Speaking of engagements, and as a further dissertation upon this all-absorbing topic, have you ever noticed what a pre-occupied air often characterizes the pre-nuptials?
Under no subsequent conditions are bridegrooms ever quite so amusingly abnormal.
The period of suspense before the engagement is made public is a trying one for this particular individual, and if he transgresses his young bride's confidence and "lets the cat out of the bag" by his undisguised jubilation, his mind taxed beyond reasonable endurance, often gives way under its severe suppression.
He finds himself absentmindedly creating "copy" for the humorist, and his natural good breeding will often become wilfully and capriciously subservient to his heart's more tender inclinations.
There is one young man in town, about whom some very rich stories are being circulated.
Lady Gay isn't going to tell you who he is, and as it isn't the one you think it is, she feels perfectly safe in giving him publicity.
This young fellow played bridge at the club the other night, and so occupied were his mental observations with transient visions of his fair one, that until an outburst of genuine mirth aroused him, he did not even once suspect that he was seriously engaged in smoking a lead pencil which his neighbor had slipped in the place of his cigar!
And to alleviate the chagrin of this victim of Cupid, who may possibly scan the story, be it said that he is not alone in being the butt of mischievous pranks these days.
For another, who under ordinary circumstances is very fastidious about his personal appearance found himself at the very threshold of his fiancée's home one evening, with one black shoe on and one brown, hugging tightly what he had supposed to be an umbrella tucked under his arm.
But inspection proved it to be a feather duster!

SOCIAL NEWS OF THE DAY.
Letters from Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Case Deering, who left about a month ago for a trip to the Eastern states, relate of a very pleasant journey en route. These Honolulu society folk are at present enjoying a delightful visit with Mrs. Deering's father, who is the owner of a large ranch in New Mexico, and after a three months' stop-over they will proceed to Bristol, Rhode Island, to visit with Mr. Deering's uncle, Mr. Dan Case, and his daughters, who visited the Islands not long ago.

Mr. Deering hails from one of the most prominent families of Chicago, and he and his charming wife will, no doubt, receive a royal welcome from their legion of friends whom they have not seen for many years.
The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Waterman are sincerely regretting the news of their permanent departure from Honolulu in the near future. Mrs. Waterman has long held an enviable place in society, and has figured prominently in the smart set of the city. Mr. Waterman is opening business in the Orient on a large scale, and leaves for his future home in Hongkong on Tuesday next.
Mrs. Waterman and child will not accompany him, but will join him later.
This charming matron will doubtless inspire many farewell compliments ere she leaves for her home in the far East.
A great amount of entertaining of an informal nature is being done for Mr. Emil Waterman, who leaves next Tuesday for the Orient. Mr. Waterman is one of the most popular business men of the community.

Lieutenant Pine, of the U. S. revenue cutter Thetis, has issued invitations for a dinner party, at which he will entertain on board this evening as a farewell compliment to Mrs. Florence Hoffman, who leaves in the Wilhelmina tomorrow for a visit to the mainland.

Mrs. John Humburg, children and maid, are at present visiting on Kaula and having a most enjoyable trip. They are the house guests of Mrs. Humburg's brother, Mr. Sloggett.
Among the arrivals in the Manchu yesterday were Mrs. Clifford B. High and her sister, Mrs. Emmett May of Los Angeles. Mrs. High is looking very well after her pleasant trip and delighted to be home again. A flattering reception greeted these two Honoluluans on their arrival. They have come to attend the nuptials of their sister, Miss Alice Roth and Mr. Frank Edward Thompson, which will be solemnized early next month.

Mrs. Charles Wilder has issued cards for a bridge afternoon at which she will entertain tomorrow in honor of Miss Louise Girard.
Mrs. Frederick B. McStocker has issued several verbal invitations by telegraph to a few friends bidding them to gather informally at her

"Capt Letterblair"

On Saturday evening the Punch-bowl Dramatic Club presented "Captain Letterblair," by Marguerite Merington, through the courtesy of Daniel Frohman of New York, who holds the acting rights. Allan Renton, who took the part of Captain Letterblair Litton, made a fine impression in this, his first appearance on the stage. The interpretation of his part called for repeated applause from the audience. Miss Cordelia Gilman, as leading lady, delighted her audience, as usual. Miss Garnie Rosecrans and Bert Gibb, who took the parts of Miss Hyacinth and Dean Ambrose, a couple who had been attached for twenty years, made a fine showing, and the Dean's "I've Been Kissed," took the house by storm. Miss Hazel Buckland, who made her first appearance Saturday, made a decided hit in her part as the young niece of Miss Hyacinth. Randolph Hitchcock, as the old servant,

Jorkins, received round after round of applause every time he came on the stage with his "God bless him; just like his father." Percy Nottage, as the villain, made the best of a very difficult part. Edwin Gibb, the never-to-be-forgotten lawyer's clerk, treated the house to a fine exhibition of what ought to be done with col lectors in general. It is a wonder that he lived through the evening long enough to tell the audience that Captain Litton's servant had "violently kicked, punched, pinched and otherwise injured his tenderest—" Alexander Anderson, in the character of Mr. Seton, the lawyer, did exceedingly well in a very hard part. Pinckney, the Dean's secretary, and Polly's lover, was given a spirited impersonation by Alfred Young, the president of the dramatic club.
The cast was very ably made up by Mr. W. Douthitt.
Too much credit cannot be given to Miss Brooks, the coach, or Mr. Fitts, who undertook to manage the stage settings, with the aid of Jack Moir, the property man of the club.
The whole cast was as follows:
Capt. Letterblair Litton Allan Renton, '13
. Frances Hadden, Cordelia Gilman, '10
Dean Ambrose Bert Gibb, '11
Miss Hyacinth, Garnie Rosecrans, '12
Percy Pinckney Alfred Young, '10
Polly Messiter Hazel Buckland, '12
Francis Merrivale, Percy Nottage, '11
Mr. Seton Alexander Anderson, '12
Smithers Edwin Gibb, '12
Jorkins Rudolph Hitchcock, '12

Don't Pound Your Fingers! !
USE A
Perfection Staple Driver
PRICE, 25c It will stretch the wire also. POST PAID 30c

THIS PATENT APPLIED FOR

This tool fills a long-felt want and overcomes all disagreeable features encountered in erecting wire fencing. By its use the wire can be stretched and the staple driven with ease, can be stretched evenly at every angle, the staples driven at the points they will do the most good, and the wire can be drawn taut and the staple driven where, without its use, it would be impossible.
One man using a Perfection Staple Driver can erect more wire fencing and in better shape than two men can without it.
The crowning feature of the Perfection Staple Driver is that by its use there is no possible chance of pounding your fingers.
DIRECTIONS. When erecting Wire Netting or Poultry Fencing, place staple in end of driver and catch the wires at a point where they cross one another, between the points of staple. You can then draw the wire as taut as desired. A good sharp blow on end of driver will start the staple sufficiently to drive home without any difficulty.
