THE CITY CAMPAIGN

AVOIDED CANDIDATES FOR MAYOR BECOMING MORE NUMEROUS.

C. A. Bookwalter the Last to Announce Himself—School Commissioner Contest in Fourth District.

Everywhere now the political candidates are quietly at work constructing fences. There is little as yet to indicate the close approach of a city campaign, because all the work is being done so quietly. No meetings are being held and the operations of the various candidates have not yet reached the points where little knots of men may be seen standing on the street corners talking over the merits of the various persons mentioned for office.

Chairman Smith, of the Republican city committee, will probably call a meeting of the executive committee within the next two weeks to consider preliminary matters.

Preston C. Trusler was first in the field as an avowed candidate on the Republican side. Mr. Trusler has a strong following among many people who admire his strict integrity and economy in his management of the controller's office.

The next man to announce himself was John McGregor, who was a member of the recent General Assembly. He is a stonemason and his merits are being told by many members of labor unions.

Dr. Theodore A. Wagner was announced a little later, or probably about the same time. He is not the candidate of any particular branch of the Republican party, but his well known and sterling qualities as a citizen have surrounded him with a good following.

Charles A. Bookwalter has been mentioned many times in the last month or six weeks as a candidate, but until yesterday had not said anything for publication confirming his candidacy.

In the meantime, however, his friends have not been idle and he will enter the convention a strong opponent to the other candidates.

W. H. Leedy, a member of the recent General Assembly, and now a member of the park commission, is mentioned as a candidate. Mr. Leedy has always been recognized as a strong friend of organized labor and has many friends among that element that are pushing his claims.

Mat Cummings has been in the field for some time as an active candidate and his friends say he will develop unusual strength in the convention.

On the Democratic side Edwin St. George Rogers is the only active candidate, but others are mentioned who may come in at the last moment with some strength.

Mr. Rogers has been actively in the field for a month and making his canvass partly on the strength of representing the young element of the race of those who are mentioned earlier.

John Holtzman and Sterling R. Holt, and the continuing of Rogers seems to be a strong move on the part of the Democrats to find a man who is not subject to the criticisms that have been made on the other candidates.

Rogers is a young man who has never been prominently before the people and has a record yet to make. The change of base of the Democratic leaders seems to be the last grasp of a dying party. It was seen that the Democratic party, against earlier candidates and then a man against whom little could be said from known sources.

The fact that he was comparatively unknown was brought out. The plea is also made up that he is a man of the future, an element was given some recognition and that Rogers represents this element.

S. N. Gold, in his text, is making an active canvass for the place. It is also hinted that John Holtzman is simply laying back waiting for the nearer approach of the convention, when he will come out and with the ring Democracy to assist him in capturing the nomination.

A delegation from the Cleveland Club yesterday called on Aquilla Jones, and asked him to become a candidate, but he refused to enter the race.

MR. CHANDLER'S VIEWS. He Outlines His Position on the Colored School Question.

Mr. Chandler's friends are determined that the Fourth school district shall no longer be represented by a man who will vote with the majority as at present constituted.

ASPHALT BOTHERS IT

ENTERS INTO THE PARK COMMISSIONERS' DELIBERATIONS.

The park commissioners held a long and tiresome meeting yesterday afternoon. The board has not yet got into smooth running order and its sessions are necessarily of a character very much different from those of the other boards.

Col. W. R. Holloway, is a clerk in fact and not a dictator. All these things cause the members to do a great deal of friendly wrangling over trivial matters.

Nearly an hour was spent yesterday afternoon in discussing the question as to whether it would be presumptuous on the part of the new board to express to the Board of Works its preference in the matter of paving the streets surrounding the University Park.

It was proposed by Mr. Claxson that the park commission would prefer that Meridian street be paved with asphalt as far north as the north line of Vermont street.

Mr. Maus and Mr. Allen opposed the action because they said it would be going out of the board's line of work. In the argument which followed a resolution was consumed.
