BEER OVERFLOWS OKLAHOMA SEWERS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 31.—Twenty-three hundred barrels of beer are being poured into the sewers from the great vats and tanks of the New State Brewing plant, owned by the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Company of St. Louis. This beer is worth $17,400. A group of state officials and those responsible for prohibition stood today in a gallery of the brewery and watched a number of deputies in a van endeavor to keep the entrance to the sewers clear. They were unable to do so and the beer backed up, forming a great mass of foam that resembled a huge snow ball. In one room the foam was nearly three feet deep, and the brewery officials were compelled to open windows and run hoses of hose through them leading the beer into the street.

This spectacle attracted a large crowd, some of the members of which came with buckets and scooped up the beer as it flowed through the streets to the sewers. A few even stretched themselves upon the pavement and drank as if from waters of a running brook.

The beer is being emptied under the supervision of Charles Howard, deputy revenue collector. It will require about three days to finish the work.

Some time ago Manager Thompson of the brewery was informed by the state officials that he would be prosecuted if he kept the beer, and that he could not sell it. The attorney general held that it could not be shipped out of the state.

ADAM HEUNISCH KILLED HIMSELF FROM ORCHARDS

DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID AND WHITE MEN TAKING THE PLACES OF ORIENTALS IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 19.—Adam L. Heunisch, vice-president of the Illinois Pacific Glass Company, at Fifteenth and Polson streets, was found dead this morning at his home, 391 Baker street, with gas flowing from an open jet in his room and an empty bottle that had contained carbolic acid beside him.

Worry over financial difficulties, whether in connection with the glass company or with his private affairs, is given as the motive that impelled him to take his own life, as he has been heard frequently of late to express the wish that he had $10,000 ready at hand. His troubles have been so acute that he has been practically a victim of melancholia for some time past.

A Japanese servant, Charles Matsunato, found the body of Heunisch at 7 o'clock, and Dr. A. E. Brune of 404 Baker street was called at once. The physician found that life was extinct, however, as Heunisch had evidently turned on the gas some hours before and had swallowed the carbolic acid as well.

Heunisch's son, Albert Heunisch, who has charge of the Seattle branch of the glass works, has been visiting here, accompanied by his wife, but returned to his home on Wednesday, and it is thought that his departure had the effect of still further depressing his father.

Heunisch, who was 49 years old, leaves a widow and one daughter, Miss Genevieve Heunisch.

DEATH COMES TO JUDGE WHITING

THE WELL KNOWN JURIST SUCCEUMBS AFTER A LONG FIGHT FOR LIFE.

William Austin Whiting, former associate justice of the Supreme Court died at 5:25 Saturday afternoon, after a long illness. He had been given up a week before, but rallied for a day or two before the final collapse. Dropsy, accused by cirrhosis of the liver, was the cause of death. The funeral was held yesterday, with Masonic honors.

Judge Whiting was born in Charlestown, Mass. He graduated from Harvard College as six generations of his name had done before him. After graduating at the college he took the Harvard law course, and began the practice of his profession in Charlestown and Boston, but living in Charlestown. His ancestors on both sides had been locally eminent in their generation, and some of them attained a larger eminence. He was a lineal descendant of Gov. Thomas Dudley and of Gov. Simon Bradstreet, and of Rev. John Cotton, the first preacher of the First Church in Boston, all of whom were active in the third decade of the seventeenth century. Another of his ancestors was the president of Harvard College, and his grandfather Austin was a prominent lawyer in Massachusetts, and an author of some note in his day, having written "Pete Rugg: The Missing Man," a book that attracted much attention in its time.

Judge Whiting came to Honolulu in 1880, where he had friends who were influential in affairs here. An uncle James W. Austin, was at one time a Justice of the Supreme Court of Hawaii.

In 1892 he was appointed Attorney General under Liliuokalani. But he was swept out of office within the year in one of those rapid changes of ministries which characterized the last year of the Queen's reign.

In 1893, following the overthrow, he was appointed First Judge of the First Circuit Court. Following the rebellion of January, 1895, he was appointed president of the Military Commission which tried those implicated in the rebellion, including the Queen herself. In order that he might be president of this commission he was given the military rank of colonel. Associated with him on the commission were Lieut.-Col. J. H. Fisher, Captains C. W. Ziegler, J. M. Camara, Jr., J. W. Pratt, W. C. Wilder, and 1st Lieut. J. W. Jones, with Captain W. A. Kinney as Judge Advocate.

In 1886 he was appointed Second Associate Justice of the Supreme Court in succession to the late R. F. Bickerton, and he continued on the Supreme Bench until the organization of the Territory of Hawaii, June 14, 1890 following annexation.

In the funeral yesterday the pallbearers were Chief Justice Hartwell, P. C. Jones, Henry Smith H. E. Cooper, Col. C. P. Iauka, John Kidwell, Cecil Brown and T. H. Petrie.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

At the meeting of the Board of Education Friday afternoon J. M. Taggart was reappointed as principal of the Kaili-hi-waena school to take charge as soon as one room is completed. Mr. Taggart has been ill and out of duty on that account. Miss Gussie Schiemmer was appointed as teacher in the Central Grammar School to succeed Miss Phronie Dyke who has resigned to take a Priory school position. The board instructed the Superintendent to make exchanges of school property in Waianae, Ewa, Honouliuli and Kaulakakai, the last two being on Molokai for more suitable property, with the Waianae Company, the James Campbell Estate, the Molokai ranch, and the Commissioner of Public Lands, respectively.

LEASE APPROVED.

Governor Frear on Saturday placed his approval on the proposition to open for lease for pastoral purposes a strip of land on the west coast of Maui between Honokahua and Waihee, running three or four miles along the coast and extending from the precipitous coast line in width from 1-1/2 to 2 miles. Applications have been made for some of it, and it will probably be divided into a number of sections and offered in 21-year-leases with the usual provisions for taking it over at any time it may be needed for agricultural purposes.

PREDICT SUCCESS OF HAWAII BILL

WASHINGTON, January 9.—It is probable that Congress will grant Hawaii special permission to import white laborers for several years. In order to meet the needs of that Territory for plantation workmen. Prior to the passage of the bill prohibiting the states from assisting immigration, Hawaii had imported 5000 laborers, largely from Spain, assisting them to the extent of paying their passage.

Hawaii needs laborers and today the Immigration Committee authorized Representative Hayes to report to the house a bill suspending the operation of this law for six years. The recommendation was unanimous, and it is expected that the bill will pass. This will enable Hawaii to import laborers and planters and others will be able to contribute to the fund, but they will not be able to import immigrants themselves.

The committee feels confident that this legislation, if enacted, would do much to relieve the situation in Hawaii, where Oriental laborers practically control the market.
