Married—Ross-Cross

On Saturday, January 10, 1914, at 8 p. m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Ross, their daughter, Fern Armoriaid, was united in marriage with Fred W. Cross in the presence of their members and close relatives of their respective families. The beautiful and impressive ring service was read by Rev. Charles W. Harper, pastor of the First Congregational church, making them one.

The bride was beautifully attired. Her dress was silver embroidered silk net over white charmeuse satin, with bridal veil which reached the floor. She carried a superb bouquet of white roses. The groom was handsomely dressed in conventional black. The parlor was lavishly decorated in white and green, southern smilax draped the arch where the gorgeous wedding bell was suspended. Here the happy couple stood while they pledged and pledged their troth.

After the hearty congratulations the company repaired to the dining room which was artistically decorated in yellow and white, where a bounteous supper was served during which they were heartily serenaded by a company of Ellis' young ladies and gentlemen.

Many very valuable presents were received, both useful and beautiful. Miss Edith Cross sang the wedding solo, accompanied by Miss Ina Beaume, who also played the wedding march.

The bride and groom are among the very finest young people of Ellis and two of its most prominent families are thus united.

The bride and groom left on the midnight train for a short visit at eastern points and will be at home in our own city after a short time.

The congratulations of the entire community are heartily extended.—Ellis Headlight.

The Hill City Republican says: The commissioners met Monday in regular session for the purpose of organization and letting contracts for one year. On motion L. N. Drelling was chosen chairman for the ensuing year. The board called for printer's contracts and put the printers on the grill the first thing. As has been customary now for several years past, the board divided the county printing equally between the two papers, giving to each fifty per cent of the legal rate, thus getting the service of both papers for one rate. This gives the widest possible publicity for the county affairs and makes neither graft nor sinecure for the papers. A republican board set the example of dividing the printing in this way and the democrat members have generously followed the custom. We feel that we have occasion to publicly thank the board for their courtesy and good will toward this paper.

Dictagrams

It is not to worry. If they succeed in getting the tang out of the tango it will not be so popular probably.

Our heaviest taxes are those we vote upon ourselves but we like to "lay it onto" the other fellow.

Old Si, Aunt Simpy and Uncle Heck are all peevish characters but sometimes I make Heck say things I'd like to say myself if I only had the necessary courage.

One of the best of our farmer citizens, who has lived here thirty-five years and has seen as many of the ups and downs as any of us, told me recently that he has never had a nickel's worth of store goods charged in all that time. Yes, there have been times when he needed credit but he always went to the bank for it and then paid cash for his merchandise.

Who pays the "bad" accounts, and the delivery wagon expenses? The customers who are "good" and stay good.

We estimate so many things by the head. The spread-head may be a bad or a good sort of reptile, which is a disputed point, but everybody easily classifies the swellhead and the dead-head as blamed nuisances. Then there is the more modern word "Bonehead". Apparently it is most often applied to the descendants of old man Blockhead.

When Uncle Heck was a young fellow an old fiddler said to him: "If you are looking for a job, leave your fiddle at home." It was good counsel at the time and it is pretty safe advice even now. The people who believe that the devil lurks about a fiddle-box are not all dead yet and many still regard the cheap fiddler as a sort of Good-for-Nothing-Else.

To prove their contention that secondary education doesn't pay, some shallow-pated, narrow-gauge people point to the "educated fool" as an example. They forget that a fool is a fool more or less all the time and that ignorance makes him no better citizen. He is exceptional and so is the uneducated man who has made a financial success despite his lack of schooling. The fact remains that the boy who prepares for the job is the one most likely to make good and succeed in holding his place.

Reports of marriages often contain the words "man and wife." Why not say "husband and wife?" Is the fellow any more a "man" after marriage than before? If he were not a man already he had no business getting married, and the girl who marries him to make a man of him is likely to be disappointed with the result of her labors. And again, instead of saying "man and wife," why not say "woman and husband." It might please some of the militants and be no more absurd than the older and more familiar phrase. It takes two to make a marriage and either party to the contract should be just as much married as the other.

MARKET REPORT

Kansas City Stock Yards, January 20, 1914. Cattle shortage is asserting itself more effectively each week. A good Monday run does not indicate a liberal week's supply at Kansas City at this time. Receipts yesterday were 14000 head, but the supply dropped to 7000 today. Steady prices were paid yesterday, with weak spots on certain steers, and strong places on cows and stockers and feeders. Today there is a general rise, strong to 10 higher applying to the different classes. Actual beef offerings yesterday were not as heavy as supply figures indicated, account of the large percentage of stockers and feeders included. Of the 33000 cattle received here last week, 15000 were bought for the country. Some big, choice natives, 1633 lbs average, brought $9.25 this morning, best price paid this month, other steers up to $9, and very few natives under $7.60. Cows are stronger at $5.50 to $7, tops $7.50, heifers $7.25 to $8.75, veals $9 to $11. Sugar mill steers bring $7.25 to $8.50 this week, cows $6.75, oil mill steers in quarantine and native divisions $6.75 to $7.75. Tendency of owners is to push cattle forward, in spite of favorable feeding conditions and good market prospects, which is deemed further reason for optimistic prophecy concerning March and later markets.

Hogs are likewise considered good property, and are making consistent advances from day to day. Receipts today 16000 head, moderate for Tuesday, prices 5 to 10 higher. Good hogs of all weights sell within the range of $8.30 to $8.50, highly mixed and common lights at $8.00 to $8.25, pigs $6.75 to $7.50. Average weight here last week was 180 lbs, about like it has been running, which explains the rather wide range of bulk of sales, and which is itself explained by feed shortage. In Chicago territory feed is more plentiful, and average weight of hogs at that market last week was 217 lbs; heaviest since September. Sheep and lambs had an off day yesterday, market 10 to 25 lower, but prices are 10 to 15 higher today. Lambs at $8.10 were the only thing to test prices in the meagre supply of 2000 head. Ewes are worth up to $5.50 weathers $5.75, yearlings $6.40 to $7. Supply bearing on the market is small enough to be manipulated according to wishes of salesmen, enabling owners to secure maximum returns.

WOMEN BARRED

Topeka, Jan. 19.—The women of foreign birth in Kansas have a good many restriction surrounding their use of the ballot in the state at the primary next August and the general election in November. John S. Dawson, attorney general, and other state as well as some of the federal officials are receiving many inquiries about the alien women voting in Kansas. The status of the women is not the same as men of foreign birth in several particulars.

S. N. Hawks, assistant attorney general has been working out a set of rules relating to the alien women voters and their rights. There are four definite propositions regarding the right of the foreign born women which may be set out as follows:

If the prospective alien woman voter is married and her husband has been naturalized and has his final papers, the wife is as much a citizen as her husband and is entitled to vote.

If the woman is married and her husband has only made his declaration to become a citizen, has only his first papers, the wife is not entitled to vote, although the husband can vote.

If the prospective alien woman voter is a single woman she may make her declaration to become a citizen and may then vote the same as a man who has taken out his first papers. A single foreign born woman has all the naturalization rights of a foreign born man while a married alien woman has only limited rights.

If a single alien woman marries an American citizen, the marriage automatically makes her a citizen with all the rights of a native or naturalized citizen.

There is one other proposition that has been suggested to the attorney general in a few instances. It is that an American woman, an actual citizen loses her citizenship if she marries a foreigner, who is unnaturalized. As far as voting is concerned, the marriage of a Kansas girl to a man who has not become naturalized husband assumes citizenship. There are several thousand women of foreign birth in Kansas, who are under the four classes or propositions. There may be others where special rulings will be required, but most of the foreign born women now residents of Kansas and, who may want to vote in the coming elections, fall into one of the four classes for which the attorney general's office has studied out the law and their voting status is fixed.—Salina Journal.
