INDIANA STATE SENTINEL.

Washingtonian Camp-Meeting!

Pursuant to the notice given through the public prints, the Greencastle Washingtonian Society, the Washingtonian guests from the neighboring counties and the citizens generally, assembled at the Court House in Greencastle, Putnam county, on the bright and beautiful morning of the 21st of September, and formed a procession to march to the camp-ground, which lay eastward about a mile and a half from town—the Terre Haute and Putnam Bands in front, followed by the Washingtonians, strangers, and citizens on foot, and a cavalcade in the rear. It was a rare spectacle—rich in the associations and hopes of the future; perhaps the first procession of the kind that has ever trodden American soil—a Temperance Camp-Meeting! the novelty of the thing, the love of the cause, and the soul-enlivening music of the bands, made light hearts and bright faces. On arriving at the Camp-ground, which was a large area, in a delightful grove, surrounded by new and beautiful tents, the assemblage was organized by choosing J. F. Farley, Esq., Chairman. Messrs. D. Seigler, Lewis H. Sands and William B. Gwathmey, of Greencastle; Thos. H. Clark, of Manhattan and Seymore Gookins, of Terre Haute, were then, on motion of Henry Secrest, Esq., appointed by the chair, a committee to report a list of officers to conduct the proceedings of the Camp-Meeting. Col. Sigler, as chairman of the committee, reported the following list: For President, John Cook of Indianapolis; for Vice Presidents—Thomas Dowling and Seymore Gookins, of Terre Haute; Thomas H. Clark, of Manhattan; J. F. Farley, B. K. Swope, J. C. Childs and James McAchran. For Secretaries—Henry Secrest and Lewis H. Sands, of Greencastle; S. M. Colman, of Manhattan, and Milton M. Modisett, of Vigo. For Marshals—James Athey and Rees Baldwin.

The assemblage was then addressed by Messrs. Cook, Farley and Gookins, and after circulating the pledge, they joined in procession and again marched to the thrilling notes of martial music, till the meeting was adjourned to early candle lighting, at which time they again met and were addressed by Messrs. Cowgill, Hathaway and Eckles, and after the pledge had been again circulated, adjourned to the next morning at 9 o'clock.

Thursday morning at 9 o'clock the meeting again assembled, and was addressed by Mr. Cook—the great apostle of temperance—the great champion of reform. Thomas Dowling next appeared upon the stand, and after making a few preliminary remarks offered the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Temperance Reformation, now happily progressing throughout the world, should be made the common cause of all philanthropists, patriots and Christians; and that we hail its advent upon our land as an omen of good and a sign of glory to our country.

Resolved, That we, as Washingtonians, have no connexion, and desire none, with the creeds of sects, or the dogmas of political parties, and fervently implore our brethren to keep unspotted from all alliances calculated to retard our march to a perfect triumph.

Resolved, That the conduct of the Rev. Mr. Marsh, the editor of the Temperance paper in New York, in his attempted proscription of Thomas F. Marshall from our ranks on account of a duel in which he was lately engaged, meets the decided disapprobation of the Washingtonians of Indiana, here assembled, as an infringement of the first great principles of the Temperance reformation.

Resolved, That we, as Washingtonians, extend the right hand of fellowship to men of all creeds of all political parties and aim to impose no control over their moral actions as men, or the exercise of their duties as citizens.

Resolved, That the only test required by the Washingtonians is, that its members will say of strong drink—"touch not, taste not, handle not."

Resolved, That while we condemn the practice of duelling, we cannot but regret the frequency of such occurrence, so long as the liberal and manly conduct of Thomas F. Marshall in behalf of Washingtonian principles, as honorable to him as a patriot, and send him in this resolution the greetings of his brethren in Indiana.

Resolved, That the President of this meeting transmit a copy of the foregoing resolutions to the Hon. Thomas P. Marshall of Kentucky.

Mr. Cook again appeared and made a few remarks. Then followed Judge Farley and E. W. McGaughey, after which the meeting adjourned for dinner.

At 3 o'clock P. M. the meeting again assembled, and after a few remarks had been made by Mr. Cook, they listened to an eloquent address from J. A. Wright, Esq. of Rockville. Mr. W. was followed by Messrs. Burton, Pitts, B. F. Cunningham, Hawkins and others, and the meeting adjourned till dark, when they again met and listened to addresses from Messrs. Secrest, Cook and Dowling, and after adopting the following resolutions, adjourned to next morning at 9 o'clock:

Resolved, That we cordially tender to the Terre Haute Band, Thos. Dowling and Seymore Gookins, Esqrs., our thanks for their able and acceptable services in this great and glorious cause.

Friday morning they met according to adjournment, and after attentively listening to Messrs. Cook, Farley and Wright, the following resolution was offered, unanimously adopted, and the meeting adjourned for dinner.

Resolved, That the thanks of this meeting be presented to Joseph A. Wright, Esq. of Rockville, for the able and eloquent addresses which we have had the pleasure of listening to.

The meeting convened again after dinner and was addressed by Messrs. Cook and Secrest, after which they adjourned to meet again in town—a procession was formed and marched to town, where the Putnam Band played several spirited airs, and three cheers were given to Mr. Cook that made the welkin ring.

At an early hour in the evening the College Chapel was filled with ladies and gentlemen, apparently as happy as a deep felt interest in a good cause could make them. The audience was addressed by Mr. Cook, E. W. McGaughey, Esq., Morgan Wright and again by Mr. Cook in a farewell speech after which D. R. Eckles, Esq. offered the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted and the meeting was dissolved:

Resolved, That our sincere thanks be tendered to those persons who gratuitously and bountifully furnished us with provisions and pasturage for the use of the numerous citizens and strangers who thronged our Camp-ground, and also for their kind and unwearied attention in rendering our sojourn there pleasant and agreeable.

Resolved, That our thanks be especially tendered to the ladies for their cheering presence and most efficient and rendered us during our meeting.

Resolved, That the thanks of this meeting be tendered to the Putnam Band for the zeal and ability with which they have voluntarily aided us in the Washingtonian cause.

Resolved, That we express our warmest gratitude to Messrs. Cook and McGinnis of Indianapolis, as the founders of the Washingtonian Society in Greencastle and for the very able and efficient services of the former during this meeting, and our prayers for the future happiness and prosperity of themselves and their families, and the cause of which they are such worthy advocates.

Resolved, That as a token of our gratitude for his labors among us, we will take our beloved brother, John Cook, by the hand and bid him fare well.

Resolved, That the thanks of this meeting be tendered to the Indiana Asbury University for the use of their Hall on this evening.

Resolved, That the Washingtonian Society of Greencastle will form a procession at half past eight o'clock, A. M., on to-morrow to accompany our brother Cook on his way homeward as far as the Camp Meeting now in session near the border of our county, and that the ladies and Putnam Band be requested to join us.

Resolved, That H. Miller, S. C. Smith and W. Wails be requested to officiate as Marshals to the procession.

Resolved, That the officers of this meeting are entitled to our thanks individually for the able manner in which they have discharged the duties assigned them.

During the first two days both bands of music were in attendance, and the Putnam Band during the whole time, and the sweet music which they discoursed at the intervals between the speeches, while the pledges were circulating, and the spirited songs lent an enchantment to the scene which cannot be easily described.

On Saturday morning the procession formed, in accordance with the resolution adopted the evening before, and escorted Mr. Cook to the Methodist Camp Meeting, where they were kindly received and their cause seconded by the Christians there assembled. Messrs. Cook and Secrest addressed the assembly there, and procured about sixty signatures to the pledge, and then the escort bid their friend, Mr. Cook, farewell and returned to their homes.

Never before has Indiana witnessed such a scene as has been exhibited at this Camp Meeting. About six hundred persons have signed the temperance pledge, and the good effects that it will produce in the community are incalculable. Hardly a drunkard is left in this region that has not pledged his honor that henceforth he will be a sober and a happy man. Many an unfortunate drunkard has put his hand to the pledge, that talismanic charm, and returned home a sober man to bless his children and wife, and not to

Chain her there 'mid want and strife,
The lowly thing—a Drunkard's wife!
And stamp on childhood's brow so mild,
That with'ring blight—a Drunkard's child!

Our Institutions too Democratic.—We find the following in the American of last evening, where it appears under the commercial head printed without remark:

"Extract from a letter from London, Sept. 3d, 1842.

"We are in the same stagnant state as to American securities, or perhaps the dislike of them is stronger than before, and it seems that it will be so, until some of the States in arrears begin to pay. There grows up also an opinion among the more reflecting, that the original cause of danger is to be found in the too democratic nature of the institutions of your country, which, by throwing all elections into the hands of the multitude, and by making those elections recur perpetually, cause those institutions to be attached by demagogues, addressing themselves to the passions of the ignorant, who form the numerical majority. A feeling of this kind taken up, upon reflection, will be permanent, unless facts appear in some of the delinquent States, to show that there is a reaction, giving power to right principles, and a tendency towards the state of settled society which exists in New England. The failure of the large institutions of the United States Bank, North American Trust and Banking Company, Morris canal, and American Life and Trust Company, with the conduct of some of their managers, are also adduced as evidence that the moral tone of society is bad, or that such bodies have prominently in society. It is difficult to answer all this: and indeed, there can be no answer but that of facts, which time will bring forth."

So then, the reflecting and impartial people across the water, have found out that our "institutions are too democratic," that our people are allowed too many political rights, that it is wrong to leave as we do "our elections in the hands of the multitude," "the ignorant numerical majority" instead of the select and instructed few. These views, we are told, are adopted on reflection, as a conclusion of calm judgment; and this slander on our institutions and our people goes forth in a daily journal, which is received among the whig party as a sort of oracle.

By and by, we shall see the same journal, the American, appealing to the ignorant multitude, and asking its votes for the whig ticket. This majority which is now stigmatized in that print as the slave of its own blind passions, will then be respectfully and cooxingly asked to support candidates represented by those who hold that our institutions are too democratic, that the right of suffrage is too widely extended, and that the people are indulged in too frequent elections.

This, however, is but one among many of the indications which exist, that our present institutions are not sufficiently aristocratical for the whig party.—N. Y. Post.

A noble act of a noble man.—The ladies of Providence and vicinity recently sent to Gov. Dorr, by way of indemnifying him, in part, for his self-denying labors in the cause of Free Suffrage, a pretty substantial sum of money, which was received by him, and immediately sent back to the patriotic sufferers of Rhode Island, who had been subjected to the tender mercies of the Charter Government. This little incident is characteristic of the man and his love for the people. He is willing to suffer himself, but cannot quietly witness the sufferings of others without wishing to alleviate them.—Bay State Dem.

The President of the United States and his family, having performed the mournful task of sepulture to the remains of Mrs. Tyler, in the county of New Kent, were received on board the steamboat Patric Henry, at the Grove, (a few miles above Jamestown) and landed at 4 o'clock at Old Point, yesterday. We presume the Committee of the Court and Common Council of the Borough will call on the President this morning; in pursuance of the resolution of those bodies.—Norfolk Herald Sept. 20.

Geographical Veracity.—Burlington, a city of the United States of America, and capital of New Jersey, situated partly on an Island in the Delaware, opposite Philadelphia, and partly on the main shore. It was founded in the year 1638, and has been improving ever since. It is regularly built; its streets are wide, and it has a large town house, an excellent exchange for merchants, and two very good bridges, the one called London and the other York. The territory around abounds in every kind of grain and provisions, and it carries on a great commerce in hides, whale bone, oil and fish.—Edinburgh Gazette.

Practical Agrarianism.—The London Morning Post, a tory Journal of England, in reviewing Mr. Cobden's speech, in the British House of Commons, in which he warns Parliament that, before it again assembles, the large manufacturing towns will be delivered over to pauperism, and the paupers must be fed by the surrounding districts, says, "We deny the justice of the transfer to surrounding districts, of the burden of supporting the load of misery which Manchester has generated, until the capital which it has generated by toil and starvation shall have been reclaimed by the State for the benefit of the operatives. Many of the wealthy manufacturers began life without a shilling, but by the buying of labor, have become immensely rich, whilst the laborer, is reduced to the depths of despair. The public safety requires a redistribution of the principles on which this traffic is based, but the meantime it is only just that the capital which represents the misery of the miserable, should, to the last farthing be applied for their relief."

Borrowing Babies.—Borrowing babies, says a Boston journal, is not so rare as Mrs. Clavers seems to imagine. In a house not a hundred miles from S——street, boarded a gentleman and his wife, who were the owners of a beautiful child, of about a year old, which attracted so much attention from the neighbors, that the young ladies opposite frequently sent over to "borrow the baby." After being obliged to send for the child several times, Mr. ——, on coming home to dinner, got out of temper on finding it gone as usual—"Here, Jane," said he, "go over to the Misses——, and get the baby! and give them my compliments, and tell them I wish they'd get a baby of their own, and not be obliged to borrow."

A Foot Race, of rather a novel character, come off a few evenings since in Charles street mall, between Mr. John Sheridan, the well known proprietor of the Gymnasium in Congress street, and an amateur of this city. The prize was a silver cup. Mr. Sheridan ran fifty yards with a man on his back weighing one hundred and fifty pounds, against one hundred yards run by his adversary, and came in winner. Time, thirteen seconds—gain on his opponent, about four yards. Mr. Sheridan is probably the fleetest runner in the country.—Boston Mail.

A Whip, &c.—One of the whip manufacturers of Westfield Mass. a Mr. Dow, has just completed a "Tyler Whip." It is an invention of his own. It is a beautiful stock about 3½ feet long, with the name of John Tyler, Veto 1, 2, 3, 4, inwrought with the name, of cat gut in black letters. There were also four switch lashes about eighteen inches long, wrought upon the end with silk snappers. Mr. D. intends to send it to Washington, to Mr. Tyler.

COLUMBUS HOTEL.

THE undersigned has taken the tavern stand on the north east corner of the public square in Columbus, for a term of years. In the repairs which he has found it necessary to make in the establishment, he has looked more to the comfortness and the comfort of his guests than to outward appearances. His stables have been so much improved as to render his house perfectly comfortable.

He flatters himself that those who may feel disposed to call upon him will be agreeably entertained. JOHN B. HUNTER.

TO RENT CHEAP.

THE large and commodious building recently occupied by Basil Brown as a public house, is now for rent. This is one of the most eligible situations in the city for a boarding house. It has been thoroughly repaired and is in first rate order. The stables are excellent and for a boarding house it cannot be excelled. It would make also good dwellings for private families, having every convenience. As no one would probably wish to hire without an examination of the premises, they are invited to call on the subscriber, from whom they will learn the terms, etc. E. HEDDERLY,
