The two American-Hawaiian vessels now in port are both scheduled to leave tonight. The Pleiades will leave at 5 o'clock for Kaanapali, then going to Eleele and thence to San Francisco. The Columbian will leave at the same time, going from here to Kahului, then to Kaanapali and back to Hilo. From the latter port she sails for Salina Cruz.

BURROUGHS IN HONOLULU

Among the noted people to arrive this morning by the Mongolia was John Burroughs, probably the most famous scientist of America, who comes here to spend a few weeks on a vacation trip. He was to have been accompanied by John Muir, the famous naturalist of California, but the latter was unable to make the trip. Mr. Burroughs will spend several weeks in this city and in trips to the other islands. The San Francisco Chronicle says of him:

BERKELEY, May 4.—John Burroughs, perhaps the most famous naturalist in America and an author of international standing, has been the guest of the Berkeley poet, Charles Keeler, for the past few days. This is Burroughs' first visit to California, although he is a noted traveler and has visited all parts of America, including Alaska, and of Europe.

During his visit here he has been the guest of Keeler, of John Muir, mountaineer and essayist, of William Keith, California painter and landscape artist and before his return to the East he will visit Luther Burbank, California's plant wizard, at his home near Santa Rosa. On the trip to the home of Burbank he will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hart of Berkeley on an automobile tour, in order to see California to the best advantage. While here he has also visited Yosemite valley.

The noted naturalist leaves tomorrow morning for the Hawaiian Islands, where he will remain for a few days before returning to California to complete his visit here. Speaking of his California impressions he stated this evening that he was bewildered by the climate.

"The seasons elbow each other strangely here," he said. "Leaves fall from the trees as in autumn in the East. Next to them are trees just beginning to burst into green, and close to these again trees in full blossom. Autumn, spring and winter all run shoulders. Gazing out over the grand valley to the mountains in Southern California, the atmosphere has a peculiar splendor and brilliance all its own, and such as I have never seen before. It seemed a summer landscape and yet I wanted my winter overcoat."

"I was greatly surprised at the mature culture of the West. The novels of Bret Harte and others had led me to a far different impression, but here you have a second Italy."

Speaking of the Japanese and American battleships in the bay, he spoke warmly in agreement with the theory advanced by Professor David Starr Jordan of Stanford University that races are deteriorated by war. He commented on the apparent faith and confidence expressed by the rival vessels lying side by side, but declared that disarmament of the nations was not only desirable but reasonable.

"The greatest frontier between two nations in the world is the least protected—the frontier between the United States and Canada. Following the war of 1812 it was planned to fortify the line and to establish rival fleets on the Great Lakes. A man practically unknown to history formulated a contract, signed by both nations, which has saved this enormous and ridiculous waste. If that could be accomplished so easily, international disarmament is not an impossibility."

BALDWIN-SMITH

At the home of the bride's parents last night Miss Katharine Smith, youngest daughter of Hon. and Mrs. W. O. Smith, was married to Samuel Alexander Baldwin, youngest son of Hon. and Mrs. H. P. Baldwin. Dr. Doremus Scudder officiated. Mrs. Richard Cooke played the wedding march. Mrs. H. A. Baldwin was matron of honor for the bride and Miss Frances Baldwin flower girl. The ceremony was performed in a flower-banked alcove.

The bride was dressed in a beautiful herringbone silk dress, covered with real lace which she had inherited. She wore several splendid diamonds which had been left her by her aunt, Miss Katharine Gray. The couple were married in a flower-banked alcove on the Waikiki side of the house.

After the ceremony came a wedding feast. A Hawaiian quintet club played on the lawn. The guests were members of the doubly united families—the eldest Baldwin boy having married the eldest Smith girl some years ago—and members of Alexander & Baldwin, Ltd., and Smith & Lewis. The young couple sailed today for their future home on Maui.

You Want the News First?

You want Your Ads Read?

Here is some advice---

Honolulu more than any other city in the World, is a place where the EVENING PAPER gets the news first. The clock here is over two hours behind the clock at San Francisco, four hours behind New York and ten to eleven hours behind the clocks in the European capitals.

This means that when THE STAR is going to press The Day Is Closed in Washington, Chicago, New York and Europe and almost over in San Francisco. The news of the day is here for THE STAR.

Under modern conditions it takes practically no time to prepare and transmit news and

The Star gets every Evening the Cable Dispatches giving

The News of all the World

For the day just ended

Here are some of the features that go to make the evening paper the predominating factor in an advertising campaign:

It is delivered at the home each night when the whole family has plenty of time to read it.

It is carried home by the business man when his day's work is done and it stays there. A morning paper is usually carried down town by the head of the family and hurriedly read.

The evening paper is not read hurriedly, but thoroughly, so that all the advertisements receive their share of attention.

It presents the store news a little ahead, giving the prospective purchaser time to plan a shopping tour for the next morning.

The evening paper presents the news the day it happens. The morning paper the day after.

The evening paper presents the news first. The morning paper merely elaborates it.
