

AMUSEMENTS.

THE SAVOY

Hotel opp. Bethel. Largest Motion Picture Theater in City. (Management of E. J. Love.)

COMING! COMING! DE GRAW AND DE GRAW Greatest Pantomimic Acrobats. SPECIAL!

The Great Snook

TONIGHT! In his Marvelous Escape from a Nailed-Up Packing Box while Bound with Ropes. Malan-Magrath Jolly Comedy Company "A ONE-NIGHT STAND" A Ripping Farce DOT RAYMOND More Catchy Songs GEORGE STANLEY Ballad Singer. FRANK ANDERSON'S ORCHESTRA. NEW FILMS—JUST ARRIVED.

Empire Theater

Hotel St., opp. Savoy. (Management J. T. Scully.) Matinees Every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday at 2:30 p. m.

NEW ARTISTS! NO BETTER! CRAWFORD AND MEEKER Just Nonsense makers in clean Comedy GLADSTONE SISTERS Will vary their Program, giving a Sailor Dance and Harmony Selections

EDNA RANDALL, In Catchy, Popular Songs, Coziest and Most Complete VAUDEVILLE THEATER In the City. SPECIAL FILM DISPLAY. New Orchestra Under the Direction of PROF. HARRY WEIL. POPULAR PRICES: 10c., 15c., 25c.

BIJOU THEATER

(Management of Sam Kubey) Two Entrances HOTEL STREET OPPOSITE BETHEL, PAUHAH NEAR FORT. A VAUDEVILLE ENTERTAINMENT. A GALAXY OF TALENT. AN ALL-STAR PROGRAM. ED. QUIGLEY, Monologist and Expert Dancer. Last Night of MIKE PATON. Honolulu's Entertainer. Last Week of GLADYS MIDDLETON, PERRY AND ROWE, Eccentric Comedians. RICHARD KIPLING, in Illustrated Songs. NEW ACTS BY LURLINE. NEW PICTURES. HUGHES' ORCHESTRA! A FIFTY-CENT SHOW for 10c. and 15c.

Park Theater

BARNES & WEST Fashion Plates of Vaudeville Howard and Edwards GREAT FANCY DANCERS MELNOTTE SISTERS, Song and Dance. NEW PICTURES AND FILMS.

Novelty Theater

Cor. Nuuanu And Pauahi St.

Van-Barkley Co.

KITTY'S LOVER. MISS MARGARET LOWELL Lyric Soprano. MASTER JIMMIE VAN. Honolulu's favorite Boy Comedian. LATEST MOTION PICTURES.

Curios Of All Descriptions

Hand Embroidered Work

Woman's Exchange

Hotel Street Near Union.

Somma's Special Salve For Piles Guaranteed to contain nothing injurious. Cures chronic sores, cuts, burns and all skin diseases of the human race. Prepared by G. SOMMA Secret Salve Specialist No. 10 King St. Honolulu, T. H.

Iwakami & Co

Japanese Silks, Dry Goods and Hats of All Kinds. Robinson Brock Hotel Street.

SOCIETY

Governor and Mrs. Frear will be at home to callers between the hours of four and six o'clock, Monday, January, the ninth. Captain and Mrs. W. C. Cowles will receive with Governor and Mrs. Frear. Mrs. Dunning and Mrs. David Rice will preside at the tea table. Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Dillingham, Captain and Mrs. Lewerenz, Miss Beatrice Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cooke, Mr. Ralph Hosmer, Mr. and Mrs. Sutton, Miss Ruth Richards, Miss Marjorie Gilman, and Miss Fannie Hoogs will assist. Strangers as well as residents will be welcome.

REACTION. Honolulu's relaxed after strenuous days Of hopping and shopping, and turkey and green Wreaths and berries, and trumpets on all the byways After which it has dropped into quiet serenity. The help that was hired for Christmas is fired The rest have deserted—their brothers are ill! And with meal snares and house cares our ladies are tired, Which makes it quite hard for this big page to fill!

Buy a Happy New Year if it isn't too late, And here's hoping this year may be filled with delight, Let's wipe all old grievances off a smudged slate And may all who've done wrong turn around and do right. ELEANOR RIVENBURGH.

The topic nowadays in society circles is one long echo, concerning the aviation meets at Moanalua, which caused quite a ripple of excitement in town while they lasted. Unfortunately, climatic conditions and the limited time afforded for these interesting exhibitions prevented more brilliant evidence of his skill, for which the laurel crown to Mars has in previous exhibitions been awarded. However let us be thankful that we have been enabled, through the genius of Messrs. Jack Scully and Ed. Lewis, and the daring of one of the very clever aviators of the day, to become enlightened with the latest craze which is setting Europe and America aflame with genuine enthusiasm.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Dulsenberg entertained Captain Saunders of the Korea at dinner at the Pleasanton last evening, after which the Filipino band on their way home from the states rendered an enjoyable concert. Several small dinner parties were given before the concert at this beautiful hotel.

In an oriental setting of gorgeous teakwood divans and couches inlaid with mother-of-pearl, and an eastern atmosphere accentuated by a profusion of Bekharas and Afghans strewn over the polished floor, thrown over settees, and falling from the portals as hangings, Miss Nadine Louise Center, on Wednesday evening, became the bride of Mr. Edward Ellis Bodge, at the home of her mother Mrs. David Center, on Green and Kapiolani streets. The reception room where the wedding ceremony was performed at eight o'clock, was a perfect little bower of beauty, every nook and corner being abloom with the hot house's choicest offerings. In the doorways dropped graceful portieres of fresh fragrant strings of mountain maille bounded on either side by date palm fronds peaked in Gothic design. Oriental jardiniere of graceful palms, flanked by green and white callidums and fluffy maidenhair adorned each corner forming an embankment of greenery. In the arch between the reception room and dining chamber fell a large wedding bell fashioned entirely of white asters and outlined with tendrils of delicate pale green maidenhair. This was suspended by a huge bow of watered silk ribbon and streamers of white tulle. In the dining room a very large circular table concealed by a heavy linen cloth and cluny lace supported a cut glass vase filled with a profusion of white pink tipped carnations the same being strewn over the cloth between the array of white and silver bridal and wedding cakes, and cut glass appointments.

A Canton China punch bowl and cups on a side table occupied one corner of the room whose koa furnishings are so attractive while the bookcase, china closet and buffet were solidly banked with vari-shaded green maidenhair and Australian ferns, making a dainty ensemble as a background dotted here and there by clusters of Malmalson pinks, and pink and lavender asters. The tasteful decorating reflects great credit upon Mrs. William Montrose Graham and Miss Mary Catton whose ability is famed.

Promptly at eight o'clock to the soft strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, the bride entered, attended by her sister Mrs. Harold Danzig (nee Jean Center) as Matron of Honor. They were met under the floral bell by Mr. Edward Ellis Bodge, the groom, attended by his best man, Mr. Frank Howes.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Albert Hall, of St. Andrew's Cathedral to the subdued strains of "Oh Promise Me" which drifted out from an adjoining bower, and at the conclusion of the service, while Mendelssohn's wedding march burst forth, Mr. and Mrs. Bodge turned to receive a shower of felicitations and congratulations from their large number of relatives and friends. Afterwards a dainty buffet surper was served at small tables graced by white asters and ferns, of ices, punch, cream, coffee, sandwiches and cake and before the guests realized it, the happy young couple had sped away for their honeymoon.

The gowns worn at the wedding were very handsome, those of the bride being elaborate to a degree. The bride's gown was fashioned of white satin Duchesse, en train, in the new clinging mode, the skirt being adorned in front and back with over-drap panels of dainty white chiffon terminating in a heavy crystal fringe. The bodice was almost entirely of chiffon, outlined by heavy rose motifs in crystal and large pearls, a long fringe cascading down to the waist. The yoke was designed entirely of rose point, and short kimona over-sleeves of this fell above tucked chiffon and crystal fringe. The long tulle veil was outlined on either side by rose point lace and was held in place on the beautiful bride's fluffy Tifan hair by an imported coronet of orange buds and tiny sprays of foliage.

The young bride carried a prayer-book covered with white satin with long fringed streamers of the same. Mrs. Danzig, who has grown more beautiful than ever while away, was clad in a marvellously beautiful creation of white crepe meteor, caught up here and there on one side by a cascade frill of old rose point lace, extending from her shoulders to the hem of this exquisite gown, the very deep yoke, collar and cuffs being designed entirely of this rare old lace. A touch of crimson was added to her black hair by a cluster of Jacqueminot roses. Mrs. David Center, who gave the bride away was remarkably handsome in silver grey Moire antique, made princess, decollete, and trimmed with Venetian silver lace on bodice and sleeves. A berthia of rose point completing her elaborate toilette. Mrs. Bodge, mother of the groom was very beautiful in a pale green evening gown, made decollete and relieved by cream lace and puffed buttons of the silk inlaid with squares of black velvet. Mrs. Bodge wore a striking band of black velvet about her neck and a cluster of pink duchess roses in her pretty hair. The bride's traveling suit was of tailored white serge, a long white coat trimmed with lace and a dainty white chic hat with uncurled ostrich plumes and long white chiffon veil being worn.

Miss Margaret Center wore a dainty lingerie over pink silk, a large Dresden bow of pink roses in her hair, and Miss Helen Center was in white lingerie. Miss Mary Catton wore a gown of peacock green embellished with touches of cream lace, gold, and black motifs. Mrs. J. S. McGrew was regal in canary satin, black striped, in parts, with cream lace over black satin outlining the train and bodice. Mrs. Harry Gray was very pretty in pearl grey, made tulle effect with touches of old velvet on bodice and skirt. Mrs. Creighton wore a silver grey messaline gown elaborately trimmed with silver beads. Mrs. Henderson was lovely in a robe of navy messaline with touches of real lace.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. George Henderson, Mrs. Creighton, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gray, Miss Mary Catton, Mr. Robert Catton, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Oat, Mr. and Mrs. Dyer, Mr. Frank Howes, Mrs. Bodge, Mrs. J. S. McGrew, Mrs. D. McLennan, Mrs. Elizabeth Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peirce Danzig, Miss Margaret Center, Miss Helen Center, Mrs. William Mon-ter colored creations of pink, white, and green, and were fashioned in the shape of small bridal slippers and filled with orange blossoms.

After an elaborate menu the afternoon was devoted to several rubbers of bridge.

The guests at this beautiful luncheon and bridge afternoon were: Mrs. William Williamson for whom it was given, Princess Kawanankoa, Mrs. Kate Voorhies Henry of San Francisco, Mrs. J. Morton Riggs, Mrs. J. F. C. Hagens, Mrs. James Dougherty, Mrs. Arthur Davidson, Mrs. Frederick Damon, Mrs. Rice, Miss Lydia McStocker, Miss Julie McStocker, Miss Irene Dickson and Mrs. E. M. Watson.

The gowns of the ladies on this occasion were exceedingly modish and a few of them attracted not a little flattering attention. The hostess, a striking brunette was dainty in a confection of blush pink, hand embroidered lingerie over a drop of apple blossoms silk, which contrasted prettily with her dark hair and eyes.

Mrs. Williamson, the guest of honor was, as usual, very modish and extremely lovely in a becoming creation of forget-me-nots chiffon, made in the new mode and semi-bobbled by a broad band of self-colored crush satin. With this dainty costume Mrs. Williamson wore a picture hat of black lace, elaborately trimmed with sable plumes. Princess Kawanankoa was strikingly handsome in black Spanish lace over pure white satin, draped and made in a late becoming style. A large black picture hat of black satin trimmed with birds of Paradise completed her toilette.

Mrs. Kate Voorhies Henry of San Francisco was very fetching in a cream lace robe, a black Gainsborough chapeau being worn. Miss Irene Dickson wore a dainty Dresden frock whose predominating shade was pale blue, and a charming hat of white lace trimmed in shaded pink roses.

Mrs. James Colburn entertained at a very dainty luncheon on Wednesday.

The table was abloom with long stemmed crimson carnations and bright touches of satin ribbon.

The guests included Mrs. Charles Bryant Cooper, Mrs. Ida Newby, Mrs. James Judd, Mrs. Lawrence Judd, Mrs. Walter Francis Dillingham, Mrs. Robert Lange and Miss May Damon.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ivers are visiting Mr. and Mrs. William G. Irwin and will not return to their home in Honolulu until after the Crocker-Irwin wedding.—S. F. Bulletin.

Captain and Mrs. Arthur Marix entertained at a very handsome dinner party last evening at their home on Pensacola street in honor of Captain W. C. Cowles, U. S. N., and Mrs. Cowles, Major Neville, U. S. M. C. and Mrs. Neville; Princess Kalaniana'ole and Princess Kawanankoa. The color scheme of floral decoration was carried out in brilliant tones of red, scarlet poinsettias, and similar place cards, contributing to the dainty appointments. Covers were arranged for twelve.

Among those present were Captain and Mrs. W. C. Cowles, Miss Cowles, Major and Mrs. Neville, Princess Kalaniana'ole, Princess Kawanankoa, Mrs. Kate Voorhies Henry, Miss Kathryn Stephens and Captain and Mrs. Marix.

Major and Mrs. Samuel Dunning complimented Captain and Mrs. Estes

(Continued on Page 7.)

MRS. BODGE NEE CENTER, THIS WEEK'S BRIDE.

ter colored creations of pink, white, and green, and were fashioned in the shape of small bridal slippers and filled with orange blossoms.

After an elaborate menu the afternoon was devoted to several rubbers of bridge.

The guests at this beautiful luncheon and bridge afternoon were: Mrs. William Williamson for whom it was given, Princess Kawanankoa, Mrs. Kate Voorhies Henry of San Francisco, Mrs. J. Morton Riggs, Mrs. J. F. C. Hagens, Mrs. James Dougherty, Mrs. Arthur Davidson, Mrs. Frederick Damon, Mrs. Rice, Miss Lydia McStocker, Miss Julie McStocker, Miss Irene Dickson and Mrs. E. M. Watson.

The gowns of the ladies on this occasion were exceedingly modish and a few of them attracted not a little flattering attention. The hostess, a striking brunette was dainty in a confection of blush pink, hand embroidered lingerie over a drop of apple blossoms silk, which contrasted prettily with her dark hair and eyes.

Mrs. Williamson, the guest of honor was, as usual, very modish and extremely lovely in a becoming creation of forget-me-nots chiffon, made in the new mode and semi-bobbled by a broad band of self-colored crush satin. With this dainty costume Mrs. Williamson wore a picture hat of black lace, elaborately trimmed with sable plumes.

Princess Kawanankoa was strikingly handsome in black Spanish lace over pure white satin, draped and made in a late becoming style. A large black picture hat of black satin trimmed with birds of Paradise completed her toilette.

Mrs. Kate Voorhies Henry of San Francisco was very fetching in a cream lace robe, a black Gainsborough chapeau being worn.

Miss Irene Dickson wore a dainty Dresden frock whose predominating shade was pale blue, and a charming hat of white lace trimmed in shaded pink roses.

Mrs. James Colburn entertained at a very dainty luncheon on Wednesday.

The table was abloom with long stemmed crimson carnations and bright touches of satin ribbon.

The guests included Mrs. Charles Bryant Cooper, Mrs. Ida Newby, Mrs. James Judd, Mrs. Lawrence Judd, Mrs. Walter Francis Dillingham, Mrs. Robert Lange and Miss May Damon.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ivers are visiting Mr. and Mrs. William G. Irwin and will not return to their home in Honolulu until after the Crocker-Irwin wedding.—S. F. Bulletin.

Captain and Mrs. Arthur Marix entertained at a very handsome dinner party last evening at their home on Pensacola street in honor of Captain W. C. Cowles, U. S. N., and Mrs. Cowles, Major Neville, U. S. M. C. and Mrs. Neville; Princess Kalaniana'ole and Princess Kawanankoa.

The color scheme of floral decoration was carried out in brilliant tones of red, scarlet poinsettias, and similar place cards, contributing to the dainty appointments. Covers were arranged for twelve.

Among those present were Captain and Mrs. W. C. Cowles, Miss Cowles, Major and Mrs. Neville, Princess Kalaniana'ole, Princess Kawanankoa, Mrs. Kate Voorhies Henry, Miss Kathryn Stephens and Captain and Mrs. Marix.

Major and Mrs. Samuel Dunning complimented Captain and Mrs. Estes

(Continued on Page 7.)

of Fort Shafter with a charming farewell dinner party on Monday evening at their quarters at the military post.

Tones blending harmoniously in shades of red created a rich touch of color to the handsomely appointed dinner table.

A large centerpiece fashioned of clusters of deep red Jacqueminot roses and lace maidenhair fern comprised the floral decoration. Covers were arranged for twelve.

Miss Enid Gregg and Allen Hamilton, who have been the house guests of Major and Mrs. Dunning at Fort Shafter, are departing, today in the Korea for San Francisco.

Miss Gregg is one of the foremost leaders of the younger set in the metropolis, and her advent home will be received with great pleasure by all her associates in the smart set.

Miss Gregg is a beautiful and winsome girl, and during her visit in Honolulu, many occasions have been given for her.

"Poi suppers" and "luau" in true Hawaiian style have been numbered among these and the San Francisco girl takes back with her many pleasant memories of the islands.

The ladies of Leahi Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star entertained at a very elaborate banquet on Tuesday evening at their lodge rooms at Masonic Temple.

Four gaudious tables were laden with delicacies of every description and were beautifully decorated each table being adorned by three potted miniature Christmas trees with festoons of wide crimson satin ribbons between.

At each place were Poinsettia salted almond boxes bon-bons and confection cases, all in holiday design while the Christmas trees were laden with Christmas bells.

Seventy-five guests enjoyed the hospitality of the Eastern Star officers.

Mr. and Mrs. Blackman entertained at a delightful New Year's party at their home at Kaimuki. The house was decorated with a profusion of holiday greens and berries, and a score of friends were bidden to the jollification.

Ex-Governor George R. Carter of Honolulu and Mrs. Carter are in New York, on their return from a trip round the world.—S. F. Argonaut.

Miss Enid Gregg of San Francisco, was the inspiration for a very pretty tea given by Mrs. Harry Macfarlane at her home at Waikiki on Thursday.

The hours of receiving were between four and six o'clock and about twenty-five guests motored out to meet the guest of honor.

The hostess assisted by Miss Gregg received, and Mrs. Dunning, wife of Major Dunning of Fort Shafter presided over the tea cups.

The new home of Mr. and Mrs. Macfarlane is an ideal spot for social occasions, on a promontory, round which a broad stream flows to the sea. Its sweep of velvet lawns, summer cottages of thatch, and its close proximity to the Outrigger Club buildings, with its Hawaiian thatched dancing pavilion in mid-stream contribute to its picturesque environment.

On Thursday the dainty lingerie frocks of the guests, their lace chapeaux and embroidered parasols added a new touch of color to the scene. Among the guests present were Miss Enid Gregg, Miss Beatrice Castle, Mrs.

Teacupful or Bath tubful THE market is flooded with water-heaters selling for ten or twenty dollars. But don't for one minute think such a heater will give you really efficient hot water service—it can't do it. To get efficient, luxurious hot water service you absolutely need a Ruud Automatic Gas Water-Heater. The initial cost of the Ruud is greater than of ordinary heaters. But we ask you to judge whether it is not worth the extra cost by what it actually does. Briefly it furnishes inexhaustible hot water at the turn of the faucet—a teacupful or twenty tubfuls any minute, night or day, to laundry, bathroom, bedroom and kitchen. The women like the Ruud—it runs itself—stands in the basement—needs no attention. Let us show you its economy and luxury. Honolulu Gas Co. Corner Beretaina and Alakea St.