We are sorry to learn that the five-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Marcy died at their home in Wilcox township Thursday morning from an attack of pneumonia from which he had been suffering for the past two weeks. Obituary next week.

This week, W. G. Baker killed a fine young steer that had been fattened and prepared for the market. It was the largest two-year-old killed here for a good many months, dressing over 800 lbs. The meat was tender, red and juicy, the choicest that people can buy anywhere.

John Spena received a car load of Ford automobiles this week—six touring and one runabout. The runabout is the swiftest looking piece of mechanism ever brought to our city. The touring cars are all the 1911 model and are beauties. John is also agent for the Overland and Stafford auto, two excellent makes. If you intend buying a car, see John early as these cars are going fast. He will give you bargains and is able to suit you in every respect. The Ford is one of the best cars made and never fails in service and satisfaction to the buyer.

It is not usual to apply the term to a woman, but I cannot better express my opinion of Mrs. Zehner's ability upon the platform than to say she is a remarkably gifted orator.—N. A. Stedman, General Attorney, I. & G. N. R. R., Palestine, Texas.—At court house March 5 and 6.

We received a phone message just as we were going to press, of the sad news of the death of James Cullom, which occurred at his home three miles north of Togo. He got up this morning feeling alright and an hour afterward he expired from heart disease.

Ralph Keilholtz has resigned his position with the city of Wa-Keeney, and Tuesday noon took a job with this city, looking after the city lighting plant. This makes a job for him where he can be at home and it is much nicer than being away from home all the time.—Stockton Review.

The last number of the entertainment course of the season will be given Tuesday evening, April 18, by a concert company of three people and will be free to all holders of season tickets. To fill in the gap between regular numbers, Shungapavi, the Indian lecturer, will give an entertainment Saturday evening, March 25, on a percentage basis for the benefit of the course funds. It will be necessary, therefore, to buy other than season tickets for this number.

Mrs. A. C. Zehner, of Dallas, is one of the most gifted women now before the public. She is possessed of a bright mind, well trained, and she is an eloquent speaker before any sort of an intelligent audience. Wherever she speaks she always attracts and instructs large audiences. As a woman of the highest order of gift and character, we have no brainier and no more popular woman than Mrs. Zehner.—G. C. Rankin, Editor Texas Christian Advocate. Her argument is unanswerable; her language chaste; her style fascinating; her thought beautiful. She is so highly entertaining, her audiences never tire.—John E. Crawford, Attorney-at-Law, Franklin, Texas. At court house, March 5th and 6th.

At the trial at Ness City Wednesday of our "depot bandits," George Stratton was sentenced to from one to five years for taking the box from the depot platform here on February 2. James Jacka and Clint Rogers were fined $5 each as accomplices. E. Jordan, special agent of the Missouri Pacific, came in Wednesday morning and invoiced the box of freight which Jacka and Rogers had returned. There was only one car seen on the street the past week and it stood in the snow and ice, a solemn warning to venturesome persons. Clade Martin of Wa-Keeney, started to make the trip from that place to Utica in his car Monday and got stuck just at dusk between here and Ransom, and Harve Traylor pulled him into town; he hired a rig to take him on to Utica and came back on the train the next day after his car.—Arnold items in Utica Enterprise.

To The Teachers
The Rural School examinations will be given March 25 and April 15.
The subjects given on March 25 will be orthography, penmanship, reading, geography, physiology and classics.
The subjects for April 15 will be arithmetic, grammar, Kansas history, U. S. history and civics.
Insist upon pupils taking the examination in any subject in the year in which it is completed.
Two sets of questions in classics will be given—one covering the work as outlined for 1909-10, the other covering the work of 1910-11. Give questions from the set they are best prepared upon, but not both.
Eva P. Jones, County Superintendent.
