Boxers Look to Be Very Evenly Brought Together

There is fight talk on every side now, and there is fight money, too, heard jingling.

The fans are making Cordell the favorite over McCarthy but to those who follow the pugilistic game closely it appears that the two men, taking everything into consideration, are very evenly matched.

When McCarthy and Cordell step through the ropes at the Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon it will be a case of a young, strong improving man going up against a boxer who, a few years ago was all to the good but who, since then has not done much. And these prolonged lay-offs in the fistie game are all to the bad for the member of the profess who indulges in them.

There is one thing which both McCarthy and Cordell possess in common and that is plenty of grit and each well knows the worthiness of his prospective foe and is taking no chances in the matter of physical fitness.

Cordell has to make 155 pounds two hours before the fight and if ever conditions presented themselves which promised a good fight the conditions of the battle next Saturday afternoon certainly do.

Fights and Fights.

There are fights and fights. There is the fight that is one-sided and where one man takes a licking for ten or twelve rounds and then goes to sleep for ten seconds, and there are fights like that which are good ones too, for the weaker man by guile puts up a good big fight against superior odds.

There are times when one man has cleverness and the other strength. Honolulu has seen such fights.

There are also times when one fellow is a scientific boxer and the other a roughhouse man; such fights have also been seen here. And they have been good fights, too.

The game on Saturday afternoon should not be anything like the events just mentioned. It is safe to say that it will not be.

Men Well Matched.

When it comes to the fighting business McCarthy and Cordell, allowing for handicap conditions of weight and age, should be just about as evenly matched as any two scrappers could be.

Cordell may appear with a few more fancy flourishes but McCarthy will be there on other scores, just as strong and there is one thing certain, and that is that the Irishman will be dangerous as long as he is on his feet and that he is mighty likely to be coming and coming fast when the other fellow is going, say along about the twelfth round.

That fellow Cordell, however, is a shifty boy with a surprise in every joint, and it is a toss-up, notwithstanding the alleged odds prevailing, who will catch the referee's eye on Saturday. The bout is scheduled to go fifteen rounds and it wouldn't be so all-fired surprising if the limit was reached.

A Genuine Scrap.

If ever conditions were favorable for a genuine good battle in the roped arena, they certainly are now. There is bound to be plenty of hammer and tongs, quite a soupcon of sparring, and, in fact, a little of everything which will add spice to the game.

BOXING Athletic Park

SATURDAY, JUNE 29, AT 3 P. M. 15—ROUNDS—15

McCarthy vs Cordell

BAUERSOCK vs. LEARY. MORIARTY vs. BAKER. YAMOGATA vs. CABRAL.

Ringside Seats $2.00 Reserved Seats 1.00, 75c Covered Bleachers 50c General Admission 25c

Tickets on sale at M. A. Gunst & Co. 3 p. m. DON'T FORGET.

And while the big 'uns are being discussed the preliminary boxers come in for a word of comment. The eight-round go between Bauersock and Denny Leary promises to be a whirlwind and the same remark applies to the six-round affray between Kid Baker and Moriarty. These two prelims should provide just as much fun and frolic as the main event.

The promoter of Saturday's bouts says that the show will be characterized by promptness. Each bout will tread the heels of the other and the result will be that everyone will get home in nice time for dinner.

Reports from the ticket men are to the effect that seats are being disposed of rapidly. An unprecedented number of reservations are being made.

They are even betting on the size of the house and wagers have been made that the house will surpass the $1000 mark. There is not much money, however, to dispute that wager.

Automobile parties will be admitted at a dollar a head and the machines will be parked around the ring.

A COMING FANETTE.

The Mournful Ballad of a Girl and a Baseball Game.

Why is a baseball a baseball? And why did they make it round? And why did they coat it with leather? And why does it bounce and bound?

What did it do to the batter that he swings with all his might, And tries to put that baseball far away and out of sight?

Why is a pitcher a twirler? And why does he stand on a mound? What makes him want to go up in the air? Why doesn't he stay on the ground?

Why is a fielder a fielder? And why does he go out so far? Why doesn't he play in closer? He should use a motor car.

Why is a shortstop a shortstop? Is a "long-stop" just as good? Why is the plate made of rubber? And why is a bat made of wood?

And I wonder why is a first baseman? Oh, he's first to bat I suppose! And why did they throw that bottle and break the umpire's nose?

Now why does that ugly catcher act so terribly tough and mad? Oh, look! the ball's gone over the fence. Why isn't the pitcher glad?

And why did that man yell "Rotten!" and then say "Get the book?" Now why do they start to argue? They called the umpire a croak!

What is a "sub"?—a subject, or a submarine diving boat? Why is a fan a roofer? Where does he keep his goat?

Why is the ground called a diamond? Why not a ruby or pearl? What is the score now, Tommy? Is that the shortstop's girl?

Why don't they love him arrested? He stole a base, you say. Why are they yelling "Slam 'er out?" Why are the ball suits gray?

Where has the foul ball gone, dear? Why don't they use that, too? Why does the batter spit on his hands? Why doesn't he use some glue?

Why is a bunt a bunt, Tom? Why made the sacrifice? He's certainly a gentleman, and I think he's very nice.

Why don't they bleach the bleachers and bring the outfield in? Why aren't the visitors sociable and let the home team win?

Oh, Tom, the game is over! Who won, and what's the score? Oh, I know the game so perfectly that I'm going to come some more.

I'm going home to father and tell him that we won. It was a close game, Tommy; the score was ten to one!

ONE INSTANCE.

"I don't believe old Grouch ever made anybody glad in his life or ever will be the cause of making any one happy."

"Ah, don't say that. Sure, it is his poor wife that when he dies will be the merry widow"—Baltimore American.

When a man proclaims in a loud voice that he is a gentleman it's a safe bet he isn't.

DUKE SHOWS GRAND FORM

ANTWERP, Holland, June 25.—In an exhibition swim given here yesterday afternoon Duke Kahamamoku of Honolulu came within an ace of besting the international record for the hundred meter dash. His work was wonderful and excited much admiration and comment.

HORINE BEGAN ON MILK VAN

World's champion athletes usually have no difficulty in recalling, when, where and how they got their start. The trouble is, that as a rule, the king pin got a commonplace start. There was nothing unusual about the way he began his climb up the ladder of fame, and an attempt to tell about it would be uninteresting.

However, the case of George F. Horine, the world's champion high jumper, is an exception to the rule. His career as a jumper started when he got a job driving a milk wagon. Jumping on and off the wagon in the early hours, while he was attending High School at Santa Ana, first made those muscles quiver that are now boasting him up close to 7 ft.

Horine is a member of the 1913 class at Stanford University. He lives at Palo Alto. His family moved there from Santa Ana several years ago. George started in High School at Santa Ana. On the side, he got a job driving a milk wagon. Every morning he was up before daybreak, doing the work. Schoolmates say he developed great skill in jumping off and on the wagon with a milk can in each hand, while the horses were traveling at about the best pace those milk wagon horses could hit.

This sort of work made George so agile and "springy" that when he saw the boys at the High School high jumping he thought he might be able to do something along that line himself. But he didn't have much time to train and he didn't do much in athletics at High School. But he kept on the milk wagon and unconsciously was preparing himself for his great performances of the present time. Horine is only 21 years of age. He stands 5 ft. 11 in. and weighs about 148 pounds, stripped. He is long and slender and the muscles in his legs stand out like steel cords.

SPORTORIFT

All Whites, 11; Naniwas, S. Hawaii, 20; Hlios, 2.

A big field meet is being conducted at Schofield Barracks today.

The Young Patriots will play a return game with the Eagles at Panoa Park on Sunday morning.

The Vineyard Athletic Club would like to arrange a game with the Mun Lan Jr. nine.

Umpqua and Oneata, two of Louis Warren's racers, are said to be going great guns at Spreckels Park and are expected to score a win for their popular owner on the Fourth.

Pala, 24; Camp One, 2. Stars, 19; Kahului, 7.

Louis Soares will make his debut in Maui baseball on July 1.

It is expected that Al. Cretle will be back from his European trip in time to defend his title to the Hawaiian tennis tennis championship.

Henry Bushnell will make his last appearance on a local diamond for at least three months. He will go to Hilo for the Fourth with the All-Honolulu team and will then go to the coast for an extended trip.

UNKNOWN RUNNERS HAVE CHANCE TO MAKE A NAME

A feature of the Fourth of July sports will be a race from Moanalua to Kapiolani Park, the distance being approximately nine miles.

Laeter Petrie, Jack Scully, Peter Baron and Ben Hollinger have the matter in hand and with these well-known sportsmen at the helm the affair cannot be other than a success.

Nigel Jackson is rustling entries and the book is open at E. O. Hall's store. No entry fee will be charged.

With the professional peds all out of the way local runners have a fine chance to distinguish themselves and some good talent should be discovered in the novice division.

An aggregate of $85 in prizes will be distributed, divided $40, $25, $15 and $5. These prizes will take the form of merchandise orders which will be arranged for by the committee.

Charles Chillingworth has also promised to donate a cup for the event which has to be won twice before becoming permanent property.

The Horse Races.

Homer Smith who has charge of the horse-racing feature of the Fourth of July program states that everything along this line is flourishing and that both prizes and entry lists are filling rapidly.

The races will begin at a p. m. The race for Japanese hacks is expected to create considerable diversion.

C. F. Chillingworth, J. W. Doyle and Muriyama will go out to Kapiolani Park this afternoon for the purpose of staking out the reservations for Japanese wrestling and jui-jitsu.

Other Sports.

U. Lemon is looking after the gymkhana portion of the program and expects that this feature will meet with general public approval. He is drawing up a very attractive program and has been promised a host of entries.

The baseball on the Fourth will be between the Asahis and Stars and the Ewas and Waiianas. The first game will be called at one o'clock and both games will be played on the Kapiolani Park diamond.

It has been decided to allow only expert riders to take part in the motor races.

Work in connection with the water carnival to be held in the harbor in the evening is progressing satisfactorily.

SIGNALS FOR THE YACHTS' ARRIVAL

The officers of the Hawaii Yacht Club met yesterday and completed arrangements for the reception of the Transpacific race visitors.

The arrival of the racing craft will be signaled by the Hawaiian Electric Co's whistle as follows:

For the Hawaii there will be one long blast, followed by one short; for the Seafarer, one long blast and two short; for the Larline, one long blast and three short; for the Natossee, one long blast and four short.

Secretary L. M. Veltoven of the local club has received the night signals agreed on by the candidates for Trans-pacific honors. They are as follows: Hawaii, red flare and white and green light; Seafarer, white flare, two white lights; Natossee, red flare, and white and two red lights; Larline, green flare and three red lights. These signals are to be answered by flares from Diamond Head.

Volunteer watchers have already been stationed at Diamond Head, although the yachts are not expected to put in an appearance before Saturday morning.

On the arrival of the first yacht a reception committee will come out in a craft for the purpose of greeting the winners.
