etery and erecting a monument, thus drawing the attention of the world to her as having died?

A. I trust she will find some of her students watching, like the "wise virgins" with "oil in their lamps." On Jesus' return, in his walk to Emmaus, he found his students discussing his death. They believed he had died. Had they attained spiritual apprehension of his teaching they would have understood he was making a final demonstration over the powers of the universal evil.

"From what you say of the teachings of Mrs. Eddy I cannot see that the action of the directors in erecting a monument which is to be the largest in the world and placed over a grave in which Mrs. Eddy is supposed to lie can be reconciled in any way with her teachings.

Action Opposed to Teachings. "In this act they again publicly acknowledge that they are mortal and that Mrs. Eddy is dead. You declare that you are immortal and that Mrs. Eddy lives. You have also stated that you expect Mrs. Eddy to reappear. Here are two views of Christian Science diametrically opposite to each other."

"Yes, they are diametrically opposed, but I shall still continue to proclaim my convictions based on my spiritual understanding and demonstration of Christian Science as taught me by Mrs. Eddy. The very stones would cry out if I did not defend the teachings of Mrs. Eddy and aver that I am immortal—that Mrs. Eddy lives; that she is a mental being, spiritually and not materially, and that consciousness cannot be buried under steel and concrete (material thought) * * *

Confident of Reappearance. "I am confident that when she has made her demonstration and reappears, my thoughts and the thoughts of her faithful students will be separately spiritualized to behold her and witness her proof of her teachings."

the first encampment held here, Major Burnham the second.

Practice Next Month.

July 1 the two battalions of the Second Infantry, stationed at the Lilehua reservation, will begin their tour of target practice on the target range of Schofield Barracks. This is the third month in the practice firing season the Fifth Cavalry regiment has enjoyed, and they will complete their target practice the end of June, so that the range can be used by the infantry troops of the large brigade post next.

After the Second Infantry finish their tour of hitting the target the Marine Battalion of this naval station will take company turns at the target range of Schofield Barracks. Later some expert riflemen will occupy the firing range from Fort Shafter.

Captain Watkins Back.

Captain Benjamin Harrison Watkins, Second Infantry, arrived from the United States as a passenger of the transport on Tuesday last. Captain Watkins comes to join his regiment at the Lilehua reservation and is being welcomed not only as a popular but useful officer of the battalions stationed at Schofield Barracks. He journeyed immediately to his post of duty, reporting to Colonel Francis W. Mansfield, Second Infantry, on Tuesday.

Captain Edward A. Shuttleworth, Second Infantry, regimental commissary, has been acting as quartermaster during the two months' leave of absence of Captain Watkins, which he has spent with relatives in the homeland.

Mrs. Watkins and little Miss Narcissa F. Watkins, came over with Captain Watkins and are now in their new quarters in the infantry post of Schofield Barracks.

New Quartermaster.

Captain Clifford Game, quartermaster at Honolulu, on the official staff of the commanding general of this military district, reached here, with Mrs. Game and young son, on Tuesday, coming over from the Coast on the Buford, and has taken charge of the depot quartermaster's office on Hotel street, relieving Captain Moor N. Falls, Twenty-eighth Infantry.

Captain Falls is initiating the new quartermaster into the pleasures and duties connected with office routine at this station, the duties of which he has so ably and successfully executed for over two years. Captain Game is being extended the right hand of good fellowship and being officially and socially made welcome here.

Officers to Leave.

The two battalions of the Second In-ervation, are scheduled to lose three members when the July transport leaves this port for the homeland. Major George B. Duncan will be a passenger, bound for a detail at the War College at Washington, D. C. Captain William Kent of Company F, Second Infantry, has been assigned as an officer student to the service schools at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. Captain Kent will leave his post at Schofield Barracks in order to reach his classes beginning in August. Another officer of the Second Infantry to depart is Lieutenant Charles S. Caffery of Company G, Schofield Barracks. Lieutenant Caffery has been detailed as an instructor at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

Besides these officers from the infantry post of the Lilehua reservation that are booked for other fields of usefulness in the United States, there is a large delegation to leave from the Fifth Cavalry post.

Major and Mrs. Charles C. Walcutt, Jr., will be among the cavalry line going away. Major Walcutt, Jr., has been a prominent and useful captain in the Fifth Cavalry and the regiment regrets his departure and that of his popular wife. Major Walcutt has been designated for a tour of duty at the War College, Washington, D. C.

No More Army Mules.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Farewell to the army mule, whose bad humor and stubbornness are traditional, if the new motor field wagon just ordered by General Aleshire proves successful. The new vehicle was designed by Captain Alexander E. Williams of the quartermaster's department, who has made a study of all types of motor vehicles.

The objection to other motor vehicles tried out by the army as substitutes for the army mule has been that while they would do the work on good roads, they would not stand up under severe trials over rough or muddy ground. The new motor wagon is expected to travel over roads impassable for the ordinary car—in fact, is guaranteed to go wherever the mule could pull a wagon. It is constructed along different lines from the ordinary automobile, having a high clearance and specially constructed high-power low-speed qualities for rough or muddy ground.

Orders for Army Officers.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Colonel Charles Richard, medical corps, upon arrival at San Francisco, will proceed to the Walter Reed General Hospital, District of Columbia, and assume command of that hospital.
