Last Tuesday evening Mr. Everett Powell and Miss Edna V. Merz were united in marriage by Judge Peacock. For a number of months the bride has been employed in Colie's Restaurant and was always obliging and pleasant in performing her duties. The groom is quite well known having until recently been employed in Joe Poffenberger's barber shop but now in business for himself in the Kline building basement. The World extends congratulations.

Evangelist Layfield closed a two weeks series of meetings at the Presbyterian church last Sunday night. Rev. Layfield is a good speaker and held the attention of his hearers at all times. The day of the old fashioned revival seems to be passing away with many other good old fashioned customs and many times is met with an indifference that would shock the old time religionist of a decade ago.

Early in the week a very peculiar accident befell one of Emery Cass' little boys. It seems in some way the child either spilled or poured coal oil on his clothing and took a match out to set some dead weeds afire and in striking the match the head broke off and flew against the child's clothing instantly setting them on fire and causing severe and painful burns about the arm and shoulder. Dr. Herrick reports that the little fellow will recover from his injuries.

And your Christmas Money will go a long way, too, in our store.
