

BEAUTY WITHOUT COST

Free Test Treatments with Each.

Wrinkles and lines removed; hair restored to its natural color and youthful appearance without the use of dyes; your skin cleared of all discolorations, freckles, tan, moles, patches, liver spots, excoriations, redness, sunburn, shine, red nose and the various forms of eczema, acne, pimples, blackheads, roughness, and, in fact, every skin blemish, removed and cured by MME. M. REMA, the world's greatest complexion specialist...

Her success has driven many pretenders out of the business and caused many imitators and inexperienced novices to spring up, who depend upon their close imitations and extensive advertising to attract customers. Their failure to give satisfaction with their cheap, worthless and invariably injurious preparations cause many ladies to hesitate with doubt and fear. Ladies will consult their best interests by calling at the office on the corner of Madison and Dearborn streets, where MME. REMA has many imitators, but no equal in the science of Dermatology and Beauty Culture.

Stolen Big Recovered.

Robert Fleming was arrested yesterday afternoon at Crawfordsville and acknowledged stealing a horse and buggy from David Rosack's livery stable, on West Merrill street, last Thursday. He had tried to sell the outfit for $5, which led to his arrest. He was brought to this city last night. He has laid around Crawfordsville for several days.

Gen. Harrison Leaves for the East.

General Harrison left the city for New York. He will visit relatives there for a short time, and during his absence will visit a number of Eastern points. He left the city about 10 o'clock yesterday morning for the time of his departure just what points he would visit nor how long he would be absent.

GOVERNOR INDIGNANT AT A REPORT OF A FEDERAL-STATE ROW.

Characterizes an Article as a Tissue of Falsehoods—A Deputy's Experience at Whitting.

Governor Matthews did not order troops to Brazil yesterday, Marshal Hawkins desiring an opportunity of making good his claim that he and his deputies can move the coal tied up there. During his delay moments yesterday the Governor was occupied in trying to figure out how it was possible for a reporter to distort facts in the bar-faced manner practiced by a morning paper reporter in an alleged interview at the executive's home on Friday night. Both he and Major T. M. DeFrees, who was present, deny the statements made by the reporter in that interview. They are supported by the correspondent of a Chicago paper, who was there, and who also declares the conversation reported in the paper to be largely imaginary. Major DeFrees says he made no attempt to see Judge Baker Friday night, as alleged, and that he does not say Judge Baker could order out federal troops. In fact, the report was characterized as a tissue of falsehoods.

It has never been known that Governor Matthews sent Major DeFrees to Hammond a week before the State militia was ordered out. The very careful examination of existing conditions. The Governor felt confident that he would have to order the militia there and wanted to be thoroughly posted in advance. The State line was drawn at Hammond, Ind., and he was supported by his instructions, Major DeFrees argued, by his General, Major or his representative to furnish two hundred regulars to co-operate with the State troops if it became necessary. The Governor's intention among which was the State-line problem. Major DeFrees had arranged to be on duty for the transportation of the two hundred regulars from Fort Sheridan, as well as a troop of cavalry. The railroad company had even gone so far as to set out a special train for the purpose of conveying the troops, and it was understood that the latter should use them as long as they remained at Hammond. The State troops were to be kept at the depot until they were ordered to move. It was deemed necessary. This was a bit of military history until to-day, but the statement that it was necessary to plead that Governor Matthews before he would send troops to Hammond brought out what might never have been told. While it is a little moment now, the Governor's action in sending Major DeFrees to Hammond to arrange matters, as detailed above, shows that he was not as ignorant as he is represented to be about this imbroglio between you and District Attorney Barker. The Governor was asked by a Journal reporter.

"There are no federal troops in Hammond," the federal authorities and myself of which I am aware. I do not believe Mr. Burke was correctly understood. I am sorry to say this because the statements attributed to me are not true. I am sure it is too able a lawyer to express the opinion about sending State troops to Brazil as reported.

"The report in the Sentinel contains conversation between Colonel DeFrees and myself which is entirely untrue. I am sorry to say this because the statements attributed to me are not true. I am sure it is too able a lawyer to express the opinion about sending State troops to Brazil as reported.

OVER FOUR HUNDRED DEPUTIES.

Marshal Hawkins' Roster Last Night—Quiet at Brazil.

Late advices last night from Brazil informed the United States marshal of the safe arrival and departure of the mail train. To-morrow twenty deputies stationed at Brazil will be reinforced by many more, and an effort will be made to move the coal trains in the yards of the C. & E. I. railway. Marshal Hawkins said last night that he felt amply able to cope with the trouble at Brazil without the assistance of the State troops. Twenty-five warrants were yesterday issued for local violators of the federal law, but the marshal is unable to secure the names of any of those named. The United States marshal, at midnight last night, had 48 deputies in his service, distributed as follows: Indianapolis, 150; Fort Wayne, 28; Shelby, 2; Ellettsville, 2; Hammond, 24; Brazil, 24; Howell Station, 12; Clinton, 12; Anderson, 16; Michigan City, 16; Ellettsville, 16; Lafayette, 16; Frankfort, 4; Garrett, 4; Peru, 4; Warsaw, 3; Huntington, 3; Terre Haute, 3; Jefferson, 2; Marion, 1; New Albany, 2; Jeffersonville, 2; Marion, 1. Eight men have been relieved of their duties and failed to perform their duty and twenty-five voluntarily surrendered their commissions. Twenty-five different localities have called for aid during the last two weeks, and in but two instances has the marshal failed to enforce the laws. At Hammond and Whitting he was compelled to invoke the assistance of the State.

SCORED THE NEWSPAPERS.

Labor Meeting Turns Out to Be a Very Tame Affair.

Despite the sensational articles in an afternoon paper yesterday, the labor meeting at Mozart Hall last night was a tame affair. Somewhat over a hundred men attended. The meeting was conducted quietly, and the squad of police and deputy marshals detailed to look after the crowd were withdrawn before the session began. Speeches were made by Col. J. B. Maynard, D. F. Kennedy and Major T. C. Keisey, the industrial leader, who is just now sojourning outside of the city on the invitation of the Board of Public Safety. Each of the orators took a turn at the microphone, showing, subsidized press, and the "patriotic railway corporations." Major Keisey related some of his adventures during his overland trip from Omaha, and the press agent of the American Railway Union, who is the law and order policy of the Indianapolis Journal, and extolled the milk-white virtues of the Sentinel. Resolutions were passed including numerous out-of-town newspapers, certain brands of cigars, and the very subtle manner in which the Sentinel has exposed the "moneysed aristocracy." The meeting closed with the following from President Debs: "Our ranks are stone walls. We shall triumph. Stand firm."

EXPERIENCES AT WHITTING.

Deputy Stewart Was Glad to See the Indiana Soldier Boys.

Deputy United States Marshal Stewart is back from Whitting, Lake county, where he was sent last Wednesday with four special agents, Nelson Palmer, Milligan and Belfield. Until Thursday evening, when the militia was sent over to Whitting from Hammond, the experience of Deputy Stewart and his men was thrilling, not to say dangerous. For two days the deputies were at the mercy of a frenzied mob of one hundred Lake Shore and Michigan Central strikers, with a thousand or two of their sympathizers. The deputies were subject to almost every indignity except actual violence, and it seemed that on Thursday evening, just before the arrival of the militia, the mob would resort to the latter extreme. Stewart was handicapped considerably because of the fact that one of the men was unarmed and another was prone to exhibit the white feather, on nearly every occasion where nerve was required to avert an outbreak.

Harrison Williams Insane.

Harrison Williams was declared insane yesterday. He is forty years of age, and imagines he has a number of enemies who are attempting to take his life.

That Irvington Auction.

The sale of five dwelling houses in Irvington, last Wednesday by Messrs. Charles W. Brown & Co., was a great success, and shows what the market is doing in that line. Four of the five houses offered were bid off at prices ranging from $12,500 to $17,500, establishing a record for property well located will sell at fair prices. We commend the enterprise of this firm to others and say to them do likewise.

JUDGE BROWN'S DECISION IN SUIT AGAINST CITIZENS' COMPANY.

The City's Suit Is to Remain in the State Courts—Question of Jurisdiction.

Judge Brown yesterday denied the petition for the removal of the suit of the city against the Citizens' Street-Railroad Company to the federal court. The grounds upon which the ruling was based were that under recent decisions of the United States Supreme Court it is held that the court could not consider the petition for removal to ascertain if there be a federal question involved if the complaint did not show such question. The petitioners contended that the petition for removal should be granted if the cause were such as could have been originally filed in the federal court, and they argued that the court might make use of the petition for removal to ascertain if the cause was such as could have been filed in the federal court.

Armories Were Guarded.

The Union Station has, for several days past, assumed its old-time quiet and now the streets in that vicinity are again as quiet as the train sheds as they were for several days after the strike was practically over. Superintendent Darlington said there was not the least sign of any renewed vigor being infused into the strike in this city.

Union Legion Stands Ready.

The following action was had at the regular meeting of the Union Legion No. 80, Union Veterans Legion, on Friday evening, it being its first meeting since the recent troubles began: "Whereas, Having given the best days of our youth for the preservation of the Union and the enforcement of the laws, and are again confronted with widespread insurrection and an insurrection that should be suppressed; therefore, it is Resolved, That this encampment fully indorse the action of the Union Legion, and that all officers of our city and State who have shown commendable patriotism in promptly suppressing mobs of turbulent people engaged in disturbing the peace, maintaining law and order, and in any time of emergency are needed in support of law and order, they are hereby cordially tendered."

General of Engineer Moehrmann.

General Superintendent Van Winkle, of the Big Four, returned from a visit to Pontiac, sixty-one miles west of this city, on the St. Louis division, where train No. 7 was badly wrecked, Thursday morning, at 2 o'clock. He is positive that the wreck was purposely caused. He has set many detectives to watch the place, and will offer a large reward for the detection of the wreckers.

DEATH OF H. B. SHERMAN.

He Was for Seven Years Manager of the New-Donison.

Word was received yesterday of the death of Mr. H. B. Sherman at his country home, Spring Brook farm, Burnett Junction, Wis. Mr. Sherman was one of the best known and most successful business men of New-Donison was opened in 1887, and Mr. Sherman came here and took charge, and held the position for seven years. He has been proprietor of some of the leading hotels of the country. He was at the Island House, Toledo, and from there went to the Plankinton at Milwaukee, and then to the Denison from Milwaukee. He went to the Nicolet at Minneapolis, and from there to the Chequamegon, at Ashland, Wis. After leaving the latter he went to his farm and devoted his entire time to it for three years. Mr. Sherman had one of the model stock farms of the country, and he was the first to introduce the French horn cow in this country. He was sixty-four years old, and his life had been a most successful one. Many Indianapolis and Indiana friends have expressed their sympathy for the bereaved family. The funeral will take place Tuesday morning at his home.

CANAL A DISEASE BREEDER.

Sanitary Inspector Matlock drove up the canal yesterday to inspect the bed, now that it is emptied of its water. He found the bed of the water course in a very unsanitary condition on account of the draining of the water into a hole in the bed of the canal. The water had stood and is rapidly stagnating. The whole length of the canal bed is one long stretch of soft, silty mud, and the sun's rays upon it is a stench that is nauseating. It would take but a few days for it to become a prolific breeder of disease in its present state. The City Dispensary physicians were summoned and, after working over her two hours, placed her out of danger. She threatened to kill herself later.

She Had No Money to Pay Rent.

Emma Harris, aged forty years, residing at No. 223 East Court street, took morphine with suicidal intent, yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, because she was unable to pay her rent. City Dispensary physicians were summoned and, after working over her two hours, placed her out of danger. She threatened to kill herself later.

A Musical Genie.
