U. P. RAILROAD TIME TABLE. East. West. Post mail. 8:47 A.M. 9:23 P.M. Express freight. 9:23 A.M. 8:52 P.M.

COLLYER, March 31, 1886.

Stormy. Ice again. More hay. Blizzard-like. Loss of cattle. Frosted panes. Large flocks of sparrows. Easily caught now—colds. Another supply of hides for the market. H. L. Sheets changed his residence from town to a claim three miles out, a short time ago. Sunday morning's accommodation train, due here at 8:02 A. M., passed eastward at 6:20 P. M.

George Blackwell will exhibit a number of colts of different ages, at Collyer, Saturday, April 10th. The sun, earth and clouds apparently enjoyed a game of hide-and-seek on Thursday and Friday.

Messrs. Walsh and Webster have secured another carload of feed for their herds. It arrived on Friday.

Some of our people were prevented from attending the Farmers' Institute at Wa-Keeney on Thursday by the cloudy overcast of the heavens.

Mr. Jones arrived with a car of household goods on Monday to seek a location in these parts. He comes from the vicinity of Dubuque, Iowa.

A representative of a leather firm in Leavenworth is in town relieving our merchants of their stock of hides. He is paying 3 and 3 1/2 cts. per lb.

Mr. and Mrs. LeBron, Mrs. W. H. Burnham, Chas. Adams and S. C. Robb were a few of our people who attended the institute at Wa-Keeney.

Mrs. Noaf and Mrs. Pottinger and families reached Collyer by the ten o'clock passenger Tuesday night. Their former home was in eastern Kansas.

Mrs. O'Connor and child, from southeastern Kansas, arrived last Wednesday morning and evening, at the Collyer school house. It will pay anyone to call and see them before buying elsewhere.

G. W. Kessler's methods of preparing ground for the cultivation of trees were highly complimented at the Farmers' Institute by County Superintendent B. C. Rich.

The town property has again changed hands, T. K. Phillips having resigned. At present, B. O. Richards is acting for Mr. Melton, the owner of the property, and will probably be appointed agent.

Your correspondent's attention was called to the smooth and easy workings of the cultivators for sale by Geo. Blackwell, Collyer. It will pay anyone to call and see them before buying elsewhere.

Miss Alta Wright, of Kansas City, Mo., is stopping with her friend Miss Aleen Smith. Miss Wright expects to be connected with the new millinery and dress-making establishment mentioned last week.

According to his previous appointment, Rev. J. C. Elliott will preach next Sunday, morning and evening, at the Collyer school house. A good attendance would, no doubt, encourage him greatly in the work.

The opening of our town school was postponed for another week, owing to the teacher's indisposition. Mr. Bowers expects by next Monday to be fully recovered, and able to commence school duties.

R. Ingraham is erecting a temporary residence upon the quarter section of land he recently purchased of J. Burns. It is his intention to build more extensively as the summer season offers greater leisure.

B. F. Bartlett's buildings on Big Creek have given shelter during the storm to four families from Taylor county, Iowa, Newcomb by name, who came west in wagons, and are desirous of locating in this vicinity.

It seems to be quite unsatisfactory to our business men to have a blacksmith shop located in so prominent a place on Ainslie avenue, and it is likely to decrease rather than increase the value of adjacent property.

FOR SALE.—One black mare pony, extra choice chickens, a rectangular churn and lever butter worker and a few household goods. Inquire of W. H. Burnham, two miles north of Collyer, or Wheeler Bros., Collyer.

A brother of our citizen, Mr. Larson, came into this community last Thursday from Missouri. He had previously secured the land near his brother's place, known to old settlers as the Wells' claim, and will live thereon.

Sickness has invaded the family circle of J. Burns, and three of his children are suffering with lung complaints. Some of their neighbors are aiding in the care of the sick ones, and the family certainly has the sympathy of all their friends.

During the recent cold snap there were, at least, 15 degrees of freezing weather. In addition to this, the sleet of Sunday was very severe on the cattle on the range, and many heavy losses are reported, ranging from one to eighteen head in a herd.

Sixteen persons—the families of the four gentlemen from Missouri, whose cars came in some weeks ago—arrived Sunday evening and left the Occidental for their Lane county homes Monday afternoon. As near as could be learned, their names were Ross and Hitchcock.

Agent Hay was unusually busy and worried last Friday, but this time it was not on account of the numerous and varied duties belonging to his official position. An arrival at 11:30 A. M. claimed his attention, similar events being very few in the history of our depot. Mrs. Hay and little son are doing nicely.

Among the reports of those who have lost cattle, one case is particularly noticeable. The herd was sheltered in one of the best barns in Collyer township, yet sixteen head were overcome by the cold and died. The expression is now heard from cattle men that it would have paid better to have had no cattle and sold their hay. Chop and other feed seem to have little power to renew, or even sustain strength in the cattle's present condition.

Wm. Spicer reached Collyer last Wednesday evening from Ft. Riley. He borrowed a lantern and hastened forward to see his family, living about twelve miles southwest of town. Prairie roads at night greatly resemble each other, and after journeying some time, Mr. Spicer found himself at a building which proved to be Mr. Vemeyoc's barn, and here he ran the risk of being taken for a horse thief by trying to gain admission. Daylight facilitated his reaching home early enough the next morning to surprise the family, as they were not expecting him that day.

A surprise awaited almost everybody Saturday morning, when daylight appeared to reveal the ground covered with a fresh mantle of snow, which was hourly being increased by the fast falling flakes. A northeast wind, alternating with a northwest, kept the dryer particles of snow skimming over the frozen crust to form long lines of drifts. The wind continued all day Sunday, and by evening the drifts were from one to three feet high.

For the benefit of the house-keeping readers of the WORLD, the following receipt is furnished by a friend: SWEET POTATO PIE.—One cupful mashed sweet potato; 1 cupful thick boiled corn starch; 2 eggs; 1/2 cupful sugar; 1 tablespoonful butter and a little nutmeg. Bake the crust first, and then fill and bake again.

OGALLAH OZINGS.

OGALLAH, April 1, 1886. Prairie schooners grow numerous. The last storm was very severe on stock.

L. S. Witmer is speculating in potatoes.

Mr. Marquand has moved down to his ranch.

Which is cheaper, beef or boards? Stock men have the floor.

Messrs. Hixson and Roberts were made happy last Sunday night by the arrival of their wives and little ones.

EXPERIENCE.

Ogallah Literary Union.

March 31, 1886.

At the meeting last Friday evening, the question, "Resolved, That fictitious literature should be abolished," was decided in favor of the negative.

Our next meeting will be held April 9, at which the question, "Resolved, That Mormonism should be abolished," will be discussed by Messrs Witmer and Knapp, for the affirmative, and Hoar and Varnum for the negative.

The Buck Company

Played, in Opera Hall, the first three evenings of this week, to good houses.

Fanchon, we did not see. It is well spoken of by our people.

Rip Van Winkle certainly was played well.

Mr. Buck, as Rip, is thoroughly at home. To say the least, people who are short of perfect in the matters of domestic happiness or sobriety can take in Rip Van Winkle with profit. Those who are perfect on these points can find much pleasure in this entertainment.

Josh Whitcomb (Mr. Buck) personified the New England farmer very plainly.

MASS MEETING.

A City Ticket Nominated.

WA-KEENEY, KANSAS.

April 1, 8 o'clock P. M.

Citizens met at the office of Carson & Pinkham, pursuant to published call, for placing in nomination a ticket for city officers to be elected on Monday, April 5.

On nomination, J. Word Carson was chosen chairman of the meeting, and W. H. Dann, secretary.

It was moved and carried that the vote be by acclamation.

The following gentlemen were nominated for the respective offices:

Mayor—Dr. A. B. Jones.

Councilmen—A. L. Gleason, Thomas Caddick, A. H. Blair, J. R. Kershaw and C. M. Paull.

Police Judge—A. J. Harlan.

It was moved and carried that the city council be requested to establish a grade on Franklin street.

It was moved and carried that the city council be requested to set out trees along the middle of Franklin street to such an extent as may be deemed practicable.

It was moved and carried that it is the sense of this meeting that a tax levy of one per cent. be made for the current year.

On motion, adjourned. W. H. DANN, Secretary.

TOWN THRIFT.

Kritchfield has a new awning at his store building.

W. R. Holmes is building of wood quite a kitchen on the west side of his stone residence.

Lemon, the carpenter, has built himself a work shop a short distance east of A. H. Blair's place.

If there is a prettier house in town than Mr. Paull's new residence since he has had it painted so beautifully white, our eyes have not beheld it.

To the people who have been used for the last half dozen years or so, if not some others, to seeing the general entrance to the Keeney block stopped up with old boards, the news of nice doors, with small windows at each side and overhead, will hardly be unwelcome.

The Wilson & Snider residence and restaurant building has recently been enlarged materially by an addition on the east side, and has undergone painting and renovating, which adds greatly to its good looks. This building, being so close to the depo, and having such competent and pleasant management, should be an ideal resort for the seeker after reasonable-priced meals and lunches.

An End to Bone Scraping.

Edward Shepard, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "I have received six boxes of Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well." Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle and Bucklen's Arnica Salve at 25c. per box by Jones & Ferris.

New Goods at C. M. Paull's.
