

FAILURE OF "DEACON" WHITE

He Tried to Engineer a Corn "Corner" and Got Caught on a Falling Market.

New York and Chicago Houses of S. V. White & Co. and a Pittsburg Concern Suspend—Assignee and Receiver Appointed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—For the third time in his business career in Wall street, Stephen V. White was today compelled to suspend payment. On the two previous occasions he got on his feet and paid his creditors in full. The grit, the vigor, the fighting qualities of Mr. White, his many friends say, will bring him out of the present disaster. Impulsive and possibly as Mr. White is, he makes enemies in the battle of life, but he has the compensation of those generous sentiments which has brought him many friends, and which promise to bring to him the support necessary to put him in fighting trim once more. Mr. White is too picturesque a figure for Wall street to lose, and his abilities are sure to find reinforcement powers that appreciate his importance practically. The announcement of the suspension brought a flood of sympathetic letters, and the statement that he expected to resume as an early day found ready believers.

The simple announcement of the Stock Exchange to-day that the firm of S. V. White & Co., at No. 36 Wall street, had made an assignment, was sensational because of the long prominence of the concern in the speculative world. Its effect on the stock market was comparatively small, because of the official statement which came quickly afterward that there were few contracts to be closed out in railway securities, and the failure was due to unfortunate ventures in grain. In several circles the news was only a moderate surprise, for rumors about the house had been half whispered for a week, because of its known position on the corn market. Mr. White freely received reporters to-day, but he would make no more than a statement covered by the usual phraseology largely long of corn, and in closing it out the depreciation, with the calls for margins, which were unusually heavy, exhausted his resources, and there was nothing left but to stop and assign. My assignee is Charles W. Gould, lawyer of New York city. Mr. White subsequently declared that there were no other houses involved in the failure. The Chicago branch of S. V. White & Co. announced its suspension as a matter of course. Late to-day word came that the Pittsburg correspondents, Rea Bros. & Co., had temporarily suspended. It could not be found out how their accounts stood. Samuel Rea, one of the members, has been a member of the Stock Exchange since Nov. 3, 1887.

WHY MR. WHITE FAILED.

The story of the failure of S. V. White & Co. is essentially simple. The house started to "bull" corn at a propitious time, but it met an opposition from Chicago speculators and from subsequent remarkable natural developments which went its way. The losses that attached to his attitude in the stock market are said to be only additional to the main cause. Mr. White started to buy corn early in July, when the price of September options was 48 cents in Chicago, practically the lowest point of the year. The "bull" deal was successful for a time. Prices at Chicago rose to 68 cents on August 2, and fell to 62 cents on August 29, and on Sept. 5 touched 60 cents. But all the conditions of nature fought against Mr. White's endeavors. From the top notch, 60 cents, corn declined steadily until it sold on Monday at 48 cents. Mr. White, up to Sunday, had lost $1,000,000, what was "wind" from hostile speculators. But when this month opened his brokers were forced to take cash orders to sustain the general market, and the deliveries have been averaging about 350,000 bushels a day. As the current prices turned downward the calls for margins increased until the capital of the man who was fighting the stars in their course was out.

Mr. White may have suffered incidentally from combined opposition in Chicago. It is only in the last few months that he became noted as a grain speculator. A well-informed grain man put the position this way: "Mr. White came to Chicago as a 'tender-foot,' he was called in the 'junks of the windy city.' The Chicago Board of Trade almost to a man fought his corn deal and he had to conduct his campaign one thousand miles from the scene of action." There are various estimates of the amount of corn which S. V. White & Co. were carrying. They range from ten to fifteen million bushels. It is impossible to guess what the average cost may have been. Some rough estimates of the liabilities at $1,500,000, but they are untrustworthy. A few of Mr. White's friends said bluntly "nothing but the loss of his 'bum'." The names of Woehrschlag & Co. and Field, Lindsey & Co. were mentioned as having profited by Mr. White's failure. The Chicago branch of the New York houses, which were not holding their orders asserting that they were protected by ample margins against losses.

Receiver Appointed for the Chicago Branch.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Before business began at the Board of Trade, this morning, the secretary of the board gave notice that White & Co., finding themselves unable to meet their obligations, desired those who had traded with them to close them out under the rules. This announcement, though not unexpected in some quarters, created consternation for a moment, especially in the corn pits, where the firm held the heaviest line of open trades. This firm was known to be the leading one of the band of brokers who have been representing the clique in the "bull" deal which has been running in September and October for several weeks. Many millions of bushels of September and October futures have been bought by this mysterious syndicate whose identity traders have in vain tried to disclose, but whose names may come out as a result of today's failure. White & Co. had a long line of trades in wheat, but not nearly so large as those in corn. The understanding here is that the firm has been working on both sides, both in grain and stocks, being long on the former and short on the latter, and that this position has brought the result already known.

On the application of Arthur W. Allen, United States Circuit Judge Gresham this evening appointed the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank receiver of the firm of S. V. White & Co., the Chicago branch of the New York concern. The Chicago house is composed of the members of the New York concern, and S. V. White's sons, Arthur White and Arthur W. Allen, the resident manager and the partner in applying to have the receiver appointed. The bill was very brief, reciting the organization of the firm Sept. 15, 1887, at which time the assignment of the New York firm the Chicago branch was unable to continue business, and hence the receiver was appointed. Attorney Frussing said to-night that the assets and liabilities cannot yet be ascertained, but the transactions in grain reached into the millions. He said that "Old Hutch" that was working the market. The corn was purchased here for cash and the enormous sums required to buy it were raised by the firm through the sale of the security being the corn itself. The receiver was appointed in order to prevent some creditors attaching some assets and thus freezing out others to whom the firm is indebted. We will know better to-morrow how we stand. The failure shows, however, that the farmers did not hold their corn back, because if they had this would not have happened.

WON BY INDIANA CANTONS

First Prize in the Odd-Fellows' Drill at St. Louis Captured by Elwood.

Third Carried Off by Indianapolis, No. 2, and the Second in the Individual Drill Awarded to Chevalier Jones.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22.—A majority of the visiting Odd-fellows wended their way to the fair grounds this morning to witness the prize drills, which were the main feature of to-day's programme of entertainment. The weather was very hot and oppressive, and especially to the uniformed cantons. The maneuvers were carried out splendidly. The drawing of lots for position in the canton drill for the $1,000 prize resulted as follows: First, Canton No. 3, of St. Joseph, Mo., Capt. R. M. Abernombie; second, Canton Elwood, No. 33, Department of Indiana, Capt. Ned Nuzem; third, Canton No. 2, Indianapolis, Ind., Capt. J. M. Bodine; fourth, Canton Frank, No. 55, Germantown, O., Capt. Edward Rott; fifth, Canton Lincoln, No. 17, Joplin, Mo.; sixth, Canton Atkins, No. 1, Paducah, Ky., Capt. Wm. Crouse; seventh, Canton Occidental, Chicago, Captain E. H. Switzer.

The first event on the programme was a purse of $1,700, divided into three parts, hung up for the best drilled canton, for which six cantons were entered. The drill was according to the tactics in use in the regular army and militia. St. Louis refrained from competing, owing to the custom prevalent in the order, that home cantons do not enter. The decisions of the judges, rendered on a basis of 100 per cent. for perfection, were as follows: Canton Elwood, No. 33, of the Department of Indiana, first, with percentage of 94.33; Canton Frank, No. 55, of Germantown, O., second, 81.73; Canton Indianapolis, No. 2, of Indiana, third, 80.10; Canton Occidental, No. 1, of Chicago, fourth, 78.50; Canton Lincoln, No. 17, of Joplin, Mo., fifth, 72.10; Canton St. Joseph, of St. Joseph, Mo., sixth, 70.00.

The next event, the individual drill, for a purse of $150, divided into three, resulted: Chevalier T. R. H. Switzer, Canton Occidental, Chicago, first; Chevalier J. W. Jones, Canton Indianapolis, second; Chevalier J. Coyle, Canton Indianapolis, third.

The judges were Capt. C. W. O'Connor, of the United States Cavalry; Capt. C. Sinclair, of Company G, First Regiment N. G. M., and Capt. F. M. Rumbold, of Battery A, N. G. M. After the drill a large programme of athletic events consumed the remainder of the afternoon. The Sovereign Grand Lodge of Odd-fellows met again this morning, but after a brief session adjourned until to-morrow. All the jurisdictions are represented in the lodge excepting Denmark and Switzerland. Two of the most important questions which will come before the Grand Lodge are those of age limitation and the eligibility of liquor takers.

The following are the lucky Odd-fellows who were last night honored with the decorations of the Order: Chevalier T. R. H. Switzer, Gen. John C. Underwood, Past Grand Masters T. P. Riley and E. R. Shipley, of Missouri; D. W. Maratta, of New York; Col. Charles E. Wyman, and E. H. Cobb, of Chicago; Chevaliers J. W. and E. F. Wilkinson, of Kansas City; Mrs. J. F. Kavanagh, of Kansas City; Mrs. McGowan, of Chicago, and a few others.

Catholics Can Be Odd-Fellows.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—A question of great interest to the Roman Catholic Church and its relations to secret societies has been raised by a dispatch from Addison, N. Y., stating that one Dennis O'Keefe, of that place, is at once a Catholic entitled to the privileges of the church, and an Odd-fellow in good standing. It is stated that the question as to raising the ban against Catholics in secret societies has been referred to Archbishop Corrigan. The Archbishop is at present out of town, but Father Lavelle, his secretary, said that, while he could not say positively as to Archbishop Corrigan's decision in this particular case, he believed that it was no longer a question of the Roman Catholic Church to be an Odd-fellow.

SURGEONS AND PHYSICIANS.

Triennial Congress of America's Greatest Medical Association—Yesterday's Topics. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Dr. W. N. Wishard and A. W. Brayton, of Indiana, and Charles S. Bond and J. R. Weist, of Richmond, are registered at the Triennial Congress of American Surgeons and Physicians, which began its session here this afternoon.

The congress is composed of the members of the following national societies: American Ophthalmological Society, American Otological Society, American Neurological Society, American Gynecological Society, American Dermatological Society, American Laryngological Association, American Surgical Association, American Climatological Society, Association of American Physicians, American Association of Andrology and Syphilology, American Orthopedic Association, American Physiological Society, Association of American Anatomists, American Pediatric Society. Many of these branch organizations met this morning and transacted their individual business.

The general meeting was called to order shortly after 8 o'clock, and the conference started to discuss "Conditions Underlying the Infection of Wounds," including a discussion of disinfection, with reference to treatment of wounds of relation of bacteria to suppuration, for the resistance of tissue, to the multiplication of bacteria and the effects of antiseptic agents on wounds. The members have started a project for erecting a statue to Benjamin Rush, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, a member of the original federal constitutional convention, and surgeon-general and physician-general of the revolutionary army, who has been styled "the greatest physician this country has ever produced." The proposed site of the statue is at the approach to the National Medical Library and Medical Museum in this city.

NOT VERY CLOSE TOGETHER

Board of Public Works and the Mooney Syndicate Vary Much in Their Ideas.

Conference on the Street-Railroad Question Last Night Which Does Not Develop Much Hope of Competition.

Walter T. Cox, representing the Mooney syndicate of Cincinnati capitalists, met with the Board of Public Works last evening and discussed street-car franchises and routes. There is still a considerable margin between what Mr. Cox thinks would be fair and equitable and what the board will insist upon. It is very certain that this board will never grant a franchise upon such terms as Mr. Cox is asking. They still hold that any new companies coming in must bind themselves to pave between their tracks, and there appeared no disposition to waive the right to impose a tax on the gross receipts. Mr. Cox, on the other hand, argued that, considering the advantageous terms under which the Citizens' company is operating a license on cars was all that the city could justly claim, and that the levying of additional tribute would savor of unjust discrimination. No decision in this matter was reached, and so far as the street-car progress was made, Mr. Cox asked for further time to confer with his people at Cincinnati, as it was desired to consider more carefully the several propositions the city has made.

The question of routes was discussed in a general way. The board thought it might be possible to agree on the street-car that would be favorable and agreeable, but didn't want to give up Tennessee street. In discussing the proposed street-car, Mr. Cox expressed a willingness to turn over to Mr. Cox and his people the franchise awarded to the old Broad Riddle Rapid-transit Company, down West street to East street, west on cherry to East, south on East to West on West, south on East to Delaware, and down Delaware to West street. Mr. Cox expressed himself as not averse to this plan, but there exist legal complications not easily surmounted. The franchise awarded this morning to the rapid-transit combination does not expire until December, 1892, and inasmuch as they are likely to secure the street-car franchise right of way, they are not likely to be willing to let go. The matter of securing a northern route appears to be with more difficulty than either of the other projected lines. Since the Citizens' company grabbed Tallmadge there appears to be some progress from the north, and the board is not yet able to see its way clear to grant a franchise on Delaware north of Massachusetts street. Another conference between Mr. Cox and the Board of Public Works will be held in the near future, when they will attempt to get upon common grounds.

BARNUM'S BIG SHOW.

Remarkable Street Parade—Bewildering Display Under the Great Canvas.

The two exhibitions of Barnum & Bailey's great show yesterday attracted thousands of people to the streets and grounds. Taken with the parade, the coming of a big circus means a kind of an all-day holiday with the majority of people. Anticipation antedates the actual exhibit, and a sense of physical discomfort follows the two hours of eager attention paid to the multitudinous performances in the closely-packed and ill-ventilated tent. The parade yesterday passed through two immense throngs on either side of the street. In spite of the great difficulties in the way the street exhibit had several novel features, while the array of gilt and gold, plate-glass and ornament, kept the mind in a constant state of wonder. The menagerie is proved what it claims to be, the largest traveling aggregation on earth. The great herd of trained elephants attracted special attention. A noticeable feature of the show was the immense number of fine horses, whose brilliant gait and evidence of training in spite of their circus and train life, they received the best of attention. At the show the huge canvas was itself a sight worth seeing. The usual side-show, with its freaks of nature, monstrous, grotesque or disgusting, offered a satisfactory entertainment. The equestrian and acrobatic acts and the Japanese performances were also favorite numbers of the programme. A thousand people witnessed the after-performance, or "concert," and went away feeling dazed, as is usual in such a case. The street-car company had a fine performance, with wonderful expedition and without a single accident.

UNDER A CAVING BANK.

Two Men Injured on Archer Avenue While Digging Out Sand.

Two men employed by James Sheehan, the contractor, were badly injured yesterday morning by the caving in of an embankment at which they were working on Archer avenue, near Michigan street. Their names are George Tire, No. 268 South Illinois street, and John Staley, No. 22 Nebraska street. They were loading their wagons from a stratum of sand in the hillside, and had worked in under a mass of black clay. It was accounted dangerous, and it is said they had been warned to work in a less exposed place. Tire was wounded about the hip, and Staley received a heavy weight of earth. Staley was thrown against a wagon wheel on his breast, and pinned there in a very painful position. The accident attracted a large crowd, whose united effort succeeded in rescuing the men from the mass of dirt. The ambulances of Kretzschmar & Whitsett, of Flanner & Buchman were called, and conveyed the men to their homes. Staley's injuries, it is feared, are fatal.

IN THE TWENTY-FIRST ROUND

Cal McCarthy Knocked Out Tommy Warren at New Orleans in a Fight for $1,500.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 22.—The fight today at the Olympic Club between Tommy Warren and Cal McCarthy was a grand success. Nearly four thousand persons filled the handsomely appointed arena. Warren and McCarthy are two of the most foremost men in their class. It was apprehended that on account of the grand jury indictments against the principals the match would not come off, but the Olympic Club is secure in its quarterly boxing matches, inasmuch as the State law allows contests with five-ounce gloves in regularly chartered organizations. Hence, when acting Mayor Clark received the opinion of City Attorney Hunt that the city officials could not refuse the permit to the club, there was general rejoicing by the sporting fraternity. The Olympic managers appreciate the fact that they enjoy the confidence of the State and city officials, and consequently they were more cautious than ever with to-night's entertainment. McCarthy and Warren were instructed by the referee that a decision would be made when it became apparent that one or the other's chance to win had passed. This new feature in ring encounters will be appreciated by all. McCarthy trained for this match at Carrollton, La., and Warren trained at Bay St. Louis, Miss. Both men weighed in at the club-rooms, at 6 o'clock this afternoon, under the 15-pound limit. The purse for which the men contended was $1,500, of which $1,200 was to go to the winner and $300 to the loser. McCarthy and Warren met in the first round, and in each round thereafter. In the twentieth round he was knocked down, and was only saved by time being called. In the twenty-first round Warren again went down, and was counted out.

Mexican Raiders Surrounded.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 22.—General Stanley has telegrams to-day from General Lazo, commander of the Fourth military zone, in the state of Coahuila, Mexico, that Garza and his band have fled. They were twenty-two miles from Reynosa Monday and are scattered in order to try and cross the Rio Grande between Salinas and Brownsville. The rest are some-where between Salinas and Brownsville, trying to get back. One thousand mounted Mexican troops under Colonels Hernandez and Carras have them almost surrounded and American troops are on this side waiting to intercept any of the band who may attempt to cross. General Lazo says that the object of the band was robbery, and that the raid had no political significance.
