VON MOLTKE'S NINETIETH BIRTHDAY.

All Germany preparing to honor the venerable warrior—the Kaiser's present. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. LONDON, Oct. 23.—All Germany is alive with preparation to do honor to Count Von Moltke on his ninetieth birthday. A Berlin correspondent says that the venerable field marshal is the only military man of the day whom the Emperor really regards with veneration and to whose opinion he bows. There has been for many years a friendship approaching affection between young William and the veteran general, the good will of the Emperor being cordially reciprocated by his eminent subject. In the German army also all agree in their admiration of Von Moltke and the testimony to his abilities and services is as universal as it is sincere. All the courts of the empire will be represented in Saturday and Sunday's celebration, and many sovereign princes will be present in person, and proceed, with Emperor William at their head, to congratulate the great commander. Berlin and the various municipalities throughout Germany will hold celebrations, and it is said to be the desire of the Emperor that the Kaiser and his family shall show their loyalty by special demonstrations. It is not yet certain, so far as semi-official utterances indicate, what title will be conferred on Von Moltke by the Emperor.

Count Von Moltke arrived at Berlin to-day. He was met at the railway station by a number of his friends, and he was taken to his quarters. Emperor William has sent to the Count, as a birthday present, a magnificent silver baton, embellished with imperial eagles and set with diamonds.

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

Police Summoned at Tipperary Dismissed—Catholic Priest Convicted of Assault. TIPPERARY, Oct. 23.—In the magistrate's court here to-day the prosecution asked that the summonses issued against Mr. Harrison, member of the House of Commons for the Midland division of Tipperary, and a number of others on charges of assault in connection with the recent disturbances here, be withdrawn. It was stated that the crown intended to prosecute the accused as rioters. Mr. Harrison, Redmond and Connor protested against the trouble with the accused and their witnesses had been put. The court dismissed the summonses against Mr. Harrison, Rev. Father David Humphreys, one of the defendants in the conspiracy cases, was found guilty to-day of committing an assault upon the wife of a policeman, and was sentenced to pay a fine of £20 or to be committed to jail for six months.

Poisoned His Children and Himself. BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Another tragedy has been added to the list of horrors which have recently occurred in Berlin and vicinity. To-day the community was shocked by the discovery of the fendish work of a poisoner, which is almost without parallel in the history of crime here. A retired farmer named Gave gave his children some sweetmeats in which he had previously placed a quantity of arsenic. His wife took of the poisoned confection herself. After suffering great agony for some time, the murderer and three of the children were relieved by death. His other two children, two others of the children who also ate of the sweetmeats are in a dying condition, and the physicians say there is no possible chance of saving them. No reason is known for the crime.

Bismarck Points Out a Danger. BERLIN, Oct. 23.—The Hamburg Nachrichten in an editorial seemed to have been inspired by Prince Bismarck, points out the danger of the suggested ignoring of the second clause of the Frankfurt treaty in connection with the customs union with Austria. The article contains the declaration: "Whatever France does Germany is bound by her engagements. Her only remedy will be to cancel or modify the clause, which no German statesman would dream of doing. It is imperative that the government should dictate a policy which will avoid sowing a germ of differences with France in agreement with Austria. If a dispute should arise between the two empires, the government of Frankfurt who can foresee the consequences?"

Offended the Austrian Government. VIENNA, Oct. 23.—It is reported that Mr. J. Black, the newly-appointed consul of the United States at Pesth, while journeying to that city to assume the duties of his office, commented publicly upon Austrian affairs in a manner which has offended the government. It is further said that the government has withheld its recognition from Mr. Black, and will perhaps refuse to issue it at all.

Russia in a Deplorable State. LONDON, Oct. 24.—The Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent says: The Minister of the Interior has received alarming reports on the state of the country. The prisons are crowded with suspects, chiefly young men of the educated classes. Disaffection is spreading among the peasantry, and there have been conflicts in many places between the peasantry and soldiers.

Two Killed and Sixty Injured. BERLIN, Oct. 23.—By the derailing of a train at Hedwigsdorf to-day two persons were killed and sixty injured.

Cable Notes. The University of Cambridge has conferred a degree upon Mr. Henry M. Stanley. The United States steamer Baltimore, Captain Schley commanding, arrived at Lisbon yesterday.

A vessel with a cargo of gun-cotton has sailed from Brest for a Russian port. The gun-cotton is for the use of the Russian government, and was sent from a French port.

The British Trades Council have resolved to raise £20,000 by collection for Australia, the large societies in the meantime loaning the money to avoid delay. Fourteen thousand pounds have already been sent to Australia.

At a meeting of the Sunderland branch of the Shipping Federation, yesterday, it was stated that the central authorities in London were arranging for a general lock-out should the sailors persist in their hostile attitude.

The proposed grant by the French government for the Delphi excavations threatens to bring about a general lock-out of the French of the rights held by the American Archaeological Institute, unless the Greek government is assured that the necessary £30,000 will be raised.

Lord Dunc, the husband of Belle Belton, the concert-hall singer, whose matrimonial difficulties have been the subject of much speculation, both in the courts and among the general public, was thrown from his horse while riding, at London, yesterday, and one of his shoulders was dislocated.

Western Express Train Will Not Be Advanced. CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—The committee, composed of representatives from the Adams, the Wells, Fargo & Co., the American, the National, the Northern Pacific, the Pacific, the Southern and the United States express companies, is holding a meeting here, with perhaps one or two minor exceptions. Last week the rates to one or two points West were reduced, and possibly the old rates will be re-established. The only thing of importance will be to complete the schedule for the advance in the United States. The reason, it is said, for this advance of 50 cents a hundred is simply the fact that the express companies are losing money at the present time. The meeting will continue for a day or two.

DAN'L THE FALSE PROPHET

Prosperous State of Trade That Belies the Dire Predictions of Mr. Voorhees.

Enthusiastic Republican Campaign Rallyes Throughout Indiana—Tariff and State Debt Form the Leading Topics.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. BRAZIL, Ind., Oct. 23.—The autograph letter from Senator Voorhees, in lithograph form, published recently in the Journal, is being widely scattered by the Democratic State central committee from Indianapolis. Hundreds of copies have been sent to miners and mill men here.

That Mr. Voorhees is not a good prophet there is evidence in our own midst. In an interview this morning, Mr. H. L. Keith, of H. C. Keith & Co., wholesale leathers and manufacturers of cuff-holders and other brass novelties, doing a general jobbing business in every city in the United States, says:

"This has been the most successful year's business since we began in 1883. Our trade shows the most healthy financial condition of the country that we have ever experienced. Our trade with this house averages $30,000 yearly. It employs a thousand men and does a business aggregating a million dollars yearly. The firm has been in the same line for over forty years, and we are wide awake, conservative managers. They certainly have no fears of an upheaval of values as the result of the tariff."

Hon. James E. Watson on the Stump. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. ALBANY, Oct. 23.—The most practical and eloquent speech of the campaign was made last night by Hon. James E. Watson, of Winchester. Mr. Watson is a young man, but the obstructive policy of the Democracy was never shown up in such a light by any speaker in an Albany audience. The beneficial effects of protection and the advantages of reciprocity with certain countries were made so plain that the most simple minded could grasp and understand them. The arguments of Captain Hilliges, Democratic editor, who spoke the night before, were thoroughly ridiculed and made to look as ridiculous as they were. Mr. Watson's speech, following so close upon that of Hon. H. U. Johnson, has almost caused a split among the Democrats here, and they are now divided into two camps. The supporters of the secret but under the name of Hon. H. U. Johnson, has almost caused a split among the Democrats here, and they are now divided into two camps. The supporters of the secret but under the name of Hon. H. U. Johnson, has almost caused a split among the Democrats here, and they are now divided into two camps.

Addresses at Muncie. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MUNCIE, Oct. 23.—Hon. Hiram Brownlee and Senator Thos. E. Boyd further aroused the Republican enthusiasm in this city to-night with their discussions of the political situation of the present campaign before a good sized crowd of citizens at the rink. The gentlemen proved interesting and able orators well versed with the people's affairs. It was shown how a Democratic Legislature and officials made a State debt of half a million and how they were getting in deeper without devising means to get out. The outrageous acts of partisan overseers of different penal institutions were pointed out, and the speaker showed how the Democratic party at the expense of the people for the purpose of holding power, were handling the people of this country. He was thoroughly impressed with the serious situation of affairs made by the Democrats. As yet the Democrats have offered no contradiction of the facts.

Mr. Lovett in Jasper County. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JASPER, Ind., Oct. 23.—A good audience, composed in a great part of farmers, assembled at the court-house, Tuesday afternoon, to listen to an address by Hon. John W. Lovett, Republican candidate for Attorney General. For nearly two hours the speaker held the closest attention of his audience, who manifested their approval by frequent applause. The speech was logical, forcible and eloquent, treating of both state and national issues. Protection, the McKinley bill and reciprocity were treated as to their effect upon the farmers and producing classes, and the clear manner in which the speaker showed the benefits to be derived from the McKinley bill and the approval. The silver bill and labor laws were also ably discussed.

Rally at Worthington. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WORTHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Quite a large Republican meeting was held here last night. General Coburn made an able and forcible speech, covering the great issues. The people are aroused to the importance of the work in hand. We have an excellent county ticket. Mr. Darnell, the candidate for Congress, was here to-day in the county and he was very active in winning the race. There are four candidates for Congress in the field. Greene will tell a good story for her excellent county ticket on election day.

Meeting at Brooklyn. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. BROOKLYN, Oct. 23.—A large and enthusiastic audience heard the McKinley bill ably discussed by W. R. Asher, of Martinsville, who handled the subject to the satisfaction of all. He said the only ground the Democrats were fighting the McKinley bill was to bring about a general lock-out of the Republicans were managing the county in a better way than the Democrats. Morgan county will come out with her usual majority of four to six hundred.

Mr. Beveridge at Bedford. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. BEDFORD, Oct. 23.—Albert J. Beveridge spoke here to-night by far the largest meeting of this campaign. There were five times as many voters present as Senator McDonald spoke to here last week. The audience listened in deep attention, and was enthusiastic, cheering time and again. The meeting did a great good. The Republicans of Lawrence are aroused as they are in presidential years, and their fighting blood is up. This meeting was like that of two years ago.

Green Smith in a Newspaper Row. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Ursupper Green Smith, whom the Gazette, of this city, has been making a bitter fight against, directed his remarks in a speech to the Democrats last night wholly to the editors of that paper. To-day the Gazette gave him a terrible overhauling.

General Coburn at Bloomfield. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. BLOOMFIELD, Oct. 23.—General Coburn addressed the Republicans at this place last night in a fine speech. The Republicans are active and aggressive in this region. Though this was the first political speech of this campaign.

Hon. John M. Butler at Washington. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Hon. John M. Butler addressed a large audience, composed mainly of farmers, at the opera-house. His speech was a vote-maker.

Campaigning in Dubois County. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. DUBOIS, Ind., Oct. 23.—Hon. W. E. Humphrey, of Crawfordsville, has just closed a successful campaign in this county. Hon. J. L. Bretz, Democratic candidate for Congress, refused to meet him in joint debate at this point. Mr. Humphrey's tariff speeches are winning many votes for the party.

TERRIFIC GALE ON THE COAST.

Considerable Damage at New Jersey Resorts—Experience of the Steamer Virginia.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Oct. 23.—An easterly storm prevailing along the coast all day brought in a very high tide this afternoon, and evening trains had to land passengers at the Grant-street station. No injury has been reported to the beach front, except at Cape May Point, where the drive and walk in the neighborhood of the President's cottage is damaged. Trains to Ocean City and Avalon have not been running since noon.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 23.—Vessels have been reported ashore at Spring Lake, but as the wires are now down, no information will be obtainable before morning. Several small boats have been capsized off Long Branch, but the occupants were rescued.

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 23.—A terrific southeasterly gale raged on Chesapeake bay from 3 to 10 o'clock this forenoon. The loss of life and property was estimated at an hour. Passengers on the Bay-line steamer Virginia, which was coming down the bay when she was struck by the storm, had a terrible experience. Waves broke over the vessel's deck, flooded her down-stairs saloon, and wrecked the panty. Coming across the Horse-shoe, the vessel was struck by a tremendous wave struck the boat, crushing her port wheel-house and shattering the boiler-work on the port side. All of the passengers on the vessel were rescued, but the vessel was wrecked. The captain and crew were rescued, but the vessel was wrecked.

RAILROADS IN MISSISSIPPI. Their Complete Regulation by State Authority Provided for by the Constitution.

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 23.—In the constitutional convention to-day the following sections of the report of the committee on corporations were adopted:

Section 9.—All railroads which carry persons or property for hire shall be public highways. Every railroad company shall have the right to use the public highways for the purpose of any other railroad, and all railroads shall receive and transport each other's passengers, tonnage and freight, and shall be subject to the same regulations and restrictions, without any delay or discrimination.

Section 10.—The rolling stock and all other equipment of any railroad shall be subject to the same regulations and restrictions, without any delay or discrimination.

Section 11.—No railroad or other transportation company shall grant free passes or tickets to any person, without the consent of the board of directors or other governing body of the company.

Section 12.—No railroad hereafter constructed in this state shall pass within three miles of any town, city or village, without the consent of the board of directors or other governing body of the company.

Section 13.—No railroad or other transportation company shall grant free passes or tickets to any person, without the consent of the board of directors or other governing body of the company.

Section 14.—The Legislature shall by appropriate legislation provide for the regulation of the employees of all corporations doing business in the state from interference with their social, civil or political rights by such corporations, their agents or employees.

Blown to Atoms by Falmatone. BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 23.—One of the fulminant departments of the Union Metallic Cartridge Company blew up with terrific force at 9 A. M. to-day, causing great consternation among the 600 employees in the city. The explosion got it arranged that Fred W. were employed in the department at the time. A moment before the explosion the son became frightened and left the place. The father was blown to atoms, his body being scattered in every direction. Deceased was over fifty years old, and was considered a very careful man. The explosion shattered a large quantity of glass in the main building, on the opposite side of the street. The large force of operatives, mostly girls, became so excited that they left the shop. The exact cause of the explosion cannot be determined.

Child Frozen to Death in a Blizzard. RAYON, N. M., Oct. 23.—Monday evening Mrs. Nich and his sixteen-year-old daughter were going from Folsom to the ranch. The girl was driving a team ahead, while her father came behind with another team. The father was blown to atoms, but about half-way home. The father reached home in safety, and was horrified to find that his daughter had not yet arrived there. He had lost her way in the blinding storm. The blizzard continued throughout the night, so it is likely to be done in searching for the lost child. She was found yesterday, but she was frozen to death. Her father managed to unhitch the horses and turn them loose before she became exhausted.

Missouri Shaken by an Earthquake. CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Oct. 23.—Two shocks of earthquake which came from the southwest occurred here at 8:10 o'clock this morning. One of the shocks lasted about one minute, the other twenty-five seconds. Buildings, furniture, crockery, etc., were visibly affected by the movement of the earth.

REGARDED HER AS A FRIEND

If Mrs. Whitehead Was Equal to Mrs. Pettit the Latter Did Not Suspect It.

So Much, at Least, All the Evidence Shows—Efforts to Prove a Conspiracy—The Prosecutor's Confession to Mrs. Kate Bradley.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 23.—The Pettit murder trial is still slowly progressing, and the combined testimony, so far, has failed to show a conspiracy between Pettit and Mrs. Whitehead to slowly kill Mrs. Pettit with repeated doses of strychnine. At the time Mrs. Whitehead told Yeager that Mrs. Pettit was growing worse, and advised a consultation with Dr. Black, Yeager said he understood the case thoroughly, but would consult as desired. Yet another witness testified that Yeager could not prescribe what was needed if he knew the patient had run a nail in her foot, conveying the idea that he did not know what to do. Things seem to be mixed on this point, yet Dr. Yeager testified that he had suspicions all the time that something was wrong. Mrs. Frank Brown also saw Pettit and Mrs. Whitehead come to a festival at about 11 P. M. Feb. 14, 1888, and they seemed to have a great deal to say to each other. Mrs. Brown also was at the festival, and corroborated what his wife said.

Miss Alice Carter went to Pettit's house on Wednesday morning. She was invited, and upon offering to help, Pettit referred her to Mrs. Whitehead, who, he said, had charge. While Mrs. Pettit was in the room, Mrs. Whitehead and Mrs. Carter were together. After the camp-meeting she had a talk with Pettit and he read to her the letter from Mrs. Shiloh, which had been written, stating that she had heard concerning the rumors of Mrs. Pettit being poisoned, and Pettit said: "Ain't this terrible! God knows I am ignorant of the cup of tea that he made on Sunday, said to have contained strychnine, was for himself as well as for his wife. He had made the tea for both of them, and his wife learned this she said that she had had strychnine in it and possibly had not washed it. Pettit then threw out all the tea. He said that was what she had done, and that she had done these rumors, because she would go to the bottom of it. When the witness suggested that he investigate these rumors, he said that he had done so, and that he had wished he would clear it up. After conference, the witness told him she was sorry he had withdrawn, and said that he had done a great deal of work on a trial not fit for ladies to attend. He said he was not afraid of the grand jury, because he would be in California, and he stored his goods at the house of the witness.

Mrs. Kate Bradley heard Mrs. Ford say, soon after the death of Mrs. Pettit, that she had seen Mrs. Whitehead several weeks on account of his daughter, and she said he could not because he had camp-meeting matters to attend to. He was a man of high standing, and having her teeth extracted, and said that Mrs. Whitehead was a jewel of a woman, and a pleasant companion to travel with, as she did not need a Saratoga, but only a White-sattel. This was at the supper table after Mrs. Pettit died, and Pettit seemed to be under the influence of liquor. Pettit said that Mrs. Whitehead had told her troubles, and they had sympathy for her, and she had always been a warm friend to them both. About 11 o'clock Pettit and Mrs. Whitehead were absent from the rooms. After while Pettit came in through the parlor, carrying some bed-clothing, and after that Mrs. Whitehead came in through the dining-room. Pettit said that the bed-clothes were to make places for people to sleep on the floor, which was done.

The next witness was Mrs. S. Vator, of Louisville, the editor of the Daily Call, who was present a portion of the time during the illness of Mrs. Pettit. She did not notice anything particularly strange or unusual in the conduct of Pettit, Mrs. Whitehead, but knew that Mrs. Whitehead was very anxious about Mrs. Pettit. She went riding with Mrs. Whitehead the afternoon before Mrs. Pettit died, and Mrs. Whitehead said she wanted to get a breath of fresh air, because of the sick-room being so full of chloroform all the time. Mrs. Whitehead said that she went to look at the corpse together at the Shawnee mound church. Mrs. Whitehead was at her house when Pettit called on his way back from New York. Of this she did not think strange, because they both had standing invitations to come at any time, and she noticed nothing unbecoming in their conduct. When she shot at Mrs. Whitehead, she was attending the May Musical Festival at Indianapolis; they did not see Pettit during the time, as has been charged. Mrs. Whitehead said that she had seen Pettit and Mrs. Whitehead at the musical entertainments at Lafayette, but never with Pettit, that she knew of Whitehead's house never thought of going to see Mrs. Whitehead. When the witness called to see Mrs. Pettit on Monday evening, Mrs. Pettit said she was sorry to keep Mrs. Whitehead away from her, but she would be better soon. She didn't know how she could spare Mrs. Whitehead, as she was like a sister to her. She showed all along the time, Mrs. Pettit and Mrs. Whitehead were very warm friends, instead of enemies. On cross-examination the witness said that she talked with Mrs. Whitehead, and that he did not seem intoxicated in the evening.

Mrs. Kate Barre, of 167 Huron street, Indianapolis, was a witness. She, in 1888, saw Mrs. Whitehead and Mrs. Pettit at the festival spoken about in February, and she saw Mrs. Pettit going with her daughter, and she stopped at her house as he was going to the festival. Mrs. Whitehead came in later. The lawyers and the witness, on cross-examination, had a tilt over the exact time that Mrs. Pettit came to the festival. Mrs. Whitehead said that she was engaged to marry Mrs. Whitehead, but his wife had been dead two weeks. The will of David Meharry, father of Mrs. Whitehead, was placed in evidence. This was made on Oct. 1, 1888, and was written by Pettit, who was asked to do so by the maker. Pettit was told to make the will so that each child would share alike, and it was made in that way. Mrs. Whitehead said that Mrs. Whitehead was not getting her share, and a change was made. Meharry was worth about forty thousand dollars at the time. Mrs. Whitehead and her property valued at $12,000. The executors named were Ethan, James and Alex. Meharry, and Mrs. Whitehead was appointed guardian of the estate of the children.

J. N. Meharry said that during the absence of Mrs. Pettit at South Bend Pettit came to his home and said that he had put the children in the hands of Mrs. Whitehead, who had sunk $400,000 of him within two years.

They Rob a Sleeping-Car and Secure $1,500 from the Porter, Conductor and Passengers.

SOCORRO, N. M., Oct. 23.—Thursday morning as the south-bound train on the Santa Fe pulled out of Socorro three men were seen to step on board. After the train had passed San Antonio these strangers entered the Pullman sleeper and locked the door, then drew their guns on the porter and conductor and relieved them of their surplus cash. They then introduced themselves to the passengers, "going through" most of them and making quite a haul. They jumped from the train on the Bascom side, near the depot, and took to the hills. It is estimated that they got $1,500. The thing was done so quietly that very few on the train knew what had happened. The robbers were dressed as cowboys, with caps and muffers, and had evidently tried to disguise themselves as much as possible. The description of them as given by the trainmen tallies with the appearance of two very hard characters who have been hanging around this section for several weeks. The officers of the road have offered a reward of $1,000 for their arrest. Parties of deputies have started in different directions, and it is thought that it will be impossible for the robbers to escape.

Can Only Sleep When Traveling. London Letter. A wandering Spaniard arrived in Odessa from Constantinople late one afternoon about three weeks ago, and at midnight left the city by train. On the following day he returned, hurried through the streets and squares like mad, and at midnight again departed. He repeated this performance once more, and has not been seen in Odessa since. At Moscow and St. Petersburg he did as he had done in Odessa, and in response to inquiries of the police in both cities laid before them, with proofs, the details of his recent life. He is Don Doreal Asento, a Spanish grandee and millionaire, who began his career from insomnia seven years ago. After trying all other remedies he was advised by his physician to travel. He began and has not been able to stop. Only in a railway compartment or a cab or drifts about at sea in a yacht or steamship. He has been almost everywhere on the continent and purposes passing the winter in Siberia.

Oscar Grove's Gallantry. Oscar Grove, in his last novel, gives utterance to the following heresies: "No woman is a genius; women are a decorative sex. They never have anything to say, but they are charmingly. They represent the triumph of mind over morals. There are only two kinds of women, the plain and the tawdry. The plain ones are useful, the tawdry are charming. They make a mistake, however, the tawdry, when they paint to look young. Beauty and esprit used to go together. That has gone out now. As long as a woman can look ten years younger than her own daughter she is satisfied. As for conversation, women are only five words in London worth talking to, and two of these are not admitted into good society."

Editors Indicted for Libel. BRIGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Nine indictments were reported to-day against the attaches of the Leader by the grand jury on account of that paper's attitude during the recent cigar-makers' strike. Six are for libel—three against the manager, two against the editor and one against the city editor. There is also one indictment against each of the persons specified, for criminal contempt of court in disregarding the injunction, issued by Judge Forbes, which prohibited all persons from unlawfully encouraging the strikers. The accused furnished $500 on each indictment.

Two Four-Leaf Clovers. New York Letter. Mr. James Grant Wilson, the litterateur, has just returned from a trip to Quebec in company with ex-Poetmaster-general James. In Quebec Mr. Wilson was shown the grave of Francis Scott and his daughter. Scott was the younger brother of Sir Walter Scott, and his daughter was the wife of the graves a four-leaf clover, and the incident struck him as being a strange and interesting coincidence. The clovers were carefully preserved and have since been mailed to Hope Scott, who is living in Edinburgh.

Runs in the Family. New York Sun. In this city there is a drunkard forty-five years old who has a drunken son seventy years old and a drunken son twenty-two years old. It is said that the father has drunk his way through the family through several generations in the male line.

Canadians Induced to Leave Michigan. OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 23.—Mr. Ed McInnis, traveling emigration agent for the Department of Agriculture, has just returned from a trip through Michigan. During his visit to that State he was instrumental in inducing twenty-seven Canadian families to return to the Dominion and settle in the Northwest. He says there will be more cases of repatriation in the spring.

The Situation in Wisconsin. New York Evening Post (Dem.). So far as can be judged at this distance, the Democrats have weakened their natural strength by their present position, and it will not be surprising if the Republican majority passes 50,000. Whatever the majority may be, Wisconsin cannot be held this year to give, by the voters of its State ticket, a test of popular feeling on the national questions of the day.

Does Without Saying. Charleston News and Courier. We are unwilling to believe that either side will resort to violence or bloodshed at the ballot-box next month, and we expect that the election will pass off quietly; but if there shall be any disturbance it does not require the gift of prophecy to enable one to predict that the negroes will be the greatest sufferers.

Democratic Dilemma. Chicago Journal. The preposterous "tariff reform" newspaper have got to stop printing "higher-price" editorials or stop reprinting "lower-price" advertisements. To have a thirty-line "ad" contradict a column in the edition which is exasperating in one sense but amusing in another.

Hint to Mills. Milwaukee Sentinel. Roger C. Mills should return the money he received from the Democratic committee in this State—it was $300 for his speech. He did not earn the money, and it is needed for bets as the size of Hoard's majority.

Foul Play Condemned. Boston Herald (Ind. Dem.). There is enormous effort making in the McKinley district out in Ohio. If Mr. McKinley is elected, it will be one of the greatest triumphs known in politics, and will altogether put Speaker Reed's success in the shade. Providing it can be done without the bribing of voters, there are a good many people not Republicans who will have few fears of a shift over to the Democrats made a mistake when they undertook to gerrymander so able and popular a man out of Congress.

Not Retaliation. Philadelphia Times. The Woman's Christian Union has petitioned the Emperor of China to put a stop to the horrible practice of compressing the women's feet there out of all natural proportion. This is not, as might be supposed, a retaliatory step for the women of China having petitioned President Harrison to prevent the barbarous custom of American women compressing their waists out of all natural form by artificial contrivances.

So There You Are! Detroit Tribune. The McKinley tariff bill is a law. It is on the statute book to-day. Republican defectors from the Democratic ranks can't disturb it until it has a fair trial. Business is good and everywhere manufactories are being erected and preparations being made for a revival of trade.
