Honolulu District, School Notice.

The summer vacation of all Government Schools in the district of Honolulu will extend this year, from Friday, the 12th of May, to Monday, the 12th of September, at which date a new term will begin. And owing to the late protracted suspension of the schools of this district, on account of the prevalence of small-pox, diminishing the regular attendance, and interrupting the usual class routine, the regular annual public examinations will be this year dispensed with.

W. JAMES SMITH, Secretary.
Education Office, June 23rd, 1881.

Five sailors of the bark Kale were charged with refusing duty. They were all German, engaged in Bremen, and sent over to London to complete the crew of the bark. They appear to have got rather tired of things in general during their long voyage around Cape Horn to this country, and, perhaps for the sake of a "sentation," amused themselves a few weeks ago by "deposing" the first mate, and refusing to take any more orders from him. They subsequently used threats against the mate's life, and altogether abstained from work for the rest of the voyage. To bring them to a sense of their duties the Magistrate inflicted a fine of $40 each, or 80 days imprisonment on three of them who were ringleaders, and of $30 or 60 days imprisonment on the other two. They prefer to leave them where they are, in the hope, no doubt, that they will become respected citizens of the Hawaiian Islands.

At the Supreme Court the earlier part of the week was devoted to mixed jury cases, the majority of which were got through. On Thursday the criminal cases before the foreign jury were commenced with the trial of Kong Sing.

MASONIC FUNERAL.—The Masonic Lodges
"Le Progress de L'Oceanie," No. 124, and "Hawaiian," No. 21, will meet to-morrow (Sunday) at 4 p. m., to attend the funeral of the late Brother G. H. Pierce. Visiting brethren are invited to attend.

H. R. H. H. H. Princess Regent, and H. R.
H. H. Princess Likelike, with a large number of ladies and gentlemen, went to Waialua on Tuesday last to attend the examination of Miss Green's Seminary, and the Fair held there yesterday. They will return to town this morning.

Still another artesian flow, the largest of all—And this time Judge McCully rejoices in a jet of nine inches above the top of the piping—The boring had reached 315 feet yesterday, when the water gushed up with a force, that exceeds even the fine flow obtained from Loo Ngawk's well. The fine flow of sweet water is called the St. Lawrence well.

The destruction of the Bastille, the terrible prison of French monarchical tyranny, whose multitudes of victims of lettres de cachet groaned their lives away, was commemorated in Honolulu on Thursday 14th inst by request of the French Commissioner, by a general display of Consular bunting.

The business at the Police Court on Thursday was unusually light—only two cases, in one of which the defendant did not appear having left bail $10 which he and the prosecution evidently thought an equivalent for his offense: The other case was a paltry charge of assault which the Magistrate valued at $1 fine, and a like sum for costs. On Friday there was one case to hear, the defendant whose offense formed the sole entry on the sheet forfeiting his bail. At this rate we shall soon be hearing of Mr. Dayton presenting a pair of white gloves instead of a charge sheet to our worthy Police Justice.

The "Bastille" referred to "Some one who plancheted the walls of Honolulu with a white sheet with a poster which read—"Be sure, your sin will find you out!"—goes on to say, "his 'sin' has found him out, and he 'roasted'"; with officer McKeanne the other evening on account of a "drunk." This statement is an outrage upon an inoffensive worthy man, who had some religious tracts printed at this office. We have enquired about him; and learn that he never entered the station house on any charge whatever. There must be some mistake of identity; and we trust that our neighbor will apologize to the worthy religious bill poster.

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

At the funeral of the late George B. Anderson will be attended at 4 o'clock to-day from his late residence, near the Stone Church.

The latest reports from Hilo describe the flow of the lava as having become very sluggish, but state that the vents of the volcano were in a very active state of eruption.

The reports of the treasurer and secretary of the Queens Hospital were presented on Saturday last at the bi-annual meeting of life members and subscribers.

When the Mail Steamer Australia arrived the captain informed his agents that his instructions were to take neither passengers nor cargo from here even if he got a clean bill of health Mr. Phipps's persuasions overcame his scruples.

A Gospel Temperance Meeting, conducted by Rev. Dr. Damon, will be held in the vestry of the Bethel Church on Monday evening, at half-past seven o'clock. The attendance of all interested in the temperance movement is invited.

On Tuesday last Mrs. Kalai whilst accompanying H. R. H. the Princess Regent to Waialua had the misfortune to meet with an accident—the carriage in which she was driving being upset going down a hill. She had at the both mother and baby were thrown violently out of the vehicle. Mrs. Kalai was not seriously hurt but the baby which fell underneath received internal injuries which have proved fatal.

Mr. Henry Macfarlane enters the firm of G. W. Macfarlane & Co. as a partner. This is a young firm full of enterprise, and promise of good success. We remember well the Macfarlane boys—those of this firm—when busy young clerks, some twenty years ago, and later on, serving Mr. Wm. Aldrich, Gen. Walker and others. And then they had a good foundation of business qualification and character which now enables them to take position in this community as responsible merchants. We are glad to notice this new departure in commercial circles, and wish for our young friends the success that is due to their business enterprise and good character.

T. F. Mulliss alias Thos. Adlerly, a carpenter and builder, who has been living in Hawaii, in the Hanalei and Waimea districts, for the past two or three years, came to town lately, procured a passport in the name of Thos.
Adlerly, and was about to sail away, when Mr.
F. Brown, one of his creditors, had him arrested and recovered the amount of his debt. Subsequently this man, calling himself Mulliss in Hawaii and Adlerly in Honolulu, got away on his passport, and on his last trip from Waimea from this port to the Coast; and now we regret to learn from some natives of Waipoa arrived in town, that they had entrusted his care about $700 in cash, with which to purchase lumber for houses, which he had agreed to build for them.
We hope this notice may reach the rascal in his travels.

The subject of the Rev. Dr. Damon's address to the congregation of Fort St. Church on Sunday evening last, is one which especially demands the consideration of the white population of these islands. It is one on which they will necessarily have to lead the way in the future as they have done in the past. The
"higher Christian education" of the people, both native and foreign, is, in our opinion, paramount in its importance over every other question of the day. All political, party, and personal questions to which we are accustomed to give so much attention, which form the subject of our every day talk, and, because perhaps of our immediate personal interest in them, loom large before us as the prominent matters of to-day, are of paltry moment compared with this. What sort of men our sons are to become, what sort of a race of native Hawaiians the up-coming generation is to be associated with, what stamp of public opinion on questions of social morality is to reign here after we are gone; if any thing in our important life should command our careful and considerate attention, if anything should band us together for united work and open our pockets for united giving, these are the things. We are glad to know that the discourse which has evoked these remarks is to be printed in extenso. When it is published we shall have more to say upon this subject matter.

On Tuesday evening next the members of the Library Association will be entertained with a fine selection of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, etc., by some of our most talented amateurs. The entertainment will take place at the rooms of the Association, Williams' building, Fort Street, and will be free to the members and their families and such friends as they may see fit to invite. Among those who have promised to assist on this occasion are Mr.
and Mrs. J. L. Brown, Mrs. Simmons, Miss Coleman, of San Francisco, Miss Florence Luce, etc. Mr. and Mrs. Brown and Miss Luce are two well-known in Honolulu to need any word of explanation as to their names. They are parties, whose names are less familiar, are very highly spoken of by those who have had an opportunity of judging of their talent and culture.

At Fort St. Church, on Sunday evening, the Rev. Dr. Damon preached a to the people we hope, attentive) audience, from the text Prov. XXII, v. 6, "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it." This text, he said, was usually applied to the training of young children, but he desired to give it the wider meaning which undoubtedly belonged to it, embracing the whole period during which the character of a man or woman was in course of formation.

In the course of his eloquent and stirring discourse he made an appeal to the foreign residents here, pointing out that the higher Christian education of this community was of paramount importance to them. This sermon will, we believe, be printed for circulation, and we shall be glad if the useful lessons it contains should be read by all those who are desirous of broadening their minds and broadening their souls.

$700 in cash, with which to purchase lumber for
houses, which he had agreed to build for them.
travels.

The subject of the Rev. Dr. Damon's
demands the consideration of the white popula-
future as they have done in the past. The
"higher Christian education" of the people,
both native and foreign, is, in our opinion,
question of the day. All political, party,
and personal questions to which we are accustomed to give so much attention, which form
are to become, what sort of a race of native
tant life should command our careful and con-
subject matter.

with a fine selection of vocal and instrumental
place at the rooms of the Association, Williams'
they may see fit to invite. Among those who
have promised to assist on this occasion are Mr.
and Mrs. J. L. Brown, Mrs. Simmons, Miss
Coleman, of San Francisco, Miss Florence Luce,
etc. Mr. and Mrs. Brown and Miss Luce are
culture.

At Fort St. Church, on Sunday evening,
we hope, attentive) audience, from the text Prov. XXII, v. 6, "Train up a child in the way
whole period during which the character of a

souls.

German, engaged in Bremen, and sent over to London to complete the crew of the bark. They appear to have got rather tired of things in gen-
to this country, and, perhaps for the sake of a
sequently used threats against the
