

THE MAUI MEAT CARRYING SCHEME

(Special Correspondence of the Star.)
WAILUKU, February 18.—The Uluapalua ranch and several others interested in raising cattle on Maui and shipping to Honolulu markets have had the greatest difficulty in getting their cattle to market. Such would naturally be the case with shipping from ports of small size and at various points along the island. There is difficulty, too, in getting the cattle always at the point where the steamer can take them, and the further distance that attends the shipping of cattle from large areas in having a drove wait around a few days before the time of the sailing of the steamer. When cattle are shipped on the hoof to Honolulu there is always some delay, too, before the cattle are killed, and considerable loss of weight is the result.

To overcome all these difficulties, which have always been such a hindrance to profitable ranching on Maui, the men interested in shipping to Honolulu have determined upon rather a unique method. They are now building, it is learned on good authority, on Maui, a sixty-foot power boat in a Japanese shipyard in Honolulu at a cost of about $6000. This new boat is to be owned and controlled exclusively by those especially interested in ranching on Maui; is to be fully equipped with the very best methods now known to refrigerate the meat, and so bring it into Honolulu ready for market. The boat will be completely equipped with electricity and be a model of its kind on the Islands. The venture can not but prove a success. It will be strange if others who meet the same difficulties in handling meat do not make use of the method that these progressive Maui men have already adopted.

INDUSTRIAL AND OTHER SCHOOLS

There are one hundred and fifty-four boys at the Waialeale Industrial school at present. Several have been discharged lately, and there is now more room at the school.

The report of Superintendent Tucker for last week shows that none of the boys escaped during that period. In fact there have been but few attempts to get away during the last few months.

The plans and specifications for the new buildings at Waialeale are ready now, and it will not be long till the tenders for the erection of the structures are called for.

Superintendent Pope and Inspector Gibson, of the education department, are getting busy on the proposition of obtaining boys for the agricultural school at Kahuku. Only good types of lads, who are willing to learn all about cane raising, will be looked for. It is thought that if the parents of such lads realize that the training the boys will get at the school will fit them for fine positions later on, the fifty youths who are required to start the school will quickly be enrolled.

The Kahuku plantation people will be seen today or tomorrow, and the plans for the establishing of the school will be again talked over.

CLOSED SEASON

by statute for a close season for the protection of amama, notwithstanding the declaration contained in section 5 of the Organic Act.

"The prohibition against selling amama during the close season contained in Act 110, Laws of 1911, will apply to fish taken from a private pond unless it is made to appear that there is no passage-way connecting such pond with the sea, or other waters, through which amama may pass. The sale of amama taken from privately owned ponds during the close season may be prohibited if such prohibition is found to be necessary in the endeavor to protect the amama of the sea waters of the Territory.

"The invalidity of a portion of a statute will not defeat the whole act if the unobjectionable part is separable, complete and capable of enforcement."

Hoy Chong was convicted in the district court of Honolulu and was fined fifteen dollars. He appealed to the supreme court on writ of error from the overruling of his demurrer. The demurrer was based on the grounds that the statute is ambiguous, unintelligible, uncertain and indefinite; that it is contrary to the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution, and is class legislation; also that it is contrary to section 95 of the Organic Act of Hawaii.

SPRING CLOTHES AT SILVA'S

The announcement in today's paper of the showing at Silva's Toggery of new spring clothes for men just received from the famous tailors, Hart, Schaffner & Marx, is of interest to all Honolulu men who are particular about their clothes. The name of Hart, Schaffner & Marx is a guarantee of quality and fine tailoring as well as that the suits are in cut and pattern of the style approved by the best dressed men of the Eastern cities. The man who is contemplating getting a suit will do well to call at Silva's Toggery and look at these new clothes, and even the man who is not thinking of buying at once will be interested in the new patterns and styles.

There was no question as to the fact that Hoy Chong exposed for sale and sold amama, or mullet, the fish being privately owned by the Bishop Estate. Amama do not propagate in ponds, the young fish being collected at the outlets and then put into the ponds, where they grow and whence they are subsequently taken for the market.

J. L. Coke appeared for the plaintiff-in-error and J. W. Cathcart for the defendant-in-error.

THE EFFORT

molest under a sea-rock would say less to the inquiring interviewer.

The Democrats are standing by and predicting that there will be no Republican compromise and that, if the Kuhio men have everything their own way, McCandless will have weighty Republican support at the polls. Republican leaders don't think so.

Shingle Says Peace.

Robert W. Shingle, who was reported in a contemporary as decrying the Star's statement of the purpose of the meeting he attended on Saturday, was asked today if he would enlighten the public on just what the occasion of the gathering was.

"It is just like this," he proceeded to reply: "Prince Cupid comes home, says he will support Taft, that he is a good Republican, and that he desires the Frear-Kuhio controversy eliminated from the primaries for the Territorial convention."

"He brings the central committee together to see that the party is not

HUMAN GARDEN UPON WHEELS

One of the prettiest as well as most original floats in the Floral Parade, if indeed it will not outshine everything else in those respects, will be that of the Free Kindergarten and Children's Aid Association. Its theme will be the Mother Goose ditty, "Mistress Mary Quite Contrary."

Mrs. Adams, a teacher of the Castle kindergarten, will personate "Mistress Mary," while little tots of all nations in Honolulu will show how the human garden here grows.

Expense is not being stinted on the costumes of the children, the ladies at the head of the institution putting up cheerfully for whatever the requisitions demand.

"Later a committee of two from the Taft League—Joseph P. Cooke and A. D. Cooper—is appointed to meet Prince Cupid and myself, to arrange a basis of harmony. I was named with Delegate Kuhio, I suppose, because I have been talking my head off in trying to bring about peace.

"They (the Taft men) put up a proposition to see if we could not harmonize all along the line, and leave it to Prince Cupid to consult some of his people about.

"That is all. I think they will all get together and love one another," Mr. Shingle could not say if there would be another meeting of Kuhio and his friends today.

Position of Judge Davis.

Judge George A. Davis, who laughingly acknowledges having received a wigging from Atkinson for giving away "state secrets" of the Saturday conclave of anti-Freerites, was asked today to state just what the crowd he was in then was called, or how it was to be identified with relation to the Republican party.

"It is a few Republican leaders called together to promote harmony," was the reply. "I suppose I was invited as a member of the county committee."

What the irrepressible Judge was called down by Atkinson for saying Saturday was:

"We are going to leave the selection of delegates and instructions to the convention."

George Mackenzie, who, as his name might indicate, was born in Scotland, has declared his intention of becoming a citizen of the United States of America.

The jury trial of the Associated Garage vs. J. Cummings was set for today in Judge Cooper's court, but was continued without date.

OLAA BONDS ARE NEAR PAR

Olaa bonds were the most interesting feature of the day on the Honolulu Stock and Bond Exchange, $47,000 of this recently popular issue were reported sold between boards at 98.50, an advance of $1 over Saturday's price, and at close holders were demanding par for the security. It is currently reported on the street that a syndicate has been recently formed to handle these bonds, and the very rapid advance during the past week is due to its activities. A week ago Olaa 6s were listed at under 95, and there was apparently little interest being manifested in them at this figure although they are generally believed to be an excellent investment at that price. Then they began to advance, until by Saturday they had reached 97.50. With today's sales there have been about a quarter of a million dollars' worth of these securities sold in a week. Olaa 6s are dated February 1, 1910, and are due in 1930, but are subject to call on or after February 1, 1920. There are $2,500,000 in the issue.

Sales were lighter in volume today than they have been for some time past, and the prices on a number of stocks had also broken slightly. The market generally remains firm, but there is an indication that prices for the present have about reached their maximum.

With sugar at $96 per ton and advancing, and with optimistic reports coming in from practically all parts of the Territory concerning the condition of the present year's crop, it does not seem that prices are abnormally high. At present prices most dividend paying shares will yield, in all probability, at least 10 per cent or better.

Olaa is one of the shares which shaded off today, one small block selling on the board at 8:87½, a drop of one point.

Waialua sold for 144.75, a loss of 25 cents since Saturday, but holders are still asking 145, and there is probably little to be had at less.

Two blocks of 25 shares each of Onomea sold for 55.25, but the asking price is firm at 56.

McBryde is still on the up grade, a small quantity selling at 9.75 an advance of two points since Saturday; 9.75 was bid and 10 was asked at close.

Between boards 200 shares of Hawaiian Commercial sold at 46.50, an advance from 46 flat; 46.375 was bid and 46.50 was asked at close today.

Carl Josef Shield, a native of Germany, has filed with the clerk of the Federal court a petition for naturalization.

SUGAR TENDING TO ADVANCE

An Alexander & Baldwin cable today would indicate that sugar is due for another advance within a few days. It reads:

"Holders of raw are asking 4.86. Refiners are bidding .06 cents less. (Present price). Rates in Cuba are retarding grinding."
