

COMMITTEE FOR NEW ORLEANS HOUSE FOR TWO BATTLESHIP PROGRAMME

ANOTHER GIFT OF TEN MILLIONS BY CARNEGIE

(Associated Press Cable to The Star.)

NEW YORK, January 20.—Andrew Carnegie has donated a further $10,000,000 to the Carnegie Institution of Washington. Carnegie founded this institution on January 28, 1902, when he gave to a board of trustees $10,000,000 in registered bonds, yielding 5 per cent interest per annum. He stated at that time that his purpose was to "found in the city of Washington an institution which, with the co-operation of institutions now or hereafter established, there or elsewhere, shall in the broadest and most liberal manner encourage investigation, research and discovery, show the application of knowledge to the improvement of mankind, and provide such buildings, laboratories, books and apparatus as may be needed."

In 1907 he added a further $2,000,000, so that up to the present he has given $22,000,000 altogether. The administration building is situated at the south-eastern corner of 16th and P streets, N. W., Washington, D. C. The president is Robert S. Woodward.

SAN FRANCISCO AND HAWAII TO COMPETE IN AQUATIC SPORTS

Returning on the Sierra today, L. M. Hale reported his embassy to California on behalf of the Healan Boat Club as crowned with success, and within a year it will probably be that oarsmen from Honolulu will be found defending the islands from a projected attack by the 'Frisco clubs, or that the boys from Hawaii will be found threatening the stronghold along the coast. Hale was empowered by the committee of the Healan club to explain to the amateur oarsmen at San Francisco the conditions which prevail here with regard to rowing and also to make preliminary arrangements for a race between the Healan Boat Club and the clubs along the coast, but more particularly against the Californian clubs. How well Hale has succeeded is shown by the reports he brings from the clubs at San Francisco.

Without exception, the idea was taken up with enthusiasm; the three leading clubs in the bay, the Ariel, the Dolphins and the Southsides, to say nothing of the Alameda Boating Club, embraced the suggestion with outstretched arms and eagerly discussed probabilities. The Pacific Amateur Association of Oarsmen held a meeting to consider the project and plied Hale with questions regarding Honolulu rowing. Hale was able to answer them readily, and the proposal was acclaimed with delight. Of course, such a proposition as this cannot be pushed through without due consideration, but now that the 'Frisco clubs have been sounded and the response is gratifying, all that requires to be done is to perfect the necessary arrangements at this end. The Healan has shown an initiative of which they should be proud. They have brought within the realms of practicability inter-state rowing between Hawaii and Honolulu, and all oarsmen in the territory, irrespective of the club to which they belong, should unite in according to the Healan the thanks that are due to the officials of the club.

M'QUAID STORY CONTINUED, UNDER CROSS-EXAMINATION; HAD OTHER CHARGES AGAINST WIFE

William H. McQuaid, who is on trial on a charge of having shot at Volney Driver with intent to commit murder, was late in reaching the Circuit Court this morning. He did not arrive until 8:40.

When the proceedings opened there was only one spectator in the courtroom, but a few moments later several more drifted in, and more continued to arrive from time to time.

Under cross-examination McQuaid told City and County Attorney Cathcart that he certainly did not remember drinking with Driver on January 13, 1910, nor did he remember Driver putting him to bed at the Alexander Young Hotel. He expressed astonishment that anyone should ask him whether he had been drinking with Driver at that time.

McQuaid said that his mind was a blank concerning what occurred between January 12 and 15, 1910. He will not remember one single instance. The next thing that he recalled was waking up in bed in his home at Wai-kiki on January 15. He could not describe how he felt, but he knew that he felt very bad. It was on January 15, when he was aroused by the voice of Driver. McQuaid got up and remonstrated with Driver for being on his premises, and a quarrel ensued. McQuaid was cross-examined at length with regard to the illness that he had suffered. He said that while collecting the information with which to confront his wife with regard to her conduct, he took drink in order to "nerve himself up."

McQuaid produced a letter from Attorney Ashford, which was handed to him by his wife. She said in handing over the letter that Ashford had told her that McQuaid had been so good to her that he did not like to proceed in the matter of assisting her to get a divorce. McQuaid then got very angry and refused to take the letter. He immediately packed a suit case, and left the house. He went down town, but returned later on in the day, and got the letter.

The letter was read by Cathcart and was as follows:

February 16/10.

"Dear Mr. McQuaid: When next you are in town, will you be so kind as to look in upon me for a few minutes.

And oblige,

"Yours truly,

(Sgd.) "C. W. ASHFORD."

SAN FRANCISCO MAY HAVE A GREAT STRIKE

"If San Francisco gets the fair," said Walter G. Smith, who arrived from the coast city this morning, "her merchants and manufacturers will probably declare for the open shop and a reasonable rate of wages for labor. That this will cause lots of trouble is realized but the employers are prepared to face the situation and fight it out, in order to get rid of the incubus under which they now suffer."

That this policy on the part of the employers of San Francisco would lead to a great strike is regarded as certain by all familiar with the situation in San Francisco, which is the great stronghold of labor unionism. The labor unions have dominated the city for years and they now control the city administration. They have been able to dictate terms to employers in almost all lines of business, and they have been so aggressive that they recently invaded Los Angeles, starting strikes and agitation which are believed by many to have caused the two recent dynamiting outrages there.

A declaration by San Francisco employers of their independence of the labor unions might precipitate the greatest conflict between union labor on the one hand and employers and non-union laborers on the other, that the country has seen for many years. The San Francisco business men depend, for their ability to finance such a contest, on the prosperity which the big Panama fair will bring, and they will be ready for the battle if assured of the good times which the great exposition will give them.

EDITOR SMITH ARRIVED ON THE SIERRA THIS MORNING

Walter G. Smith, who will take the editorship of The Star in a few days, arrived this morning on the Sierra. His health has been fully restored by a sixteen months' residence in San Francisco, during which time he has been editorially connected with the Chronicle and The Argonaut.

Mr. Smith says that Honolulu is a busier place than it was when he left; at least there is more bustle on the streets. He notes many improvements but none that has taken away from the charm of the place.

On leaving here a year ago last September, Mr. Smith put his household goods in storage and as soon as he finds a bungalow to put them in will begin to feel again like an established citizen. He is now staying at the Alexander Young.

Speaking of the political situation in California Mr. Smith said that the insurgent Republicans were in full control, all along the line. "They have the governor, the legislature and the United States Senator, and they are being 'given full swing,' said Mr. Smith. "They are for all sorts of new ideas in government, including the referendum and the recall and woman suffrage, and seem prepared to try them all. Every idea that Bryan ever suggested is in their programme.

"The Republicans who are called regulars seem disposed to give the insurgents rein, possibly expecting that the result will be a return of their element to power. They are waiting. There seems now to be no opposition to the insurgent plans. The Southern Pacific machine appears to have ceased all activities, whether abandoning the field for good, or waiting for a change in public sentiment, remains to be seen.

"The doubtful element in the situation centers largely in a large new population in the middle west, much of it devoted to insurgent ideas."

SAN FRANCISCO WILL FIGHT ON FLOOR OF HOUSE

(Associated Press Cable to The Star.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 20.—The House committee on Industrial Arts and Expositions today presented a majority report favoring New Orleans for the Panama exposition. The committee, after a long series of hearings at which an ardent controversy raged, is divided nine to six, and the minority will present a report in favor of San Francisco. This will carry the controversy on to the floor of the House, where the western members propose to make a vigorous fight for San Francisco.

The committee on Industrial Arts and Expositions has for its chairman W. A. Rodenberg, of Illinois, who was in Hawaii with the last party of visiting Congressmen. He has been a strong supporter of New Orleans from the start. One of the leading arguments for New Orleans has been San Francisco's greater distance from the big centers of population, it having been claimed that there would be much bigger attendance at a New Orleans fair than at a San Francisco one. The members of the committee are nearly all easterners, including in addition to Rodenberg, Gardner of Massachusetts, Nelson of Wisconsin, Langley of Kentucky, Southwick of New York, Stearnsen of Minnesota, Murphy of Missouri, Woods of Iowa, Poindexter of Washington, Maynard of Virginia, Rhinock of Kentucky, Heflin of Alabama, Collier of Mississippi, Collup of Minnesota and Covington of Maryland. The late Representative Cook of Pennsylvania was a member.

ANOTHER "WAR."

PORT AU PRINCE, January 20.—Dominican troops are invading Hayti, and hourly it is expected that war will be declared.

FROM "FIERCE" FRISCO WEATHER SIERRA BRINGS MANY PASSENGERS

"Head winds and seas every inch of the way," was the report brought in by the Sierra, which arrived in port at her usual hour this morning, being a trifle late getting up to the company's wharf at the foot of Fort street. The Sierra left San Francisco on schedule, and crossed the Pacific in about her customary time. She had on board a large number of passengers, 127 in the cabin and 20 in the steerage. Of the cabin passengers over fifty are tourists, the majority of whom will remain in the Territory for upwards of a month and will visit the volcano. Purser Smith is a booster for the volcano and he has many of the passengers looking forward to the trip with great expectations.

Among the passengers who came across on the Sierra are the following: A. W. Eames, the well-known pineapple magnate, manager of the Hawaiian Islands Packing Co., Wahiawa.

Professor W. A. Bryan, formerly of the Bishop Museum, who is accompanied by his wife; Professor Bryan has been touring southern California.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ivers, who have returned from a trip through Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Merrill, accompanied by the Misses Merrill (two). Mr. Merrill was formerly a very prominent official of the Southern Pacific Railroad but has since retired and is now on a trip to the islands with his family.

Dr. D. A. Paine, a well-known San Francisco physician, on a pleasure jaunt.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Thurston, of Seattle. Mr. Thurston and his wife will probably remain here for a month or two, having in view an extended trip through the islands.
