She carried 26,000 cases of the canned fruit, 21,000 cases of which consignment are from this island and 5,000 cases from Hawaii, taken aboard at Hilo.

REGISTERING OF VOTERS

CITIZENS ON HAND IN LARGE NUMBERS AT OPENING SESSIONS OF THE BOARD.

The registration of voters up to 1 o'clock was 262. Chairman Chillingworth says this is the largest number for the first two sessions in his experience.

At the morning session the figures were:

Fourth district ..... 96

Fifth district ..... 61

Total ..... 157

At the noon session:

Fourth district ..... 52

Fifth district ..... 53

Total ..... 105

Grand total ..... 262

Chairman Chillingworth wishes to state that persons who have been naturalized in this country had better come to register prepared with their naturalization papers.

Registering voters began with a rush at the two first sessions of the Board of Registration today. The board consisting of S. F. Chillingworth, chairman, J. D. Holt Jr., and A. S. C.

Pihanaia has its town headquarters in the corner store of the Magoon building, Merchant and Alakea streets.

There are three sessions daily—from 8 to 10, 12 to 1 and 4 to 7.

There was a steady pressure of citizens, the natives preponderating, at the registering desk which kept all three members of the board busy. Rev.

Dr. Scudder was among the number who registered at noon.

ORPHEUM PLAYS

A very good house greeted the Lumley Company at the Orpheum last night when the curtain rolled up on the fifth performance of David Belasco's play "Zaza." This famous play will be repeated tonight, at the matinee to-morrow and tomorrow night. Starting Thursday, "The Heart of Maryland."

The announcement that this famous play was to be produced here in Honolulu at popular prices has aroused unprecedented interest among the better class of theater goers in this city, and with the support of the fine stock company at the Orpheum Miss Virginia Thornton should duplicate the artistic success which she is voted in "Zaza." Her emotional powers will be further taxed and the part of Maryland will present her in an entirely new role and one she should be at her best in.

A PLEA DISOWNED

A Chinese woman who was not sure whether she was guilty or not guilty of violation of the Edmunds Act was before Judge Dole this morning. Both she and her consort had pleaded guilty and were awaiting sentence. First Attorney Donthitt made a plea for clemency and one which was exceptionally strong in its eloquence. Deputy District Attorney Rawlins contradicted some of the statements which had been made and Judge Dole asked the woman a few questions through an interpreter. In this manner he found out that she claimed that she was not guilty, though her consort could not agree with her. The matter was continued by Judge Dole for investigation.

Don't attempt to swindle a mule; he is apt to get back at you. When a man brags about himself it's a sign that others merely tolerate him. It is easier to lead a man to drink than it is to drive him away from it.

THWING'S CHARGES ARE IN WASHINGTON

LETTERS RECEIVED FROM ATTORNEY GENERAL BONAPARTE AND SECRETARY GARFIELD ACKNOWLEDGE RECEIPT OF THWING'S ACCUSATIONS AGAINST BRECKONS—WILL HAVE CAREFUL INVESTIGATION, SAYS BONAPARTE.

The Rev. E. W. Thwing heard yesterday from both Attorney General Bonaparte and Secretary Garfield, regarding the charges forwarded by him against District Attorney Breckons. Letters acknowledging receipt of the charges were received. The letter from the attorney general shows that the charges were sent also to the President. The two letters are as follows:

"OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL. Washington, D. C., Hotel Aspinwall, Lenox, Mass., August 19, 1908. Rev. Edward W. Thwing, Honolulu, T. H. Dear Sir:—I am duly in receipt of your letter of the 5th instant, with enclosed copy of communication to the President. You may be assured that the matter will receive my careful consideration. Very respectfully, "CHARLES J. BONAPARTE, Attorney General."

"SECRETARY'S OFFICE, DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR. Washington, D. C., August 18, 1908. Dear Sir:—I have your letter of August 5th with the enclosure regarding Mr. R. W. Breckons, United States District Attorney. Upon the return of the attorney general I will confer with him regarding this matter. Very truly yours, "JAMES RUDOLPH GARFIELD, Secretary."

"Mr. Edward W. Thwing, Honolulu, Hawaii." Later charges were sent by Mr. Thwing than those thus acknowledged.

SHENANDOAH CLAIM IS LOOKING UP AGAIN

HEIRS OF HONOLULU CLAIMANT'S FOR SEIZURE AND BURNING OF WHALING SHIP HARVEST BY THE CONFEDERATE PRIVATEER SEEM TO BE IN SIGHT OF RECEIVING PAYMENT OF CLAIM—AMOUNT IS $157,238.

After many years—and the original claimants in their graves—there is some near prospect of payment of damages arising out of the destruction of the whaling ship Harvest by the Confederate privateer Shenandoah. Depositions are about to be taken in Honolulu in connection with the bill introduced in Congress on January 29, 1906, appropriating $157,238 to pay the heirs of Henry Hackfeld, Frank Moteno and James I. Dowsett the respective shares of their claim arising out of the destruction of the so-called bark Harvest by the Shenandoah.

According to the claim, on December 24, 1864, the whaling ship Harvest, built at Middletown, Connecticut, in 1825, a ship-rigged vessel 195 feet in length and 360 tons in weight, left Honolulu. She had a crew of 28 men of which the captain, the first mate, the second mate, the third mate and the carpenter were citizens of the United States. The Harvest was outfitted for a cruise of one year.

On the first of April, 1865, while the Harvest was anchored at the Island of Ascension, having made a successful cruise in which 21 whales and 250 barrels of oil were taken, the Confederate steamer Shenandoah, or Sea King, Captain Waddell, last from Meivin, Australia, hove in sight.

On April 11 the captain of the Shenandoah landed all of the crew of the Harvest on the island and robbed them of all their clothing, money, instruments, chronometer, etc., and all of the oil and provisions. After stripping the Harvest, Captain Waddell cut her loose and set her on fire.

Part of the crew remained on the island of Ascension until they were rescued by a Hawaiian vessel and taken back to Honolulu. The rest of the crew built a boat and sailed 850 miles to the Island of Guam, where their boat was taken from them by the governor of that island for $200, and the money turned over to the United States government.

The Shenandoah with her new equipment of shipments and stores proceeded to the coast of South America, where the oil from the Harvest was sold. With the proceeds of this sale she was able to refit and proceed to Liverpool. Arriving there on November 6, 1865, she was surrendered to the British authorities. The owners of the Harvest made efforts to file the Shenandoah but the British authorities held that by reason of the surrender of the Confederacy the Shenandoah had become the property of the United States.

When the improvement of the Kahului supply was talked over last February C. B. Wells, the manager of the Wailuku Sugar Company served notice on the Territory that more water was being used than the rights called for. Then when the actual work commenced, the suit was brought.

As a matter of fact the government is stated to have been using upward of 500,000 gallons per day for Kahului and Wailuku and even this is not sufficient, as the plans are now on foot for an improvement. The work which has been going on was stopped by the injunction which has been served on Merston Campbell and W. E. Bal, the superintendent of the supply for the two towns.

It is asked that a permanent injunction is stated, forbidding the taking of more than 20,000 gallons of water per day for the Territory from Iao Valley and Wailuku stream and also a temporary injunction forbidding the enlargement of pipes for the Kahului supply, or the supply of water to new users till after the matter has been settled in court.

LOOK FOR DESERTERS

UNCLE SAM INSTRUCTS MARSHAL HENDRY, AMONG OTHERS, TO BE ON THE WATCH.

Uncle Sam is tired of having soldiers desert from the army and escape without any great effort to keep from the authorities and from now on will take stricter steps to see that it does not occur so often. The following letter received by United States Marshal R. R. Hendry is self explanatory:

"Department of Justice, Washington, D. C., August 13, 1908.

"To United States Marshals: In order to diminish as much as possible the great number of desertions occurring in the Army, the War Department has found it necessary to adopt more vigorous methods than it has employed hitherto with a view to apprehending and bringing to trial those who desert the military service.

"The Act of Congress, approved June 18, 1898, provides: That it shall be lawful for any civil officer having authority under the laws of the United States or of any state, territory or district to arrest offenders, to summarily arrest a deserter from the military service of the United States and deliver him into the custody of the military authority of the general government.

"Under a provision borne in the army appropriation act each year the sum of fifty dollars is paid by the War Department to any civil officer or citizen for his services in apprehending securing and delivering any deserter.

"There will be submitted to you from time to time by the War Department, circulars relative to this matter, including half-tone cuts of the men and such other information as is likely to prove useful in their identification. You are instructed to distribute these circulars among your deputies.

"Any information that may be obtained relative to the whereabouts of deserters, whom for any reason it is impossible to arrest, should be communicated direct to the Adjutant General of the Army. Respectfully,

"CHARLES J. BONAPARTE, Attorney General."

THE TERRITORY IS ENJOINED

A temporary injunction was granted against the Territory by Judge De Bort this morning at the request of the Wailuku Sugar Company, on account of a dispute which has arisen over the water supply for Wailuku and Kahului. The matter was brought to a head through the fact that Superintendent of Public Works Campbell has started to improve the water head for Kahului and the Wailuku Sugar Company comes forth with a claim that it owns all the waters of Iao Valley and of the Wailuku stream with the exception of 20,000 gallons per day which the government got through the purchase of certain taro land.

As a matter of fact the government is stated to have been using upward of 500,000 gallons per day for Kahului and Wailuku and even this is not sufficient, as the plans are now on foot for an improvement. The work which has been going on was stopped by the injunction which has been served on Merston Campbell and W. E. Bal, the superintendent of the supply for the two towns.
