Young Man Now in Havana Relates All the Circumstances-He Furnished the Bond.

In a letter from a young man in Havana, dated May 18, to a friend here, he speaks of the arrest of Postmaster E. P. Thompson as follows: "When he was arrested about 5 o'clock Wednesday evening, and taken to a Spanish court, a preliminary hearing was had, after which his bond was fixed at $10,000. By this time it was dark and no one seemed to know anything about the matter. Mr. Thompson having been arrested so suddenly in the Spanish style he had no friends with him and was at the mercy of the savage people who seemed to delight in doing things after darkness

"Just as I was leaving the office at o'clock, I heard that he was arrested an taken no one knew where. I immediately called a coach and started to hunt for him. On the way I met an old friend from Indianapolis and with him I commenced the hunt. By accident we learned where he had been taken and started on our journey. We soon arrived there. When we gained admittance we learned that he had been taken to the "Vivac," the Spanish jail.

"Jumping into another coach we drove there and found him surrounded by Cuban officers, but not a friend was present. We remained with him till about 8 o'clock trying to cheer him up and arranging a bed for him. We then started for General Rathbone's residence, a distance of three or four miles, but he was not at home. It was then too late to do anything toward getting him out, and we went back to do anything we could for him. "He kept saying: 'I am innocent of any criminal act. MORTGAGE EXEMPTION.

An Opinion Rendered by Attorney General Taylor.

Attorney General Taylor yesterday handed the following written opinion to County Auditor H. B. Smith:

"There is more confusion among county auditors respecting the filing of affidavits under the mortgage deduction law. I have Quality Tells. uniformly held from the first letter written by me immediately after the act of 1899 was passed, up to this time, that a tax-payer can deduct his mortgage indebtedness existing on the first day of April of the year for which the tax upon his realty is assessed, and that the word 'March' in the law can serve no other purpose than to show how recently the mortgage has been executed. "If the mortgage was executed prior to March 1, that fact may be stated in the affidavit; if, however, the mortgage was executed between March 1 and April 1, then, in that event, section one of the law will apply, and the taxpayer is still entitled to a deduction of taxes, based upon the unpaid balance of the mortgage existing on April . This has been the uniform ruling of
