How some people get into society.—Society means a certain set of people who bow to each other in the streets, make morning calls upon each other, and attend each others' parties.

Good society are made up of people who live in good houses, in good parts of the city—who have good furniture—wear good clothes, and are in some respectable business, or rich enough to live without any.

Fashionable society supposes a little more than this—a little more wealth, pretention and display. People in fashionable society figure at the Opera and go to Saratoga. They must wear expensive shawls and diamonds, keep a carriage, and make themselves especially elegant and recherche.

There is a class of ultra fashionable, made up of what are called parvenues, or people grown rich by speculation—who having lived all their lives in a vulgar manner, are very anxious to make up for lost time. They live extravagantly—keep servants in livery—make a great dash and display, and give themselves airs which, to all sensible and well bred people, are very ridiculous.

It is cautious to observe the efforts which people make to get into the society of their ambition. The ladies are especially anxious. There is nothing they will not do to get introduced to certain people, and to obtain the recognition of certain coteries.

REPORTED BY NIGHTMARE FOR THE EVANSVILLE JOURNAL

NOTE.—Owing to the indisposition of the operator at Vincennes, we received nothing by telegraph on Saturday night, and at his request delayed our paper in order to be able to lay additional returns of the election before our readers this morning.

At 10 o'clock, A. M. The telegrapher at Vincennes informs us that he has no additional returns.

TELEGRAPH OFFICE REGULATION.

Hereafter there will be no admittance to the Operator's room, except on business and for strangers. The inconvenience to the Operator in the transaction of the business of the public renders this arrangement imperatively necessary.
