Young Grimes.

Old Grimes is dead-that good old man-We ne'er shall see him more ; But he has left a son who bears The name that old Grimes hore. He wears a coat of latest cut, His hat is new and gay :

So turns from it away. His pants are gaiters-fitting snug-O'er patent-leather shoes : His hair is by a barber curled, He smokes segars and chews.

He cannot hear to view distress,

A chain of unasive gold is borne Above his flashy vest : His ciothes are better every day Than were old Grimes' best.

In Fashion's court he constant walks Where he delight doth shed; His hands are white and very soft, But softer is his head.

He's six feet tall-no post more straight-His teeth are pearly white; In habits he is sometimes loose,

Aud sometimes very tight. His manners are of sweetest grace, His voice of softest tone; His dimond pin 's the very one

That old Grimes used to own.

His moustache adorne his face, His neck a scarf of blue : He sometimes goes to church for change, And sleeps in Grimes' pew. He sports the fastest "cap" in town,

Is always quick to bet ; He never knows who's President, But thinks "Old Tip's in yet." He has drank wines of every kind, And liquors cold and hot;

Young Grimes, in short, is just that sort Of man Old Grimes was-not.-Selected.
