The Three Kings.

Three Kings came riding from far away Melchoir and Gaspar and Baltazar ; Three Wise Men out of the East were they, And they traveled by night and they slept by day, For their guide was a beautiful, wonderful star. The star was so beautiful, large and clear,

That all the other stars of the sky Became a white mist in the atmosphere, And the wise men knew that the coming was near Of the Prince foretold in the prophecy.

Three caskets they bore on their saddle-hows, Three caskets of gold with golden keys : Their robes were of crimson silk, with rows Of bells and ponegrantes and furbelows,

Their turbans like blossoming almond trees. And so the Three Kings rode into the West, Through the dusk of night over hills and dells, And sometimes they nedded with heard on breast, And sometimes talked, as they paused to rest, With the people they met at the way-side wells.

Good people, I pray you, tell us the news, For we in the East has seen his star, and have ridden fast, and have ridden far, To find and worship the King of the Jews." And the people answered : " You ask in vain ; We know of no king but Herod the Great!"

"Of the child that is born," said Baltarar,

They thought the Wise Men were men insane, As they spurred their horses across the plain Like riders in haste who cannot wait. And when they came to Jerusalem, Herod the Great, who had heard this thing,

Sent for the Wise Men and questioned them, And said : " Go down into Bethlehem And bring me tidings of this new king." So they rode away ; and the star stood still, The only one in the gray of morn,

Yes, it opped, it stood still of its own free will, Right over Bethlehem on the hill, The city of David where Christ was born. And the Three Kings rode through the gate and the guard,

Through the silent street, till their horses turned And neighed as they entered the great inn-yard; But the windows were closed, and the doors were And only a light in the stable burned.

and cradled there in the scented hay, In the sir made sweet by the breath of kine, The little child in the manger lay-The child that would be King one day Of a kingdom not human but divine.

His mother, Mary of Nazareth. Watching the even flow of his breath, For the joy of life and the terror of death Were mingled together in her breast. They laid their offerings at his feet; The gold was their tribute to a King ;

The Frankincense, with its odor sweet, Was for the priest, the paraclete, The myrrh for the body's burying. And the mother wondered and bowed her head And sat still as a statue of stone :

Her heart was troubled, yet comforted, Remembering what the angel had said Of an endless reign and of David's throne. Then the Kings rode out of the city gate, With the clatter of hoofs in proud array ;

But they went not back to Herod the Great, For they knew his malice and feared his hate. And returned to their homes by another way. -H. W. Longfellow, VARIETY.

An he-goatist is one who makes a butt of himself by continually talking of his own exploits. The blue stockings of Boston ought to see Elmira's statue to Adam, and go it better by putting up one to Eve. FOUR ACES .- Political principles change, kingdoms are overthrown and religions alter, but four aces hold an undisturbed pre-eminence in their own peculiar way. George Eliot's physicians told her she must never again attempt literary work, and the Boston Post wants that doctor to come right to this country and take charge of Joaquin Miller. Jay Gould's success in managing railroads is explained by the fact that his father used to keep a switch for his especial benefit .- Chicago Tri-

Alf. was bound to Marie .- [Boston Post. This is positively the last joke on this subject. It is serious business with them now, for alas! they're married !

An unknown man was killed by the cars at Stratford the other day. The contents of his pockets, sixty cents and a pair of scissors, would indicate that he was connected with journalism.

"What is statesmanship?" asks the Chicago Inter-Ocean. Statesmanship, we believe, is the peculiar gift some men have of robbing the gov-ernment without being caught.—Philadelphia Why an advance in lard should enhance the price of butter is about as difficult a problem as the true inwardness of the connection between the price of milk and a water famine. Queen Victoria had a slight cold. The Cincinnati Enquirer advised her to soak her head and the Norristown Herald to soak her feet. Her Majesty can always depend on getting good advice from this country. MUST HAVE BEEN .- An exchange, telling of a fire, says a man "jumped from a window in his night-dress " What the mischief did he have a window in his night-dress for? It must have been an awful nuisance. There is in Russia, and on exhibition, what is called a happy family. It consists of two bears, two lions and two large dogs. Two hyenas and two wolves are to be added, and it is expected IMPORTER AND COMMISSION MER-CHANT. AGENT FOR Lloyds' and the Liverpool Underwriters, Northern Assurance Company, and British and Foreign Marine Insurance that the peace and harmony of the group will not be disturbed. Darwin is right, and we certainly have made a descent from the brutes. If you mh15 79 Fire Proof Buildings, Kashumanu & Queen Sts. 1y should put two Jews, two Presbyterians and two Baptists together, and then add a small but lively Universalist the result would not equal that of the Russian collection. ANECDOTE OF RICH.-Of Rich, the manager and famous barlequin, a story is told, which is probably the original of several almost similar ones, with the advantage of being true. One night, returning from Portugal Street Theatre in a hackney coach, he ordered the man to drive to the Sun Tayern, Clara Market. Passing one of the parlor windows that was invitingly open, Rich sprang out of the coach into the room. The coachman just then halting, and finding the vehicle empty, slammed the steps, cursed the cheat who had bilked him and mounted the box to drive off. At this moment Rich jumped back, and, putting out his head, told the man to turn the coach and set him down. After he got out Rich swore at the stupid fellow, and offered him his fare. Jarvey declined. He did not like the look of things, and said, stoutly, his master had ordered him not to take any money at all that night. Rich replied: "Your master is a fool! Here is a shilling for yourself." But the man was resolute, regained his box, and, as he drove off, shouted: "No, no, Mr. Devil, I know you in spite of your shoes, and so you're made a fool of for once." This story is usually told of an actor who, on being set down at his destination, in the dark, kept getting out at one door of the vehicle and going in at the other, till the coachman, astonished at such a procession, fled for terror .-All the Year Round.
