THE OUTLOOK IN NEW YORK

IN NEW YORK.

Reasons That Lead Republicans to Think They Will Carry the State.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. New York, Aug. 4.—"Do you know why the betting on the result of the presidential election in New York has swung around from two to one against Harrison to six to five in his favor?" It was a question that your correspondent asked himself, and he paid a visit to Republican headquarters for light on the situation. It is always safe to discount everything the enthusiastic politicians tell. Still, making all due allowance for the hopes and desires of the men interested in having New York cast her electoral vote for Harrison and Morton, one can yet see good reasons why the Republicans may count on the swinging of the pendulum in the Empire State to their side.

What are some of the reasons for Republican confidence? Well, in the first place, the party in New York is united as it never has been since 1860, when the vote of the State was cast for Abraham Lincoln. The Republicans carried the State for Garfield in 1880 by over 20,000 plurality when they were not nearly so well united as they are to-day. In spite of the fact that Conkling came to the support of the ticket late in the campaign of that year there was still the old trouble brewing between the stalwarts and half-breeds, and many a Republican vote was lost to Garfield in consequence. This year the old factional differences are entirely obliterated. The leaders of 1880, most of them, are dead. Harrison's candidacy is acceptable to stalwarts and half-breeds alike. His name excites no unpleasant memories, and his nomination does not stand for the triumph of one faction over another. He got New York's solid seventy-two votes in the convention and every atom of Republican strength will be exerted for his election.

The Republicans at headquarters base their claims of carrying the State most confidently, however, on the superb organization of the party this year. The old system of a party autocrat—the dictatorship of a Weed, or a Panton or a Conkling is dead. In its place we have a broader, wiser and far stronger system that is thoroughly representative and Republican.

Everybody who went to the Chicago convention expected to see a great fight for leadership between Thomas C. Platt and Warner Miller. Everybody was mistaken. There was no fight, no rivalry, and both Platt and Miller returned stronger as leaders than when they started out. They had united on candidates for President and Vice-president, evenly divided the honors of leadership, and stood shoulder to shoulder to fight the great battle of the campaign. It is not necessary here to tell at length how all this was brought about, nor should all the honors of leadership go to those two men.

"THE FALL OF BABYLON" Eclipses all the former great efforts in the way of beautiful, instructive amusement. It should be seen by everybody.

THE ZOOLOGICAL GARDEN In the finest on the continent. A whole day of pleasure and sight-seeing can be enjoyed in this lovely park, filled with the rarest specimens of the beasts of the field, the birds of the air and the fishes of the sea.

THE HILL-TOPS Are places of pleasure, indeed, this hot weather. If you want fun of the county fair order, is at the end of the most delightful steamboat ride on the finest river in the world.

CINCINNATI AND RETURN, including admission to the Exposition, or "Fall of Babylon," every day,..... $4.90 Chicago and return..... 5.00 Chicago, one way..... 3.70 Don't forget the grand trip to New York and Boston via the C. & O. and ocean steamer.

It is this powerful combination of strong, able and brilliant men that inspires every New York Republican with hope and gives every thoughtful Democratic leader grave concern. Republicans in other States need take no stock in the reports that New York is hopelessly Democratic and given up by the Republicans. The Democratic battle of the campaign will rage between Montauk Point and Lake Erie. Make no mistake about that. Warner Miller will be the standard-bearer for Governor by the unanimous call of the party, and the farmers in every school district, with whom he is wonderfully popular, will rally to his support. Mr. Blaine will speak in all the manufacturing centers, where the labor vote is already deserting the Democrat, and every speech he will tell in an increased Republican majority. Mr. Dewey will work as he has never worked before, and his eloquent tongue will be heard all over the State. The platform of the work for Garfield in New York City in 1880 saved the State to the Republicans, will again be in charge of the campaign. He confidently expects that Cleveland will get 20,000 less majority in New York city and Brooklyn than in 1880. The Democrats in these cities who would not work for Blaine with any heart are all in line for Harrison. The Butler vote, which would have gone to Blaine and elected him four years ago had he not withdrawn, is certain to go for Harrison. Butler's followers were all protectionists, and this year there is every evidence that they are more firmly set against Cleveland than ever.

Such in brief is the situation in New York to-day, and it certainly seems to afford sufficient ground for the confidence that prevails among the cool and cautious leaders at headquarters who are managing the campaign. The number of letters from Democrats who voted for Cleveland in 1884, and who will vote for Harrison this year, that have been received at Republican headquarters is simply astonishing. Some of the men may drift back under the party pressure in the campaign, but their letters show how intense is the feeling that prevails in the manufacturing towns and cities. The Democratic tariff policy, with a conceded majority for Harrison in the State outside of the two big cities, largely by 20,000 to 35,000, that has been received by Blaine, and a reduction of Cleveland's majority in New York city and Brooklyn, of which there is every probability, to the extent of at least 15,000, a Republican majority in the State of 20,000 to 30,000 is a claim for which there is a solid foundation.

ROBERT GARRETT. He Experiences a Relapse of Nervous Trouble and is Forced to Abandon Business.

RICHFIELD SPRINGS, Aug. 4.—Mr. Robert Garrett, ex-president of the Baltimore & Ohio road, who, with his wife and sister-in-law, Miss Frick, has been stopping at the New American Hotel for the past week, left here last evening for his residence at Upland, just outside of Baltimore. He had been taking the sulphur baths for his health, but they proved unavailing, for he has gone away suffering with a relapse of his old nervous trouble. His removal was made at the instigation of Wayne MacVeagh and his lawyer, John K. Cowen, principal counsel of the B. & O. Thomas M. King, and his family physician, Dr. Allan F. Smith, of Baltimore, all of whom were hastily summoned on Thursday. Dr. Allan McLean Hamilton has been telegraphed for to attend Mr. Garrett at Upland, and it is hoped by Dr. Smith that a long rest and proper treatment will restore Mr. Garrett to his old-time vigor. The death of his brother, Harrison Garrett, which brought him from Europe to scenes of business, is believed to have provoked a set-back in Mr. Garrett's convalescence.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 4.—At the office of Robert Garrett & Sons, Mr. Charles F. Mayer, an intimate friend of Mr. Garrett, said that Mr. Garrett had gone to Richfield Springs to take sulphur baths, and that he had seriously disagreed with him. Mr. Garrett has sent for his family physician, Dr. Allen F. Smith, who advised that he leave there, but not to return to his country-seat at Upland. Mr. Garrett will go to Saratoga or to New York city, Mr. Mayer said, but from their advice Mr. Garrett was not believed to be seriously ill. Dr. Smith, in a letter dated yesterday, said that Mr. Garrett was no worse than when he returned.

FORGOT ABOUT HER BABY. New York, Aug. 4.—Last evening Mrs. Morley Levy laid her little baby on an unmade bed in her bedroom. She forced the child later, and in making up the bed for the night threw a mattress over it. When she finally remembered where her baby was she was dead.

THE BLAINE RECEPTION. Arrangements for Honoring the Chieftain on His Arrival at New York. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

New York, Aug. 4.—The preparations for Mr. Blaine's reception went on actively to-day. Despite the oppressive humidity, Grand Marshal Jackson stuck to his desk heroically all day long. "It has been one of our busiest days," he remarked, late in the afternoon, "but we have the satisfaction of knowing that the great demonstration is now well in hand, and no matter how large a procession turns out, we shall be able to handle it without difficulty." President Foster, of the National Republican League, who has been made marshal of the club division in the parade, appointed about 150 aids to-day. These include the presidents of the State leagues that will be represented here and presidents of the various permanent Republican clubs, who have sent word they will come. "Judging from the letters I get," said Mr. Foster, "I should not be surprised to see 10,000 men in the league division."

Why, clubs are coming from all over West Virginia and from Calcutta, Cincinnati, and even so far away as Toledo, Kan. The Young Republican Club, of Baltimore, wrote that 500 of its members will be here. Meriden, Conn., will send 300 at least, and from Walden, N. Y., I am told that 200 red-hot Republicans will come down to welcome Blaine home, the greatest Roman of them all. The Jersey City colored Republican club will be represented by 125 men, and the Lancaster, Pa., club will send over one hundred of its members, headed by a drum and fire corps. Oh, they are fairly pouring in upon us, despite the humidity. The league is fairly assailed on this matter, and will turn out splendidly."

This official notice regarding the time of the departure of the steamer Sam Sloan to meet Mr. Blaine was issued to-night by the reception committee:

The committee having in charge the reception of the Hon. James G. Blaine, on his return from Europe, announce that they are informed by the invitation and to say that I will be present." Ex-Senator Thomas C. "I shall be present. In fact, he had to go on foot or swim." General Sherman writes: "Accept my thanks for your courteous invitation to go down the bay to meet Mr. Blaine on his arrival. I doubt if I shall be able to do so, but I shall be, with some other friends, on the pier to see him on his arrival. I am sure to meet him on his arrival, and welcome back home a man who has shed honor on his country."

Among other acceptances is that of O. P. C. Billings and President Williams, of the Brooklyn Young Republican Club. The Blaine and Garfield Club of Astoria, Ore., telegraphed: "We welcome home for us, the Planned Knight, of Maine."

JOSEPH POOL, Chairman. JOSEPH ULLMAN, Sec'y. 145 Nassau street, New York.

Secretary Ullman, of the reception committee, has already received a number of acceptances from the guests invited by the club to go down the bay on the Sloan.
