

THE DAILY JOURNAL

SATURDAY, MAY 6, 1933.

WASHINGTON OFFICE—515 Fourteenth St.

Telephone Calls. Business Office.....2381 Editorial Rooms.....242

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. DAILY BY MAIL. Daily only, one month.....$7.70

Reduced Rates to Clubs. Subscribers with any of our numerous agents or send subscriptions to the

JOURNAL NEWSPAPER COMPANY, INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

Persons reading the Journal through the mails in the United States should put on a postage stamp

AH communications intended for publication in this paper must, in order to receive attention, be accompanied by the name and address of the writer.

THE INDIANAPOLIS JOURNAL. Can be found at the following places:

PARIS—American Exchange in Paris, 30 Boulevard des Capucines.

PHILADELPHIA—A. F. Kemble, 3733 Lancaster Avenue.

CINCINNATI—J. B. Hawley, 100, 154 Vine street.

LOUISVILLE—C. T. Deering, northwest corner Third and Jefferson streets.

ST. LOUIS—Union News Co., Union Depot.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Riggs House and Ebbitt House.

HAVING set aside the Chinese restriction act, why cannot the President veto the Sherman silver act?

If the Supreme Court holds the Chinese exclusion act constitutional, will Czar Cleveland enforce it or will he appoint a "my commissioner" to investigate and report upon it?

The arguments which two of the United States counsel have made before the Behring sea court show that General Harrison knows a full-grown lawyer when he meets him.

DURING April of this year only 744 passports were issued against 1,478 in April, 1932, which indicates that the American tourist is not replenishing the gold store of Europe as liberally as last season.

It appears that England, Scotland and Wales gave 14 majority against the home-rule bill, but the Irish majority of 57 votes wiped out the anti-ministry vote and left Mr. Gladstone a majority of 43.

The trouble with the so-called "industrial stocks" in the New York market appears to be that they are more speculative than industrial.

The public is solemnly informed since Mr. Cleveland's return to Washington, that he bears no marks or bruises as a result of the accident which sustained in New York.

Now that Mr. Edward Atkinson, muggump and statistician, says that Messrs. Holmes and Lord, who collected the statistics concerning farm and home mortgages for the census, "are two of the most thoroughly competent men in the country," will the Democratic organs cease assailing their work, even if it does disprove their calamity prophecies?

Now it appears that the President's new organ in New York, the Times, pronounces the argument of Mr. Conduet for the United States, in the Behring sea case, "grotesque."

The New York Herald's Hawaii correspondent betrays a decided sympathy for the deposed Queen, and makes it appear that the greater part of the people favor her restoration to her little throne.

The reports of commercial and financial agencies show that the general business of the country is depressed.

Everything moves sluggishly and there is an evident disposition to go slow and not to branch out.

The fact that Senator Vest, of Missouri, is a member of the committee on finance gives importance to his views on the currency question.

It is evident that some compromise must be effected. The radically diverse opinions on the silver question and what that compromise shall be is the practical inquiry.

It is reported that the managers of the world's fair were not any too prompt in testing the prices charged at the restaurants within the grounds.

The present legal ratio is sixteen to one, and it is assumed that free coinage at the ratio proposed would enhance the value of silver so as to bring about parity with gold.

This bill will be bitterly fought by the reported where an alleged French restaurateur had the audacity to charge 10 cents for the use of a bare, cold china plate, while his coffee was listed at 15 cents.

In another instance a barmaid made out a check for 90 cents, and on finding that she had not a greenhorn to deal with, changed it to 30 cents.

Many such cases of imposition and extortion are reported. The managers cannot put a stop to this sort of thing too soon.

The public has been assured in the strongest manner that no such practices would be allowed in the grounds, and Chicago papers have declared repeatedly that there would be no raising of prices in the city.

If people who go there find these representations untrue, it will soon get abroad and injure the fair very materially.

It is probable, however, that the managers of the fair will promptly suppress overcharges within the grounds.

Another cause of complaint which should be removed is the absence of seats on the grounds. There is no chance for visitors to rest unless they sit on the ground.

Sightseeing is very tiresome, and people cannot be expected to stand or walk all day.

There should be an abundance of free seats provided, and they should be placed thickly, where they would command pleasant views.

AN INAUSPICIOUS REASON FOR STRIKES.

The present season an inauspicious time for the extensive strikes which are threatened here and there to secure an advance of wages, particularly in those employments for which many people are qualified without great delay.

If there is not an absolute surplus of labor in the country at the present time, the volume of immigration or a disturbance in the industries of the country may produce such a surplus at any time.

Considering the sharp competition in all branches of business, it is very doubtful if there are many industries in which the wages can be materially advanced without injury to employers which they cannot sustain.

There is the threatened strike of the cooks in Chicago. It is not probable that the employers can submit to an advance of 30 per cent, without subjecting many of them to loss.

Such a strike may annoy many people and subject many others to loss, but there are many cooks who have not so satisfactory employment as have those in Chicago, and they will naturally rush to take the places of those who strike if they do so.

Unions may deter many, but people who are seeking employment will not be prevented from getting it where they can find it.

Wages have been advancing in this country the past five or six years. Indeed, the tendency for twenty-five years, considering the purchasing power of money, has been to higher rates.

Wages in the manufacturing States and larger cities of this country are double the rate paid elsewhere. In some branches it will be very difficult to maintain the present standard.

The reasons are obvious. Under the auspices of the administration, leading Democrats are preparing a tariff bill which will be presented in the House as a party measure, and which the official influence of the administration, with its patronage, will be put forth to enact.

Upon the free list will be put coal, iron ore, wool, etc. The duties upon the whole line of manufactures will be reduced to a point at which the largest revenues can be derived.

If the duties on all grades of the manufactures of iron, steel, wool and cotton, and upon earthenware and glass are reduced 25 or 35 per cent, millions of dollars' worth of these goods will be imported to take the place of similar merchandise now manufactured at home.

In such event one of two things must follow: Either wages must be reduced to a point which will enable the American producer to compete with European competitors or the American mills must close.

Strikes will occur under such conditions, not to secure higher wages, but to resist a lower scale.

Lower wages in industries competing with those of Europe is the natural and irrevocable result of the policy which Mr. Cleveland and his party are pledged to adopt and to carry out, and which experts under the Cleveland policy are now preparing a bill for Congress to enact.

In the face of such conditions, when manufacturing wages must either be reduced or the factories must be closed, sensible people must see that strikes for higher wages in any branch of employment must fail, and, therefore, must be unwise.

It is best to look these conditions in the face before action is resolved upon.

The fact that Senator Vest, of Missouri, is a member of the committee on finance gives importance to his views on the currency question.

It is evident that some compromise must be effected. The radically diverse opinions on the silver question and what that compromise shall be is the practical inquiry.

It is reported that the managers of the world's fair were not any too prompt in testing the prices charged at the restaurants within the grounds.

The present legal ratio is sixteen to one, and it is assumed that free coinage at the ratio proposed would enhance the value of silver so as to bring about parity with gold.

This bill will be bitterly fought by the Senators and Representatives from the silver-producing States, but such measure will be adopted.

Six months ago Senator Vest would not listen to any proposition of compromise on the silver question. He was for free coinage at the present ratio, and nothing else. It is evident from the way he talks now that he is becoming a little more reasonable.

THAT sturdy old patriot, Cassius M. Clay, who is now in his eighty-fourth year, writes from his Kentucky home to the New York Sun as follows:

I did all I could to prevent America's allowing the British to get possession of the western coast on the Pacific ocean.

I was for the supremacy in Samoa. I was for adding Alaska and claim to be the chief of the annexation, as I wrote you long ago in the Sun.

I am now for holding the Hawaiian Isles. I was for the purchase of the Alaska territory and have had no war with Mexico and no civil war, Canada would have come to us voluntarily, and then slavery would have been abolished before the progress of civilization.

If Great Britain seizes the Pacific Islands the "open door" policy of the United States will be null and void, and England's fleet will be a menace to us.

I am an American citizen and I stand for the Republic to the death!

Mr. Clay forgot to mention in this letter that in 1850 he publicly supported the revolutionary movement in Cuba, and became president of the Cuban Aid Society. The old man has a good record as a straight American and friend of freedom.

THE Supreme Court of Michigan has sustained the ordinance of Detroit requiring the street railways to sell eight passage tickets for 25 cents during certain hours for the benefit of workmen, on the ground that "the right of the municipality, under the statute, to refuse its consent to the operation of a street, railroad in the streets is absolute, and its power in the first instance to impose conditions is unlimited."

ONE of the guards in the Columbian exposition has been arrested for committing larceny without a concession.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: Can a person file a schedule of property against any debt except taxes and what amount of property can be exempted from sale?

Yes. The amount of property exempt from execution is $500.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: Whose duty is it to collect the corporation taxes in towns and cities?

In towns the county treasurer, and in cities the city treasurer.

BUBBLES IN THE AIR.

As to looks.

"It is a queer thing about good looks," says the philosopher. "They enable a woman to get married soon, while they enable a man to lodge matrimony for a long time."

Whistle—What do you think of this idea of building yards of paper?

Wabble—Huh! That's nothing new. People had paper hats when I was a small boy.

The Woes of Servitude.

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is only the new paper that he is making."

"I don't see why you prefer working in a store eight hours a day to putting in five or six hours a day at home?"

"It is just this," replied the young woman who has the answer. "When one works in a store it is