Soft Coal in "B 37." Next to the Powder Magazine, Set Ablaze by Spontaneous Combustion.

NEW YORK, May 19.—"Fire in the bunkers, sir" was the startling word passed today to the chief engineer of the battle ship Indiana, which lay in the coal dock at the Brooklyn navy yard coaling up ready to take her place with the fleet off Tompkinsville.

"What's that?" was the sharp rejoinder. "It's in B 37, sir, and it looks like a bad one."

"B 37" The engineer started to his feet as if he was shot. B 37 was the forward amidships bunker on the starboard side. Right next to it was the magazine for the eight-inch guns, stored with powder enough to blow the great battle ship out of the water and wreck half the navy yard besides.

THE URBAN INCIDENT. WASHINGTON, May 19.—Notwithstanding rumors from Caracas to the contrary, it can be stated that the celebrated Uruguayan has not yet been paid by Venezuela.

GRAND BRITAIN. Negotiations are proceeding, however, through the German minister of the Venezuelan capital, for the latter has not yet been possible to arrange the terms of the indemnity. The difficulty appears to lie, not in the refusal of Venezuela to pay an indemnity, but in the proper education in the payment of all language that by any possibility might be construed into an admission of British title to the Uruguayan country where the incident happened.

VOTED FOR HARRISON

MOCK CONVENTION HELD BY DEPAUW UNIVERSITY STUDENTS.

McKinley Led on the First Ballot, but on the Third Indiana's Favorite Received Over 500 Votes.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. GREENCASTLE, Ind., May 19.—Gen. Benjamin Harrison was nominated for President by the students of DePauw to-night in a mock convention which was intended to be an imitation of the coming Republican convention at St. Louis.

This mock convention had long been looked forward to by the students and the interesting events of commencement festivities. It turned out to be the most exciting affair ever held at DePauw University.

The entire body of students was included and entertained according to different States. The convention proper was confined to the lower floor of McHenry Hall, which was arranged as nearly as possible in imitation of the Republican national convention hall at St. Louis.

The Republican national convention hall at St. Louis. Citizens and invited guests were admitted by ticket and these bits of pasteboard were hustled after something like tickets are sought at a regular convention.

Numerous banners were displayed and yells given for favorite candidates. The convention was called to order by Frank Westcott, president of the DePauw University Club, who presented the name of C. A. Rose for temporary chairman.

After the nomination and the report of the committee on credentials, which found everything satisfactory, Col. James Riley Weaver, professor of economics and ex-minister to Austria, was elected as permanent chairman and Fred A. P. Peck, of the department of oratory, was elected secretary.

The report of the committee on platform followed. The original report declared for bimetallism. This clause was vigorously attacked by C. D. Royle, representing New York, who moved to substitute a clause declaring unequivocally for the gold standard.

The gold standard men were overwhelmingly successful. The temperance straddle in the platform elicited a fiery speech from J. Walker, representing Kentucky. The straddle prevailed. The remainder of the platform amendments, for a vigorous foreign policy, liberal pension legislation, civil service reform, sympathy for Cuba, and denounced the deficit of Democratic misrule.

Upon the call of the States for nominations for President the best of the college boys present, representing Indiana, elected Allison in an eloquent speech, referring to the Republican party as the "poor man's friend," as opposed to the capitalistic interests represented by W. L. Lewis, of Maine.

In glowing terms he referred to the straddle, and called attention to his able administration as Speaker. Great applause followed. James G. Thompson, of New York, representing Ohio, made the principal speech, presenting the name of William McKinley for President.

The allusion to the Ohio man was received with deafening cheers from the galleries. Mr. Hall described the virtues of his candidate, referring to his record as Speaker. The speech was continually interrupted by enthusiastic cheers from the galleries.

Ohio men, who were seated in the delegations in all parts of the hall. Mr. Hall closed with a promise to support the "Man of Destiny," and the manner in which his speech was received showed that he had the confidence of the delegates.

These closed the list of nominations and the balloting began. McKinley was elected by a large majority. He received 500 votes, while the other candidates received less than 100 each.

FIFTEEN YEARS EACH

LONG SENTENCES FOR THE JOHANESBURG CONSPIRATORS.

Alleged Decision of the Executive Council in the Cases of Rhodes, Phillips, Farrar and Hammond.

LONDON, May 20.—A dispatch to the Times from Pretoria, Transvaal, dated May 18 (Monday), says: "The executive council today decided that the punishment of Col. Francis Rhodes, Lionel Phillips, Geo. Farrar and John Hays Hammond (the leaders of the reformers who were sentenced to death by the executive council) should be commuted to imprisonment. The hope is entertained that these sentences will be modified. The decision of the sentences of the other reformers is still awaited."

The Times explains in an editorial that there is bare possibility that in its Pretoria dispatch it may have meant the commutation of banishment instead of imprisonment. "It means imprisonment," says the Times, "it is almost equivalent to a death sentence and will produce a painful impression of surprise as being severe beyond all expectations and the ending will be to perpetuate political strife."

The Daily Telegraph has a dispatch from Pretoria also dated Monday, May 18, which says that the executive council, after a heated discussion of three hours, postponed the final decision of the punishment for the reform leaders until the next day (Tuesday). "A difficulty has arisen," says this dispatch, "from the fact that fifty-two of the prisoners are being held in the local jail, and a petition asking for commutation of their sentences to life, while ten of the prisoners have refused to sign."

The Times also has a dispatch from Capetown which says that the motion of Mr. Herrieman, in the Cape House of Assembly, to revoke the charter of the British South African Company is certain to be defeated. The majority of the speakers in the House, in this dispatch, says, support the chartered company.

ROYALTY AT MOSCOW. Reception of Princes and Dukes by the Czar's Representative.

MOSCOW, May 19.—The Duke and Duchess of Connaught, representing Queen Victoria at the coronation ceremonies, arrived here at noon and were accorded a brilliant reception. They were met at the railroad station by the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess Sergius, the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess Vladimir and a guard of honor.

A band played the Russian national anthem and the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, Prince and Princess Louise of Battenberg, the hereditary Grand Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, Prince of Denmark and Prince Sudararu, of Japan, arrived during the day and were accompanied by bands of music. An especially brilliant reception was given to the Emir of Bokhara, who has been received in private audience by the Czar at St. Petersburg.

The other members of the Bohemian mission were then received by the Czar. The reception of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught was a most brilliant one.
