Artistic Pianos.

You're going to see the greatest revolution in piano case styles, and it will not be long before it will come about, and it is going to start from the West and strike out in all directions. Just as sure as I am writing these lines, the Eastern piano factories are doomed to become the imitators of the original styles the Western houses are now creating. Just look at those Baldwin Pianos, made in that most artistic piano factory of the Baldwin Company, at Cincinnati. There is nothing made in the East to compare with those styles in the eyes of connoisseurs and people of taste and culture.

A $700,000 MORTGAGE EXTENDED.

Chicago People Own the Bulk of Local Street-Car Bonds.

The Citizens' Street-railroad Company yesterday secured a two years' extension of a $700,000 mortgage executed June 1, 1892, to the Illinois Trust and Savings Company.

The mortgage was payable June 1, 1898. The extension is in accordance with an agreement made April 29, 1896, and with the consent of the Illinois Trust and Savings Company, by John J. Mitchell, owner of $352,000 of Citizens' street-railroad bonds; William H. Walker, owner of $70,000 of bonds; Marshall Field, owner of $150,000 of bonds; and Cyrus H. McCormick, owner of $100,000 of bonds.

BOARD FLOPS AGAIN

NOW IT SAYS VERMONT ST. SHALL HAVE BLOCK PAVEMENT.

Ordinance Will Not Go to Council—High Bids for Block on Other Streets.

The Board of Public Works yesterday determined to proceed with the improvement of Vermont street, between Meridian and West streets, and ordered the city engineer to advertise for bids. The engineer submitted a corrected report on the remonstrance filed April 24, showing thirteen resident property owners on the street, but six of whom have signed the remonstrance against the improvements. The roadway is to be paved with wooden block.

The board rescinded the resolution to improve Twenty-eighth street, from Northwestern avenue to the Big Four tracks. Thirty-one of the thirty-five resident property owners signed a remonstrance against the improvements.

Final action was taken on the resolution to pave the sidewalks of East street, from Ohio street to Massachusetts avenue. There were no remonstrances. Petitions were filed with the board for the following improvements: For graveling Prairie street, from Washington street to the Panhandle tracks; for graveling East street, from Washington street to the Panhandle tracks; for widening and paving the sidewalk on First street to Fall creek.

The city engineer reported on the remonstrance against graveling the first alley east of Excelsior street, from Boyd street to the first alley north. None of the property owners signed the remonstrance and the board ordered the engineer to advertise for bids.

The board awarded the contract for graveling the first alley north of Washington street, from Johnson avenue to Jefferson avenue, to P. E. Phillips for $20 cents a lineal foot on each side of the alley.

BIDS ON BLOCK.

They Run High on North and Other Streets to Be Improved.

Yesterday morning the Board of Public Works opened bids on the Illinois and North street improvements. All of the paving companies bid on block pavement exclusively except the Western Paving and Supply Company, which added an estimate on asphalt, which it agrees to keep in repair at 20 cents a foot a year for five years after the guarantee has expired. The board did not ask for bids on asphalt, but the Western Paving Company submitted them to show that a pavement of this kind can be constructed at a cheaper rate than the contemplated block pavement. The bids were as follows:

North street with wooden blocks from Fort Wayne avenue to Massachusetts avenue: Indiana Bermudez Asphalt Company—Stratified or oolitic curb, $6.50; Parkhurst or combined curb and gutter, $7.50; Washington blocks treated, $8.50; Washington blocks, treated, $8.50; untreated, $1.50 less. Hooster Construction Company—Stratified curb, untreated, $6.12; Parkhurst curb, untreated, $6.57; stratified curb, treated, $6.54; Parkhurst curb, treated, $7.20. Browder & Shover—Washington cedar, untreated, $6.37; treated, $7.25; cypress block, untreated, $10.75. Western Paving and Supply Company—Blocks, untreated, any curb except granite, $7.24; with best quality of standard Trinidad asphalt, guaranteed nine years, $7.24. Stratified curb, $5.95; oolitic, $5.91; Parkhurst curb, $5.88; combined curb and gutter, $6.40. If crosote is used, add 20 cents.

Water Company Again Trying to Take Advantage of the City.

F. A. W. Davis, of the water company, has submitted a plan to the Board of Works showing that the company want to lay water mains to reach North Indianapolis, and stated that the work of laying them according to that plan would begin immediately. The board says it will not begin at all. The board committee of the Council made the mains so as to be able to secure the most consumers. It will not require much labor of feet laid, and it would require much more than ordered by the board. As the city has to pay $50 a year for each inch of pipe and a plug is located on every 500 feet of main, it would make the cost to the city considerably more than was the board's plan. The board will not allow the company to follow Mr. Davis's plans, unless some better means than has already been shown are given.

DIRT ON IMPROVED SIDEWALKS.

Ordinance Providing for Its Removal to Be Favorably Reported.

The Finance committee of the Council met last night and failed to agree on a report on the resolution allowing Lee Nixon, ex-city clerk, $300 for indexing the Council proceedings. The committee will ask for further time. The committee on sewers, streets and alleys decided to recommend the passage of the ordinance in regard to compelling property owners to clean dirt off of improved sidewalks, and the ordinance requires much labor of feet laid, and it would require much more than ordered by the board. As the city has to pay $50 a year for each inch of pipe and a plug is located on every 500 feet of main, it would make the cost to the city considerably more than was the board's plan. The board will not allow the company to follow Mr. Davis's plans, unless some better means than has already been shown are given.

Municipal Notes.

The Board of Public Works, on the recommendation of City Engineer Jessup, appointed M. F. Brown, ex-Robert J. Kingsbury and Peter H. Robinson inspectors in the city engineering department. The appointments will take effect to-day.

Board of Trade Election.

Secretary Smith, of the Board of Trade, is making preparation for the annual election which takes place the second Monday in June. In a few days the committee on arrangements will meet to select twenty-five names from which, at an election to be held May 27, the members of the board will choose seven members to act as a nominating committee. This committee will then prepare what will be known as the "regular" ticket. It will be posted in the assembly room several days before the election, and any member of the board has the right to post an independent ticket. It is rarely the case that there are not two or three independent tickets, and those who are successful in the election are often candidates from several tickets.

PLATFORM AGREED ON

MR. GOWDY WANTS HIS APPORTIONMENT COURSE INDORSED.

A Ringing Declaration for Sound Money and Tariff—The Indiana Centennial.

Another platform conference was held by invitation of Chairman Gowdy at his rooms in the Denison last evening. Among those in attendance were Messrs. C. W. Fairbanks, E. B. Martindale, A. C. Harris, S. N. Chambers, R. O. Hawkins, J. A. Lemcke, C. B. Landis and J. H. Claypool. The various subcommittees appointed at the former meeting reported drafts of planks given under their charge. The preamble and money plank, which will form the bulk of the platform, were agreed upon without any adverse discussion. The preamble is likely to prove the largest portion of the document, as it is something of an essay on the shortcomings of the Democratic administration and the disasters that have followed in its train. The tariff plank is a straight protection declaration, put in language as emphatic as possible, with a demand for a return to the doctrine of reciprocity.

The money plank, in which probably the most interesting centers, is a much more forcible document than the Illinois plank, and is far beyond the Ohio idea. It speaks for sound money, with an unequivocal declaration against free coinage, expressed in so many words; such a plank as will, it is believed, at once bespeak the confidence of the business interests of the State, whether those interests be mercantile, manufacturing or agricultural.

The first subject for discussion after these matters had been agreed upon was the proposition to have a plank upon the apportionment. Objection was raised upon the ground that the money plank, as it is, might at any time change the situation one way or the other. It is very anxious that something should go into the platform which would serve as a vindication of his course. He is confident, and it is probable that a plank on this subject will be presented to the committee on resolutions in the draft to be submitted for its approval.

Another subject discussed briefly was the proposition of Mr. Adams that a plank should be inserted indorsing the proposed Indiana centennial. It is believed that there would be little or no difficulty in having the conventions of both parties indorse the centennial, but the question was raised whether the Democratic convention might not take the other tack and become inimical to the centennial. It is believed that the Republicans had indorsed it. The subject was left until the next meeting of the committee on the leading members of the commission.

While it was agreed that there should be a plank favoring the centennial, it was also agreed that it should not be encumbered with the specific resolutions on Cuba, Hawaii and other extraneous matters.

Boases and Instructions.

"I noticed in yesterday's Sentinel and again in yesterday's News," said a prominent Republican at the Denison last night, "statements to the effect that the 'Harrison stalwarts' would continue to fight against instructions. This is misleading. There has not been and will not be any organized fight against instructions. I have been opposed to them and have written articles in this paper. So have a number of other men and newspapers. They will probably not change their attitude, but they have no time regarded the question of instructions as of sufficient importance to give up the time and take the trouble of organizing and fighting against them. McKinley does not need instructions in this State any more than has needed managers in Indiana. It is the duty of every citizen to do what he can for the best interests of his State and of the Union."

No Organized Opposition.

Jesse W. Weick, of Greencastle, one of the Fifth district delegates to the St. Louis convention, was in the city last evening. "I don't think there is any organized opposition to the McKinley ticket," said Mr. Weick, "that the convention will instruct for McKinley, and that the vote of this State will be cast for him at St. Louis. Our district convention voted no instructions, but since then our county has instructed, and the action of Illinois and Vermont has given an added impetus to the McKinley movement. Moreover, I have not discovered any organized opposition to the McKinley ticket. There has been much work done in behalf of them throughout the State. I noticed in the Indianapolis News a statement that a number of strongly opposing instructions, and I have also seen similar advice in the Journal, but there has apparently no organized effort to influence the delegates in this direction."

Mr. Brownlee's View.

Hiram Brownlee, of Marion, one of the four men generally conceded as delegates at large, was in the city last evening. "I suppose whoever is sent from this State to the convention will be instructed to vote for McKinley, in my mind, does not cut any figure either way. The St. Louis convention will be simply a ratification of what has already happened, anyhow. This is one of the times when the people have made up their minds as to whom they want nominated, and they are seeing that it is done."

Instructions Were Rejected.

George W. Holman, member of the State committee from the Thirteenth district, writes: "In answer to the inquiry of W. H. N., of Brazil, as to instructions by the convention held on the 26th of March, the Journal made a mistake as to the Thirteenth district. Instead of the district being taken up, as stated, it was, and the convention rejected instructions by a vote of 66 to 46. The sentiment of the district is strongly against it at this time than it was then."

Political Notes.

The Commercial Travelers' Republican Club will hold its regular meeting at the rooms of the club, 80 1/2 North Pennsylvania street, this evening.

A HAUGHVILLE WOMAN HURT.

Mrs. John Cord, of Grandview street, Haughville, was out driving last night, when her horse became frightened and ran away, throwing Mrs. Cord from her carriage in front of No. 1 engine house, on Indiana avenue. A little boy riding with her was also thrown from the carriage, but escaped uninjured. Mrs. Cord was thrown and injured and shocked by the accident, but was not seriously hurt, although she sustained two or three cuts about the head and face. Dispensary physicians attended to her injuries.
