ALAMEDA HERE FROM THE COAST

DOCKS AT ABOUT ONE THIS AFTERNOON, BRINGING MAIL AND PASSENGERS.

O. S. S. Alameda docked at 1 o'clock this afternoon, 6 days, 1 hour and 53 minutes from San Francisco, with 28 cabin and 9 steerage passengers, 250 sacks of mail, representing four days, and 1515 tons of general freight.

Secretary H. P. Wood of the Promotion Committee, accompanied by Mrs. Wood, returned. James Dougherty, of Wickham's, and wife, are back. Mrs. Carrie J. Bond, noted composer, is here for a visit. Dr. Leo L. Sexton is here to engage in hospital work. Mrs. A. G. Freeman and Miss M. Freeman are San Francisco tourists.

Mrs. M. J. Collins and Miss N. Collins and Mrs. Minnie Hayes are also tourists. Frank Rehorn comes from Fresno. Mrs. O'Connor and Miss Montague are going to the Colonies in the Aorangi. Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Dawson are from Chicago, Dawson being a capitalist of Illinois renown.

Forty-eight hours of bad weather just after leaving San Francisco delayed the Alameda, putting her out 100 miles.

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE FLEET

W. E. Brown speaking this morning on entertainments for the Atlantic fleet when the vessels arrive here this coming summer, suggested several plans which if carried out will be very popular with the sailors of the fleet.

"I think that one of the best ways to make the boys happy, would be for the trustees of the baseball league to turn over the grounds for their use during their stay, to allow them to play a series of games with teams from all the ships, and also to play some games with our local teams and to have the grounds open to the public free.

"The sailors are all very fond of baseball, and nearly every ship has a good team. It would give the men a chance to see sport during their entertainment, and would be one of the best ways to entertain them.

"Another good way to receive them would be to give them a big dinner at the old fish market with plenty of good wholesome food with some Hawaiian dishes besides, ending up with a big dance in the evening.

"Another thing that we ought to have would be plenty of good riding horses, as Jack is very fond of riding when he is ashore. There are any number of ways that will probably be decided later on by the committee, but I think that the citizens of Hawaii should do up in their power to make the fleet's stay one round of pleasure and enjoyment."

Otto Hieberbach, president of the Chambers Drug Company when asked for his views on entertaining the fleet replied "I believe that we should allow Jack to find his own enjoyment. I believe as Captain Lawrence does that Jack would rather find his own way of enjoyment rather than to have any set forms of entertainment.

"Give the boys and the liberty they want, and do not have any special police to curb them, as they will not stand for the local police ordering them around.

"If it becomes necessary have a guard from each ship to see after their own men, but do not try and make them obey the local authorities unless they create too much trouble.

"Jack is a good fellow when he is let alone, but cross his course and you will find that he is not like a lamb."

TAKING TO BOATS

ECLIPSE DISASTER LEADS TO EXAMINATION SHOWING WHAT GEORGE CURTIS CARRIES.

When reports were going forward to the Bureau of Navigation, Washington, D. C., with affidavits of the survivors of the lost American ship Eclipse, dealing with the poor condition of the boats to which the desperate crew were forced when the Eclipse was sinking a thousand miles from here, there was much interest revived on the local waterfront in regard to the condition of boats aboard vessels in the harbor.

Captain Herbert of the bark George Curtis the other day invited United States Shipping Commissioner Henry N. Almy to inspect the life boat which surmounts the forward house aboard his bark. Almy did so and made a report accordingly.

Herbert's life-boat is a model and is fully equipped as follows:

One sealed galvanized iron bread tank containing 100 pounds of sea-bred in good condition.

One water tank with 25 gallons of water, sealed and smelling by Almy and found in first class drinkable condition; water changed every trip of the vessel.

A galvanized iron tank in which were contained a hall of amberline, painting needle, marline-spike, flint and steel, matches in waterproof case, one hatchet, a lantern with wicks, five night lamps for signalling distress, one gallon of mineral oil for throwing on the waves at launching if necessary on account of roughness, one pint of turpentine.

Under the after-hwart was found another waterproof case of safety matches and in the stern sheets in a waterproof bag were a couple of sails, complete.

Then there were spare sails, mast, spare spars with ballards rove, five oars and two spare oars, two sets of rowlocks with lanyards and spare rowlocks in waterproof bag, a rudder, yoke, tiller and ropes, a compass in a box, a thirty-fathom painter, half a dozen life preservers, two plugs for each hole in the boat with lanyards.

Life-lines run around the boat under the gunwales and stirtight tanks inside under the gunwales the length of the boat, with everything in the boat firmly lashed so that nothing could be lost with the temporary capping of the boat which would right herself.

This boat is placed in the water for twenty-four hours at least once in six months. She can carry sixteen men and is ready for immediate launching at any time.

In an emergency extra provisions of beef, canned goods, lime-juice, water and bread would be thrown in and all hands or most of the ship's company would away.

PERJURY CASE AND LANGUAGE QUESTION

"MORMON CASE" BECOMES IN PART A MATTER OF STRICT INTERPRETATION AND TRANSLATION—DID THE HEAD OF THE CHURCH ADVISE ONE OF THE MEMBERS TO SWEAR FALSELY REGARDING POLYGAMOUS PRACTICE?

The trial of Melvin M. Harmon for subornation of perjury in the "Mormon Case" of George Kekauoha and others for adultery, is being hard fought by the defense in the United States District Court, before Judge Dole and a jury. This is the second day of the trial and predictions are made that the case will last well into next week.

Poi Kekauoha, a brother of George, and who is the one alleged to have been procured by Harmon for committing the perjury, took the witness stand again this morning and has been undergoing a scorching cross-examination at the hands of W. A. Kinney for the defense.

Judge Dole yesterday ruled an objection being raised to Poi's testimony that he might incriminate himself (the being under indictment for perjury in the same connection) that nothing which he might testify in the Harmon case could be used against him in his own trial. The witness has therefore told that upon receiving subpoenas to appear before the grand jury, he had gone to the Mormon leader, Harmon, and around him from his bed after 10 o'clock at night had consulted him, and been told to deny to the grand jury the confession which George Kekauoha and Kelehuia had made at a church meeting of adultery acts on their part, that the matter was a church secret and must not be divulged.

Kinney is working on two lines to break Poi's testimony. One of these is that through his natural friendship for his brother he perjured himself before the grand jury, and is now trying to shift the responsibility to Harmon's shoulders; and the other is that Harmon did not tell Poi to "deny" the confessions, but to "refuse" to testify on the subject. The conversation on the matter was held in Hawaiian, and an effort is being made to show that from the Hawaiian terms used, Poi confused Harmon's real instructions, which were to refuse to testify, and be in contempt if necessary, but did not tell him to perjure himself.

BRINGS GOOD NEWS

H. P. Wood secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and the Promotion Committee arrived home this afternoon on the Alameda.

In speaking about Pearl Harbor Mr. Wood stated that he did not think there was any doubt about getting the appropriation.

"The President, every cabinet official, the officers of the Army and Navy from the highest to the lowest, a large number of the Senators and Congressmen are all anxious to see it go through, as they are anxious to make Pearl Harbor the greatest Naval station in the world.

"Every official in Washington realizes that we have got to have a naval station here and we have got to have it soon. I was given to understand before I left Washington that we would get the appropriation before Congress adjourned.

"Everyone that I met in Washington was talking about Hawaii, and I think there is a feeling among even the Congressmen who are now opposed to granting the appropriation, that the whole country demand that we be protected, even if there is no immediate danger.

"Everyone who has been here and seen Pearl Harbor has carried the news back that it is the most perfect spot for a naval station. I expected that the sub-committee on naval affairs would turn it down at first, but I was almost certain from what I heard, that they would change their minds later on.

"President Roosevelt has made up his mind to have the appropriation, and he is doing everything in his power to get it."

"We have lots of friends in Washington who are doing all they can for Hawaii, and I think that within two months we will see the dirt flying down at Pearl Harbor.

"Regarding the subsidy bill I think that we are also going to get that from all I could learn in Washington. A large number of the members in the lower house who have voted against it before, have made up their minds to vote for it this year. If the bill goes through we will see the three Oceanic boats on the run shortly afterwards, from all that I learned in Washington and San Francisco.

"We have never had such a good chance before to have our flag again on the seas as we have now. Everyone is anxious to see the bill go through.

"In speaking about presidential possibilities, I think that Mr. Roosevelt will have to accept the renomination again, as the whole country is demanding a third term for him. Taft and Hughes are both very popular, but I think that Hughes would win out over Taft in the event of Roosevelt absolutely refusing to run if he was nominated.

"I think that we have good prospects for a number of tourists in the near future, as the Cooke people told me in San Francisco just before I left that they would do all they could to make people come here, as they would do a lot of advertising for Hawaii."

BRIDE ARRIVES

David T. Fleming, manager of the Hauku Ranch on Maui, and Miss Martha Posa, of Berkeley, California, who arrived today on the Alameda, will be united in holy wedlock by the Rev. Dr. Scudder at the residence of Mrs. A. H. B. Judd, on Nuuanu street, at 3 o'clock this afternoon. John Fleming will act as his brother's best man. Mr. and Mrs. Fleming will leave this afternoon on the Claudine for Maui.

MRS. WILCOX'S KAIULANI POEM

MRS. ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

From a photograph taken in Honolulu this week. At the ninth anniversary of the death of the Princess Kaiulani this morning at Kaiulani school, a new poem by Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox was read for the first time, in honor of the late princess. It is as follows:

Dreamer of thrones, she grew from child to maid,
While under Royal Palms, soft fountains played,
She saw herself, in Time's appointed hour,
Ruling her Kingdom, or love's potent power;
Her radiant youth, imperially arrayed,
Where tropic suns were tempered by sweet shade
Protecting love, her pleasant pathway laid;
And there she dwelt, a Princess in her bower,
Dreaming of thrones.

Marqueting chances, brutally invade
Her island home; and yet Time's hand is stayed
Her name has left the fragrance of a power,
And in the royal state that was her dower,
She sleeps in beautiful youth that cannot fade,
Dreaming of thrones.

Governor Freat attended with A. L. C. Atkinson the exercises in commemoration of the Princess.

Mrs. Wilcox leaves on the Manchuria to return to the Coast.

A delightful farewell reception to Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox was given last night by the Kiloahana Art League, in its rooms on Miller street. The gathering was a large one, taxing the rooms to their full capacity, and a most happy little programme was greatly enjoyed by all who attended. The affair was planned by the literary circle of the league and afforded to many a much desired opportunity to meet the gifted visitor, as well as to hear several recitations from her works.

The visitors were given a chance to meet Mrs. Wilcox in the library, among those assisting in receiving being Mrs. W. M. Graham, Mrs. L. L. McCandless and Mrs. W. P. Freat. Mrs. Wilcox shook the hands of hundreds as they arrived and fled into the hall, where the programme was given, beginning with a finely rendered selection from Schubert, by Messrs. Love, Wall, Marx and Ramus, with Mrs. Hitchcock as accompanist.
