

SHOWERS FAIR. To-Day and Saturday. Men's $10, $12 and $15 Suits for $6.45. A large number of excellent all-wool suits in correct styles and attractive patterns—$10, $12 and $15 values—go on sale this morning at $6.45.

The Hardest Way Possible. To get along in this world is to buy "real cheap" things. REFRIGERATORS and GAS STOVES. The Indianapolis Stove Co., South Meridian St. FRANK H. CARTER, Druggist, 300 Massachusetts Ave.

BIG 4 ROUTE. The Indianapolis Warehouse Co. Warehouses, Forwarding and Commission Merchants. American Medical Association, Atlanta, Ga., May 5 to 8. One and One-Third Fare for the Round Trip.

Special Official Train. Will leave Indianapolis 6:20 p. m. via Big Four and C. & C. routes, Sunday, May 3, and on through on Adams, arriving there at 2:10 next afternoon. Stop-over in either direction at Chattanooga.

C. H. & D. RY. Woodsdale Park Excursion. UNDER AUSPICES OF Cleveland Club, Sunday, May 10. $1.25 ROUND TRIP $1.25.

MONON ROUTE. Shortest Line to the West and Northwest. Pullman Vestibule Train Service. Trains leave daily at 11:00 a. m. and 11:25 p. m.

5 Per Cent. Loans—5 Per Cent. Loans in large sums on business property at 5 per cent, promptly made in large cities and towns only.

PERILS OF THE REPUBLIC. Address by Secretary of the Navy Herbert at Cleveland. CLEVELAND, April 30.—At the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce at the Hollenden Hotel to-night Secretary of the Navy Herbert and Mayor William L. Strong, of New York, were the guests of honor.

A LITTER OF LYONS. Kentucky Mother Gives Birth to Five Little Ones, All Males. MAYFIELD, April 30.—The wife of Oscar Lyons, a farmer living one mile west of here, gave birth last night to five children, all boys. The children are all well developed and healthy.

Receiver for a Buggy Company. COLUMBUS, O., April 30.—Creghton W. Black was appointed receiver of the Ohio Buggy Company this afternoon. The receivership was the result of cognovit judgments amounting to about $40,000.

LAYS IT ON WALLING. AS FORETOLD YESTERDAY, SCOTT JACKSON WENT ON THE STAND. His Evidence Finished in One Day, and Was Practically Valueless to Acquit Him.

HIS SPITE AGAINST WOOD. GREAT EFFORT TO SHOW THE PREACHER'S SON RUINED PEARL. Claimed the Criminal Operation Was Undertaken Solely to Help Out His Friend.

WALLING IS THE MURDERER. JACKSON SAYING HE ONLY HELPED TO HIDE HER CLOTHING. The State Causes Surprise by Refusing to Subject Jackson to Cross-Examination.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. NEWPORT, Ky., April 30.—As was foretold last night, Jackson, who was started to-day in his own behalf and was examined all day, Colonel Crawford closing shortly before adjournment. It was a surprise to see Jackson on the stand, it was a greater surprise when Colonel Crawford had finished this afternoon to hear Colonel Nelson say that he did not desire to cross-examine the witness.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JACKSON insists that he never saw Pearl Bryan after Wednesday afternoon, and without directly denying it, he admitted that he had seen her in the city. He made no attempt to explain why or how Pearl Bryan came to her death, but unobscurely admitted helping dispose of her effects.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. A dispatch was received to-night from Greenfield, Ky., that Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Dr. Post, mother and sister, respectively, of Scott Jackson, left this evening on the Knickerbocker for Cincinnati to attend the trial of Jackson at Newport to-morrow. Mrs. Jackson is said to be greatly improved in health, and is expected to stand the trip without much trouble.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. PEOPLE OF CRIPPLE CREEK FORCED TO PASS A NIGHT IN TENTS. Much Suffering from Cold and Snow—Insurance on the Burned City May Reach $500,000.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CRIPPLE CREEK, Col., April 30.—Thousands of homeless people clustered about camp fires or wandered among the ruins of this once prosperous city throughout the night. The cold was severe and toward morning snow began to fall. During the night, for a distance of a mile to the right and left, the burning embers presented a sight most incomparable. Standing on the hill beyond the burned district and to the west the picture was one of a huge bowl, with the steam rising above. Everywhere along the thoroughfares can be seen the work of dynamite—a great mass of kindling wood. A company of the Colorado national guard is on duty in the burned district. Numerous arrests had been made in the outside district, resort to which had been made by the vagrant element which lately has infested Cripple Creek. Where possible, the residents pulled the houses down, and if that failed blew them up.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. THE EMBEZZLEMENT AFFAIR. "Well, when I was made an inside messenger boy I was thrown with Letts, who was subsequently made assistant cashier, while I became lightkeeper clerk. I wasn't under his direct command, but under his jurisdiction. We became very friendly and we were seen together every night. Then there was a discovery that Letts's accounts were wrong, and I was asked to examine the freight bills found my name as if the money had been paid to me. The bills signed by me amounted to about $200. I explained that I had signed the bills at Mr. Letts's command and it was found that I had told the truth. Then I received my discharge from the railroad.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JACKSON'S STORY. "I received four or five letters from Wood in the train before I went out to Greenfield. I sent him the remedies in response to these letters. "Now, tell what he generally said in the letters, the substance of them." "In effect that he was desperate, and was anxious to do something, and would relieve Miss Bryan and get her out of trouble." "Did he ask you to see if you couldn't arrange to have Miss Bryan brought to Cincinnati?" "Yes, sir." "Well, I had talked with my room-mate, Albin, about the matter. I showed him all the letters, and we talked about the case. "Then what did you write to Wood?" "That I had found a man who would do the job; that I had a friend who would perform the operation if the girl was sent down here."

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JACKSON'S STORY. "I received four or five letters from Wood in the train before I went out to Greenfield. I sent him the remedies in response to these letters. "Now, tell what he generally said in the letters, the substance of them." "In effect that he was desperate, and was anxious to do something, and would relieve Miss Bryan and get her out of trouble." "Did he ask you to see if you couldn't arrange to have Miss Bryan brought to Cincinnati?" "Yes, sir." "Well, I had talked with my room-mate, Albin, about the matter. I showed him all the letters, and we talked about the case. "Then what did you write to Wood?" "That I had found a man who would do the job; that I had a friend who would perform the operation if the girl was sent down here."

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JACKSON'S STORY. "I received four or five letters from Wood in the train before I went out to Greenfield. I sent him the remedies in response to these letters. "Now, tell what he generally said in the letters, the substance of them." "In effect that he was desperate, and was anxious to do something, and would relieve Miss Bryan and get her out of trouble." "Did he ask you to see if you couldn't arrange to have Miss Bryan brought to Cincinnati?" "Yes, sir." "Well, I had talked with my room-mate, Albin, about the matter. I showed him all the letters, and we talked about the case. "Then what did you write to Wood?" "That I had found a man who would do the job; that I had a friend who would perform the operation if the girl was sent down here."

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JACKSON'S STORY. "I received four or five letters from Wood in the train before I went out to Greenfield. I sent him the remedies in response to these letters. "Now, tell what he generally said in the letters, the substance of them." "In effect that he was desperate, and was anxious to do something, and would relieve Miss Bryan and get her out of trouble." "Did he ask you to see if you couldn't arrange to have Miss Bryan brought to Cincinnati?" "Yes, sir." "Well, I had talked with my room-mate, Albin, about the matter. I showed him all the letters, and we talked about the case. "Then what did you write to Wood?" "That I had found a man who would do the job; that I had a friend who would perform the operation if the girl was sent down here."

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JACKSON'S STORY. "I received four or five letters from Wood in the train before I went out to Greenfield. I sent him the remedies in response to these letters. "Now, tell what he generally said in the letters, the substance of them." "In effect that he was desperate, and was anxious to do something, and would relieve Miss Bryan and get her out of trouble." "Did he ask you to see if you couldn't arrange to have Miss Bryan brought to Cincinnati?" "Yes, sir." "Well, I had talked with my room-mate, Albin, about the matter. I showed him all the letters, and we talked about the case. "Then what did you write to Wood?" "That I had found a man who would do the job; that I had a friend who would perform the operation if the girl was sent down here."

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JACKSON'S STORY. "I received four or five letters from Wood in the train before I went out to Greenfield. I sent him the remedies in response to these letters. "Now, tell what he generally said in the letters, the substance of them." "In effect that he was desperate, and was anxious to do something, and would relieve Miss Bryan and get her out of trouble." "Did he ask you to see if you couldn't arrange to have Miss Bryan brought to Cincinnati?" "Yes, sir." "Well, I had talked with my room-mate, Albin, about the matter. I showed him all the letters, and we talked about the case. "Then what did you write to Wood?" "That I had found a man who would do the job; that I had a friend who would perform the operation if the girl was sent down here."

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JACKSON'S STORY. "I received four or five letters from Wood in the train before I went out to Greenfield. I sent him the remedies in response to these letters. "Now, tell what he generally said in the letters, the substance of them." "In effect that he was desperate, and was anxious to do something, and would relieve Miss Bryan and get her out of trouble." "Did he ask you to see if you couldn't arrange to have Miss Bryan brought to Cincinnati?" "Yes, sir." "Well, I had talked with my room-mate, Albin, about the matter. I showed him all the letters, and we talked about the case. "Then what did you write to Wood?" "That I had found a man who would do the job; that I had a friend who would perform the operation if the girl was sent down here."

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JACKSON'S STORY. "I received four or five letters from Wood in the train before I went out to Greenfield. I sent him the remedies in response to these letters. "Now, tell what he generally said in the letters, the substance of them." "In effect that he was desperate, and was anxious to do something, and would relieve Miss Bryan and get her out of trouble." "Did he ask you to see if you couldn't arrange to have Miss Bryan brought to Cincinnati?" "Yes, sir." "Well, I had talked with my room-mate, Albin, about the matter. I showed him all the letters, and we talked about the case. "Then what did you write to Wood?" "That I had found a man who would do the job; that I had a friend who would perform the operation if the girl was sent down here."

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JACKSON'S STORY. "I received four or five letters from Wood in the train before I went out to Greenfield. I sent him the remedies in response to these letters. "Now, tell what he generally said in the letters, the substance of them." "In effect that he was desperate, and was anxious to do something, and would relieve Miss Bryan and get her out of trouble." "Did he ask you to see if you couldn't arrange to have Miss Bryan brought to Cincinnati?" "Yes, sir." "Well, I had talked with my room-mate, Albin, about the matter. I showed him all the letters, and we talked about the case. "Then what did you write to Wood?" "That I had found a man who would do the job; that I had a friend who would perform the operation if the girl was sent down here."

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JACKSON'S STORY. "I received four or five letters from Wood in the train before I went out to Greenfield. I sent him the remedies in response to these letters. "Now, tell what he generally said in the letters, the substance of them." "In effect that he was desperate, and was anxious to do something, and would relieve Miss Bryan and get her out of trouble." "Did he ask you to see if you couldn't arrange to have Miss Bryan brought to Cincinnati?" "Yes, sir." "Well, I had talked with my room-mate, Albin, about the matter. I showed him all the letters, and we talked about the case. "Then what did you write to Wood?" "That I had found a man who would do the job; that I had a friend who would perform the operation if the girl was sent down here."

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JACKSON'S STORY. "I received four or five letters from Wood in the train before I went out to Greenfield. I sent him the remedies in response to these letters. "Now, tell what he generally said in the letters, the substance of them." "In effect that he was desperate, and was anxious to do something, and would relieve Miss Bryan and get her out of trouble." "Did he ask you to see if you couldn't arrange to have Miss Bryan brought to Cincinnati?" "Yes, sir." "Well, I had talked with my room-mate, Albin, about the matter. I showed him all the letters, and we talked about the case. "Then what did you write to Wood?" "That I had found a man who would do the job; that I had a friend who would perform the operation if the girl was sent down here."

CULLOM'S WATERLOO. THE ILLINOIS SENATOR ROTTED ON HIS OWN FIGHTING GROUND. His Well Organized Forces, Including the Chicago Machine, Overwhelmed by the Ohio Napoleon.

FIGHT WAS BRIEF BUT HARD. AND IT ENDED IN THE GRACEFUL CAPITULATION OF THE MINORITY. Editors Patterson and Nixon and Ex-Governors Fifer and Oglesby Elected Delegates to St. Louis.

INSTRUCTED FOR MCKINLEY. AFTER AN ATTEMPT HAD BEEN MADE TO PLEDGE FOR CULLOM. Statement from the Dejected Favorite Son—The State Ticket—Two Sets of Delegates Elected in Arizona.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 30.—Senator Shelby M. Cullom, who would be favorite son of Illinois, met his Waterloo to-day. He risked his all before the superior forces of the "Napoleon" of Ohio, and was compelled to capitulate after a hard-fought battle. He surrendered, however, through his general-in-chief, the Chicago machine, and will give his hearty support to the victor. The Republican state convention concluded its work this evening, after being in session all day. The following delegates at large, instructed to vote for McKinley at the Republican national convention, were elected:

WILLIAM PENN NIXON, editor Chicago Tribune; R. W. PATTERSON, editor Chicago Tribune; EX-GOVERNOR R. J. OGLESBY, of Elkhardt; EX-GOVERNOR JOSEPH W. FIFER, of Bloomington. The convention also completed the state ticket, as follows, the two first-named candidates having been nominated yesterday: For Governor—JOHN W. TANNER, of Clay county; Lieutenant Governor—W. A. NORTHOTT, of Boone county; Secretary of State—JAMES A. ROSE, of Pope county; Auditor of State—J. R. McCULLOUGH, of Champaign county; Treasurer—HENRY L. HERTZ, of Cook county; Attorney-general—E. C. AIKEN, of Wells county.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. THE battle to-day was not a long one. It lasted scarcely an hour, but in that time the struggle was one of the hardest ever made in the history of the state. The candidates for state officers were all nominated with the exception of the trustees for the State University before the resolution instructing the delegates at large to the national convention was brought up. This was in accordance with a suggestion to Mr. McKinley's suggestion that the delegates at large should vote for the amendment substituting the name of Major McKinley for the highest office within the gift of the people of the United States.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. The candidates for state officers were all nominated with the exception of the trustees for the State University before the resolution instructing the delegates at large to the national convention was brought up. This was in accordance with a suggestion to Mr. McKinley's suggestion that the delegates at large should vote for the amendment substituting the name of Major McKinley for the highest office within the gift of the people of the United States.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. The candidates for state officers were all nominated with the exception of the trustees for the State University before the resolution instructing the delegates at large to the national convention was brought up. This was in accordance with a suggestion to Mr. McKinley's suggestion that the delegates at large should vote for the amendment substituting the name of Major McKinley for the highest office within the gift of the people of the United States.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. The candidates for state officers were all nominated with the exception of the trustees for the State University before the resolution instructing the delegates at large to the national convention was brought up. This was in accordance with a suggestion to Mr. McKinley's suggestion that the delegates at large should vote for the amendment substituting the name of Major McKinley for the highest office within the gift of the people of the United States.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. The candidates for state officers were all nominated with the exception of the trustees for the State University before the resolution instructing the delegates at large to the national convention was brought up. This was in accordance with a suggestion to Mr. McKinley's suggestion that the delegates at large should vote for the amendment substituting the name of Major McKinley for the highest office within the gift of the people of the United States.