

ALLEN PRESSED HARD

BY LEE GRAFF AND BROWN FOR THE FIRST HONORS IN M. B. L.

This Week's Bowling Will Decide the Championship—Knox Increases His Lead in Tenpin League.

The race in the Marion County League for first place is very spirited, as much so, in fact, as in the Indianapolis Bowling League a few weeks ago. Allen and Graff stand first and second, respectively, with but a few pins separating them, while Brown is very close behind. The season will end this week, and the fight for first place will be intensely interesting in the last games, which will be played Friday night. Knox, of the Blue Labels, is some distance in the lead of Jay, his nearest competitor, in the Tenpin League, and it looks as if he will win the honors. Knox has been doing remarkably good bowling lately, and his selection to represent this city in a team of Western bowlers at the bowling congress in New York this summer is a good move, as he will roll along with the best of the crowd.

Output of Local Flouring Mills.

Despite the unfavorable conditions for successful operation of the local flouring mills, wheat being too high, considering the price of flour, to leave any profit to the miller, in March local mills turned out 20,115 barrels of flour, a little over one-third their capacity, against 25,836 barrels in March, 1899, and 17,479 barrels in March, 1898.

READY FOR PRACTICE

MANAGER WATKINS'S MEN TO BEGIN TRAINING TO-MORROW.

Players Are All in the City Except Flynn and the Memphis Crowd—Washington Park an Ideal Place.

Yesterday's pleasant weather brought smiles to the faces of Manager Watkins and the hosts of ball players now in the city waiting until the weather will permit them to practice. With three days of such weather Washington Park will be put in condition for a game next Saturday with the Rochester team, the champions of the Eastern League. The players will be given practice to-morrow, the weather permitting, and within a few days they will be given regular work at the new park.

All of the players have reported with the exception of Dammann, Stewart, Hickey and Hartsell, who are at Memphis, and they will be here Thursday. John G. Dobbs, the outfielder secured from Wheeling, has not as yet returned his signed contract. Manager Watkins sent him a contract some time ago and Dobbs has been holding out for more money than the Indianapolis magnate will give for a man of his caliber. Dobbs is a fair player, but he wants the salary of a first-class man. If he reports he will be given a trial and if not he will likely pass out of notice as far as the Indianapolis public is concerned.

Manager Watkins received a letter from Flynn yesterday saying he will report in a few days. His sister-in-law died and his mother is quite ill.

The players now in Indianapolis ready to begin training for a place on the regular team are: Fitch, Gardner, Goss, Guese, Foley, Bankston, Kellum, Sanders and Lee; Catchers, Heydon, Lynch and Moore; Kelly, Madson, Seybold, Gaudin, Goss, Guese, Foley, Bankston, Kellum, Sanders and Lee; Pitchers, Heydon, Lynch and Moore; Kelly, Madson, Seybold, Gaudin, Goss, Guese, Foley, Bankston, Kellum, Sanders and Lee.

There were many visitors to Washington Park yesterday, as the fans thought the players might do a little light practice. In this they were disappointed, but they were repaid for their trip by inspecting the new ball grounds, which will be the best appointed in the league. There is no exaggeration in saying Washington Park will be one of the prettiest and most convenient ball parks in the country when the season of 1900 is opened. The field at this time does not present a very imposing sight, but the grading and sodding have not been completed, but the grand stand and bleachers give all the evidence of comfort for the spectators.

The west bleachers are the longest and will be more patronized than the south bleachers, as the rooters desire to sit off third base. There will be room for forty or forty-five carriages. The carriage gate will be at the southeast corner of the park. The entrance to the park will be from Washington street. A wide cinder walk has been laid from the street to the boxes in the grand stand. The grand stand will be two entrances to the bleachers and one for the grand stand. A gradual incline leads into the grand stand. The grand stand is laid out identically the same as at the old grounds. The clubhouse is fitted with sixteen lockers, two rooms with a shower bath and hot and cold water. The local baseball enthusiasts will vote unanimously that Manager Watkins has provided Indianapolis with an ideal ball park and one which the city should feel proud of.

President Johnson's American League schedule will no doubt be issued within a few days. He has been at work on it with two assistants for several days arranging the best dates for the various cities so the games will not conflict with counter attractions. In all probability the season will open on April 11, the same day the National League will launch its championship season for 1900. The local fans are wondering how Indianapolis will fare as to holiday games, and Manager Watkins is anxious on this score.

Indiana is recognized to be one of the best holiday cities in the league, and for this reason will be entitled to some good dates. The teams will play in the east on Decoration day, and it is a safe bet Indianapolis will have this day at home. As the general public is concerned, the teams will play in the west on Labor day. The playing season will probably be five months instead of four and one-half months.

The revised schedule of exhibition games for the Indianapolis club is as follows: At home with Rochester April 7; at St. Louis April 8, 9 and 10; at home with Butler College April 11; at home with Pittsburg April 12, 13 and 14; at Cincinnati April 15 and 16; at home with Cincinnati April 17; at home with Indianapolis Reserves April 18.

Those who have seen Kelly, the Indianapolis new first baseman, have admired him. His work on the field cannot be judged at this time, but from general appearances he looks like a ball player. He weighs 190 pounds and is a shifty as a cat.

Of the new pitchers who have reported to Manager Watkins, Guese, secured from the Fort Wayne club, is no doubt the most promising of the youngsters. He is a strapping big fellow, as muscular, tall, blacksmith and in as good condition already as many players who go through the season. Guese is a sensible fellow, a good judgment, and he has a slow ball which he "mixes up" with good results.

Manager Watkins was besieged yesterday by the players wanting practice uniforms. The first to call were first served, and a few of the men may have to practice in dress suits unless they send home after their old uniforms.

A ball team composed of the junior members of the New York club has been organized and will be known as the Woe Wizards. It is their intention to arrange several match games with the other large down-town stores during the summer months.

Forgot to Mail the Letters.

William Turner was arrested yesterday by Dugan and Lancaster and charged with lettering, the charge being later changed to petty larceny. Turner was found on the street, and in his pockets were a number of letters, which he claimed had been given him to mail several weeks ago. The letters were from L. F. Nier's liquor house. On the other side of the track he found a man lying beside the track. His nose was broken and he was otherwise badly bruised about the head. He waylaid the Nier Dispensary, where he gave the name of William Turner.

Man with a Broken Nose.

Dr. Karchner, of the City Dispensary, was coming away from a house on South Liberty street, where he had been called on a visit last night, and when nearing the Big Four tracks saw five or six men running south as fast as they could go. On the other side of the track he found a man lying beside the track. His nose was broken and he was otherwise badly bruised about the head. He waylaid the Nier Dispensary, where he gave the name of William Turner.

TOWNSHIP CONVENTION.

Republicans of Wayne Make Their Nominations.

The Republicans of Wayne township held their convention yesterday at schoolhouse No. 6, on the Osterman pike. George F. Robertson was nominated for trustee, Lincoln Foltz for assessor and Peter Blank, Albert Meyers, Frank Blackwell and David Darnell for road supervisors. For the township advisory board John Traub, Charles Winnemeyer and Albert Hoffman were nominated.

NO SIGN OF ELEVATION

ALTHOUGH THE ORDINANCE CALLS FOR WORK TO BEGIN TO-MORROW.

Mayor Taggart Still Says Something Will Be Done Soon—Streets to Be Repaired.

The work on the track elevation in the first district, bounded by State avenue, Ohio street, West street and South street, should begin to-morrow, according to the ordinance passed last August by the City Council, but there has not been the least sign of preparation for this great task.

The plans of the work should have been approved by the city engineer, but he has received no plans and has not heard of any. The local railroad officials say they have heard of no orders for the work and do not believe the business interests of the city demand elevated tracks.

Mayor Taggart says if the railroad companies do not show an inclination to begin this work the city will take a hand in the matter. Proper action will be decided upon this week by the city authorities, it is said. The ordinance gives the railroad companies until Sept. 1, 1901, to complete the work, but also provides that the improvement shall be commenced April 1, 1900.

LIST OF STREETS

That Will Be Repaired Out of the Guarantee Funds.

City Engineer Jeup has prepared a list of the permanently improved streets upon which the contractor's guarantee expires this year. The Board of Works will insist that these streets be placed in good repair before the guarantee expires. The board has $35,000 to pay for the repairing of such streets, and last year the cost reached $23,000. The cost is increasing each year.
