Reports from all parts of western Kansas, show the wheat and other small grain to be in splendid order, the prospects are good for very heavy crops throughout the whole state.
Mrs. Goetchius, of Hays (city), will be in town April 12th and 13th, with a complete line of millinery and fancy goods, and will be pleased to see all her friends at the first door north of the brick block.
Miss Rosetta Stephens has opened a new millinery store in the room formerly occupied by Dr. Jones. She has a fine line of hats, bonnets and trimmings. We bespeak for her a liberal share of your patronage.
Rev. Thompson and family departed last Thursday for Ransom, where they will make their future home. During their two years' residence in Wa-Keeney they made many warm friends who wish them godspeed.
We do not hear the farmers in this section complaining of not having enough rain these days. We have already had a sufficient amount of rain and snow to insure us against a drouth, which is very encouraging to the farmers in this section as their crops have not done so well in the past few years as they might. The rains we have been having of late, are of the very best kind, slow, drizzly, and steady, allowing all the water which fell to soak into the ground which is now thoroughly soaked to a depth of several feet.

Mrs. Shinquin received word Monday from a brother now living at St. Joseph, Mo., who she had thought to be dead for eleven years. He went to Colorado for his health in 1886, and after arriving there was taken very sick. He wrote several letters home shortly after his arrival, and that was the last heard of him until last Monday, when Postmaster Davis received a letter from him enquiring if his sister was still living here. Mrs. Shinquin was overjoyed with the news and wrote him a letter immediately.

R. H. Burns, of Ogallah, who is agent for the Seneca, Kansas, nursery, is meeting with grand success in disposing of the large number of apple, peach, plum, pear and apricot trees, which he has on hand at the Red Front Livery barn in this city. Mr. Burns is selling only high grade fruit trees, and at prices that makes it possible for almost every enterprising farmer to plant an orchard. The recent rains having wet the ground thoroughly for two to three feet, there would be scarcely, if any possibility of trees planted now, failing to grow. He will be pleased to furnish apple trees at the astonishing low price of ten cents each, and other trees at correspondingly low figures. Call on him and choose your own varieties.

Miss Ina Cox narrowly escaped a very serious accident Saturday morning. She had placed a pan of grease in the baker of the stove, and while engaged with her other household duties, forgot it until her attention was attracted by the smell of something burning, and upon investigation found it to be the pan of grease she had placed in the stove some time before. She opened the stove door, and the flames bursting forth completely enveloped her, the pan fell to the floor still burning, the flames reaching nearly to the ceiling when she regained herself and extinguished them. Miss Cox showed great presence of mind, and few women would have been as brave as she was. She escaped with receiving only a very painful and severe burn on her right hand, which, however, will not necessitate her losing any time with her school.

The city election was held in Wa-Keeney last Monday. The day was a beautiful one, and considering that only one ticket was put up, the vote was large—95 were cast. There was not much of a fight made except on marshal. Early in the morning a scheme was set on foot by some of the city populist ring to down Joe Poffenberger, who was a candidate for marshal. Their scheme, however, met with bad defeat, and the vote cast was an evidence of how much the people of this city appreciate the services of good officials. Twenty-three women voted. Following is the official vote: Mayor—R. C. Wilson, 76; S. M. Hutzel, 1; Geo. Baker, 9; Nat. Brown, 1; W. S. Mead, 1. Councilmen—C. C. Bestor, 84, John Sims, 75, F. S. Diebold, 83, A. P. Lawrence, 74, A. C. Lord, 72, F. P. Lucas, 7, Wm. Dickey, 1, Joe Insho, 1, Peter Mundloch, 1, Nat. Brown, 1, C. J. Ferris, 8, S. D. Thompson, 10. City Marshal—J. H. Poffenberger, 69; O. W. Insho, 18. City Clerk—M. W. Clift, 73; P. Mundloch, 1; T. R. Moore, 1. Police Judge—Joshua Groft, 83; S. D. Thompson, 3.

The "hay boys" are becoming more and more bold in their demand for "chuck," as a very recent occurrence in our town will show. A young man who represented himself as a spectacle agent, called at a certain house and enquired of the lady therein if she was in need of any thing in his line, and upon being informed that she was not, he demanded something to eat. The lady refused to give him anything whereupon he became very angry using abusive language, and finishing by telling her he wished the house would burn down with her in it. It would not have been good for him if the marshal had succeeded in finding him. It only needs for some one to make an example of some of these illiterate scapegraces who are going around over the country begging their living and frightening women, to put a stop to the practice. Wa-Keeney seems to be a regular holdout for bums of the very lowest order, as they have been quite numerous for several weeks, having walked here from Ellis to board the freight and passenger trains at this place, as the chances are much better here than at Ellis. Some of the "hay boys" have been known to spend a whole week in our city before getting away.

Happily Mated.

A very pretty wedding service was that which united Blanche Gertrude Mapes to William Ellsworth Greene at Ogallah last Sunday evening. The ceremony took place at the school house which is the only public edifice in the village and, though a large and commodious room, the ushers, W. H. Swiggett and A. B. Cooper, found it difficult to seat all the guests who assembled to do honor to the occasion. The bride attended by her sister, Miss Edna Mapes, as bridesmaid, and the groom with Jas. Scott, of Collyer, as best man, advanced up the crowded aisles to the strains of the wedding march rendered by Miss Lizzie Cooper. Meeting in front of the audience the handsome couple, handsomely attired, clasped hands and faced the admiring glances of the well-wishing friends while the words which made the twain one were pronounced by Rev. Brown. After receiving hearty congratulations the bridal party and intimate friends repaired to the residence of the bride's parents, Mr and Mrs. Ben. Mapes, where a bounteous repast awaited them.

Mr. Mapes and family were among the first settlers of the county, and the bride is therefore a western Kansas girl, well-known in our community and popular among a large circle of friends which includes both old and young. For some years she has been a teacher and uniformly successful. The groom, while comparatively a stranger here, is a gentleman of pleasing address. He is an accredited minister of the M. E. church and has been assigned to duty at Palco where the happy couple will soon make their home.

WORLD extends congratulations and joins a host of friends in wishing this estimable couple much happiness and a long life together.

A Timely Thought

Up to date fittings and modern appliances are guarantees of excellence in all other particulars.

Good taste displayed in a well kept and a well furnished store implies GOOD GROCERIES.

The Grocer who has energy and enterprise to keep his store in perfect shape is apt also to give perfect service and the highest grade of goods.

A single transaction is no criterion! It is the uniform treatment throughout the year that tells the tale. Our motto is:

Lowest Prices Consistent with Perfect Purity, Highest Quality and Honest Quantity.

In fact our policy has always been to meet any price made by legitimate dealers.

Get our prices, examine our goods and then we can please you.

C. C. BESTOR.

Millinery. . .

Just received a fine line of Easter hats and bonnets. As I have made diligent inquiry as to the likes and dislikes of the ladies who contemplate purchasing hats this season, I am now sure I can please you all. My goods are of the very latest patterns, purchased of the largest importing millinery establishments in Chicago, and will be sold at prices that will defy competition.

MISS IDA LAWRENCE,
At Verbeck's store.
