

Poor little fellow! He coughs so hard he cannot sleep. That makes him weak and sickly all the next day. His brother thinks this coughing is terrible. So do we, for we know that just a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will stop the cough. For sixty years it has been the standard remedy with men, women, and children for colds, coughs, and all throat and lung diseases. It contains no narcotic or poison of any kind. Be sure that you get Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Accept no cheap and worthless substitute.

SPORTS

GAMES SUNDAY AT ATKINSON PARK

The Kapiolani Baseball League will begin its Atkinson park series of games next Sunday morning. Heretofore the Kapiolani League has played at Kapiolani park. Out there lots of room and fresh air were found, but the diamond was far from town and the baseballers had not the place nor the wherewith to seat their friends in comfort. Hence the move into town.

The first series of the 1909 season was played off at Kapiolani Park, and the games of Sunday will mark the beginning of the new or last series. The first series ended in a number of disputes, due largely to the close race some of the teams were running for the prize cup. The second series will decide all troubles.

The first game next Sunday will be between the Reach and Highland teams, playing to begin at 2:30 p. m. The second game, Kallias vs. All Stars, will start at 11 o'clock, or fifteen minutes after the first game is finished. Louis Soares, the expert baseballer of the St. Louis team, has joined the Reach team of the Kapiolani League and may appear behind the bat in Sunday's game.

JEFFRIES NOT IN FIGHTING TRIM

The following, from the Philadelphia Public Ledger, may be regarded as important, the writer being an authority of national reputation on the fight game:

There are thousands of people in this country and doubtless in Europe who are eager and willing to pay from 50 cents to $100 to see James J. Jeffries, former champion of the world, in action. Jeffries has been out of the ring for five years, and when he fought his contests were confined to either Coney Island or California, hence the curiosity to see the big fellow in action.

An enterprising theatrical syndicate conceived the idea of bringing Jeffries out of retirement and seized upon the idea of a possible bout with Johnson as a lever to draw the crowds. Jeffries has always been on the level with the public, and is now. He has been made to say a lot, which never came from Jeffries' lips. The big fellow realizes that when the box office receipts wane he must jolly the public. When he first started out he was firm in his declaration that he would never fight Johnson or any other man unless he could get himself in perfect physical condition. Later, when cornered for an emphatic statement, Jeffries said: "I will fight Johnson 'if I can get in condition.' And the big fellow is sincere, but that little proposition 'if' is and will be the stumbling block.

By his own admission, Jeffries has trained conscientiously for five weeks. Here is what he has accomplished: On Wednesday night last he skipped the rope to seconds, and boxed three rounds with Sam Berger. The first round lasted one minute and ten seconds, the second one minute and five seconds and the third 56 seconds. At the end Jeffries vaulted over the ropes. It was lucky that he made his speech to the crowd before the bout, as afterwards he had bellows to mend and was breathing heavily. If it has taken him five weeks to get in condition to box three fast rounds of one minute each, how long will he have to plod to shape himself for a 20-round bout, each round of three minutes? Without mincing words—at present Jeffries has not the physical foundation to stand a season of gruelling training. He knows that himself. At the end of the theatrical tour he can simply say to the American public, "I have tried to condition myself for a championship battle and find that I am unequal to the task." The public will forgive the big fellow and hope that the money he has garnered will keep him in comfort until the sore and yellow of old age creeps upon him.

SPORTDRIFT

It is this evening at 7:30 that the Oahu Baseball League will meet at the office of the Real Estate Exchange.

There was only practice shooting of members of the Hawaiian Gun Club at the Kakaako traps yesterday afternoon.

A Patria Society, a Portuguese organization, had a picnic at the Pearl harbor peninsula last Sunday, which was quite largely attended by members, families and friends. Consul Canavero was among the guests.

NEW PROGRAMS FOR THE GOLFERS

The next big event in golfing circles will be medal play on the Moanalua links a week from Sunday, or July 18. This will be under the auspices of the Honolulu Golf Club. Play will begin at 10:30 a. m. The entrance fee will be fifty cents and the usual rules will govern.

On Sunday, August 1, the McInerney Cup will be played for at the Country Club in Nuuanu valley. The handsome trophy was put up by McInerney, Limited, and is to be won three times by any contestant. Thomas Gill won it in the contests of both 1907 and 1908, and if he wins again this year it will become his property.

Unless otherwise specified between now and the date of play, entries will close at 10 o'clock on the morning of the contest. An effort will be made to have all the best players of the city out in the hope of preventing the cup passing from the field.

It was expected that, owing to the absence of a number of prominent golfers on the mainland, and counter amusements in the city, interest in golf would lapse; but such has not been the case. In fact, interest has kept up remarkably well.

THE INDIAN GAME CERTAIN WINNER

Homer Needles, of Muskogee, Okla., brought with him a prize poker story. He declares it to be accurate as to facts.

"The Osage Indians delight in the gay American game of poker," said Mr. Needles to a reporter for the Washington Post. "Often they play for large stakes. This is true immediately after they receive payments from the Government. The receipt of the money is a sure indication that the big bucks and the little bucks as well will gather around a blanket—not the green cloth, this time—and play what is known in poker parlance as 'freezeout.' They call it by some other name."

"The 'buy out' runs all the way from $100 to $500. Hearing of the large stakes and thinking it would be an excellent opportunity to annex a little of the free-and-easy Indian money, a couple of fellows from Arkansas City, Kan., drifted down into the Osage nation, arriving there just in time to get a hand in the big game. The visitors had been told that a few hundred dollars in gold and silver was a treat more fascinating to the Indian than would be certified checks for thousands. So they came loaded down with coin. They expected to hire a special train to carry away their winnings.

"The game began. The Indians sat stolid of countenance. Now and then a luck wheel grum out a few words in his native tongue, which could not be understood by the strangers. If they had understood they would have been wiser at least, if not richer. The Indians were telling each other what they held in their hands. Also they were telling each other whenever possible what the strangers were holding. The 'system' enabled all the Indians excepting the one holding the largest hand to drop out. A few minutes of this sort of playing was all that was required to 'strap' the visitors. They never knew how it happened until they were 'put next' by a repudiated Orville Wright. "No man who had gone up against the gamine himself."—Philadelphia Ledger.

PREPARING FOR A RETURN MATCH

On account of the fact that the coast mail was hourly expected yesterday afternoon, only a few of the polo players turned out for the practice on Moanalua field; and this faithful trio did not do any work.

The next big practice will take place Saturday afternoon, when Captain Dillingham hopes, the turnout will be large. This will probably be the last chance for the general field work before the match with the Fifth Cavalry team comes on again.

Captain Dillingham stated this morning that the return go with the Fifth Cavalry would likely be pulled off a week from Saturday. Arrangements were being made to that end, everything now depending upon whether or not the date would suit the Leilehuaes. This contest will take place on the field at Moanalua, the Cavalrymen bringing their mounts into town several days in advance for the purpose.

RECORDS OF THE FRANKLIN AUTO

Records of the Franklin
E. O. Hall & Son have received the following additional records recently made by the Franklin car in the east, the first instalment of records being elsewhere published in this issue:

Detroit Endurance Run:—Franklin Model D won a perfect score
Hartford Endurance Run:—Franklin "Six" won a perfect score.

Baltimore Sealed Bonnet Contest:—Franklin Model D won perfect score and was the only regular stock car which was not penalized for repairs or adjustments or at the technical examination following the run.

Omaha Endurance Run:—Franklin Model D, driven by an owner, made a perfect score.

Morristown Endurance Run:—Franklin D made perfect road score. Ottawa (Can.) Endurance Contest:—Franklin D and G both made perfect scores. Only perfect scores in this event.

Catskill-Berkshire Endurance Run:—Franklin D and H both made perfect scores.

Denver-Pueblo Endurance Run:—Franklin D won second place. Lost first place by only .4 of a point.

SAYS AIRSHIP IS SAFE AS AN AUTO

WASHINGTON, June 26.—"Aviation is nearly as safe as riding on a bicycle or in an automobile. The rocking of an aeroplane caused by varying air currents is of no more consequence than the jabs caused to the other vehicles by rocks in the road or an uneven highway."

Orville Wright made this assertion today on his arrival from Dayton, O., in company with his brother Wilbur, to make ready for the final tests of the aeroplane when the Government is to purchase. It followed an inquiry as to the progress made by the brothers in discovering some method of automatically preserving the equilibrium of the aeroplane.
"Why should we want to do that?" one has ever suggested the advisability of automatically maintaining the balance of an automobile or a bicycle. Both of the vehicles require it just as much as an aeroplane.

"The flying machine is under perfect control of its driver, and the rocking motion due to counter currents of air is exactly the same as the uneven motion experienced by a motor or a bicycle in passing over a badly balanced highway."

The accident of last summer that resulted in the death of Lieutenant Selfridge and the crippling of himself was suggested to Mr. Wright as indicating that the machine was not always under the control of the aviator.

"Ah, but that was a most deplorable accident that could not happen again under similar circumstances," he replied. "It happened because, when the propeller blade broke, the aeroplane was tipped at an angle that rendered the forward lifting planes useless. When within 25 feet of the ground I was righting the machine, but the space in which to complete the task was too short. If we had been up 50 or 100 feet higher we would have landed as safely as though we were coming down at the completion of a fight, with all our machinery and gear intact."

THE MAXWELL CO. MOVE AND EXPAND

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 21.—The Maxwell-Briscoe Motor Car Company, which has operated in this city a plant for the past four years, making 2000 automobiles a year and giving employment to 300 hands, has purchased the works of the Atlantic Robber Boot and Shoe Company, at Auburn, R. I., and will remove there in the near future.

The purchase price is said to be in the neighborhood of $200,000. The company is at present changing from two-cylinder to four-cylinder run-abons, and the plant here has been idle for several weeks.

At Auburn the company will turn out 4000 machines yearly. The company also operates plants at Tarrytown, N. Y., and Newcastle, Indiana.

The item of yesterday in regard to Y. M. C. A. tennis games should have read "handball."
