Wife Deserters Getting Numerous. There is an epidemic of wife desertions sweeping over the city. Two or three alleged cases are reported to the police daily. The justice courts also report business in this line as brisk. The reason for so many cases is unknown.

GRAND JURY MAY ACT
CONTRADICTION EVIDENCE BEFORE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE.

Grand Jury Will Be Asked to Examine Little Evidence Last Night—Deadly Center Poles.
It now seems probable that the investigation by the Council committee will have an effect foreign to that which was expected when the investigation was ordered. Some of the members of the committee have decided that there is too much contradictory evidence before it to allow that they consider perjury to pass unnoticed. It has been decided that when the testimony has all been taken the entire stenographic report, or a copy thereof, will be presented to the grand jury for the consideration of that body in numerous cases the evidence has been of a contradictory nature.
Monday afternoon Mr. Stewart testified that he had not in any manner offered commissions or compensation to any city official. The same day City Engineer Brown testified that what he considered an indirect offer had been made to him by Mr. Stewart. He said that while the offer was not a direct one to pay commission it was clear that, feeling a more direct offer would be made, he excused himself and left the room to keep from hearing what he thought might be forthcoming. He also testified that Mr. Stewart had paid him railroad fare to Kokomo and return. He had found a witness, Mr. Stewart paid him the money for the ticket or gave him a railroad ticket, but was positive in his statement that Mr. Stewart had borne the railroad expense of the trip. Mr. Humphrey testified that Mr. Stewart had told him that Mr. Fisher received the same commission on the sale of stone to the city which he received. This was denied by Mr. Stewart. In numerous instances the testimony of Mr. Humphrey in regard to meetings at various places and other things which had occurred, was flatly contradicted by Mr. Stewart.

MORE CONTRADICTION EVIDENCE.
Joe Hogue and Assistant Jeup Don't Agree as to Facts.
The meeting of the Council committee last night proceeded without any startling developments. All of the questioning was aimed to show the engineer's department as having been conducted in a careless manner. Engineer Brown was on the stand most of the evening, during which he testified as to sewer assessments, sewer contracts and a few minor matters concerning which there has been complaints. Joseph Hogue, a discharged member of the engineer's corps, furnished the only testimony of some benefit to the committee in its work. He acknowledged having made blue prints at assistant Jeup's direction on city time for outside persons, and that a portion of the Andrews-street sewer was accepted by an inspector without a proper inspection.
Mr. Brown began his evidence by saying there was $48 paid in extras upon the Kentucky-avenue sewer. He said that where it was found necessary to change the plans there was nothing in the specifications to prohibit it being done, and that he did not think the letting of this additional work without advertising invalidated the contract. He had acted in all cases at the direction of the Board of Works. The extras on the Kentucky-avenue sewer were for constructing the outlet further out into the river than the original plans called for. He explained to the committee how the different sewer districts were laid out. All persons who own property which can be drained by a stated sewer are included in the assessment of that sewer.
"Do you know of any serious mistakes in the assessments where pieces of property have been omitted from the assessment rolls?" asked Mr. Young.
"I know of but two serious mistakes. One of them was on a piece of ground in the northeastern part of the city, which should have been assessed on the Fourteenth-street sewer, but which was not. The other was on a lot which had been assessed twice. The first mistake was made by my predecessor—I don't know how. The other was purely a mistake, and was corrected."
Mr. Brown stated there had been $500 in extras on the Fourteenth-street sewer, and explained that it was paid for making an inlet for the State ditch and another for a small branch at the beginning of the sewer. This additional expense would not have been necessary had the whole scheme for the drainage of the northeastern section of the city been carried out.
"Your interpretation of the specifications, the board could make these additional contracts highly advantageous to the contractors, could they not?" asked Mr. Allen.
"I hardly think so," replied the witness. "The records are all open to the public, and it would not be possible to make such contracts but once."
"Has been some trouble with the East Washington-street sewer?"
"Nothing to speak of," said the witness. "I have any knowledge that Inspector Hogue made a connection to his house with that sewer at the city's expense?"
"Nothing to speak of," said the witness. "I had been anything of that kind for the city's expense?"
"Nothing to speak of," said the witness. "I had been anything of that kind for the city's expense?"

THE DEADLY CENTER POLE.
Council May Be Asked to Provide for Safety of Street-Car Passengers.
"Can it be done to stop the injuring and killing of people by the dangerous center poles in the manner in which George Soelner was killed Sunday, Nov. 27?" was asked the Mayor yesterday.
He studied a moment and then replied that the incident had entirely slipped his memory if he had ever known it. When the circumstances of the injury which resulted in the man's death were related he seemed very much surprised that such an accident could have happened. He said he had no knowledge, after considering the matter a moment he said:
"I don't see any reason, to answer on the spur of the moment, why the City Council could not take the matter up and compel the company to place the proper guards on the poles. It is a matter which I should think the company would do without any compulsion to save damages for injuries and deaths. Such a screen as is used on the sides of the summer cars would effectually prevent accidents."
"Would such action by the Council interfere in any way with the city's present course of ignoring the existence of the poles?" asked the Mayor.
"Can't see that it would. The ordinance need not mention the company at all, but simply provide that no street cars shall be operated on the city streets which are not provided with suitable screens for the protection of pedestrians. Such an ordinance would come within the rights of the Council in its power to pass such ordinances as may be necessary to protect the lives of the citizens. It would be a police regulation, the law being of that term. It is a matter which the Council should act upon."

FELL INTO A CISTERN.
Constable Whitsett's Experience in a Man Hunt.
Justice row, on North Delaware street, has a sensation over, which, justly, the justices and lawyers are laughing. One Arthur Whitsett, a constable in Squire Walpole's court, who lies at his home, No. 34 Yandes street, with two broken ribs, fails to see anything funny in the affair. Very late last night, Constable Whitsett, Huston, Cook, Petty, Soter and Whitsett went to a house on Cook street to arrest a man, who has the reputation of being a bad citizen. The house was surrounded and Petty and Cook entered the front door.
"Where he goes?" asked one of the constables.
Whitsett started around the house, but suddenly disappeared from view, as though the earth had opened and swallowed him. Groans and cries for help were heard, but there was no mistaking the fact that they came from "a man in a well."
Upon investigation it was learned that Whitsett had fallen into a cistern instead of a well. He was pulled out and when he got to the firm ground again, the other constables forgot the man they had come to arrest.
"Laugh, you cheap scoundrels," he said indignantly, "but you see anything funny, but don't lose anything to laugh at."
The cistern had been carelessly left open, and the constables, who were not aware of it, had fallen into it. The man wanted was not found, it being learned that he is safe in old Kentucky, as the constable who had wanted would hardly warrant a trip after him.

JACOB WEINER EXONERATED.
Charge of Embezzlement Dismissed by the Prosecutor.
There was an unusual proceeding in Occasion Court yesterday morning which occasioned considerable surprise to the court officials and the spectators. The charge of embezzlement against Jacob Weiner was dismissed by the counsel for Joseph Lazarus & Co., the firm which had Weiner arrested. In asking that the case be dismissed the attorney stated that he had been mistaken in the evidence against Weiner, and in fact said he had no evidence to show his guilt, as had been shown to his satisfaction that Weiner was in New York at the time of the alleged irregularity. The prosecuting attorney and Judge Stubbs were very much surprised at the turn which the case took and the prosecuting attorney asked the firm's attorney if he did not think he had done a most unwarrantable thing in having a man arrested without first vindicated what evidence could be produced. Mr. Weiner says he is not yet fully vindicated and that nothing less than a large sum in pecuniary damages will satisfy him. He is now making preparation to have a suit filed against the firm which caused his arrest.
Jacob Weiner is the brother of Mrs. Newgard, who was arrested a few days ago at the instance of Joseph Lazarus & Co. of Cincinnati, who charged him with making false representations to them in regard to the solvent condition of the firm. Mrs. Rachel Newgard, thereby defrauding the firm to the amount of $2,000. It was the affidavit also charged that he had in a similar manner defrauded other firms to the amount of $30,000.

Common Law Larceny.
A well-known young man about town was before Superintendent Powell yesterday on an alleged participation in a little transaction which the superintendent said was worthy the attention of the grand jury. A dray driver found a United States bond, valued at $100, near the site of the Scotty Rite fire. The young man purchased it, and shortly afterward a broker called upon the owner, who had advised the superintendent to return the lost bond for a $20 reward. The young man told the superintendent it was not his business to look for the owner, and then the young man was given a score card to three grand jury indictments.

SO NEAR YET SO FAR.
OBEYING NINE COMMANDMENTS WILL NOT SAVE A SOUL.

Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman Talks of the Difference Between Morality and Christianity.
There was another great audience last night at Tomlinson Hall to hear Dr. Chapman preach. The subject was from the text, "Thou art not far from the kingdom of God." The words were spoken by the Savior to the young man who had kept the law. The theme was that though the youth was not far from the kingdom, yet he was not in the kingdom. The speaker labored, and apparently not in vain, to bear witness to the fact that the kingdom of God is not a matter of mere outward conformity, but of the heart. It is in man's own power, said Dr. Chapman, to accept or reject God. He will not convert a man in his will. The act of salvation must be one of volition.
"There was a man in the Springfield, Mass., meetings who had shown that he was much moved by the workings of the spirit," said the evangelist, "and one night, in the mood of being almost persuaded, he stopped in the road on his way home and drew a line. Then he said to himself that if he should determine to step across that line directly it would mean that he would accept God, but if he should go around the line, then it would mean that he had postponed the question for the future. He stepped across directly, and in that instant God revealed himself to the penitent man. So little an act was all that was needed. It was the act of volition of choosing God, and he realized the fullness of the promise at once. God requires that we say, 'I accept—I submit myself unto Thee, O God, and I choose Jesus Christ as my Savior.' I tell you my friends," continued the evangelist with great earnestness, "knowledge of the truth never saved a single soul, but knowing the truth and living by it, that is, being a man, whatever his sin, to the life eternal."
Dr. Chapman discussed the relation of morality as a satisfaction to the soul. He said he had never found one to whom a life of mere morality was a satisfying portion. Morality is not a religion, and he likened it to the dahlia, which florists of all ages have said would be the most beautiful flower on earth if it had an odor commensurate with its color and form. He said that some of those who have been noted for their morality had only the grace of Jesus Christ in their hearts. He said that he had known many of us who profess his name. But, still, he said, he had never known a man who lived in the light of Christian civilization. He said that he had seen a reflection of that light that cometh from Christ.

THE LAST SAD RITES.
FUNERALS OF WM. O. DE VAY AND WM. A. PEELE TOMORROW.
Remains of Latter Arrived in the City Yesterday and the Former Will Arrive Tomorrow.
The body of the late William A. Peelle, formerly Statistician, arrived in the city last evening at 6 o'clock and was taken to the residence of Mrs. Ryan, No. 128 North Mississippi street. It may be viewed there to-day. The funeral will occur tomorrow at 9 a. m., probably from St. Joseph's Church. The interment will occur at Holy Cross Cemetery. Mrs. Peelle and the children accompanied the body.
The death of her husband was due to an accident, as far as is known. On the afternoon of his death he had complained of being very weak and he thought he would take a bath. Mrs. Peelle says she tried to dissuade him, saying that if he felt weak he should defer the bath. But he took a drink of the artesian water of the place and prepared for the bath, his wife assisting him. He went into the bath room alone, where the tub stood half full of warm water, and although Mrs. Peelle was not absent more than four or five minutes, she entered the room she found her husband submerged and unconscious in the water. She rushed to his aid and called for help. Mr. Peelle was still alive, and he lived, though unconscious, for about thirty minutes. It is supposed that in his weak condition he had fallen into the water, being unable to extricate himself. He had been a great sufferer from nervousness for many years. State Treasurer Gall said yesterday that about a year and a half ago Mr. Peelle told him that the doctor had said he was likely to die suddenly at any moment. A week ago Saturday he entered the office of Auditor of State Henderson and shook hands with his late fellow State official, saying he had packed up his household goods and was ready to leave for the train. Not until then, he said, did he realize that he was leaving the scene of his last twenty years of life and that he would never set foot in the city again, when he died in the following Monday. His eyes filled with tears as he left the room. It is stated that he carried a large policy of life insurance, enough to make his family comfortable.

STRUCK AND INSTANTLY KILLED.
Frank Wintergust Knocked Down by a Train—Fall Broke His Neck.
Frank Wintergust, a sixteen-year-old boy, living at 114 Blackford street, was killed yesterday afternoon in the rear of Chandler & Taylor's machine shop on West Washington street, in a peculiar way. He was walking along a trestle and did not hear the approach of a switch engine which was backing some cars along the track. The front car struck him and knocked him down. He did not get up, but as the falling his head struck a piece of timber and broke his neck, causing instant death. The coroner's jury found only one man out on the boy's head. That was evidently struck by the falling timber. He will investigate the circumstances of the death.

RESCUE HOME SPEAKING NEW QUARTERS.
The managers of the Rescue Home are looking for new quarters, the present one on East South street having grown too small for the work which is being done. An unusually large number of cases have been under the care of the home recently, and it is desired to get a new location nearer the center of the city.
