

charged, having the most abundant and satisfactory evidence that they were not violating the law. It was happy for them that two of them were sons of ship-masters, who saw that justice was done.

The correction of these abuses demands the most serious attention. We have a bad name abroad for no one thing as much as the enormous amount of fines on seamen paid by every ship that touches at these ports. It is not a mere tax. It is a great indignity, and we cannot blame the sufferers if they feel great resentment, and shun our ports. Seamen must be restrained from violent disorder and outrageous vice, but it is not necessary to make them feel the full stringency of our laws. That should be reserved for those whose homes are here, and know the laws, and how to evade them. Leniency—over-ruled transgression when possible—should be the rule with the stranger and guest.

Mr. Editor:—I notice in your useful and widely circulated journal of the 9th inst., an article signed "Democrat," proposing an expression of public opinion in this Kingdom, in relation to the contest now going on in the United States, between the different Candidates for the Presidency of that great Republic. This request is also sanctioned by a republican who renews the request of Democrat by an article in your paper of the 16th signed "Republican."

Now, Mr. Editor, those two gentlemen, whoever they are, "Democrat" and "Republican," have written and made those requests without reflection as to its effects upon our people and the interests of our Kingdom. Suppose for instance that there is an expression of public opinion given in this Kingdom by ballot and the result should be in favor of Colonel Fremont, and Mr. Buchanan should be elected. How do Democrat and Republican suppose that Mr. Buchanan with his Cabinet of special friends around him would feel towards the inhabitants of these Islands who, uncalled for had done all they could by an expression of public opinion against him to defeat his election.

Surely it would prejudice all of our interests in the minds of Mr. Buchanan and his Cabinet, and we should be made to feel their displeasure through the whole of his administration.

But, Mr. Editor, suppose we cast our votes for him who proves to be the successful candidate; will our condition be altered in relation to our interests with the United States? Not at all. We should be visited with the vengeance and indignation of that powerful minority who to some extent would charge us as being instrumental, or at least, contributing to their defeat.

Will the minority not be largely represented in the Senate, and upon all questions (treaties or other matters) that come before that body, in relation to this Kingdom and people, should we not be made to feel their indignation and deeply to regret the ill-advised course we had taken in giving public expression in relation to that which did not belong to us?

Mr. Editor, the thing in the opinion of your correspondent is not to be thought of, for there is no principle in American politics more true than that the successful or the defeated party love their friends and hate their enemies. Therefore neutrality is the course for us to pursue.

Honolulu Oct. 17th 1856. AMERICAN.

Mr. Editor:—I see in the Advertiser of September 11, "An Inquirer" wishes to know the cause of white specks in newly churned butter. There are two things which causes them. 1st. In skimming the milk, the cream is not taken off sufficiently dry, and 2nd, the cream is not stirred sufficiently often to keep the oily and milky parts constantly mixed, consequently the latter remains in the bottom of the dish and coagulates, and when the cream is churned, breaks up into small bits. Cream should stand open in the cool, dry air, and be frequently stirred, at least twice a day morning and night, and better if often.

Cows that run on the sea-beach and drink brackish water do not require salting as those do pastured inland. AN EXPERIENCED DAIRY WOMAN.

The editor of the New York Pathfinder, formerly a spiritualist, says that there is an individual in that city who has spent upwards of $25,000 in promulgating spiritualism within the last two years, and probably will spend $25,000 more before he discovers the old adage—that a fool and his money is soon parted.

In Mexico the soil is of almost fabulous richness. An English farmer near Jalapa asserts that in the year 1854, one bushel of corn yielded him two hundred and fifty bushels! In the regions around Jalapa, it is ascertained that manure is never required, and Indian corn is there reaped three times a year, while further up the country it is planted twice a year.

Rev. Dr. Bushnell, of Hartford, writes from California of the immense cedars of California, the greatest trees in the world. One of them, which had been felled, he ascertained, by counting the grains of the stump, to be twelve hundred and eighty years old. When Mahomet was at nurse this tree was sprouting.

The Rochester Union notices a singular escape on the Central Railroad, near Lockport. A small boy, son of Mr. Richardson, was struck by a locomotive, and thrown a distance of 85 feet by actual measurement. The fireman said he first saw the child in the air some fifteen feet from the ground, and supposed it was a dog. Though at first insensible, the child has nearly recovered.

It is stated on the authority of the Mexican minister of finances that at the present day, the church property is valued at from two hundred and fifty to three hundred millions of dollars. In the city of Mexico alone, of the five thousand houses there, valued at eighty millions, one-half belong to the clergy. From the rent of these houses they derive an income of twenty millions of dollars.

ANTIQUITY OF GUNPOWDER.—The first Englishman who mentioned gunpowder was Roger Bacon, who, about the year 1274, described it as then in common use all over the world for making squibs to amuse children. It is mentioned by Philonous, 355 years before Christ; and in the code of Hindoo laws it is referred to a period coincident with the time of Moses. The military use of rockets in the armies of India reaches to a period beyond record.

THE GROWING WEST.—Nebraska City, two years ago, was a wild waste, where night was made hideous by the dismal howl of the wolf, and the Indian lodge might occasionally be seen dotting the untrodden grass of the prairies. On two days recently the sales of lots by the organized town proprietors amounted to ten thousand dollars.

Late letters from France state that there is no danger of the overthrow of the government of Louis Napoleon, though an outbreak has been attempted by some of the secret revolutionary societies. The soldiers are true to a man, and would shoot revolutionists like dogs—business men dread the disturbance of commercial affairs, and men of property, large and small, see that a change of government could only be effected by wholesale slaughter, followed by pillage and the guillotine.

PRIVATIZING.—Secretary Marcy, in one of the ablest State papers that ever came from his pen, has replied to the Court De Saiger, the French Minister at Washington, who presented, on behalf of the Emperor of France, a proposition that the United States should assent to the "declaration concerning maritime laws," adopted by the Plenipotentiaries of Great Britain, Austria, France, Russia, Prussia, Sardinia and Turkey, at Paris, on the 16th of April, 1856.

The President, he writes, declines to accede to the four points in the said declaration to-wit: 1. Privatizing is and remains abolished. 2. The neutral flag covers enemy's goods with the exception of contraband of war.

3. Neutral goods, with the exception of contraband of war, are not liable to capture under enemy's flag. 4. Blockades, in order to be binding must be effective, that is to say, sustained by a force sufficient really to prevent access to the enemy's coast.

These four points are indivisible, because he cannot, or any condition, accept the first point—the abolition of privatizing. Secretary Marcy, however, proposes the two following amendments:

1. Either to add to the first proposition in the "declaration" of the Congress of Paris— "And that the private property of the subjects or citizen of a belligerent on the high seas shall be exempted from seizure by public armed vessels of the other belligerents, except it be contraband," or, 2. To adopt the second, third and fourth propositions, without the first.

The argument contained in the Secretary's reply is historical, argumentative and forcible. It holds that no nation has a right to prescribe to another what shall constitute her military or naval force, and that we can neither agree not to employ volunteers on land, nor privateers on the high seas.

"No nation which has a due sense of self-respect," says Mr. Marcy, "will allow any other, belligerent or neutral, to determine the character of the force, which it may deem proper to use in prosecution hostilities; nor will it act wisely if it voluntarily surrenders the right resort to any means sanctioned by international law, which, under any circumstances, and may be advantageously used for defence or aggression."

"The United States consider powerful navies and large standing armies, as permanent establishments, to be detrimental to national prosperity and dangerous to civil liberty. The expense of keeping them up is burdensome to the people. They are, in the opinion of this government, in some degree a menace to peace among nations. A large force, ever ready to be devoted to the purposes of war, is a temptation to rush into it. The policy of the United States is to keep, and never more than now, adverse to such establishments; and they can never be brought to acquiesce in any change in international law which may render it necessary for them to maintain a powerful navy or large regular army in time of peace. If forced to vindicate their rights by arms, they are content, in the present aspect of international relations, to rely, in military operations on land, mainly upon volunteer troops, and for the protection of their commerce in no considerable degree upon their mercantile marine."

If this country were deprived of these resources, it would be obliged to change its policy and assume a military attitude before the world. In resisting an attempt to change the existing marine law that may produce such a result, it looks beyond its own interest, and embraces in its view the interest of all such nations as are not likely to be dominant naval powers. Their situation in this respects is similar to that of the United States, and to them the protection of commerce and the maintenance of international relations of peace appear as strongly as to this country, who understand the proposed change in the settled law of nations. To such nations the surrender of the right to resort to privateers would be attended with consequences most adverse to their commercial prosperity, without any compensating advantage. Most certainly no better reasons can be given for such a surrender than for foregoing the right to receive the service of volunteers; and the proposition to abandon the former is entitled, in the judgment of the President, to no more favor than a similar proposition in relation to the latter. This opinion of the importance of privateers to the community of nations, excepting only those of great naval strength, is not only indicated by history but sustained by high authority.

NATURE DELIGHTS IN OPPOSITES.—The day after a storm is always calm and lovely. A little woman sets a giant for a husband, while the "fat girl" wets her heart on a drapper little fellow, of the size and flavor of a penny's worth of aspic. Young, the author of "Mist Thoughts," was one of the cheeriest of men, while one of the saddest dogs in London was Grimaldi, the clown. "Home Sweet Home" is a beautiful little song, and yet it was written by a man who was never happy unless in the midst of music, bustle and excitement.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT—HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.—Asher B. Bates vs. H. Prendergast, Joseph Fallon, Albert G. Jones et al. An application to have the charter of the Hawaiian Steam Navigation Company declared forfeited. Upon reading and filing a petition made by Asher B. Bates, by which it appears that certain persons and their associates and successors were granted certain privileges, under the name and association and style of the Hawaiian Steam Navigation Company, and that Joseph Fallon, Albert G. Jones and Henry Prendergast, and other parties, to the petitioner unknown, now constitute the Hawaiian Steam Navigation Company, and that the said parties named, and their associates, have neglected to fulfill the terms and conditions and obligations of the grant to the said Company, and that this Court is requested to fix a time and place for an examination into the truth of the allegations in the said petition stated, and the parties interested, and, in case proof satisfactory to this Court, that the terms, conditions and obligations entered into by the parties to the said Hawaiian Steam Navigation Company, have not been complied with, shall be ordered, that this Court shall declare the said grant forfeited.
