IMMIGRANTS ARE SLOWLY SHIPPED

Down at the Territorial Immigration station there are still many Spanish and Portuguese immigrants. Over five hundred were there this morning, and three hundred more are expected from the Federal station some time today. Efforts are being made to get a big lot of immigrants away today to the other islands, and among the plantations that will get laborers are Paha, Puanene, Pahala, Waiuku, Paauhau and Oiaa. These plantations will get Spaniards, while the following estates will be sent Portuguese: Waiakua, Waialea, Koloa, Makaweli, Nahiku, Aiea, Kealia, Waipahu and Hilo Sugar Company. There are still a number of immigrants on quarantine island, and they will be released as soon as possible. There will be some that will have to be deported, which will be attended to later on. There has been considerable trouble in finding steamers to ship the immigrants on, and some delay has been experienced. However, it is thought that the last of the Spaniards and Portuguese will, some time next week, leave for their future homes on the plantations. At Federal Quarantine. The federal quarantine station is being slowly emptied of the Spanish and Portuguese immigrants brought here by the S. S. Willades some time ago. This morning Dr. Ramus reported that there were only sixty-seven left. These are the sick ones and those convalescing. Thirteen of those still ill are suffering from typhoid fever. The others are nearly all smallpox patients, or contacts.

BOARD OF HEALTH RAIDS DAIRIES AND ATTACKS SUNDRY NUISANCES

At the meeting of the board of health that was held yesterday afternoon, various reports were handed in and read. Food Commissioner Blanchard turned in two reports—one for November and one for December. In both the reports the commissioner dealt in detail with the milk question. The board, after hearing the reports read, proceeded by automobile to Kalia and Kahauliki, where some inspection and condemning was done. At Kahauliki some pig pens were declared to be a nuisance, and the board ordered that the pens be removed within ten days, in default of which action should be taken by the chief inspector. At Kalia the poi factory was inspected, and the nuisance said to be created by the waste water that runs from the factory was ordered to be abated at once. It appears that the water has been running over the railroad track and into a hole wherein mosquitoes have been breeding. At the Thomas pineapple factory there is a pile of refuse accumulating, which is considered to be a nuisance. The company will be approached by Chief Inspector Charlock, and something will have to be done in the matter. It is proposed to treat the refuse in the same way as the other pineapple company is treating theirs. The moisture will all be pressed out and the pulp will be burned.

FURLOUGH OF THE SOLDIERS WILL EXPIRE FEBRUARY FIFTH

All the extensions of furlough granted the soldiers who are acting as inspectors and overseers in the mosquito campaign will expire on February 5. This will make it a trifle awkward for the Citizens' Committee if the present campaign is maintained, and although some discharged soldiers have been engaged, there may possibly be a shortage as regards intelligent overseers. Fortunately, some of the soldiers whose furlough expires will, a few days afterward, be discharged from the army. These men will, of course, be kept on their present jobs and they will be able to break in new men. At present there are a few new men on working as laborers. They will be reported on by the overseers they are working under and, if suitable, will be given positions as overseers. The present work of the mosquito

CORNELL CLUB'S ANNUAL REUNION

The Cornell Club of Hawaii held its annual meeting at The Courtland on the evening of January 11. Among those present were Prof. and Mrs. Andrews, Dr. L. E. Case, Chas. Davis, Mr. Dyer of the U. S. S. Colorado, Prof. and Mrs. Gilmore, J. E. Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. Hunn, Mr. and Mrs. Keller, Miss Lee, Mr. and Mrs. MacNeil, Wm. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Wood and Prof. and Mrs. Young. The evening began as usual with the singing of "Alma Mater." After the sumptuous spread the members enjoyed the speechmaking, consisting of: "Cornell our Alma Mater," by Mr. Dyer; "Cornell as She Is," by J. W. MacNeil; "Some Problems of the Colleges," by J. W. Gilmore, and "Spirits, Touch-downs, Home-runs," by A. L. Andrews. The following officers were elected for their third term: President, J. W. Gilmore; vice-president, J. M. Young; secretary-treasurer, C. J. Hunn. There are now 28 Cornellians in Hawaii. The evening closed with songs about the piano and many rousing slogans of Cornell.

AN ALIEN TOURIST HENCE HAD TROUBLE IN SAN FRANCISCO

Without in any way unduly alarming aliens who intend to leave here for the mainland, or for abroad via San Francisco, it would be as well if they prepared themselves for some exceptional treatment at San Francisco. A prominent merchant of Victoria, B. C., recently underwent some treatment that has left him rather angry and hurt at the way in which the officials treated him. He prefers that his name should not be disclosed. As it is likely that the same kind of treatment will be meted out to many others, perhaps it would be as well for aliens from here to make preparation if possible, so as to minimize the annoyance. This man came here from Victoria in one of the Canadian-Australian boats. His intention at first was to go right back the way he came, but he changed his mind and obtained a refund on the unused portion of his return ticket. He then went over to U. Brewer & Co. and booked by the Sierra, as he wanted to take in San Francisco on his way home. When Porter Smith called for aliens, he stepped forward and admitted that he was not a citizen. But he did not anticipate the trouble and annoyance that he would be put to. He was examined by the immigration official, and as he had nothing to prove that he was what he represented

FINE VOLCANO MOTION VIEWS

R. K. Bonine, who visited the volcano last week with his moving picture machine, is enthusiastic over the result of his exposures. He has developed the films and tried them out last night in his studio. They surpassed even his own expectations, he says. Bonine climbed down the lava wall to the floor, that was then only a few feet above the level of the molten lava, and from that position had an excellent opportunity to catch the fire fountains as they spouted toward the sky. The result was fine, he says. The reel also shows people jabbing sticks into the lava and sticking coins into the molten mass. This is probably the first time that a volcano has ever been photographed at such close range by a moving picture camera. Mr. Bonine is adding the new films to his old ones and expects to give a public exhibition at the opera house next Friday.

POLICE COURT'S DAILY GRIST

In the police court this morning W. Cramer, drunk, was fined $5 and costs. Willie had been there before, hence the raise in the ante. The case of Roger James, colored, charged with having forged a receipt for $40 was remanded. Attorney Straus will defend James and some sensational evidence is likely in the case, provided some of the facts thereof be not suppressed. Bray, a peddler charged with peddling without having first gone through the formality of procuring a license, demanded a trial by jury and was committed to the circuit court. Lily Cabrella, charged with assault and battery, was fined $5, costs of court being remitted. Hisando Jutaro, charged with setting fire to the house of a countryman in Manoa valley, waived examination and was committed for trial.

SMALL FARMING BOOSTERS MEET

A committee of the Public Service Association on "Small Farming" lunched today at the University Club to discuss any practical possibility of the association's aiding in the bringing together of the small producer and the small consumer. Among those present at the discussion were Governor Walter F. Frear, Market Commissioner S. T. Starrett, President J. W. Gilmore of the College of Hawaii, J. P. Cooke, L. A. Thurston, Land Commissioner Chas. S. Judd, E. V. Wilcox, J. E. Higgins of the Hawaii Experiment Station, Byron O. Clark, Territorial entomologist E. M. Ehrhorn, A. H. Ford and F. G. Krauss. Messrs. DEADLY DRUG NAMES ON LABELS SPOIL PATENT MEDICINE SALES

That patent medicines are not used now as much as formerly, is the information gleaned by Food Commissioner Blanchard. He finds, from inquiry at the local drug stores, that the Honolulu people are gradually giving up the patent medicine habit, and that they are doing so on account of the law that makes it imperative for the manufacturers to print on the bottle, the name of the ingredients that are in the medicine. When opium, morphine or strychnine is mentioned, the sale of the patent medicine was dropped off a lot. Speaking of poi, Mr. Blanchard said this morning that there is still room for improvement, and that some of the manufacturers are selling poi that is below standard. If this practice is continued, there will be some more prosecutions in the near future, says the food commissioner.

Interesting talks, Mr. Thurston in favor of bringing the consumer and the producer closer together, and Mr. Starrett in favor of working both with the middleman and the consumer. "Mr. Mongoose" also came in for interesting remarks, and the general trend of the discussion was that the time had come to place a bounty on his head and get rid of him. "Things have got to be changed in the fishmarket," stated the supervisor after he had left the place. I never imagined they were so bad. There is no reason why the law should not be strictly obeyed, and I propose after this to devote a good deal of attention to the fishmarket and see that "everybody in it acts accordingly."
