

SCIENTIFIC SKETCHES.

SCIENCE, THE BASIS OF CIVILIZED LIFE... THROUGH WHICH THE VISION OF ALL THINGS WILL BE SEEN.

Reported Seldom for The Western Kansas World.

INVISIBLE CLOUDS.—In the recent English tests of light-house illuminants was brought out the curious fact of great practical as well as scientific interest...

VARIATION IN GRANITE.—Prof. Winchell's comparative trials of the granites of New England and Minnesota have shown some surprising differences in strength.

GIANT TREES OF AUSTRALIA.—Evidence of the decay of forests in Australia is found in the present existence of a few trees far exceeding in size any of these about them, and supposed to be survivors of a departed race of giants.

It is suggested that ball dresses may be rendered safe from fire, by accident, by impregnation with a twenty-five per cent. solution of tungstate of soda, which injures neither fabric nor color.

A German metallurgist has introduced an apparatus for pumping molten lead by steam pressure.

AN ANTHROPOLOGICAL GARDEN.—An exhibition is projected at Berlin to show the races of men and their habits, as animals are shown in zoological gardens.

PLAGUES OF MICE.—At intervals of a few years, the Brazilian colony of Lourenco suffers from a remarkable visitation of field-mice, the latest of which, in 1876, has just been described by Dr. H. Von Thuring.

A discovery of a hitherto unknown lake in the Persian desert was announced at a late meeting of the Vienna Geographical Society.

How CHILDREN GROW.—A remarkable physiological discovery has been made by Rev. Malling Hansen, principal of the Danish Institution for the Deaf and Dumb.

LIGHTING POWER OF COAL.—Franklin Institute tests indicate that one pound of coal burned under a good boiler yields a light of about 20 candles by the incandescent electric system.

A Dictionary giving scientific and technical terms in all languages is projected by Prof. Vilanova, and is endorsed by the International Geological Congress.

Two French investigators have found that the germs of fermentation are not destroyed or perceptibly affected by a pressure of 300 or 400 atmospheres continued for several days.

Recent German researches show that the purification of natural waters is effected almost wholly by plant and animal agencies; the chemical action of ozone, peroxide of hydrogen and atmospheric oxygen exerting but a feeble influence.

Digest of Land Decisions.

Compiled by S. W. Sowa, Land Attorney, Washington, D. C.

REENTRY.—The department will not consider a petition for restoration of the right to file for, or enter land, unless accompanied by application for some specific tract.—See to Com'r, Jan. 8, 1886, case of Fremont S. Graham.

RESIDENCE.—To constitute residence there must be inhabitancy, either actual or constructive; and such inhabitancy must exist in good faith, and be exercised to the exclusion of a home elsewhere.

TRAIL CULTURE, FIRST AND SECOND YEAR.—Eight acres being broken the first year, the law did not require five acres additional to be broken the second year, but did require that the breaking done should aggregate ten acres at the end of the second year after date of entry.—See to Com'r, Jan. 5, 1886, case of Nelson vs. King.

ILLEGAL RELINQUISHMENT.—The relinquishment on which the filing was cancelled, having been procured through duress, was void, and the filing is therefore reinstated.—See to Com'r, Dec. 9, 1885.

PRE-EMPTION FILING.—A filing, without previous settlement, is a nullity, and in no way interferes with subsequent disposal of the land, nor can it be perfected even in the absence of an adverse claim.—Com'r to R. and R., Fargo, Dakota, Jan. 29, 1886.

TOWNSHIP SETTLEMENT, RESIDENCE.—A filing is not an essential to the right of purchase under section 2982, Revised Statutes. Residence must be shown to establish the right of purchase accorded to the "actual settler."

A Very Nice Offer.

The Kansas Farmer, published at Topeka, now in its twenty-second year, a 16-page agricultural paper, is unquestionably the best paper of its class in the country for farmers of this state.
