The Little Boy that Died.

Dr. Chalmers is said to be the author of the following beautiful poem, written on the occasion of the teath of a young son whom he greatly loved :

- I am all alone in my chamber now, And the midnight hour is near ;
- And the fugot's tack, and the clock's dull tick, Are the only sounds I hear.
- All over my soul in its solitude,
- Sweet feelings of gladness glide, For my heart and my eyes are full when I think
- Of the little boy that died, I went one night to my father's house-
- Went home to the dear ones ail-
- And softly, I opened the garden gate, And softly the door of the hall,
- My mother cause out to meet her son-
- She kissed me and then she sighed,
- And her head fell on my neck, and she wept For the little boy that died.
- I shall miss him when the flowers come
- In the garden where he played; I shall miss him more by the fireside,
- When the flowers have all decayed. I shall see his toys and his empty chair, And the home he used to ride :
- And they will speak with a silent speech
- Of the little boy that died. We shall go home to our Father's house-
- To our Father's house in the skies, Where the hope of our souls shall have no blight, thar love no broken ties.
- We shall roun on the banks of the river of peace And bathe in its blissful tide,
- And one of the joys of our heaven shall be The hitle boy that died.

VARIETY.

WOMAN'S BEST RIGHT .- The Marriage Rite .- Vanity Fair.

Never purchase love or friendship by gifts; where thus obtained, they are lost as soon as you stop pay-Model wives formerly took a stitch in time, but

This life's contradictions are many. Salt water Generosity consists not in the sum given, but in the manner and the occasion of its being bestowed. An old author remarks: " In borrowing money be precious of your word; for he that hath care of keep- Importers and dealers in hardware, paints, oils and gen ing days of payment is lord of another man's purse. A loving friend's rebuke sinks into the heart, and convinces the judgment; an enemy's or stranger's rebuke is invective, and irritates, not converts.

As they who, for every slight sickness, take physic to repair their health, do rather impair it, so they who for every trifle are eager to vindicate their character, do rather weaken it. The chief secret of comfort lies in not suffering trifles to vex one, and in prudently cultivating an undergrowth of small pleasures, since very few great ones are let on long leases. "Heroine" is perhaps as peculiar a word as any in our language; the two first letters of it are male, the three first female, the four first a brave man, and the whole word a brave woman. At a recent festive meeting, a married man, who ought to have known better, proposed "The ladies" as "the beings who divide our sorrows, double our joys, and treble our expenses." Paddy's description of a fiddle can not be beat: " It was the shape of a turkey and size of a goose; he turned it over on its back and rubbed its belly with a stick, and och, by at. Patrick, how it did The following is an exact copy of a printed notice which is at present posted in a Jersey stage : "Lost -a calf red. He had a white spot on one of his behind legs. He was a she calf. I will give three dollars to everybody who will bring him home." A CHARITABLE MAN .- Rev. Mr. Stiggins said: "I am a charitable man, and think every one entitled to his opinion-and never cherish malice against my fees, not even against Mr. Mulberry, who has indirectly called me a sinner; but still, if the Lord has a thunderbolt to spare, I think it would be well bestowed on brother Mulberry's head." A beautiful girl stepped into a shop to buy a pair of mitts. " How much are they ?" " why," said the gallant and impudent clerk, lost in gazing upon her sparkling eyes and ruby lips, "you shall have them for a kiss." "Very well," said she pocketing the mitts while her eyes spoke daggers, "and as I see you give credit here, charge it on your books, and let me know when you collect it," and she hastily tripped The first and chief element of success is decision of character. Without this, and the kindred traits that are always found in its company, such as resolution, courage, and hope, there is little chance of success. With it "there is no such word as fail," and seldom any such thing as a failure. To such a spirit even difficulties afford a stimulus, and dangers a spur-for a resolute mind, it has forcibly been said, " is omnipotent." Cheerfulness in a family is a positive duty. Thousands of people are every day made miserable by bad temper, uselessly manifested, without any ulterior benefit. The frame of mind which is ever ready to take offense, to imagine a slight, to be sulky, and to revenge one, is, alas! a punishment, not alone to itself but to others. Such a temper should, at all costs, be repressed. It can easily be cured, if we but have the will. It is, to say the best of it, conceited and mean. It is the bane of life. Nothing is really troublesome that we do willingly.

LITTLE KINDNESSES .- " Mother," said a little girl, "I gave a poor beggar child a drink of water and a siice of bread, and she said 'thank you' to me so beautifully, and it made me so glad, I shall never forget it." Now children can do a great many things worth a 'thank you.' Kind offices are everywhere and at all times needed; for there are always sick ones, poor ones, besides dear ones, to make happy by kindness; and it goes further towards making home happy than almost anything else. Kind offices are withing every body's reach, like air and sunshine, and if anybody feels fretful, and wants a medicine to cure it, we would say, do a "thank you's" worth of kind offices every hour you live, and you will be cured. It is a wonderful sweetener of life.

How THEE -- Every editor knows the truth of the following from the New York Home Journal: It is one of the hardships of our profession, that its working wheels, drains and hearts, are not allowed to lag for sickness, or trouble, or stop for calamity or sorrow. The Judge may adjourn his court, the school and the workshop may close shutters, the mourner may veil features and turn friend and stranger from the door-but the journalist must forget before tomorrow, of to-day, must write gaily and freshly as a newsmonger, on the trifles of the hour, whatever burden has been laid on, that same hour, his heart and

EFFECTS OF CHLOROFORM ON BEES .- The other afternoon, says an exchange paper, Mr. Annan, wishing to have some honey taken from a hive without killing the bees, and having before heard of chloroform being used, felt anxious to try the experiment. He first closed the doorway, and then covered the hive with a cloth to shut out the light as much as possi- p. c. wareneas ble, after which he commenced to blow chloroform into the hive. When it was discovered that the bees had fallen to sleep, they were easily removed to another hive without harm to any one, and next morning were all awake and in a lively state, humming around their hives, no donbt wondering what had happened. This being a successful and useful experiment in keeping the bees alive, we think it right to make it known for the benefit of others. How to Swim in a Surf .- The person must maintain such a position as to see the waves as they approach. All that is required, then, is that the swim- Ship Chandlers, Dealers in General Merchandise, and Commismer keep his course, watching their approach. As he rises upon a wave, he will see a roaring cataract three or four feet high rushing toward him as though it threatened destruction; but if he holds his breath a moment the crest will pass harmlessly over him. and in an instant he will find himself on the windward side of the wave, perfectly safe and ready to continue as before. If the person is floating upon a board or plank, he should turn his head toward the coming waves, and keep his float at right angles to them, holding his breath as before when the crests s. In this way he will be safely driven to the beach; but if he allows the board to be struck by the waves sideways, he may be rolled over and over, and in his fright let go his hold.
