ARIZONA HAS OUTGROWN HAWAII DEMOCRATS DECIDE TO START A PAPER

DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE WILL START A PAPER NEXT WEEK

The Democratic campaign committee has decided upon the publication of a paper, which will be started next week, with E. P. Irwin, late of the Advertiser, as editor. It will probably be a semi-weekly, but may become a tri-weekly or even a daily before the end of the campaign, and it will be full of Democratic noise.

The "Honolulu Examiner" is probably about to pass into the Great Beyond. Bought at a cost of $1000, it has so far had only one issue under the supervision of Editor Fred Turrill, and even that issue wasn't really supervised by him. In fact, the story goes that the editor discovered that a compositor was really the Big Noise on his paper. The compositor is apparently a Republican, for whenever the editor turned in some good, hot roasts of Republican candidates, the compositor quietly deposited them in what printers call the "hellbox," and they died as the Examiner is dying now.

The motto of the new paper will be "the truth, the whole truth, and a whole lot more than the truth" and it will proceed to accuse the Republican party of causing the storm in Cuba, deposing King Manuel and putting mud in the Manoa water supply. It will bust the journalistic welkin with denunciation of everybody that is prosperous, while everybody that is busted will be hailed as a patriot.

Editor Fred Turrill says he will not enter journalism again. He has discovered the omnipotence of the printer. "I thought an editor had something to say about what went into his paper," he remarked, "but I have discovered that he hasn't if he is trying to run the Honolulu Democratic Examiner with Republican Hawaiians for compositors. Why the last issue of my own paper was even interesting news to me. I shall retire and confine my political work to working for the Democratic ticket, including Fred Turrill."

The new paper, it is understood, is to be fathered by the Democratic county campaign committee, alias Link McCandless. County Manager Rivenburgh will be directly in charge.

SOAP-BOXER TRIES TO IMITATE WM. J. BRYAN

"You shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of sugar."

With this peroration, a soap-box orator at the corner of King and Bethel streets at noon today ended an oration which entertained quite a large gathering. The speaker was an unknown "malihini" and undertook to imitate William Jennings Bryan as an orator, indulging in a paraphrase of the famous "cross of gold" speech which made Bryan the Democratic candidate for President in 1896 and has made the Democratic party a hopeless minority ever since.

The speaker talked labor and immigration. He declared that the Republicans were depriving laborers of their jobs. He talked $4 a day wages on the water front, and seemed to have the crowd with him. He ended up with a cheap imitation of Bryan's famous speech. He even imitated the accent and emphasis of Bryan's 1896 speech,—as it may be heard any time in a phonograph.

Practically all of those listening to him were laborers who would be without jobs if the sugar industry did not furnish freights for the steamers and work for the various other concerns in which they are employed.

The malihini orator's job is spilling.

NEWLY MADE STATE OVERTAKES THE ISLAND TERRITORY

(Associated Press Cable to The Star.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 20.—The census bureau today gave out the figures of population for the new state of Arizona, the total being 204,364, showing that the territory just being made into a state has passed Hawaii, her nearest rival in population since the last returns. In the census of 1900 Arizona's population was 122,931, while that of Hawaii was 154,001. This year Hawaii's figures are believed to be a little under 200,000, so that Arizona has overtaken the island territory.

CHICAGO IS BEATEN AGAIN

CHICAGO, October 20.—The third game in the world's baseball championship was played today and won by Philadelphia by twelve runs to five.

This game settles the championship which the Philadelphia Athletics have now won by three straight victories over the Chicago Cubs. The two previous games were played at Philadelphia and both were won by the home nine by scores of 9-4, 9-3 respectively.

DOES HONOLULU NEED FIRE WHISTLES? QUINN SAYS YES

No more fire whistles is the rule that has been adopted by the fire department, but it may be that the board of supervisors will interfere. The new plan was tried at last night's fire on the Hawaiian hotel grounds, and the fire department was pleased with the result. "There was no whistle-blowing," say the firemen, "and no turning out of great crowds to block the streets. We had the streets to ourselves and were able to get to the fire quicker and do better work after we arrived." That a very good job was done is universally admitted.

Supervisor Quinn, however, is one of those who has a kick to make, and he declares that Fire Chief Thurston had no right to make the new rule without consulting the board. The matter was never brought before the board, says Quinn, but at the next meeting he attends it probably will be.

"The fire whistle is needed, to let people know where a fire is," said Quinn. "Last night's fire was not far from our garage. I was at a restaurant down town and knew nothing about the fire at all. It might have swept my place without my knowing it. If the whistle had blown, indicating where the fire was, I could have known that the fire was near my property and prepared to save things if the fire threatened them. As it was, the whole place might have burned to the ground and I wouldn't have known it until this morning."

If the new rule is made permanent, the Merchants' Association may take up the matter of planning a system for notifying owners of property when fire occurs. The various local insurance offices will install "tappers," or bells which ring in alarms as the big whistle did under the old system.

The fire whistle has often been found a great handicap to the department. When it is blown the streets usually fill with people, most of them Japs on bicycles, and the progress of fire engines through the streets is greatly delayed. A few weeks ago, Fire Chief Thurston's automobile struck one of these, with fatal results. This accident was very largely the cause of the new rule.

CONSUL YING ENTERTAINS

His imperial Majesty's consul, Liang Kwo Ying, last night gave a dinner at the consulate in honor of Stephen Connell, the United States secret service man who accompanied Prince Tsai Tsun on the journey from Honolulu to New York and return. A number of friends of the consul and the visiting official were invited, and greatly enjoyed the consul's hospitality. Mr. Connell during the evening expressed his pleasure at the associations he had formed during his journey, remarking that he had never travelled in the company of truer gentlemen than the prince and his party, and that the greatest mistake was in her Chinese exclusion laws. The guests included many members of the local government, the bar and bench, and press, and prominent members of the local Chinese community.

SAM KAHI STARTS ENDLESS CHAIN IN JAIL

ESCAPES, GETS ADDED SENTENCE AND DECLARES HIS INTENTION TO KEEP IT UP.

Sam Kahi has had another year added on to his already lengthy sentence which has still to be served, the addition being given him by Judge Frank Andrade in the police court this morning.

Kahi has twice broken away from custody, once from the reform school and once from jail. Though he was given an extra year when he made his first getaway, this did not deter Kahi from trying a second time, nor even threatening to try again.

He was sent to jail for two years on a larceny charge, to which one year was added for the previous escape, and now he has two years to serve.

When this was pointed out to Judge Andrade this morning, he remarked: "You keep piling it up, Sam. You will spend all your life in jail if you don't stop."

Sam muttered something about getting away again, but did not repeat his remark when asked to do so.

While out this time Sam stole a bicycle from outside a Japanese store at the corner of Alapai and King streets, and in his possession were a large number of Yale keys. These keys belonged to his mother's house, said Sam, but the judge remarked that he thought Sam was preparing to enter another line of business, and sent him to jail for another year, the sentence to take effect from the date of completing any sentence he was now serving or any sentence he might hereafter serve.

BRACELET CASE BEGUN AGAIN

The trial of Walter White and Edward Bunce, who are charged with having stolen a bracelet valued at $50 from a woman in the Iwilei district, was begun this morning before Judge Cooper. When the case came up yesterday, so many jurors were excused from attendance that it was found necessary to issue a venire for another twelve. Too many of this number were absorbed through being excused, and it became necessary to send for six more. The requisite number was obtained this morning.

A. S. Mupphreys appeared to prosecute, and J. M. Straus to defend. After the prosecutrix had given a portion of her evidence, a sketch of the premises on which the robbery was alleged to have been committed, was placed upon an easel for inspection and explanation.

Attorney Straus suggested that it might be better if the jurors were allowed to visit the premises with a view to obtaining an exact idea of the house. Judge Cooper did not agree with the proposal, and thought that perhaps the best time to make such a visit would be after the testimony had all been given. The reason why he suggested that a visit be paid to the house at the conclusion of the last trial was because he thought that possibly the jury would be enabled to arrive at a decision after they had seen the premises. Besides, there was

He was a rival of the late Grover Cleveland for the control of the party, and a bitter enemy of Cleveland during many years of stormy politics. Hill had been a member in many sessions of the legislature and had been city attorney, alderman and mayor of Elmira, where he was born. He was a prominent candidate for the nomination for President in 1892, when Cleveland was nominated and was candidate for governor of New York in 1894, being defeated.
