

THE HOUSE COMMITTEE

Offers choice of any Spring-weight Sack, Frock, Cut-away or Prince Albert Suit in the house this week for $11.38!

These Suits are made up in the finest of Cheviot, Cassimer, Serge and Fancy Worsteds, are strictly "Tailor-Made," and not a Suit in the lot but what is worth $5 to $13 more than we ask for them.

THE HOUSE COMMITTEE

TRAVELERS' INDEX. KANKAKEE LINE (BIG FOUR RAILWAY)

Table with columns for destinations (Cincinnati, St. Louis, Chicago, etc.) and departure/arrival times.

Losses by Fire. PITTSBURGH, Mass., July 30.—The loss by the burning of John De Veron's paper mill at Lee last night, is now placed at $25,000; fully insured.

Chicago, July 30.—By a fire at the corner of Thirty-first and LaSalle streets, this morning, six families were rendered homeless, five houses were burned to death, and a hay shed and coal-yard were partially destroyed.

NEW ORLEANS, July 30.—The steambot Edward J. Gay belonging to the Planters' & Merchants' Packet Company of this city, caught fire this morning and was burned to the water's edge.

Alleged Forger Arrested. CHICAGO, July 30.—The arrest is announced in Portland, Ore., of James H. Porter, and this proceeding revives the story of his crime.

Nonquitt, Mass. July 30.—P. M.—General Sheridan's condition remains unchanged since the last report. All his symptoms continue favorable.

Republican Co-operation. CHICAGO, July 30.—The Republicans of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin will cooperate as far as may be in the coming campaign.

Two Oil-Can Victims. PITTSBURGH, July 30.—The deadly oil-can claimed two victims here today. The first was an eight-year-old daughter of Wm. Rolland, who was burned to death by the explosion of a can.

WHEN INDICATIONS.

TUESDAY—Fair, slightly cooler weather.

80 CENTS!

All Gauze, Balbriggan and Lisle Thread Underwear, plain and fancy, in our house now goes for 20 per cent. off.

80 CENTS FOR $1

All Fancy Calico, Percale, Cheviot and Saerucker Laundered Shirts in our house now go for 20 per cent. off.

HATSHARD HIT

The next-to-nothing prices on all Straw Hats, and the deep cut in the prices of all Hats in our house, hold while the hats hold.

REDUCTION SALE! RUSH!

THE WHEN

THE LAST MEETING.

Services at Camp Acton Close with Enthusiasm and Zeal for Further Work.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CAMP ACTON, July 30.—This morning the people gathered in large numbers in the auditorium for the last service of the camp-meeting.

Death from an Overdose of Morphine.

CHICAGO, July 30.—Prof. Albert D. Hager, the secretary of the Chicago Historical Society, died yesterday morning from the effects of an accidental overdose of morphine.

He Looked for a Fight, and Found One.

CHICAGO, July 30.—Hugh Hacker, aged fifty-three, fatally shot Dennis McGuri, aged fifty, last evening.

Wreck on the Burlington.

QUINCY, Ill., July 30.—The west-bound fast train on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railway collided with a freight car at Round Grove, Friday morning.

Package of Bonds Stolen.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 30.—At 10 o'clock today P. K. Dederick, member of a well-known firm of agricultural implement manufacturers, drove to the Mechanics and Farmers' Bank and there deposited a package of bonds.

The Arkansas Race Troubles.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 30.—J. W. Ramsey, recently deputy clerk of Crittenden county, Arkansas, and one of the nineteen negroes driven out by the whites, arrived in St. Louis today and will address a meeting of St. Louis negroes to-morrow night on the condition of the negro in the South.

Indiana Man in Trouble.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Field W. Sweeney, a young law clerk, accused of complicity with the late report of the Indianapolis Journal that an eight-year-old daughter of Wm. Rolland, who was burned to death by the explosion of a can.

Republican Co-Operation.

CHICAGO, July 30.—The Republicans of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin will cooperate as far as may be in the coming campaign.

THE PARNELL COMMISSION

Mr. Parnell and John Morley Protest Against the Selection of Justice Day.

Giving Cogent Reasons for Their Objections, but the Tories Decline to Make a Change and Are Sustained by the House.

Parnell Takes an Active Part in the Debate, Talking Often and Earnestly.

Fears that Tippeco's Rashness May Have Brought Disaster Upon Stanley—Emperor William at Copenhagen—Cable Notes.

THE NEW IRISH TRIBUNAL.

Justice Day Retained in the Commission Despite Parnell's Protest.

LONDON, July 30.—The House of Commons went into committee to-night on the bill to investigate the charges against Mr. Parnell.

Mr. Sexton contended that the word was vague and useless, giving, in his opinion, an indefinite scope to the inquiry.

Mr. Matthews, in reply, said that the government could not accept the amendment, and that Mr. Sexton had exaggerated the task before the commission.

Mr. Parnell urged the House to recollect that they were discussing a proposal to provide a substitute for the jury, while in England a jury of twelve was always provided.

Mr. O'Connor repeated his statement, adding that Mr. Matthews owed his first election to the support of the Liberal Party, which secured for Mr. Matthews the Parnell jury.

Mr. Matthews admitted that he owed his election to the merits of Sir George Parnell, but declared that he had never seen or communicated with Mr. O'Donovan Rossa.

Mr. Chamberlain opposed the amendment, the object of the speaker in the Plan of Campaign or boycotting, except so far as necessary to show complicity in crime.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

THE PARNELL COMMISSION

Mr. Parnell and John Morley Protest Against the Selection of Justice Day.

Giving Cogent Reasons for Their Objections, but the Tories Decline to Make a Change and Are Sustained by the House.

Parnell Takes an Active Part in the Debate, Talking Often and Earnestly.

Fears that Tippeco's Rashness May Have Brought Disaster Upon Stanley—Emperor William at Copenhagen—Cable Notes.

THE NEW IRISH TRIBUNAL.

Justice Day Retained in the Commission Despite Parnell's Protest.

LONDON, July 30.—The House of Commons went into committee to-night on the bill to investigate the charges against Mr. Parnell.

Mr. Sexton contended that the word was vague and useless, giving, in his opinion, an indefinite scope to the inquiry.

Mr. Matthews, in reply, said that the government could not accept the amendment, and that Mr. Sexton had exaggerated the task before the commission.

Mr. Parnell urged the House to recollect that they were discussing a proposal to provide a substitute for the jury, while in England a jury of twelve was always provided.

Mr. O'Connor repeated his statement, adding that Mr. Matthews owed his first election to the support of the Liberal Party, which secured for Mr. Matthews the Parnell jury.

Mr. Matthews admitted that he owed his election to the merits of Sir George Parnell, but declared that he had never seen or communicated with Mr. O'Donovan Rossa.

Mr. Chamberlain opposed the amendment, the object of the speaker in the Plan of Campaign or boycotting, except so far as necessary to show complicity in crime.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

THE PARNELL COMMISSION

Mr. Parnell and John Morley Protest Against the Selection of Justice Day.

Giving Cogent Reasons for Their Objections, but the Tories Decline to Make a Change and Are Sustained by the House.

Parnell Takes an Active Part in the Debate, Talking Often and Earnestly.

Fears that Tippeco's Rashness May Have Brought Disaster Upon Stanley—Emperor William at Copenhagen—Cable Notes.

THE NEW IRISH TRIBUNAL.

Justice Day Retained in the Commission Despite Parnell's Protest.

LONDON, July 30.—The House of Commons went into committee to-night on the bill to investigate the charges against Mr. Parnell.

Mr. Sexton contended that the word was vague and useless, giving, in his opinion, an indefinite scope to the inquiry.

Mr. Matthews, in reply, said that the government could not accept the amendment, and that Mr. Sexton had exaggerated the task before the commission.

Mr. Parnell urged the House to recollect that they were discussing a proposal to provide a substitute for the jury, while in England a jury of twelve was always provided.

Mr. O'Connor repeated his statement, adding that Mr. Matthews owed his first election to the support of the Liberal Party, which secured for Mr. Matthews the Parnell jury.

Mr. Matthews admitted that he owed his election to the merits of Sir George Parnell, but declared that he had never seen or communicated with Mr. O'Donovan Rossa.

Mr. Chamberlain opposed the amendment, the object of the speaker in the Plan of Campaign or boycotting, except so far as necessary to show complicity in crime.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he was not a lawyer, he ventured to say that it was impossible to inquire into the first letter which the Times attributed to Mr. Parnell, and it would shut out many of the Times's charges.

THE TRUSTS INVESTIGATION

The House Committee Makes a Partial Report as to Facts So Far Learned.

The Methods of the Sugar Trust and the Standard Oil Company, and Their Relations to Existing State and National Laws.

Munice and Columbus Asked to Make Good Their Free Mail Delivery Claims.

Proposed Changes in the Contract-Labor Law.—Gen. Hovey to Reply to Col. Maitson's Recent Speech—Other Washington News.

THE TRUSTS INQUIRY.

The House Committee Makes Report of the Facts It Has So Far Learned.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The House committee on manufactures to-day submitted the following report concerning the trusts investigation, which was ordered printed:

"The committee on manufactures respectfully report that, acting under the authority and direction of a resolution of this House, passed on the 23rd day of January, 1888, they have proceeded to investigate and inquire into the matters and things referred to in said resolution, and have examined witnesses and papers in relation thereto. They have been unable to complete such inquiry and investigation. Your committee further report that the names of various combinations and trusts have been from time to time furnished to your committee, the number of such combinations is very large, and that your committee, in calling witnesses and taking testimony, proceeded upon the following plan of investigation, to wit: To inquire, first, with relation to trusts or combinations in lines of business which are connected with or are articles in which there exists a competition in our markets between our domestic products and the foreign product imported and dutiable under our tariff laws; second, with relation to such combinations dealing in articles which are subject to taxation under the internal revenue laws of the United States. Your committee have particularly directed its inquiry into the methods and extent of the business done or controlled by the Sugar Trust, the Standard Oil Trust, and the Cotton Trust, and respectfully submit herewith the testimony taken before it in relation to these trusts. In submitting this testimony to your committee, we desire to state that the organization of the trusts is the form of organization of these trusts. Both of them are organized on substantially the same plan. From the testimony it appears that there exists a large number of corporations organized under the laws of the different States, and subject to their control; that these corporations have issued their stock to the trustees named in the agreement creating these trusts, and accepted in lieu thereof certificates issued by the trustees named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry on and conduct its business, ever do any other business than that named therein. The agreements provide that the various corporations whose stock is surrendered to the trustees shall preserve their identity and carry on their business as if they were separate and distinct corporations, and each shall carry