A weed in the garden can be easily destroyed when it first starts. Consumption can be nipped in the bud by One Minute Cough Cure. Jones & Gibson.

The Jewell Republican hits the heart of a big rotten elephant in these terms: "Let pops try standing up for the United States while instead of tabulating every failure they can hear of. There never was a time, even in the most prosperous days ever known, when there was not business failures somewhere in the country, and there never will be such a time. Calamity howling is mighty poor business by whomsoever indulged."

CASTORIA. Soothing for burns, scalds, chapped hands and lips. Healing for cuts and sores. Instant relief for piles, stops pain at once. These are the virtues of De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve. Jones & Gibson.

The seven salt companies at Hutchinson made nearly a million barrels last year. This is a wonderful record, considering that the big railroad combinations are against them, and want to haul our salt from the East.—Beloit Gazette.

A torpid liver means a bad complexion, bad breath, indigestion and frequent headaches. To avoid such companions take De Witt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. Jones & Gibson.

The Kirwin Globe says: "If people were as prompt to pay their subscription as they are to pay their taxes, the newspaper boys would not have such a hard time in making ends meet." You should remember that in the case of taxes the penalty of neglect is put on here, while in the newspaper subscription it is put off to the hereafter.

Lost—A dear little child who made home happy by its smiles. And to think, it might have been saved had the parents only kept in the house One Minute Cough Cure, the infallible remedy for croup. Jones & Gibson.

We have seen people in church trying to look angelic while they sing "shall we know each other there," when they wouldn't speak to each other when they met. They may know each other there, but the question is where?—Jacksonian.

All the different forms of skin troubles, from chapped hands to eczema and indolent ulcers can be readily cured by De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great pile cure. Jones & Gibson.

Every time some people see a failure in the newspapers they declare: "Oh, yes; prosperity's returning." Haven't they reached the point where they would rather have the times bear out their political ideas than to have times which would make them personally prosperous?—Wichita Eagle.

Constipation in its worst forms, dyspepsia, sick headache, biliousness and derangement of the liver are readily cured by De Witt's Little Early Risers. These little pills never gripe. Small pill, safe pill, best pill. Jones & Gibson.

CASTORIA. In these days of discontent and lack of means our people should be most generous in their treatment of their fellows, and instead of scheming to compass the fall of some neighbor, or plotting for his business and financial embarrassment, an effort should be made to build up and sustain him. No man ever benefitted the community in which he lived by injuring a fellow citizen.—Ness County News.

Minutes seem like hours when a life is at stake. Croup gives no time to send for a doctor, delay may mean death. One Minute Cough Cure gives instant relief and insures recovery. The only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. Jones & Gibson.

A literary society in Greeley county will debate the subject: "Resolved, that a dish-washing machine would be better property to a man than a woman." Strange, but not one of the old maids in that county could be induced to take the affirmative of the question. They go on the correctness of the proposition that when a man has a woman as part of his property, he also has a good dish-washing machine.—Garden City Herald.

Chicora, Pa. "Herald." Richard Vessel reports One Minute Cough Cure the greatest success of medical science. He told us that it cured his whole family of terrible coughs and colds, after all other so-called cures had failed entirely. Mr. Vessel said it assisted his children through a very bad siege of measles. One Minute Cough Cure makes expectoration very easy and rapid. Jones & Gibson.

In a certain school in Meade county in which several of the large pupils are girls, the young ladies, thinking they knew more than the teacher, who was of the feminine gender, became unmanageable. So the teacher called on the county superintendent to help her out of the difficulty. The superintendent called at the school house and in her talk to the school, she asked of the girls "what is the matter anyway, girls?" While pausing for their answer, one of the little boys held up his hand; so the superintendent called on him for a reply. He exclaimed with all earnestness he possessed, "they want a teacher that wears pants."—Santa Fe Monitor.

CASTORIA. For a pain in the chest a piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on over the seat of the pain, and another on the back between the shoulders, will afford prompt relief. This is especially valuable in cases where the pain is caused by a cold and there is a tendency toward pneumonia. For sale by Jones & Gibson.

After complimenting the populist legislature upon its organization by the election of Speaker Street, the Capital does not surprise us by the following remarks: "The caucus did equally and stable work in turning down the old Chief Clerk, of unsavory memory, Ben Rich, and electing A. D. Gilpin by a very large majority. Rich belongs to the worst faction of the old-fashioned Populism and his retirement from prominence is a very healthy sign." We agree with the Capital that the turning down of Ben Rich is altogether to the credit of the people who did it. If they can really keep him down and buried so deep as to smother all gaseous emanations they will have our thanks. However, his retirement comes too late to be of the greatest service to the public. The pernicious influence of his lawless example has been manifested by a dozen of his close political friends in this community during the past week.

It will be an agreeable surprise to persons subject to attacks of bilious colic to learn that prompt relief may be had by taking Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In many instances the attack may be prevented by taking this remedy as soon as the first symptoms of the disease appear. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Jones & Gibson.

"Hats off," is the order in Chicago. Should any woman persist in wearing a love of a bonnet or a duck of a hat in any place of amusement, the owner or manager will have to foot the bill to the tune of from $10 to $25, as the justice may decide. It will put the manager in a tight place. It will be hard to turn a woman out after she has bought a ticket. Ticket offices will have to be supplied with contracts binding the purchaser not to wear a hat in the hall. It will be a serious blow to theatres, churches and the like, where the chief attraction is to exhibit gorgeous hats. But it is ridiculous that laws and ordinances should be passed on such matters.—Russell Record.

Many merchants are well aware that their customers are their best friends and take pleasure in supplying them with the best goods obtainable. As an instance we mention Perry & Cameron, prominent druggists of Flushing, Michigan. They say: "We have no hesitation in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to our customers, as it is the best cough medicine we have ever sold, and always gives satisfaction." For sale at 25 and 50 cents per bottle by Jones & Gibson.

This office receives each week at least a dozen of the leading Populist papers of northern Kansas. These exponents of calamity, with one accord, delight in referring to the prevailing low price of corn as a result of vicious Republican legislation. Such detestable rot should make even the rankest Populist blush. But it doesn't; most of them applaud such sentiment. We would like to ask the Smith Center Journal and other reckless Pop papers if the gold standard was responsible for 9-cent corn in this region in 1889, and 50-cent corn in 1890? Now be honest once, you Pop paragaphers, and admit that the local price of corn depends almost entirely on what kind of a crop is raised. Again, isn't the farmer better off with his bins bursting full of 10-cent corn than he is when compelled to pay 50 cents a bushel for what he consumes? We desire, also, to call the attention of the Pop editors to the fact that of late they have, with marked unanimity, forgotten to inform their deluded readers that the price of wheat can never advance in this country as long as the present financial system is in vogue.—Osborne Farmer.

Not a few who read what Mr. Robert Lewis, of Ho lands, Va., has to say below, will remember their own experience under like circumstances: "Last winter I had the grippe which left me in a low state of health. I tried numerous remedies, none of which done me any good, until I was induced to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The first bottle of it so far relieved me that I was enabled to attend to my work, and the second bottle effected a cure." For sale at 25 and 50 cents per bottle by Jones & Gibson.

Tom Cowdry, the "poet lariat" of the Minneapolis Messenger, says: "There's a fracas down in Cuba; there's a most infernal row, for old Mars has blown his tuba, and he's blowing it off now; there is blood that flows like water, fruit of woe fair Cuba plucks; there's a most inhuman slaughter, and our Grover's shooting ducks. We have passed resolutions of a very bitter kind; we referred to Spain's pollutions; we have freely eased our mind; we have cursed the cruel vampire that at Cuba's life blood sucks, eased our grief with verbal camphire, and our Grover's shooting ducks. Listen, children, you shall hear it! From the Southland sounds a gun. Shall we hiss its noise or cheer it? Blessed if I can say, my son; for perchance it soundeth o'er the grave of human hope and pluck, and perchance it means that Grover has secured another duck. Oh, ye Cubans, let the slaughter of your bravest still go on! Let your blood outpour like water! Let your daughters mourning don! Yet subdue your grievous wailing for your woe's unceasing flux, lest the birds show signs of failing, and you scare our Grover's ducks."

One of the best solutions of the financial questions is the patronizing of home industries. Instead of buying your groceries and dry goods in Kansas City buy them of your home merchants; instead of having your pictures taken by a traveling photographer, patronize your home gallery; instead of patronizing a traveling quack, consult and patronize your home physicians, men who help you to support your churches, schools, and other institutions. Give your trade to men who pay taxes in the county and spend their money with you. Instead of patronizing traveling institutions that are with you a day or a month, until they get all the money they can and leave as little as possible, spend your money with those who have made their home with you for years; who spend their money with your merchants, farmers, mechanics and laborers; who build up your city; who help to support your public schools by taxes, your churches by donations, and every industry and line of commerce by their patronage. It is wrong for you to take your patronage past the door of such a man to the temporary place of business of a man who does none of these things, who benefits no one in the community but himself. And especially is this true when your home business man sells you better goods at the same prices as the man who comes in the city for the purpose of trade for a few days or weeks only. Patronize your home institutions, for in helping them with your trade you help yourself and the community in which you live.—Minneapolis Messenger.

Patronize the Home Merchant. This is the season of the year when tons and tons of catalogues from the city department stores are sent into the country—among the farming class generally. They want you to send them all the cash you have, and then when the time comes that you need something real bad and in a hurry you will go to your local store and ask for "tick." What do these fellows care for only to get your money? It is the local stores that take an interest in your welfare, as you all know. Can you get your goods on "tick" at the city stores? No, indeed not. Different with your home stores. Of course cash is preferable; but when you are "short" credit goes just the same, and willingly. We hope a number of our farmer friends will carefully look into this and turn over a new leaf. There is nothing gained by trading away from home. Patronize those who have been friends to you in time of need, stand by your town and local merchants through thick and thin, the same as they have done by you. Do all this and you will be none the loser.—Colby Tribune.
