day, is the day on which the transport Sherman is expected to arrive to take the party back to the mainland.

The day was observed by the George W. De Long Post of the Grand Army of the Republic. General J. Warren Keifer, one of the few surviving general officers of the Civil War, and who was also a general in the Spanish war and Speaker of the House of Representatives was the orator of the day.
