

THE OLD AND THE NEW.

Changes take place in the medical profession as in all branches of science. We believe the greatest good will follow that generous offer made by Dr. Greene, of 45 West Fourteenth street, New York, who invites all persons, far and near, suffering from any form of disease, to write him a description of their complaints, and he will send them, free of charge, a complete explanation of their disease, with advice how to be cured. He gives most careful and explicit attention to all letters and explains each symptom so carefully that you cannot fail to understand exactly what ails you.

Dr. Greene is our most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He is the discoverer of that famous medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura, blood and nerve remedy, which is doing such a vast amount of good all over the world. He is a pioneer in his practice but harmless vegetable remedies, which can in no manner injure you. This great system of giving consultation and advice through letter correspondence, free of charge, is especially important to the poor and those living at a distance from large cities, as such consultation and advice were formerly attended by great expense. The doctor is having wonderful success in treating the sick through letter correspondence, and if you will write him about your disease it will undoubtedly lead to your cure.

INDIANA LEADS.

It Has the Most Important Gas Field in the Country.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The growing confinement of the consumption of natural gas to domestic use is noted in the annual report of Special Agent Joseph D. Weeks of the United States Geological Survey. The only State in which its use for manufacturing purposes increased in 1893 was Indiana. The total value of natural gas consumed in the country in the year was $13,346,250, against $14,800,714 in 1892. Higher prices charged for the gas in 1893 was the cause of the decrease. The greatest value of gas consumed in the one year was in Indiana, $2,629,875 in 1893. Since that time there has been a gradual decline, with an aggregate of about $8,900,000 for the year ending in 1893. All States show falling off in the value of coal and wood displaced by the use of gas. Pennsylvania was $420,000, in Ohio, $48,000, and in Indiana about $1,300. The report shows that in Indiana the consumption of gas increased during the year to 1,189,657 in Pennsylvania, 730,375 in Indiana and 1,046,608 in Ohio. The value of gas consumed in Indiana was $1,282,375 in 1893, since which it has fallen to $1,189,657. The report shows the largest falling off in production for the year. For 1892 the amount was $2,100,000, while in 1893 it was $1,810,000.

PHYSICAL REFORMS.

Attention of the physical constitution often comes to the attention of the physician only when the patient has contracted through ignorance or carelessness the habit of eating and drinking in excess. Such habits result in loss of vitality, nervous system, nervous exhaustion, nervous debility, impaired memory, low spirits, irritable temper, and a thousand and one derangements of mind and body. Epilepsy, paralysis, softening of the brain, and even demented insanity sometimes result from such reckless self-abuse. To reach, reclaim and restore such unfortunate to health and happiness, is the aim of the publishers of a book written in plain, but concise language, on the nature, symptoms and curability, by home treatment, of such diseases. This book will be sent sealed in plain envelope, on receipt of ten cents in stamps by post note.

Mrs. Eyster Silences Scandal Mongers During Parker-McAfee Trial—Mrs. Eyster Stricken Suddenly.

SPECIAL TO THE INDIANAPOLIS JOURNAL. MUNCIE, Ind., April 27.—To-day Police Court Judge Behmer, in the Bailey murder case, again refused bail to Frank Benadum and Michael Gorman, Mr. Behmer had promised the attorneys to consider arguments for bail to-day, but he was quick in making his final decision, and before the arguments had been made he informed the attorneys for the prisoners that he would not aid in their release from jail under any circumstances, as he had concluded that their crime, if guilty, was not bailable. Continuing, he said: "If I were Benadum I would not seek to be released. I would want the prison bars to protect me from danger at the hands of irate citizens. After the trial Wednesday evening I felt very glad that I had refused the men bail, because of the numerous threats I heard against Benadum, and I feel sure he had been released by the attorney, and that he would be punished if he were not killed. The general feeling that prevailed was frightful and the public opinion against Benadum and Gorman to entertain but one opinion, and I believe that the public opinion is correct. The public opinion against Benadum and Gorman is so strong that the attorney for the proprietor has had little or no regard for the law, and this fact has brought him into the hands of the law. The attorney for the family and his father was a pioneer of the county and a good church member. He was a brother connected with the city police force. There have been many versions of why Benadum murdered the man, but it is that Benadum had a note of several hundred dollars against Benadum, and that since the murder of the man, the paper had found another man, that Benadum had stated that he expected to go before the grand jury on Monday, and that he would in which Benadum fired three shots at his (Benadum's) son, a few weeks ago, when the latter was with a small fire in his father's lot with a small fire in the lot.
