Young Men's Scott Club. The young men's Scott Club of Vanderburgh county will meet at Mr. Bell's new warehouse, entrance on Fourth street near Main, next Saturday evening, Aug. 24th. Walk up young men to the new Scott Club Hall, and let the first meeting there be a rousing one. Come all, as there will be business, speeches &c. THE LADIES are invited to attend. By order of the President.

A Life in the South. Although at the eminent risk of injuring the business of some of our book-sellers, yet to protect the pockets of our fellow-citizens we are compelled to speak out on the subject of a work just from press, and which the publishers are trying to impose upon the public on the popularity of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." The title of the work to which we allude is, "A Life in the South, a companion to Uncle Tom's Cabin," by C. W. Wiley, of North Carolina. The work and its object are humbug—humbug in the extreme—and the publishers of it, Peterson & Co., New York, deserve to be kicked out of the society of respectable publishers, if they occupy such a position, for so contemptible an attempt to make a speculation of this people. If any person can read this work entirely through, his intellectual stomach must be of an ostrich nature—capable of digesting the veriest rubbish ever swallowed. It has neither plot nor character. Every thing about it is unnatural. The incidents are ridiculous, and never approach the exciting without becoming unbelievable. After perusing "Uncle Tom's Cabin," to say this "Life in the South" is disgusting, is to use too feeble a term to express the feelings of any sensible reader. What is worse than all, this book has no connection with the slavery question, or with slavery in the South, as its title would express, by its being "a companion to Uncle Tom's Cabin." In our opinion it is a tale (bah!) which the publishers had on hand, and knew it possessed not intrinsic merit enough of its own to bear publication, yet out of which they have attempted to make a speculation, by issuing it immediately after "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and when there was a desire to see the opposite picture. The publishers knew the reading public would grasp greedily at a work having for its object the presentation of a different or opposite moral from "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and they have thus disgracefully sought to take advantage of this feeling. We believe there has been a work issued, and well written, intended to oppose the influence of Uncle Tom, but this is not the one. This book is not worth a review—it only deserves public exposure.—Hereafter every reader who picks up a book issued by this firm, should regard it with suspicion, unless it be a republication of old standard works.

Good!—Messrs C. H. Viele and Wm. Brown have just made a contract with Mr. Huston for the erection of two large three story brick buildings, on the lots just below the Bank. This is one of the best building spots in the city, and should long since have been built up. It is to be hoped that the mass of unseemly ruins on the adjoining lots, and which are an eye sore to the fine appearance of our city, will at once be removed, and the owner, who is abundantly able, may erect in their places buildings corresponding to those about being commenced by Messrs. Viele and Brown. And we believe such is the owner's intention.

Some editors show a heap of chivalry in boasting of their steel and particularly their malle. The latter quality we presume all editors possess to a greater or less degree, and we notice some have a great propensity to the former (to steal). It is settled there is to be a grand Whig meeting at Louisville on the 14th of September, all right. Upwards of a thousand emigrants recently left London, in a single week, for Australia.

A Rare Chance. Young gentlemen of quite moderate abilities, or even elderly gentlemen who have not the ability to perform arduous manual labor, can now embrace a golden opportunity if application is made early, to secure that enviable distinction at a highly remunerative salary that is inseparably connected with the various offices of high political trust in Vanderburgh county. The only way to secure the above, (which should be the boon of every man's ambition,) is to step forward at once, and announce your names as aspirants to any office, which is to be filled at the ensuing election, which offices will be found enumerated under their proper heads, in the candidates column. Some few Reverend gentlemen, who have hitherto been prosecuting their "labors of love" for small pay, and poorly appreciated at that, by their congregations, would do well to give this matter a passing notice. The broad road is open to all, leading to fame and fortune. Then why all this modest diffidence about coming forward? Do not longer let our county officers go begging! That all will be elected who run, there is no longer room for argument.—And there is no method that now suggests itself to us, by which a man can obtain the same amount of notoriety for one dollar as by making their announcement, forthwith, to become candidates for either of the County offices to which your attention is herein directed. Come out ye men of patriotic steel No longer curb the steel or guide the wheel.

We learn from the officers of the S. B. Lunette from Memphis, that two young ladies, sisters, residents of Henderson Ky., committed suicide yesterday morning at day break (August 17) by tying their hands together and walking off a log just above the wharfbottom into the river. Their bodies were found soon after the fatal occurrence. We did not learn their names. Cause, supposed to be unrequited love.

EMIGRATION.—The total immigration to this country for the seven months of the present year has been 179,051, while during the corresponding months of 1871 the number was but 152,579, so that notwithstanding the attractions of Australia, the immigration from Europe to this country is still on the increase.

A good number of Delegates started on the cars yesterday for Petersburg, to attend the Congressional Convention, which assembles to-day.

The Land Offices in Illinois have been crowded with persons wishing to make entries, so much so that applicants could not be promptly attended to.

The Ohio and Pennsylvania railroad was opened from Pittsburg to Wooster, Ohio on Tuesday. The event was duly celebrated.

The New York Tribune, of Wednesday, says: An active speculation has commenced in cotton, but stocks are too low in quantity to allow of much extension, and it will be several months before any large quantity of the new crop arrives.

John Thompson, No. 2 Wall st., quotes in his Reporter land warrants as follows: The action of Congress has had a tendency to strengthen warrants. The following are the ruling prices: Buying. Selling. 360 acre warrants - $143 $147 360 acre warrants - - 72 73 40 acre warrants - - 35 37

The Central Illinois Railroad Company have received advice from London that their explanations respecting their loan, arrangements as advertised, have proven satisfactory to the loanholders. This will supply very shortly a large amount of sterling exchange, so that it will be some time before we ship to the full extent of our receipts.

All the news from Indiana is of the most cheering kind. Last Saturday the Hon. John W. Davis made a forcible speech in Sullivan county, that strong hold of Democracy, and as its close, as we are informed by an ear witness, three old Democrats publicly declared their determination to vote for Scott & Graham. A good many others, it is said, made private declarations to the same effect.

We have information direct from a thoroughly reliable citizen of Lawrence county that he has counted fifty-five seceders from the Democratic party in the two towns, adjoining his own place of residence.

We have similar information from all parts of the State.—(Lou. Jour.) We ARE BUT FOOD FOR WORMS.—The Rochester Advertiser, says that a gentleman of that city died on Monday from the effect of worms. He had been sick for some time, and it was supposed the consumption had seized upon him. Although he was constantly feeding, yet he was unable to ally his appetite. His wife declared that it was worms that troubled him, and so it proved. At different times thirty-five tape worms come from him—one came away from him in three pieces while he was measuring sixteen feet, and yet the two extremities of this monster, remained within the man. Another, a perfect specimen of the disgusting reptile, measured eight feet.

General Pierce "hates and deplores Slavery." General Pierce, at a Union meeting at Manchester, New Hampshire, on the 20th of November, 1850, said to the audience, some of whom were abolitionists, as follows: "The man who would dissolve the Union [abolitionists] did NOT HATE and DEPLORE SLAVERY MORE THAN I DO. If the constitution provided the return of fugitive slaves it should be done, and our fathers had agreed to do it."

Again, General Pierce, in a speech made by him while in the United States Senate—See Globe, 2d session, 25th Congress, page 54—says: "I have no HESITATION in saying that I consider SLAVERY a SOCIAL and POLITICAL EVIL, and MOST SINCERELY WISH it had no existence on the face of the earth." And it is such a man, holding opinions so obnoxious and abhorrent, that party leaders are endeavoring to palm off on the South as a friend of southern institutions. General Scott, forsooth, is denounced as unsound, because he said that "he was no abolitionist or advocate of slavery." General Pierce on the other hand, says that he "hates and deplores slavery" as much as the most ultra fire-souls in the land, and he is forthwith cried up by these same men as a model of soundness on this vital question. Was there ever such glaring and dangerous inconsistency. [Montgomery Jour.]

A Good One. Ludicrous blunders will occasionally occur in cases where ignorant persons attempt the use of language about the meaning of which they know nothing. The following is a case in point: Not long since, while traveling from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati, two rather verdant specimens of the female sex came on board of the boat at one of the landings, who, for the sake of distinction, we will call Mary and Jane. Now Mary had cut her eye teeth, or in other words, was acquainted with the rules and regulations which governed genteel society. Jane, the younger, had never mixed in society to any great extent, and was therefore in blissful ignorance as to any of the rules which govern more refined persons. Her language, too, was only such as she heard among her rustic associates. Mary was aware of this fact, and had therefore cautioned her to observe how she (Mary) acted, and to govern herself accordingly. Jane promised implicit obedience. Shortly after, while seated at the dinner table, the waiter asked Mary what part of the fowl she would have. She informed him, in a very polite manner, that it was "perfectly immaterial." He accordingly gave her a piece, and then inquired of Jane what part she would choose. The simple minded girl replied, with all the self-assurance imaginable—"I believe I'll take a piece of the immaterial too."

The scene that followed this declaration is beyond the power of our pen to describe.—The assembled company were compelled to give vent to their surcharged feelings in peals of hysterical laughter; whilst the poor girl, her face suffused with crimson blushes, left the table, declaring as she fled to the ladies cabin, "they won't let me aboard of one of these pesky steamboats soon again."

THAT LETTER.—We understand that the reason assigned by the friends of Gen. Pierce for withholding from publication that letter is, that it contains some superfluous details. His friends show their good sense in keeping from the public eye an epistle that would do more honor to a member of the Empire Club than to a candidate for the Presidency, or even a private gentleman. If any Democrat denies the truth of this intimation, we dare the friends of Gen. Pierce to publish the letter.—[Wash. Telegraph.]

Not long since, two ladies were on a downward trip, on board a Missouri steamer. One of them had a baby about three months old. She had left her husband in California about two years and a half. "How old is that baby?" said the other. "About three months old." "I thought you said your husband had been gone to California two years and a half?" "Oh! yes, he has; but he's not to me."

BOSTON, Aug. 9. Advice from Cape Town, of June 22, says that the war rages with unabated vigor. A Methodist station at Mr. Box was attacked and plundered by the Hottentots, seven persons killed and many wounded. A party of Coffins attacked a detachment of Military, killing 19; they afterwards cut the throats of the wounded.

The New Hampshire Patriot says that Gen. Pierce "always sticks to his friends." In Mexico he didn't stick to his horse very well. [Lou. Jour.]

Mr. Papineau, who has just been elected to the Canadian Parliament by an extraordinary majority, has published a long address in which he declares that he is in favor of annexing Canada to the United States. [Chicago Adv.]

An Irishman picked up a bright metal button from a street in Boston, and exclaimed to his companion, "what a queer country this is to be sure, where they have guineas with handles to 'em."

The Democratic papers are making a great "hubbub" because the London Times, London Leader, and two or three other foreign sheets intend supporting King and that other fellow for the Presidency. With such an able lot of advocates, they will be elected—to stay at home.—[Chic. Cen.]

LADIES COMING TO THE AID OF RAILROADS.—The ladies of the county of Monroe, Mississippi, (twenty of them,) have subscribed one thousand dollars each, to the Jackson and Great Northern Railroad. This road is to run from New Orleans to Nashville.
