

CESSIVE IN THEIR JOY

Democrats Claimed Too Much in the Way of Majorities, but They Are Decisive.

They Take All the Township Offices, as the Official Returns Show, with a Thousand or Two Votes to Spare.

It was not until last night the official returns from Monday's election were obtained. At 10 o'clock in the morning the inspectors, acting as a canvassing board, were at Township Trustee Manly's office, and work was at once begun on making up the official records. Adolph Seidensticker was president of the board, with J. L. F. Steeg as secretary. The work was delayed a great deal, however, by the slowness with which the returns from the various precincts were reported, and what would, under ordinary circumstances, have required but six hours for completion was carried on up to 9 o'clock at night. There was no trouble in handling the sheets after they were in, and in no cases were there disputes over the results reported, but for some reason the inspectors, in making their returns, were inclined to look upon a half day's delay as a privilege. The law prevents the canvassing board from adjourning, however, before they have ascertained that their members last night were given an excellent lesson in patience.

The trustee's office was the center of attraction among local politicians from the time the boards began work until it adjourned. A great many persons were about the place in order to hear authentic returns, while many more selected it as a place for the best and most comfortable waiting quarters that could be found. Naturally there was an almost endless amount of idle speculation as to the majority of the Democratic candidates, and estimates ranged from one thousand to twice the population of the township. The clerks at the Democratic headquarters Monday night gave out that they had sufficient returns in to warrant Gold a majority of 3,500 and Wolf about the same. This was claimed to be official yesterday on the streets, and when it was announced that the Democratic canvass was being made were confident that these figures would be sustained and probably increased by the returns from these rural precincts, and were given credence in regard to fabulous majorities upon which the Democratic justices and constables were to ride into office. But when it was announced that Gold's majority was but little more than 2,700, and that Wolf's would not reach that figure the enthusiasm began to subside, and while the Democrats related in their victory they were not inclined to be so loud in declaring its extent.

committing the theft. The men offered to sell Mr. Noe the watch and jewelry, but he recognized it and determined to have the men arrested. He told them to call later and meantime notified the police, who captured the men on their return.

DISAPPOINTED BUT NOT GRUMBLING. Mr. Posey Wants No Office, but Is Ready to Do All He Can for the Party in the Future.

The Hon. Frank B. Posey, of Petersburg, was in the city yesterday. The fact that he was not successful in his congressional contested election case, against Judge Parrett, has no apparent effect on Mr. Posey's serenity. "Of course, I am disappointed," said he, to a Journal reporter, "at the failure of the elections committee to seat me, but I am not smarting under defeat. On the contrary, I am just as good a Republican as ever, and, while so far as holding office is concerned, I am out of politics for good. I shall still do my share of the party work and take just as much interest as I can in its campaigns. The committee has not yet reported, but will probably do so tomorrow. The matter is practically settled, however. I have been a long contest, and though I do not want to criticize the committee's action, its members did not look at the case as we look at it out here in Indiana. They did not interpret the law as we interpret it, and as it should be. Congress allows me $2,000 for the expenses of my contest, but it costs me more than that. My failure to win has been a great disappointment to me, but it is not a disaster, and that is what enables me to escape a burden which all Northern Congressmen are compelled to carry if they are elected. I have no objection to my duties. The burden I refer to is the worry entailed by thousands of applications for positions, thousands of claims to be looked after, and thousands of other matters to be attended to in the interests of their constituents, and which, if faithfully looked after, make a Congressman an exceedingly laborious man. This has been the case for the past two years, and the burden is of such magnitude that it mitigates the disappointment of defeat very materially.

"The Democrats seem to have got something the best of us in yesterday's elections. Well, we need a pretty lively shaking up once in awhile to keep us on our work, and yesterday's lesson is, perhaps, a wholesome one which will result in renewed efforts in the future. I do not regard it as significant. In Pike county, my home, I am not surprised that the vote fell off considerably, as in 1888 we had much more of an incentive to get out a full vote. It was able to find out as yet just what the vote was there, as the returns seem slow coming in." Mr. Posey is here on a legal business, and leaves for home to-day.

Base Ball Notes. St. Louis was defeated by Cincinnati yesterday, at the latter place, by a score of 7 to 6.

The Chicago and Cleveland Brotherhood clubs played at St. Louis yesterday, the former winning by a score of 3 to 2.

THROWN INTO PRISON. An American Citizen's Statement of His Unjust Treatment in Nicaragua.

San Francisco Chronicle. Moritz Stern, an American business man of New York, who is a cousin of Hugo Arnold, of the firm of Lillenthal & Co., California street, and a brother of Dr. Louis Stern, of Phoenix, A. T., is one of the foreigners who has arrived here on the San Blas from Nicaragua. Mr. Stern tells a story of indignities heaped upon him in Nicaragua, combined with imprisonment, which he attributes to the fact that he calculated to make one's blood boil, and he will leave for Washington to-night to make a complaint to the State Department asking for heavy damages of Nicaragua for the damages claimed will probably not be less than $50,000, as Mr. Stern says he has already lost over a year's time besides a large moneyed outlay.

At the Grand Hotel last night Mr. Stern told a Chronicle reporter about the trouble. He recounted that for several years he and his father had been engaged in merchant trading at New York, Colon and Panama. Over a year ago, when business became dull on the isthmus, owing to the stoppage of the work of the canal, they turned their attention northward to Nicaragua in view of work on the canal there. They intended to put in some stocks of goods, and Mr. Stern went to Granada to get an idea of the opportunities. He had been there some days when Charles Suelz, whose acquaintance he had casually formed at the Los Lunos Hotel, asked him to take his watch and regulate it, saying that it did not keep time accurately, and as Mr. Stern had handled a great many watches in his general trade of supplying Central American towns, he thought he could do it. The request was complied with, and Mr. Stern handed him his own time-piece to be his company. On Jan. 25, 1889, a few days after, Suelz returned the watch, but with a broken glass, and asked for his own. Mr. Stern asked him to leave the watch at the jeweler's for repairs, or with the hotel-keeper, who would see that it was fixed. He himself would pay for it, as that was a small matter. When this was done he would exchange. The man demurred to this, but went away. What was Stern's surprise that evening, when playing a game of billiards to be arrested for the embezzlement of a gold watch worth $100!

He was taken before Jose Maria Huete, a magistrate, where he protested his innocence and demanded his rights as an American citizen. It was of no avail, however, a file of soldiers conducted him to jail and he was there four hours. Then Carlos A. Lopez, the employer of Suelz, who is a Congressman from Nicaragua, came to him, expressed his surprise and regret at the error, and offered to bail him out. Stern would accept only on condition that his protest should be entered for the treatment received. He was liberated, and at the end of two days he received word that his watch had been returned to him. He called on him, and was then told that Lopez had withdrawn from his bail, and he was once more escorted to jail, where he remained for several days. He was then taken to a hotel, where he was broken into and his papers of American citizenship stolen. In this manner he was kept in prison for a stranger, he did not know what to do. He was born in Germany, and knowing that the Germans are powerful and feared there, he was a German citizen. This, he said, was his only chance, since his papers were gone, and it would take a long time to get them. He was then taken to a man consul at Leon, to whom he appealed by telegram, replied: "I will come to-morrow if you need me." This alarmed the Nicaraguans, and they had the least released, this time after twenty-eight hours imprisonment.

Then the case was taken to the Superior Court, where it was heard by Judge Suelz, who testified directly against his former affidavit that Stern had embezzled the watch, and acquitting him. Suelz, Stern says, had conspired with the merchant, the American consul, Willis, at Nicaragua, in all his troubles, paid no money to him. He did not even answer the charges against him, but he had the least trouble to substantiate all he says and make out the strongest kind of a case.

Unpaid Ministers. The salaries of Methodist ministers are modest as a whole, and it would seem imperative that they should be promptly and fully paid. But according to the minutes of the Rev. J. B. Hamilton, in thirty-five conferences, during the forty years from 1853 to 1878 there were the enormous sum of $5,450,000. This is a sum which the great Methodist denomination can look with pride. And the worst of it is that it is unpaid. It is a sum which the ministers and their families would not have had a dollar too much to support them comfortably. How much privation these vast arrears of pay have caused them, and how they can never be known, but there certainly ought to be no repetition of it, even on a small scale.

Democracy and Mormonism. Salt Lake Tribune. On the question of Idaho's admission every Democrat in the House of Representatives refused to vote. The taunting words of Idaho's friends, "Why don't you stand up to giving an expression through a vote; the prayers of the men of their own party from Idaho availed nothing, and to make a party fight, they were obliged to do so by indirection, to go on record as the defenders of church rule and polygamy.

Didn't Know Jones. New York Letter. No man is here to his valet, and even a New York newspaper proprietor may be a stranger to his own elevator man. When a visitor, looking for Mr. George Jones, of the business office, for him the elevator man in the tall new building on Park Row, the reply was, "There hasn't no such person in the building."

An Easter Picture. Philadelphia Record. While the four Misses Giddegar were admiring a lovely blue and white before church time, old Mr. Giddegar was downstairs brightening up his year-old silk "dicer" with the blacking-brush.

Have No Business in Politics. Kansas City Journal. We would like to know why it is that certain saloon-keepers are constantly nagging the people. Why do they not attend to their business? Why do they always trying to make the people hate them? For hibition, however, in operation, was actually for the people by a lot of anonymous men who insist on running politics. They persist in combining. They attempt to dictate combinations, and they are always bent on committing suicides.

Ready for a Revival. Rochester Democrat. The report comes from Boston that a syndicate is being organized in that city to conduct trunk-line steamship companies in the coastwise and foreign trade if the Farquhar mail-subsidy bill passes Congress. This does a revival of the American flag and the conservation of the commerce of American trade generally, await proper encouragement by the national government.

The Promotion of General Miles. Kansas City Times (Dem.). The nomination of Brig.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles to be major-general was altogether creditable to the President. General Miles is not only in the line of promotion, but his consular record and upright character made his recognition a matter of simple justice. General Miles's many friends throughout the West will join in extending congratulations.

Republicans and the Australian Law. Philadelphia Press. The proposed Australian law, as the facts are more and more known, proves to be a sweeping success for the new ballot, and the Republican gains over last year prove that the ballot, free from all fear of intimidation, is the hope of the party in power. This accounts for the opposition of the great mass of the Democratic politicians.

Free Text-Books. Kearney (Neb.) Enterprise. No place that has adopted the free text-book system is willing to return or refund a cent. There is a saving of from 30 to 40 per cent. in the cost of books, uniformity is secured, a sense of responsibility is aroused in the pupil, and neatness is inculcated.

Not Competitors. Seattle Post. Does the tariff prevent extending trade with the American West? More than 90 per cent. of the native products of our southern sisters come into our ports free of duty.

Advice to Mothers. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best-known remedy for diarrhea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

A Scrofulous Child

Running sores all over his body. Head a solid scab discharging offensive matter. Bones affected and pieces discharged. Could not get up if he fell down. Could not move in bed, having no use of his hands. One of the most remarkable among the thousands of cures made by the Cuticura Remedies. N. B.—This cure was made May 9, 1885, and has remained permanent to date—Feb. 7, 1890.

Cured by Cuticura

When six months old, the left hand of our little grandchild began to swell, and had every appearance of a large boil. We poulticed it, but all to no purpose. About five months after it became a running sore. Soon other sores formed. He then had two more of them on each hand, and as his blood became more and more impure, it took less time for them to break out. This was the case on the chin, beneath the under lip, which was very offensive. His head was one solid scab, discharging a great deal. This was his condition at the age of 11 years.

GRANDSON HARRY LAWRENCE.

When I undertook the care of him, his mother having died when he was a little more than a year old, of consumption (scrofula, of course). He could walk a little, but could not get up if he fell down, and could not move in bed, having no use of his hands. I immediately commenced with the Cuticura Remedies, using all freely. One sore after another healed, a bony matter forming in each one of these five deep ones but before healing, which would finally grow loose and were taken out; then they would heal rapidly. One of these ugly bone formations I preserved. After taking a dozen and a half bottles he was completely cured, and is now, at the age of six years, a strong and healthy child.

Mrs. E. S. DRIGGS, 612 E. Clay st., Bloomington, Ill., May 9, 1885.

"The child was really in a worse condition than he appeared to his grandmother, who, being with him every day, became accustomed to the disease."

MAGGIE HOFFMAN, SERT. 13, 1888.—No return of disease to date. E. S. D.

Your letter of inquiry in regard to the permanency of the cure (by the Cuticura Remedies) of my little grandson was duly received, and I am happy to say he remains perfectly well, and has no sores and no signs of scrofula. If he gets a cut or bruise it heals rapidly and the child is well.

Mrs. E. S. DRIGGS, 612 E. Clay st., Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 7, 1890.
