green, a profusion of golden chrysanthemums and trailing vines comprising the decoration, while the land where the guests partook of the supper was entirely hung with hanging baskets of graceful Boston fern, the tables bearing centerpieces of bowls of lovely roses.

As the bride and groom slipped away, they were showered by a rainfall of rice, which they avoided by jumping into an awaiting automobile.

Dr. and Mrs. Sexton left Lihue October 29 and after a few days in our city proceeded to Hilo, which will be their future home.

Among the guests present at the wedding of a well known and popular girl in Honolulu were Mr. and Mrs. William Hyde Rice, Mrs. Charles M. Cooke, Rev. and Mrs. Hans Isenberg, Mrs. Margaret Cooke, Miss Alice Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rice Jr., Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rohrig, Dr. and Mrs. Frank L. Putman, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Wilcox, Mr. G. N. Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilcox, Mrs. W. H. Scott of Berkeley, Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Wilcox, Miss Lillian Paty, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rice of Maul, Mr. de Lacey, Mr. P. Rice and eight grandchildren of the parents of the bride.

Among some of the advance bookings of tourists for accommodations at the Pleasanton hotel are Mr. and Mrs. G. H. de Colyer, Miss K. E. De Colyer, Mrs. S. H. Randall, Mrs. J. Green and party, all of whom are now touring in the orient, and expect to arrive here about the beginning of December.

Mr. C. A. Wood and son and his daughter, Mrs. Caroline M. Muller, of Woodstock, Ill., who have been touring the islands with their Franklin car called for their home in the last Korea. They spent six weeks at the Pleasanton and expect to return to the islands again next year.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Brown, who have been at the Pleasanton for the past month, will sail for San Francisco on the Wilhelmina. Mr. Brown is prominently connected with the magazine called "Our Navy."

Mrs. Kate Voorhies Henry will spend most of the winter away, planning to leave later in the season for Honolulu with the Princess Kawananakoa and be her guest at her island home for three months at least.—San Francisco Post.

Admiral Corwin P. Rees, U. S. N., entertained last evening at his beautiful home on Ualakaa street at an elaborate stag banquet in honor of the officers of the Japanese warships now in port under the command of Admiral Yashiro.

The entire house was aglow with brilliant lights, and profusions of fluffy golden Japanese chrysanthemums were seen in every available nook and corner, snuggling between graceful potted palms.

Admiral and Mrs. Rees' home is one of the most luxuriously appointed in Honolulu, and its rare antiques and oriental jardinières and brass receptacles were typically offset by the Japanese yellow blossoms, which succeeded in transforming the residence into a perfect oriental bower, and brought back pleasant reminiscences to the distinguished visitors.

The dining room was flanked on all sides by masses of the golden blooms, a large striking centerpiece of them gracing the spacious round table, which, as on all occasions given in this palatial home, was aglitter with rare silver, cut glass and dainty gold flowered Bohemian ware. Yellow silk shaded candelabra, silver fringed, and hand painted chrysanthemums for name cards completed the dainty and refined appointments.

The arrival of the guests in motor cars, and the courses of the elaborate dinner were accompanied by the sweet strains of Hawaiian music played and sung by Kaul's Orchestra and the occasion proved so delightful, it will be long remembered by the guests and indelibly associated with their round of pleasure in our city.

Those who enjoyed the lavish hospitality of Admiral Rees on this occasion were Admiral Yashiro, Consul General Senichi Uyeno, Captain Kanaka, Captain Yamaji, Lieutenant Commander Yamamoto, Vice Consul Elye Moro, Secretary of the Territory E. A. Mott-Smith, British Consul Ralph G. E. Forster, Professor Scott, Lieutenant Commander Houston, U. S. N., and Major Long, U. S. A. C.

Covers were placed for twelve.

Many prominent people entertained at luncheons at the St. Francis on Monday, among whom was the beautiful Hawaiian princess, David Kawananakoa, who entertained in compliment to her sister. Here was a farewell luncheon as Mr. and Mrs. Macfarlane are sailing today for the island home.—S. F. Bulletin.

Admiral Corwin P. Rees, U. S. N., is entertaining a very large party of officers and government officials today with an excursion, in honor of the officers of the Japanese cruisers, Asama and Kanagi now in port.

At nine o'clock this morning, the U. S. Light house tender Kukul with the marine band on board started off with sixty guests of Admiral Rees, to Pearl Harbor, where an inspection of the work in progress was made.

A special train awaiting them at Pearl City conveyed the guests to Halekua for luncheon, where a delicious menu was partaken of with an enjoyable and welcome rest afterward.

A special train later conveyed the guests to town.

Many select tennis contests are now played off at the Pleasanton hotel court which is now known as the finest in town.

Among the guests at the Pleasanton hotel is Dr. Victor S. Clark, head of the immigration bureau of Hawaii.

Dr. Bruce McV. Mackall was the very gracious host at an elaborate little dinner at the hotel Courtland on Sunday evening when covers were laid for eight in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Hechtman.

The round table on the janal enclosed with national flags and adorned with hanging baskets of Boston fern and maidenhair was ablaze with a gorgeous centerpiece of yellow and white chrysanthemums, the same blossoms being strewn over the cloth. Yellow and silver candelabra shed a soft glow over the silver and linen, and the place cards depicted dainty scenes of these islands in pastel coloring.

After dinner, during which a delicious menu was served, the beautiful blossoms which had adorned the dinner table were divided among the ladies.

Those present to enjoy this convivial evening were Mr. and Mrs. Hechtman, Major and Mrs. Timberlake of Fort Ruger, Captain and Mrs. Arthur Marx, U. S. M. C., Mrs. Bodefeld and Dr. Mackall.

Mrs. George Kinney, nee Kitty Robinson, who has been at the Pleasanton hotel since her return from abroad, departed last Monday for a honeymoon trip to Halekua.

Mrs. Arthur Wall entertained at a very elaborate luncheon on Wednesday afternoon at her beautiful home on Kewalo street, in honor of Mrs. Henry F. Wichman, who as a bride has come from New York to be an invaluable acquisition to our smart set.

The very lovely home, with its spacious shady lawns was on this occasion the Mecca for forty maids and matrons of society and was a very brilliant affair.

The broad palm enclosed lanais, the spacious drawing room, library and music room were beautifully decorated with potted palms as a background, with myriads of golden and maroon chrysanthemums gracefully combined with sprays of Australian and lace maidenhair fern.

The guests were seated at four tables each seating ten persons, one of which was placed in the dining room, one in the music room and the others on the artistic flower bedecked lanai.

The artistic nature of the luncheon was exemplified in the large handsome hand drawn cloths which fell in graceful snowy folds about the tables and over which were strewn dainty fragrant purple violets with a corsage bouquet for each guest. There were no cards.

The guest of honor was a perfect picture in a soft pretty imported lingerie gown of white French mull, elaborately hand embroidered and daintily adorned with motifs of baby Irish croquet. This charming confection was touched off by a modish Parisian chapeau of black, bearing a large bird of paradise.

Mrs. Walter F. Frear was daintily sweet in an elaborately hand embroidered mull, and wearing a white picture hat trimmed with graceful white plumes.

Mrs. Walter Dillingham was modish and dainty in a gown of cream point d'Esprit trimmed in touches of Alice Blue sash and cream leghorn chapeau trimming being in that becoming shade.

Mrs. Charles B. Cooper was handsome in a gown of delicate cream lingerie with draped flounce of lace, and a leghorn picture hat trimmed with cream lace and black plumes.

Mrs. Ida Newby, her guest, was exceedingly modish in an afternoon frock of black and white foulard, and with a large black picture hat trimmed with green ostrich plumes.

Mrs. E. D. Tenney was daintily pretty in a white embroidered frock of lingerie and wearing a wistaria picture hat with self colored plumes.

Mrs. Rees, wife of Admiral Corwin P. Rees, U. S. N., was regal in a soft white embroidered lingerie over lavender satin and wearing a large black hat with lavender plumes.

Mrs. Maudie Phillips wore a stunning afternoon gown of heavy white linen elaborately embroidered in oriental design and trimmed with motifs of baby Irish lace. Her picture hat was black trimmed with black lace.

Miss Jessie Kenedy was stylish in a black gown made hobble effect.

Mrs. Arthur Wilder wore a handsome gown of yellow crepe de chine, and a chic black picture hat trimmed with pom-poms of gold.

Mrs. A. M. Brown wore an afternoon frock of white embroidered lingerie and a handsome large picture hat of black with sable plumes.

Among those present at this elaborate luncheon were Mrs. H. F. Wichman, for whom it was given, Mrs. W. F. Frear, Mrs. Walter F. Dillingham, Mrs. A. M. Brown, Mrs. Ida Newby, Mrs. E. D. Tenney, Mrs. James B. Dole, Mrs. Charles B. Cooper, Mrs. C. M. Cooke, Mrs. Walbridge, Mrs. Chas. H. Atherton, Miss Jessie Kennedy, Miss Green, Mrs. H. M. Von Holt, Mrs. Corwin P. Rees, Mrs. W. A. Wall, Mrs. A. A. Wilder and others.

The Pleasanton Hotel has added to its many attractive features, a complete telephone system connecting all rooms and other parts of the premises, including a phone at the swimming tank, garage, and the tennis court.

A very pretty and interesting "At Home" was given from 4 to 6 o'clock on Thursday afternoon aboard the Japanese flagship Asama by Admiral Yashiro, to which a number of townpeople were invited.

The wharf between the cruisers Asama and Kanagi was canopied by national flags and here, during the afternoon, for the benefit of all who cared to see, were in progress all kinds of sports in jiu-jitsu, judo and wrestling and fencing exhibitions, besides any number of grotesque performances and games.

Invitations to affairs on shipboard are always anticipated with pleasure, the officers being royal entertainers.

The Asama in consequence on Thursday presented a festive scene, the entire ship being decorated from stem to stern with gay flags and pennants, the same being used effectively to decorate the quarter deck where the guests upon their arrival were received by Admiral Yashiro, a charming gentleman and prince of entertainers, and his staff officers, who immediately took charge of all the guests and escorted them about the ship to view all the battle scars which had been received during the late war with Russia, trophies, dainty pink potted paper cherry blossoms fashioned by the toll worn hands of the sailor boys and all other interesting features of the good ship, which was thrown open to all the visitors.

Refreshments were served on the quarter deck a la buffet on a long table, weighted down with goodies of all descriptions and adorned by cut glass vases of golden chrysanthemums, and here, at his small table round which the guests of honor, Governor and Mrs. Frear, Admiral and Mrs. Corwin P. Rees, and Secretary and Mrs. Mott-Smith were seated the healths of Emperor Mutsuhito of Japan and President Taft of the United States were drunk in sparkling champagne. Governor Frear took the initiative and raising his glass offered a toast to the Emperor of Japan whose natal day they were then celebrating.

The return toast to President Taft of the United States of America was then offered by Admiral Yashiro, whose pretty compliments and charming English phrasing charmed all and he was enthusiastically rewarded by his hosts of admiring guests. The after-noon was beautifully decorated, being enclosed with bunting and having for a canopy a myriad of fluttering pennants.

A very pretty feature of the afternoon was the playing, as the first toast was drunk, of the Japanese National hymn by the Japanese naval band upon the dock and the firing of the royal salute by the big guns.

The performance was repeated at the second toast, the band meanwhile playing "The Star Spangled Banner" in a sweet and sympathetic manner.

The day was a memorable one and will be recorded by all the guests in their "Memoirs of good times." Among these guests were scores of pretty women and dainty and handsome gowns too numerous to describe.

Mr. Harry Sinclair of Honolulu and his sister, Mrs. Southgate who recently arrived from Europe are registered at the Pleasanton hotel.

Mrs. James Judd will be one of next week's charming hostesses, having issued invitations for a pretty dinner at which she will preside on Monday evening in honor of Messieurs Ribont and de Schlenburger, of Paris, France, two distinguished travelers who are touring the world.

Governor and Mrs. Frear will hold their second "At Home" of the season on Monday next. The calling hours are from four to six o'clock. Informal dress is in order and strangers as well as residents are always welcome.

Mrs. Walter Dillingham will receive with Mrs. Frear on Monday. Mrs. Rees and Mrs. Clive Davies will preside over the tea cups and others who will assist in receiving the callers are Admiral Corwin P. Rees, Mrs. A. A. Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. Babbitt, Mrs. A. M. Brown, Mrs. J. P. Erdman, Mr. Walter Dillingham, Miss Hazel Gear, Miss Marion Brown and Miss Helen Jones.

Mrs. Winters, wife of Captain Winters, 3rd Cavalry, entertained on Wednesday afternoon at a very charming luncheon for Mrs. Marx, wife of Captain Arthur Marx, U. S. M. C., Mrs. Ramsey, wife of Captain Ramsey, U. S. M. C., and Mrs. M. N. Falls, wife of Captain Falls, Q. M.

The round table in the artistic dining room was ablaze with scarlet carnations daintily combined with lace maidenhair, the same being strewn over the cloth.

After luncheon bridge filled the afternoon.

Mrs. Walbridge on Tuesday afternoon from four to six o'clock charmingly entertained a few friends at an informal but dainty tea complimentary to Mrs. Sedgwick.

The house on Beretania Avenue was adorned with graceful palms, and hanging baskets overgrown with a wealth of maidenhair ferns and vines.

Mrs. Walbridge's hospitality and gracious charm are famed and these combined to make the afternoon a delightful memory to all present.

The guests were received in the spacious drawing room by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Miss Parke. Tea and delicious refreshments were served during the afternoon, Mrs. Kopke presiding over the coffee urn, and Miss Mist pouring tea.

Among those present were Mrs. W. F. Frear, Mrs. Mott-Smith, Mrs. Chas. Weight, Mrs. Babbitt, Mrs. Theodore Richards, Miss Mist, Mrs. Montague Cooke, Mrs. James Judd and Mrs. E. Faxon Bishop.

Nearly all the ladies were dressed in white lingerie frocks.

Mrs. Sedgwick was charming in an Alice blue gown and wearing a black picture hat.

Mrs. Judd looked exceedingly pretty in a white afternoon lingerie gown and a corn colored chapeau with pale blue ostrich plumes.

Mrs. Benjamin Marx wore a modish confection of white and a chapeau of London smoke with saaled brown plumes.

Mrs. J. S. Walker did not entertain at the tea to which she had issued cards in honor of Mrs. Walter Dillingham, it having been unavoidably postponed owing to the unfortunate illness of her son.

Judge A. S. Hartwell entertained at a very elaborate dinner party last evening at his home on Liliha and Judd street for twelve, in honor of General Tasker H. Bliss and General Aleshire, who are at present visiting Honolulu.

The house was beautifully adorned with shaded lights, palms decorating the spacious tropical lanais, and rustic hanging baskets enhancing the effect.

Within the large dining room the round table was a perfect symphony of beauty, the silverware, cut glass being beautified by a large cut glass bowl of delicate pink duchess roses, with fragrant lavender violets strewn over the snowy cloth.

The place cards were dainty Hawaiian scenes hand painted on strips of bamboo.

Those present at this very charming dinner party were General Tasker H. Bliss and General Aleshire, for whom it was given, Governor and Mrs. Walter F. Frear, Major and Mrs. Winslow, U. S. A., of Fort de Russy, Colonel Schuyler, 5th Cavalry, Lellema, Miss Agnes Walker, Miss Catherine Goodale, Mrs. Walbridge and Miss Hartwell.

Mrs. Frear was very lovely in a rich white lace robe with touches of silver. Mrs. Frear's dainty and artistic costumes are always a feature of this very charming lady.

Mrs. Walbridge was a contrast in a beautiful black lace robe over black satin, and wearing diamonds.

Mrs. Winslow was charming in white and Miss Hartwell looked very beautiful in a rich black gown.

"There was never a ship yet," says George Gould, "that did not have one person aboard who boasted eternally of the number of times he had crossed the Atlantic. Now it is thirty-nine times, now it is ninety-six times. Every ship carries this one passenger who seems to have devoted his whole life to making a record for Atlantic crossings."

"I once heard a Detroit girl poke a little fun at a passenger of this type. He said to her:

"Do you know, this is my fifty-seventh crossing!"

"It it!" she said indifferently. "It's my ninety-eighth."

"Really?" the man exclaimed.

"Oh, yes, indeed," she answered, yawning. "It's an old story with me, crossing the Atlantic now. Why, actually, I always recognize more than half the waves we meet."

Those defendants who have been indicted by the Grand Jury were before Judge Cooper yesterday afternoon, and all the cases were continued.
