GENERAL NEWS.

DOMESTIC.

The American humane association met in St. Louis. The question of the transportation of cattle was taken up. A letter from O. L. Dudley, agent of the Illinois humane society, calling attention to the cruelty practiced in over-loading cars and failing to feed cattle. A letter from Charles Frances Adema, president of Boston, on the same subject, said the reason why railroad companies oppose improved stock cars is because the adoption of them involves the side tracking of 44,000 old-style stock cars. The only way the evil could be remedied, he says, is by congressional action. Mr. Gordon, of Milwaukee, opposed cars which provided for the feeding and watering of cattle while in them. He favored taking care of them while in transit so they may rest as well as fed. A resolution was adopted accepting the report of the committee on legislation, with the exception of that part which refers to improved cars and particular codes of transportation, and directing the secretary to draft a memorial to congress on the subject. The question of humane education was then discussed. Rev. J. R. Gordon, chairman of the committee on "branding cattle," submitted a report memorializing a gentlemen's convention to be held in this city next week, and asking that the matter be considered and a plan which will inflict the least possible pain be devised.

The secretary of the interior has received the annual report of Gen. John C. Black, commissioner of pensions, for the year ended June 30, 1885. It shows that there were at the close of the year 345,125 pensioners, and during the year there were added 35,767 new names and 1,835 reinstated. During the same period the names of 15,233 pensioners were dropped from the rolls for various causes, leaving a net increase of 22,369. The average annual value of the pension is $43.48. The amount paid to 15,233 pensioners was $661,978.35, an increase over the previous year of $4,689,838.

Adjutant General Drum received the following telegram from General Cook: Commanding the troops in Arizona territory, "Search for the amount of the loss of the hostile Indians, named Ojo la Quah. He also reported that the hostiles are killing all the White Mountain Indians they can find on the reservation. It is probable that up to this time they have killed eleven women, four children and five men; and the White Mountain Indians threaten to retaliate on the Chiricahua remaining on the reservation; but these are close to Fort Apache and carefully guarded. The Indians on the reservation are greatly aroused, and several parties of scouts and troops are hunting the hostiles. All the Indian camps have been notified. There is reason to hope that most of the hostiles will be killed.

A memorial meeting in honor of Leiske, the German socialist, who was hanged for the murder of Henry Rampe, chief of the political police in Germany on the 29th of December, 1884, was held in New York City. Her motto delivered the eulogy, and advised the audience to exterminate the enemies of socialism not only in Germany but every nation on the globe. Resolutions commending the action of Leiske assassinating Rampe, and consigning his enemies to a similar punishment, were passed amidst great applause.

announcing the policy which probably would include reciprocity with the United States and the operation of the Canadian Pacific railroad only so far as the development of the country demands. The conservatives except increased support from Ontario, but the Orange excitement there died out after the Bell excitement and a strong feeling for Riel seems to be springing up in many quarters where before there was only race hatred. It is a prevalent opinion in this part of the country that Sir John ordered the execution of Riel because he felt certain that he would lose more strength by sparing Riel than by hanging him. If the French Canadian could have polled more votes for Riel's life than the Orange man did for his, Sir John would have commuted the sentence. In proof of this it is asserted that on Thursday before the execution, Sir John sent a messenger to Riel, and was puzzled to know how to deal with him.

Prince Hohenzollern, imperial prince in Alsace-Lorraine, at a banquet in Paris two centuries ago, when Richelieu was separated from the empire. Germany was a divided country and unable to protect her child, the state of affairs in Germany reached the level of her development. Germany is now a powerful empire. The union has resulted in the recovery of the lost portions of her territory and the restoration of her political and social life. The union has kept them and protect their inhabitants and assure conditions necessary for their spiritual and moral welfare. Thus no motive remains for the inhabitants to turn their eyes toward France. In concluding the prince said that he hoped the inhabitants would more and more recognize the fact that their separation from France was no misfortune and that their union with Germany guaranteed a happy future. He then proposed the toast, "Mein and Alsace-Lorraine."

DEATH OF ALFONSO, KING OF SPAIN

He Dies at Madrid After a Short but Serious Illness. Madrid, November 25.—King Alfonso died at 8:45 this morning of consumption accelerated by dysentery. The royal benediction arrived before he expired. All the officers of state and cabinet ministers, except the minister of war and the minister of the interior, were present at the moment of dissolution.

The cabinet met immediately after, and the queen was appointed regent in accordance with the constitution. The members of the cabinet have tendered their resignations, but will remain in office pending the regent's pleasure. The body of the king will be interred in the palace of the Escorial.

The news of the death of King Alfonso XII, king of Spain, has been expected for several days past, as his condition has been very low. His mother was born Nov. 28, 1857. His mother was Isabella II, who had succeeded to the throne of Spain when but three years of age, under the guardianship of her mother.

In 1843 when but thirteen years old Isabella was declared to be of age, and in 1846 married her cousin, Don Francisco. After a violent reign of thirty-five years amidst revolution and rebellion, she was dethroned in 1870 by her husband, King Alfonso XII, who succeeded her in 1875 as king of Spain. In 1878 he married a daughter of Duke de Montpensier, but his marriage with her was not happy and was of short duration. In 1879 he was again married to the arch duchess Marie Christiana, of Austria.

Alfonso's reign has scarcely been characterized with any very great public measure for the benefit of the little province which has been so long misruled. His death can scarcely be considered as a loss to the Spanish people.

A southern farmer rented some land last year to a colored man for a third crop. A severe drought cut the crops short and the negro gathered only two bales of cotton and two wagon loads of corn. The latter was stored and the cotton sold. When the landlord called for his share, he was told that there was none for him. He asked, in surprise, "Did you rent my land for a third of the crop?" "Yes, boy," said the landowner, "but you see, there was no third. There was only two bales of cotton and two loads of corn; all mine and nuffin for you by de contract." And the landlord could not make out how to believe any other way. He left the premises, saying, "No one can make me say dat two am three, larry time."

RUINED BY COCAINE.

Dr. Bradley, of Chicago, becomes insane on the subject of the Drug and Wreckers His Own and His Family's Health.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 30.—Dr. Charles D. Bradley, a physician of this city, was taken to the Washington home a mental and physical wreck, wrought by the immediate use of cocaine. Not only the patient himself but his entire family, consisting of his wife and children, have been practically ruined by his excess.

On Friday the patient accompanied by some friends was taken before Judge Prendergast. The insane cases proper had been disposed of and the room was almost clear of the usual crowd of curious spectators. There was no jury and the affair was conducted as a private matter. It was shown that Dr. Bradley had been addicted to the use of cocaine to such an extent as to render him practically insane.

The doctor became a fanatic on the subject of his family that he could inject the hydrochlorate without pain and remove it without injury to the patient. He injected some of it into his own arm, and then with a red-hot iron burned it out without flinching. Some more of it he injected into the wrist of his 3-year-old child, and then with a knife cut out the flesh, and the little one apparently suffering no pain. He used the drug promiscuously in the family, and became himself a slave to it until in a little time his practice fell away and his family was reduced to want. Under the influence of the stuff he claimed to be a discoverer of a new and revolutionary medicine and that the world would recognize in him a benefactor, whose name would go down to the ages.

Dr. D. R. Brown, who attended him, corroborated Dr. Wadsworth, and though Dr. Bradley should be confined in an institution for the insane, he is a hopeless case of insanity, but as an experiment, suggested that he be sent to the Washington home, where his case could be closely watched.

It is so ordered. Bradley commenced the habit about the last of May and it has grown on him gradually until its culmination in the ruin of the family, and the death of a child, was reached. Dr. Wadsworth, who is a physician of Walker's Vinograd Bitters. It is as safe and certain in its action upon children as upon adults. It acts on the liver and cleanses the blood.

KANSAS CHURCHES.

Westmoreland Recorder: Springside M. E. church was dedicated the other day. Rev. E. H. Raliff, of Waterville, preached the sermon; then a financial statement was made by W. H. Underwood, the presiding elder. The church is valued at $1,500. We needed $275 to clear us of indebtedness. After this was raised the church was dedicated to the service of God, by the presiding elder, assisted by E. H. Raliff.

McPherson Freeman: Rev. Ball has a call, and has accepted, to a church in Baltimore, at a salary of $4,000 per year. The church here will regret the loss of Rev. Ball, but will rejoice in his promotion to a more lucrative station.

Oswego Independent: The Baptists have recently built a church in Canada township, and it will be formally dedicated on December 6th, by either Rev. Bowles of this city or Rev. Estes, of Alton.

The Dodge City Cowboy asks what town in Kansas raises the most money for churches and charitable purposes. Then in the same paragraph answers, Dodge City.

The Methodists of Council Grove have been conducting a series of revivals under the leadership of the evangelist Miss Emma Maloy. Several accessions to the church are reported.

The ladies of the Methodist church of Haledale are planning to give $100 of the church debt and they are now engaged in the work of procuring the money.

The protracted meetings being held by the Methodists of Junction city have resulted in several accessions to the church.

Beloit Democrat: The Baptists at Asherville are building a frame parsonage for the use of their pastor.

The Missionary Baptists of Glen Elder, Mitchell county, held a meeting the other day and organized a church.

The erection of the New Catholic church at Haledale, Harvey county has been commenced.

Burlington Patriot: The fall of this year resembles to some extent the fall and winter of 1857, which was open and warm nearly and throughout. October and November thus far—the 20th—have been sunny and warm, a type of Indian summer most of the time, and farmers have had the best of weather for doing their fall work. Corn-gathering and fall plowing have been pushed almost without interruption for the past eight weeks, and as we write they are still speeding the plow.

Consider Tongaine a very valuable remedy for neuralgia and rheumatism. Have used it with good effect, and can recommend it.

STRICKEN DOWN.

Sudden Death of Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks, Vice-President of the United States.

His Death Causes Considerable Excitement throughout the Country—A Biographical Sketch.

The death of Vice President Hendricks caused general regret throughout the country. Telegrams of condolence were sent to the heart-broken widow by Hon. Samuel J. Tilden, Judge David Davis, Hon. Wm. M. Springer, Senator Dawes, of Massachusetts; Congressmen Ward, Kleiner and Cobb, of Indiana; John F. Agnew, of New York; T. Corning Judd, of Chicago, and many others.

It was early decided that the funeral would take place Tuesday, the first proximo from the church. After the funeral the body will be placed in a marble vault at Crown Hill cemetery, north of the city. Near Mr. Hendricks' private lot elevated above the common level, is a granite column forty feet high, plain and uncarved, except the simple inscription: "THOMAS A. HENDRICKS."

near the bottom of the shaft. Here his son, his only child, is buried.

THE BURIAL.

On Tuesday, December 1st, Vice-President Hendricks was buried at Indianapolis. The order of the procession was as follows: Mounted police; military band from Columbus barracks; General Fred Krefler, marshal of the day and staff; Adjutant General Koontz and staff; military companies; hearse and guard of honor; Mrs. Hendricks and family; members of cabinet; ex-President Hayes; Judges of the United States court; United States senators and members of the house of representatives; governors of states, with their staffs; civic organizations, mayors, city officers, and members of councils and other municipal trades; citizens in carriages.

The procession was in three divisions, each under a grand marshal and aides. The line of march will be from the church through the principal streets of the city to the cemetery.

The burial casket came from Rochester, New York. It was of the same pattern as Gen. Grant's casket, and was very richly and elaborately mounted in solid silver, with fluted satin lining. On the head cape was a silver shirone plate, bearing in English letters simply the words "Thomas A. Hendricks." The body was dressed and put in the casket, and then removed down stairs to the front parlor, where it remained until moved, when it was taken to the court house to lie in state.

It was exposed to view through the heavy plate covering. On all sides of the casket were elaborate floral designs. The face of the dead man preserved to a remarkable degree its natural appearance. The eyes were lightly closed, but there was no perceptible discoloration of the features, nor ghostliness of expression.

At 9 o'clock Monday morning the local military companies marched to the residence and with the Metropolitan police force escorted the remains of the vice president to the court house, where they lay in state until Monday morning.

The body rested in the catafalque in the middle of the main corridor, which was covered with black serge and over the interior and exterior of the building was heavily draped in mourning.

The following is the list of pall bearers: Governor Isaac P. Gray, ex-Governor Albert G. Porter, Hon. W. H. English, Judge W. A. Woods, Postmaster Aquilla Jones, Mr. Frederick East, Mr. David Macey, and Mayor John L. McMaster.

A dispatch from Iowa, Allen county, says that J. M. Downing shot and killed one Earl, a respected citizen, on the street of that city at 10 o'clock. Downing fled, but was captured and jailed. His reputation is bad, and the feeling against him runs high. The difficulty grew out of an attempt on his part to ruin Earl's 15-year-old daughter.

Eureka Republican: Last week L. C. Reece, who resides on Tadpole, about eight miles south of Eureka, had about 100 tons of prairie hay and about twenty-five tons of millet burned. It was set on fire by some miscreant. Mr. Reece came very near losing his life in trying to save his hay.

Washington Republican: The railroad tax in this country for the present year amounts to over $28,500, which is more than one-fifth of the entire country tax. The Missouri Pacific pays $11,500, the B. & M. $9,500, the St. Joseph and Western $6,323, the Junction City and Ft. Kearney $1,210. Some school districts draw as high as $600 per year of railroad money.

Frankfort Bee: There is a small colony of beavers at work in the Vermilion, about two miles east of it. They have been making an effort to dam the stream and have got it about a third of the way across. It is a curious sight to see how they have been cuttled the trees.

Oswego Democrat: There seems to have been a renewed interest this year in the castor-bean crop and the product is estimated at double that of 1884, or 177,453 bushels. Labette county pays the most attention to them, and had 640 acres this year.

Samuel Kincaid was accidentally killed at Kincaid, Sumner county, by the discharge of a gun in the hand of a careless person. The ball entered his leg and he bled to death before aid could be summoned.

While a steam thrasher was running near Wm. Still's place, in Goddard township, McPherson county the other day, the engine blew up, killing the fireman, a young man named Lee. No one else was hurt.

According to the land commissioner's report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1885, there had been during that year 3,630,045 acres of land taken up by actual settlers in this state.

Wa-Keeney World: At the sale of school lands on Tuesday at County Treasurer Kelley's office, the prices per acre ranged from $3.90 to $5.25; at those on Wednesday, from $3.50 to $5.75.

W. H. Weber, a stonemason employed on a new building in course of erection at Winfield, while at work, fell from the second story and received what is thought to be fatal injuries.

Samuel N. Mathews, a highly respected citizen of Norton, Norton county, died suddenly of heart disease the other day.
