AT HALEIWA.
Society has gathered at this popular resort during the past two months and "standing room only" has been the rule. There is so much comfort about the place that local people gather there in preference to going to any of the beach resorts. The meals at Haleiwa were so good that the most exacting gourmet would demand and the service is unexcelled. There are some rooms vacant which may be had on application to St. Clair Bidgood, manager.

POLITICS
The Republican party that I should run, I might be able to do so."
The precinct meetings for nominating convention delegates are to be held tomorrow night. The attendance promises to break all records. In some precincts various important issues are coming to the front and are lifting the canvases above the level of personal knocking and counter knocking which is the main feature of almost all the political discussions and precinct campaigning that has so far found publicity. For example, Kaimuki has a new precinct which wants a man in the legislature who will work for improvement of its water supply, and it will vote accordingly. In some other precincts the establishment of big camps or cheap lodging houses, is to be made an issue, with a view to getting a license law that will stop the encroachment of such places in residence districts. Makiki especially is up in arms over such invasions, which threaten to spoil a fine residence district by disfiguring it with cheap labor camps. A law calling for the consent of property owners in the vicinity, before such establishments can be maintained, is proposed.

tion, having gone up there accompanied by Townsend.
Witness told the story of his loan of $100 to Iauka through Townsend on May 1 last. He gave the note back to the sheriff on June 2. Townsend sent a hack to bring him to his house, where he asked him to exchange the note for one of equal amount made out to Townsend. The substitute note was delivered to him next day, Iauka having surrendered the first one to Townsend on his promise to do so. It was at midnight he visited Townsend. He had the note in his pocket, as its time had about expired. "So I thought I better take the note," Townsend said. The note was paid about June 7 or 8. Like the Iauka note it bore no interest.
"What is the idea of changing that note from Iauka to Townsend and then from Townsend to Iauka?" Townsend explained the matter in this way, that the fact of $100 loan became known to Chief Taylor and Sheriff Iauka did not like it, so he wanted to have the matter covered up by substituting the old note with the new one, which had no name of mine."
Townsend telephoned from the police station to the Iauka hack stand for Iauka to send the note over and he would pay it. He sent his clerk over with the note and he came back with the money.
After April 7 Iauka next saw Sheriff Iauka about the 18th or 20th of May. This was at the sheriff's office. Townsend being present as interpreter. He went up to ask the sheriff if there was any prospect of reopening Iauka. "The sheriff said he, himself, was in favor of keeping Iauka open, but there was a law which forbids it, so he could not do otherwise."
"Nothing more was said at the first interview, but I went up to see him for the same purpose on the 25th of May. Sheriff told me that he personally wanted Iauka open; but there was a missionary movement which wanted the place closed and he could not do anything against the missionary, except by the petition of prominent citizens. I asked him if he was not going to open the place with that petition signed by a thousand names. He said that petition did not count anything because it was signed by all laborers."
Witness asked the sheriff if there were not some prominent citizens who had made a petition for opening Iauka and the sheriff said there were none. He said further that if members of either the grand jury or the Board of Supervisors would sign the petition then he would open Iauka. Iauka was closed when the $100 loan was made and until about June 15.
Mr. Fern asked witness if the presents to Iauka and Taylor, with the $100 loan were in the nature of bribes. "I did not mean to make any bribe to these officials," was the reply, "but I knew it was the custom among the white people to make presents."
To Mr. Cathcart he continued that the loan had no such meaning as a bribe. "I made the loan at the request of the sheriff."
On April 7, at Iauka's house in Iwilei, Townsend introduced him to the sheriff. Townsend said to sheriff, pointing to me, this is Iauka and I heard Mr. Taylor also tell it to the sheriff."
Women themselves reopened the place on June 15. Witness at the time owned six houses containing 48 rooms altogether. He sold the lease to others on July 15, since when he had no interest in Iwilei.
The interview at the station on April 15 was in Chief Taylor's office, the sheriff, Townsend and Iauka being present. Asked if the sheriff knew who he was he said:
"Naturally he ought to have known me because I met him on the night of the 7th. Of course he knew me by the way he talked and the conversation we had, why I could tell he knew me all right."
Next time he saw the sheriff was some time after June 29, when Townsend sent a hack to his house, telling him the sheriff wanted to see him. When he went over the sheriff asked him how the matter of the $100 loan leaked out and he told him that his wife Chise showed it to District Attorney Breckons.
"Then the sheriff asked me how it happened that Chise showed it to Mr. Breckons, and I didn't have any explanation to make, so I said to him by way of excuse that I was on good terms with Mr. Breckons and one day Mr. Breckons called on us and asked Chise how she was getting along and Chise thought to tell the truth to Mr. Breckons, she said we were doing all

ness and the sheriff, Chief Taylor and Special Officer Townsend were there. It was in the night time.
The sheriff told him that the stockade must be closed the same evening and told him to notify the women to that effect. They spoke in English and Townsend interpreted. Iauka said nothing on that occasion. Prior to that time he knew the sheriff only by sight. Asked if he had made any presents to the sheriff before that time, Iauka answered:
"I made a present to him January last year—not January but in December at Christmas time."
The present consisted of four chairs—ordinary chairs, but they were valuable kind, each chair cost $7.
He went to the sheriff's house with Townsend but the sheriff was absent. "I saw Mrs. Iauka and through Townsend I made a present of the chairs and said that was my Christmas present to the Sheriff."
Townsend told Mrs. Iauka who I was. Townsend put down my name on a slip of paper in English and I left there.
Asked if he had made any presents to the police officers at that time, witness said he made a present of cigars to Taylor. "I do not remember the number of boxes, but I know the value; I paid $30 for them."
He made the present of cigars to the Chief of Detectives at the police station, having gone up there accompanied by Townsend.

PROMOTION BUSINESS

Secretary Wood's report to the Promotion Committee this week is as follows:
Honolulu, August 27th, 1908.
Chairman and Members of the Hawaii Promotion Committee.
Gentlemen:—After conferring with your Chairman, Mr. W. E. Brown, I wrote to Mr. E. A. Mott-Smith, Superintendent of Immigration, asking if we might place our maps, folders, etc., on file in the office of the Board of Immigration proposes establishing in New York and am pleased to report the receipt of the following answer.
"I am in receipt of your favor of today's date asking that the Hawaii Promotion Committee may have the privilege of keeping matter, samples of which you have furnished, in the office proposed to be opened by the Board of Immigration in New York City under charge of Mr. Trenor, and also asking the privilege of stating to parties in New York desiring information about Hawaii that they can secure the same from Mr. Trenor."
This request meets with my entire approval and I am sure will meet with the approval of the Board. As I understand it, you wish Mr. Trenor to take it up in a merely incidental way in connection with his office and to have a place there in New York where the material, which you have enclosed, can be shown and questions answered. I will write to Mr. Trenor to this effect.
The matter for our Map and Guide to the Island of Oahu is now in the hands of the printer and will, I think, prove to be one of the most valuable publications the Committee has issued. I hope to have it finished early next week.
In order to complete the series, Mr. H. E. Newton is now at work, during his spare moments, on the maps of the other islands.
Following Oahu, I will be prepared to submit the matter for the Hawaii folder. One side of the folder will be taken up with an accurate map of the big island; on the other side, in addition to statistical and descriptive matters we will have an excellent map of Kilauea, showing as well, location of Volcano House, trails, roads, etc.
The Maui folder, in addition to the map of the twin islands, will also carry a good map of Haleakala, giving elevations, trails, etc.
As soon as the Oahu folder is out, we will send copies quite generally to the other islands, asking for information along similar lines, to be used in the folders of Hawaii, Maui and Kauai, which we will endeavor to make as complete as possible.
Feeling that the possibilities of fishing as a sport should be thoroughly exploited, we have asked Mr. H. M. Ayres to submit to the Committee, at an early date as may be convenient, a series of ten or twelve articles covering the subject quite thoroughly and hope that the Committee may decide to have the matter printed in attractive pamphlet form, suitably illustrated.
I am now in correspondence with different parties in Colombo and Singapore, with reference to distributing our advertising matter on board all steamers calling at those ports and in the event of our being able to secure reliable service at moderate cost, I would recommend the printing of a two page leaflet in English, French and German, to be used in those ports. Such a leaflet will serve to attract the travelers attention and should he desire further information about the islands, he will then know where to obtain it.
The Hawaii fever still prevails in Southern California. The Fall Calendar of the Library Auxiliary Club of Goleta, announces among other events the following:
Sept. 9—"Brief Glimpses of Hawaiian Islands" by Mrs. Smith; Sept. 9—"Domestic Service in Honolulu" by Mrs. Martin; Sept. 25—"Hawaii and Pineapple Industry" by Mrs. Culver; Sept. 25—"Chinese and Portuguese in the Territory" by Mrs. Peio.
Oct. 14—"Why Honolulu is safe from Earthquakes" by Mrs. Catlett; Oct. 14—"Molokai and its Inhabitants by Mrs. Brown; Oct. 14—"Climate of Honolulu" by Mrs. Pierson; Oct. 28—"The Native Hawaiian" by Mrs. Buck; Oct. 28—"Education in Hawaiian Territory" by Mrs. Hutchins; Oct. 28—"Available Public Lands" by Mrs. Tinker.
Nov. 11—"Oahu the Center of Island Government" by Mrs. Zint; Nov. 11—"The Army Post in Honolulu" by Mrs. Warren; Nov. 11—"Pacific Fertilizer and Guano" by Mrs. Sexton.
Dec. 9—"Experiment Station and Products of Hawaii" by Mrs. Pettinelli; Dec. 9—"Volcanoes" by Mrs. Pierson.
Mr. Dadd will assume his duties at the Honolulu school on September 7. —Milwaukee, Wis.
