

AGAY HOLIDAY SEASON

SOCIETY TO BE ALL AWHIRL IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD OF CHRISTMAS.

Dances, Debut Parties, Dinners and Receptions Galore—People at the Blachere—Personal Notes.

Within the next two weeks Indianapolis is to have one of the gayest holiday seasons of recent years. The card baskets are piled high with invitations. A lady of this city once said that it always seemed like a fairy story to her, for the hostesses wave their wand of invitations and at the appointed time the ones invited appear in their most beautiful dresses, with flowers and jewels and bow before her and dance. The flowers and jewels and gowns of this season are rich, and the women who wear them are lovely in them. Up to Christmas eve there are weddings and receptions, and then, Christmas night, comes the dance of Mr. and Mrs. Willis C. Vajen for their daughter Mary, at the Propyleum. Christmas day Miss Hettie Adams will give a company, entertaining the old Reading club for Miss Emma L. Hall, who was a member.

The day after Christmas, which is generally a very quiet one, this time will be the date of a large reception to be given by Mrs. George C. Beck and Miss Beck for Miss Emma Smith, of Rushville, a dance by Mrs. William For for her daughter Lily, at Brenneke's Academy, a dance at the Propyleum by Fletcher Hodges and a reception by Miss Edna McGillard for Miss Peppers, of Detroit. Monday comes the reception, music and dance at the Propyleum given by Mrs. E. C. Atkins. The guests are invited to meet Mr. and Mrs. Melien E. Rounds. The music will be given by Mr. Francis Fisher and Powers and Miss Hall, of New York, and Mr. Arthur E. Preston and the Madrigal Club. Mrs. Charles H. Walcott will give a large reception in the afternoon to introduce her daughter, Miss Katharine Virginia Walcott, Miss Mabel Folsom will give a company in the afternoon for Miss Hall and Mr. Clarence Zener, a dinner in the evening for Miss Hall and Mr. Moore, and a large leap year dance will be given at Brenneke's Academy at night.

Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Walcott will give a young people's dance at the Propyleum for Miss Katharine V. Walcott; Mrs. Nathaniel Alden Hyde will give a reception in the afternoon, from 7 to 9, for Miss Julia Bullard Fletcher; Miss Harriet Shepard will entertain for Miss Hall, and the Smith College will have a reunion luncheon, Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. John C. New will give a dance in the evening; Mr. and Mrs. William T. Brown will give a reception for Mrs. and Miss Haynes, of Richmond; the marriage of Miss Emma Lissa Hall and Mr. George Thomas Moore, Jr., will occur, as well as that of Miss May Kibbham and Mr. Moses Fisher and of Mrs. Ernest Anderson and Mr. Clinton Emery Hall. Thursday evening will be the date of the bachelors' and benedict's ball, and Friday Mr. and Mrs. William Charles Hausen will give a dance at Brenneke's Academy.

The Blachere is the abode of more than fifty families, and the many cozy apartments throughout the great seven-story structure are all beautifully fitted up. The occupants have but few of the troubles that many housekeepers in single homes have. So many have taken apartments here recently that a list of them will be found to be a convenience, even to others who are in the Blachere and do not know who their neighbors under the same roof are. Apartment No. 10 is occupied by Dr. and Mrs. John L. Benepe; 11, Mr. George Chambers Calvert and Mrs. Belle Chambers Calvert; 12, Mr. Bronte M. Aikens and Miss Ida D. Aikens; 13, Mrs. Lucy B. Goode and Miss Minnie Moffitt; 14, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Daugherty; 15, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Daugherty; 16, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Daugherty; 17, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Daugherty; 18, Mr. and Mrs. E. J.
