AMUSEMENTS.

Notes of the Stage. Olga Netherland and her brother are resting at Virginia Hot Springs this week.

Marie Walbridge, who, until last Saturday night, starred in "Mademoiselle Fifi," has been induced to enter the ranks of vaudeville. She begins doing a specialty turn Christmas day in New York.

David F. Belasco and Henry C. De Mille, names that are familiar to all players, are the authors of "Men and Women," the unusual attraction at the Grand Opera House next (Christmas) week.

A man who has been associated with E. E. Rice for years has made Lew Dockstader, the famous minstrel, a flattering offer to appear as a comic opera star next season. James Kilgus will back the enterprise.

Hempstead, L. I., promises the country a decided novelty next spring in the shape of a theater built by women. It seems that the men of that village have been too ultra in the matter of erecting a suitable temple of amusement, and the women have decided to do it.

T. J. Rosenhat's new farce, "Het o' Bill," will be given its first presentation at New Haven, Conn., Jan. 22. George Ober, John Hyams and Nettie Black have been engaged as principals. Mr. Rosenhat recently presented a very poor farce called "Dear Old Charlie" in this city.

"King of the Ophium Ring," presented by Charles E. Blaney the first half, and "Through the Breakers," by Gus Hill the last of next week at the Park, are both good attractions. The matinee on Christmas day will be at night prices, according to the custom that has always prevailed on holidays.

Otis Skinner will be greeted Christmas day (next Monday) by two of the largest audiences that have assembled at English's Opera House this season. "The Lairs" is one of the best plays that could have been selected for a holiday bill. A great actor in a great play is surely a combination that ought to draw well.

Those who have read and appreciated Jas. M. Barrie's intensely interesting story, "The Little Minister" will understand that the desire to see Miss Maude Adams in the play made from that novel cannot be simply a popular "fad." Both novel and inponents of "The Little Minister" are such as appeal strongly to all kinds and conditions of people.

Harry W. Semon's extravaganza company, which opens at the Empire Theater this afternoon, is said to have ten high-class vaudeville features in addition to two burlesques, "The Ways of the World" and "A Devil Among Women." The latter burlesque is founded on the story of Faust, it is said.

Messrs. Nixon & Zimmerman and Henry T. French, of San Francisco, are reported to be making strenuous efforts to organize an opera company with Camille D'Arville and Mrs. Jessie Bartlett Davis as the stars. Both Miss D'Arville's powerful soprano and Mrs. Jessie Bartlett Davis's rich contralto have been heard frequently in Indianapolis.

There will be a change of bill at the Park this afternoon. John W. Isham's Octoroons, who are well known to patrons of the Park, will open an engagement this afternoon to continue the remainder of the week, with daily matinees. Whenever this company is announced regular attendants at the Park look for something extra good.

Richard Mansfield revived "The Devil's Disciple" at the Garden Theater, New York, Monday night, and the house was packed to the doors. Mr. Mansfield seems to have reached the position so much sought for by all actors—where the public cares for the man more than for the play. It is a great saving not to have to stage and costume a new play every once in a while. "The Devil's Disciple" was presented in Indianapolis by Mansfield a few seasons ago.

As the approaching engagement of "A Runaway Girl" at English's draws nearer, the demand for seats rapidly increases. This extraordinary musical organization is to give three performances, beginning to-morrow night. There will be a matinee Saturday afternoon, and with Saturday night's performance comes the last opportunity Indianapolis will have this season to listen to some of the most tuneful melodies ever sung by any comic opera company.

MORRIS—SIMMONDS. Last night at 6:30 o'clock occurred the marriage of Miss Nellie Eleanor Simmonds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Simmonds, and Mr. George Haskell Morris, of Milwaukee. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George Smith, of Hall-place Church, at the home of the bride, 910 North Capitol avenue, under a canopy of crows-foot and an embankment of palms, studded with azaleas. The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Maude Adams, and the bridesmaids were Miss Anna Wright of Avondale, Miss Celia Finn of Cincinnati, and a sister of the bride, Miss Pearl Simmonds. Mr. M. Simmonds has a brother of the bride, acted as best man. Marone, the harpist, played Mendelssohn's wedding march as the bridal party came down the stairs and entered the parlor. First came the bridesmaids, dressed alike in pink silk organdie over pink taffeta silk, and each carrying a bouquet of white roses. Next came the groom and his attendant, and then the little flower girl, Miss Theresa Quinn, wearing a fluffy dress of white silk crepe over white taffeta, and carrying a basket of white roses, which she strewed before the bride, who followed on the arm of her father. The bride was attired in a gown of white taffeta silk, with trimmings of point lace. The only ornament worn was a diamond sunburst, the gift of her father, and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses. After the marriage ceremony the bride and groom went to the Denison Hotel for dinner. It was served in the large ordinary of the hotel. The tables were arranged in the shape of an L, and were decorated with fern leaves, coming from each corner to the center of the table, with white roses strewn about over the cloth. The center piece was a large Dresden vase, filled with white roses. After dinner there was dancing in the parlors of the hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Kinsey left late last night for a wedding trip to New York, after which they will go to Milwaukee, their future home. They will be home after Jan. 15 at 629 Twelfth street. The guests from out of town were Miss Gertrude Schaffer, of Cincinnati; Miss George Wright, Cincinnati; Mr. Robert Ault, New Orleans; Mr. William Irvine, Milwaukee; Mr. John Bacon, Milwaukee; Mr. Buckley, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Hummel, Muncie; Mrs. James Wade, of Chicago.

MATINEE MUSICAL.

Yesterday afternoon the Matinee Musical gave an organ recital at the English Lutheran Church. There was a fair audience in attendance which thoroughly enjoyed the musical treat offered, and those who stayed away missed hearing some excellent music. The programme was an exceptionally good one and every number was heartily applauded. The participants on the programme are all well-known musicians in the city, except Mrs. Lillian Arkell Rixford, of Cincinnati, who played a varied programme. The programme was as follows:

The University of Indianapolis Glee and Mandolin Clubs gave an interesting entertainment at Plymouth Church last evening before a large and appreciative audience. The most interesting number on the programme was given by Mr. H. H. Pritchard, who entertained the crowd with imitations of barnyard fowls. The mandolin and glee clubs rendered many interesting selections, and the solo work was rendered by Mr. Hite.

STOCKYARDS VISITORS.

Prominent Cincinnati Traders in the City for Awhile.

Several of Cincinnati's prominent business men yesterday spent several hours at the Union stockyards inspecting the yards, the new horse sale barn, printing office, stock pen and other improvements made of late.

Of the party were N. H. Biggs, president of the Union stockyards, Cincinnati; W. J. Pappenworth, A. J. Mullone, C. L. Werk, W. K. Doone, Abe Furst, H. L. Brenerman and B. F. Davis. The last seven are directors of the Union stockyards of Cincinnati.

The general expression of the visitors to the yards was one of surprise at their capacity, and the methods of transacting business at the yards, but the greatest surprise was the number and extent of barns, including the new ones just completed, in which to hold the horse auction sales. Their visit to the yards convinced them that Cincinnati was the market for the country, and sheep and horses was far behind Indianapolis.

NOT AUTHORIZED.

Mrs. Sanford Solicits a Donation from Kingan & Co.

The officers of the Free Kindergarten Association reported yesterday that complaints had been made to them of a woman soliciting money for the association who was not authorized to do so. Yesterday a woman, giving the name of Mrs. Sanford, visited Kingan & Co. and secured a check for $5, which before leaving she asked to have cashed. Requests for money were also made of L. S. Ayers & Co. and others. The woman was found late in the afternoon, but claimed to have been authorized by another woman to solicit for the association.

Mrs. H. S. Tucker, treasurer of the organization, and Mrs. John H. Holliday are the only members authorized to solicit donations, though any member of the board may receive them.

James A. Weston, chief of the law and records division of the supervising architect's office, who has been in the city since Tuesday gathering information for the government, relative to the quarters the local government offices will occupy during the time the new postoffice building is being erected, left last night for Washington. The government reserved the right to control both of the present buildings, and Mr. Weston was here to determine whether the government would release its option, and give immediate possession of both buildings to the purchasers, and then rent from them, or whether it would retain possession of the part at present occupied by the government, and pay the purchasers the stipulated 4 per cent. on their money. After a thorough inspection of the building Mr. Weston said that he would reserve his opinion until some future date.
